15719 - James Harrison Judge Thomas Wild [April 1663]

Thomas Wild

These are to lett [let] thee [you] understand that when I had made ready to send for a sartificate [certificate] the innkeeper refused to lett [let] ye [the] mesinger [messenger] have my horsse [horse] unlese [unless] he had an order from thee [you], soe [so] thou [you] not being in towne [town] I could not & [and] since I heare [hear] that one Tho: fford [Thomas Ford] hath [has] unloct [unlocked] the doore [door] & [and] taken him away wch [which] he aught [ought] not to adone [have done] soe [so] I desire to heare [hear] from thee [you] whether thou [you] gave any such order & [and] though I my selfe [myself] be detained in prison, heare [here] for atime [a time] deliverance will com [come] soe [so] I would, thou [you] would not lett [let] me be robed [robbed] or my horse plundred [plundered] or rather stolen from mee [me], for such doeings [doings] as I have mett [met] with heare [here] in the Citie [city], if my horss [horse] & [and] sadle [saddle] & cloath [cloth] be taken away & [and] I kept prisoner is such as I niver [never] mett [met] with before nay it is unheard of crulety [cruelty] it makes moderat [moderate] people to wonder that aman [a man] cannot com [come] to the Citie [city] of woschester [Worcester] purposing to stay but one night, & [and] would not eat any mans [man's] bread for nought but be cast in prison, and have his horse restored that I who have most right may dispose of him soe [so] may thou [you] doe [do] well this from one that loves marcy [mercy] [ink blot]

truth & [and] rightousness [righteousness]
& [and] the soales [souls] of all men
for yt [that] I am a prisoner
by thee [you] &c [et cetera]
