THE LAMENT OF THE CAPTIVE.

My Life is like the summer rose
That opens to the morning sky,
But ere the shades of evening close,
Is scattered on the ground, to die:
Yet on that rose's humble bed
The softest dews of night are shed,
As though she wept such waste to see;
But none shall drop a tear for me.

My life is like an autumn leaf
That trembles in the moon's pale ray,
Its hold is frail, its date is brief,
Restless, and soon to pass away:
Yet when that leaf shall fall and fade,
The parent tree will mourn its shade,
The wind bewail the leafless tree,
But none shall breathe one sigh for me.

My life is like the track of feet
Left upon Tampa's desert strand;
Soon as the rising tide shall beat,
Their marks will vanish from the sand:
Yet as if grieving to efface
All vestage of the human race,
On that lone shore loud moans the sea,
But none shall thus lament for me.

—Hon. Richard Henry Wilde.

WINTER VACATIONS.

Modern quick transportation has done much to make the whole world every man's home, and all seasons of the year alike in the attainment of many of the conditions of comfort and pleasure. Once everybody at the North thought he must get in his vacation within a few months of summer time, and often it was a matter of much inconvenience to arrange it so as to accommodate all. In many cases it could not be done, and vacations had to be taken once in two years, and alternated between the persons employed in a business. Now, however, with southern resorts to fill the same place in winter that the northern ones do in summer, the whole year is equally available for the necessary recreation from business. The man who would like, if he could get away in summer, to hunt deer in the northern mountains, or fish in streams and lakes that will soon now be closed with ice, can find the same recreation in the woods and waters of Florida at any time during the coming six months, and be free from the burden of heat and annoyance of insects, which he must encounter in a northern summer in the wilderness. If he would paddle his canoe on stream or lake in summer, he may here do the same in winter. If he would enjoy a yachting cruise along the coast, or fishing in the salt water, the same conditions which invite him to wrestle with old Neptune at the North in summer await him here in winter. If he enjoys social life in some resort frequented by other people, whether it be the quiet country boarding house with a dozen guests, or the more fashionable place with as many hundreds, he may satisfy himself with any grade that suits his taste or his purse in Florida as well as anywhere else. If he would bathe in the sea, or seek health in medicinal springs, both are open to him here in winter, as at the North in summer. If he must leave his family at a hotel while he goes on his more adventurous excursions, the same conveniences are here as there.

In short, for people in health, it is rapidly becoming a matter of indifference whether they seek pleasure at the North in summer, or at the South in winter. Some favorites of Fortune are able to do both, and to them the year is made to contain a new season, by adding the trip southward in winter to their former northern rambles in summer. Of the larger class who must choose one or the other, some will still prefer the northern summer for their outings, but many are learning that the excessive heats of summer can be more comfortably passed in their own homes, wherever they are, than in the more restricted limits and with the limited resources of hotels and boarding houses; to say nothing of the restraints imposed by living among strangers. To such, a winter in Florida, at some pleasant place, where all the out-of-door means of health and pleasure are open to them, and they may enjoy themselves in freedom from the heat and annoyances of most summer resorts, is a welcome revelation, and it is little wonder that increasing numbers each year are learning to look upon it as quite a proper part of their year's programme.

But the greatest benefit of opening up the winter as a season of out-door and country recreation is felt by persons more or less afflicted with pulmonary or nervous complaints, or young persons threatened with the development of such. These may now enjoy their accustomed immunity from trouble in summer at the North, and choose their vacations during those months when cold weather and confinement to the house, with artificial heat and poor ventilation, tend to aggravate their difficulties. By coming south for a vacation in winter, such persons may put themselves on a more equal footing of health and efficiency with those who are naturally indifferent to cold, but find themselves unfitted for business by the summer heat. The latter class has heretofore had the advantage in northern climates, and the others have had to fall into line with them, but steam is rapidly equalizing the two classes, to the mutual advantage of both, for a more equal distribution of business throughout the year must necessarily follow from an increasing habit of staying at home in summer and going away in winter, and a steady business is both easier to manage and more profitable, than one which keeps all hands driving one half the year and throws half of them out of employment the rest of the time. These considerations must tend to ensure the permanence and increasing popularity of the winter vacation, and for the greater part of the country Florida is the natural place to come to enjoy it.

Having discovered that the mosquito carries germs of yellow fever and other contagious diseases about in his clothes the doctors will kindly make arrangements to have that cheerful but irresponsible insect quarantined before he goes a step farther. Municipal Boards of Health please take notice of this new danger, and have them towed at once to the ballast crib and fumigated.—Exchange.

Pine-Needle Baths.

Under the name of "Fichten-Nadel-Bader," the balsamic and tonic properties of the fir-needles are largely taken advantage of in Germany, thanks to a new preparation which enables them to be easily used for baths. These baths are now being prescribed for children and adults, and are found to be truly efficacious in rheumatic complaints, gout, certain skin affections, etc. This new preparation is in the form of a powder, which is directly used for the baths by being put into lukewarm water and allowed to digest in the liquid for a few minutes, in order that the balsamic virtues of the needle-leaves may be drawn out. The same product is likewise used for fumigations in affections of the chest, etc., or as an antiseptic, for which purpose a little of the powder is placed upon a heated iron shovel and thus carried about the apartment.

The pine-needle powder is put up in packets weighing about 1 lb. (or ½ kilo.)

A bath for an adult will require ¼ to ½ kilo. of the powder. For a child's bath, 1 to 4 tablespoonfuls will be found sufficient.

Not long since, we drew attention to the turpentine vapor baths used to some extent in Paris. But this German preparation of pine-needles is simpler, cheaper, and we should imagine, quite as effective.

The pine-needle baths are prescribed for invigorating the system generally. They act upon the skin as a balsamic stimulant and antiseptic. Thus they may prove useful as a prophylactic remedy in epidemics of various kinds, and herein lies one of their greatest recommendations.—Scientific American.

A New Disinfectant from Coal Oil.

We read in Le Monde Pharmaceutique that a new disinfectant of great energy has been introduced in Paris. It is a brown liquid of sirupy consistence. Water is turned milky by a small addition, and the odor imparted is not disagreeable.

An examination of the product justifies the supposition that it is a peculiar saponification of coal oil by caustic soda.

It is especially adapted for disinfecting localities where epidemics rage.

It cures skin diseases in animals, and gives luster to the hair.

It destroys moss and fungus on trees and plants.

By sponging a horse with a solution (100 grammes in 10 liters of water), flies are kept off.—Nat. Druggist.

Effect of Electric Light on Books.

The Revue Internationale de l'Electricite observes that Professor Wiesner, of Vienna, has drawn attention to the discoloration of books in the Technical School library, due to the use of the electric light. A large number of the works have become very yellow, and the director of the school requested Professor Wiesner to ascertain the cause. Experiment has shown that the discoloration is due to the action of light upon the paper containing ligneous substances, such as wood, straw, and jute. When the lignine is removed by chemical means, the effect is not produced. The yellowing is said to be due to a phenomenon of oxidation. Ordinary dispersed daylight exerts very slight action, especially in a dry room. On the other hand, the electric light and all intense, luminous sources emit numerous refrangible rays, and these favor the yellowing. The same process of yellowing we know takes place when papers bleached with certain substances are exposed to strong sunlight.—Scientific American.

P. O. ADDRESS, LOCK BOX NO. 22,

WINTER PARK, FLA.

No "Nihilist" Party in Russia.

From Mr. George Kennan's first paper in his series on Russia and Siberia, in the November Century, we take the following remarkable statement:

There is no protesting party in Russia to which the term "Nihilistic" can be properly applied. This may, perhaps, seem like a paradoxical statement in view of the fact that we have never heard of any other protesting party in Russia; but it is a true statement, nevertheless. There is no party in the empire which deliberately chooses violence and bloodshed as the best possible means of attaining its ends; there is no party which aims merely at the overthrow of existing institutions, and there is no party which preaches or practices a philosophy of negation and destruction. I make these assertions confidently, because my acquaintance with so-called "Nihilists" is probably more extensive and thorough than that of any other foreigner, and I have discussed these questions with them for many hundreds of hours. Liberals, reformers, socialistic theorists, revolutionists, and "terrorists" I have met in all varieties, both in European Russia and among the exiles in Siberia; but a Nihilist in the proper or even in the popular signification of that word—never. Of course, if you use the term "Nihilist," as you would the term "Know-nothing," merely to denote a certain social or political party and without reference to the original significance of the appellation, you may apply it to any body of men—to the Knights of Labor, for example; but if you use the word with a consciousness of its primary signification, as you would use the word yellow to describe an orange, you can not properly apply it to any branch of the protesting party in Russia. There is in the empire no party, organization, or body of men to which it is applicable.

Filling Wood.

Take a small quantity of white beeswax, melt it down, and, while liquid, mix with whiting. As it gets thick, keep adding boiled oil until you have it as you wish it. When using it, sheet the wood over solid. Let stand until the next day, when you can remove the surplus by using No. 1/2 sandpaper. It is cheaper and easier than the shellac, and can be leveled sooner, leaving nothing but the pores or grain of the wood filled, which is better than having your wood all stained up with the shellac.—Carriage Monthly.

THE reports from Tampa continue to be encouraging, and it is now probable that by the first of December there will not be a case of fever remaining.

THE Daily Hotel News will be published by Chas. W. DaCosta, at Jacksonville, beginning November 15th. It will be an eight page paper, and conducted in the interest of Florida hotels.

THE sleeping cars, which for some time have not run south of Jacksonville, from fear of their possible occupation by refugees from Tampa, have this week begun running again as far as Lakeland.

W. M. WOODWARD, of Sumterville, will have on exhibition at the Sub-Tropical an automatic machine for showing stereoscopic views, by which twenty views at once will be thrown up behind as many pairs of lenses, and changed every five minutes. Meantime, a bell strikes every fifteen seconds, so that the spectators, by changing places at each stroke, will see the twenty views during the five minutes. He offers free space for twelve views from each town for every 1000, or remainder less than 1000, of its population. Views should be sent in, with titles and descriptions written on backs, before December 15th. They will be received later, but cannot be included in printed catalogue. Mr. Woodward is postmaster at Sumterville, and has the endorsement of its best citizens.

This fine autumn weather makes our lakes a tempting field for that best of all out-door exercises—rowing. Why should we not have a rowing club among our young people? Our young men could probably turn out a crew that would compare favorably with any from neighboring towns, and even if it be not carried to the extent of training for a race, the exercise would be both pleasant and healthful. Rowing is equally good for the young ladies, too, and many a pleasant afternoon might be spent by both in rowing to some pretty spot on our lakeshores for a picnic; or in a rendezvous at the house of some member living on the shore, for a lawn party or a game of tennis or croquet. By a trifling assessment on its members such a club might easily undertake to make navigable the connection with Lake Maitland, and open it to the public with a grand picnic, or perhaps make other improvements of common interest and advantage to boat owners. Who will start the movement?

THE Executive Committee of the Improvement Association held a meeting on last Thursday evening which was attended by all the Committee now in town. Several matters were talked over, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Switzer and Capen was appointed to interview the South Florida authorities on the subject of co-operating with the Association in improving the depot park. The Committee went to Sanford last Monday, and had an interview with Messrs. Fox and Simms; Col. Elliott, the head of that department was away. These gentlemen assured the committee that an arrangement of that kind could probably be made with the S. F. people and so we hope that before many days a radical change for the better will be made in the looks of our depot grounds. While we are on this subject, would it not be a good plan for the Improvement Association to appoint a day when our citizens can come together at the park and plant the trees, plants, etc., that they are willing to, and have Mr. Sims present to give advice, etc.? Several citizens have already expressed a willingness to contribute in this way and we think that such a day could be made a grand success.

Our own experience is that nothing advertises a town more beneficially than neat attractive depot grounds, and it is to the advantage of every one of us to have the first impressions of strangers and visitors pleasant.

WE have received No. 2 of the Florida School Journal, published at Lake City, H. Merz, editor. It is a twenty page quarto monthly, and is filled with matter of interest and profit to teachers, and to all who are interested in "teaching the young ideas to shoot." It gives a report of educational doings in all parts of the State, arranged by counties, some excellent selected matter, timely editorial notes, and correspondence. We hope the teachers, superintendents, trustees, and parents of the State will give this much needed paper their hearty support, and use it. That is the way to make it a power for good—use it—write to it, if you have any ideas or want any information. Others will do the same, and so it will become of use and interest to all, as a medium of communication, and a help to united and uniform action.

Current History.

Teachers should read not only books and papers relating to their professional work, but should also keep informed in regard to current events in all parts of the world. Nothing gives more interest to an exercise, for illustration, in geography, than for the teacher to state the latest facts in regard to the country which is being studied. It gives the pupils the example of alertness in investigation, outside of the text-book statements, and adds to the teacher's reputation for ready aptness and general intelligence.—American Teacher.

Florida Ahead.

All things considered Florida may be put down as the most prosperous of the Southern States, and this condition of things is due in no slight degree to the enterprise and excellence of its newspapers. Not many years ago Florida was known as the only State that did not have a single daily paper, and the weeklies were very poorly sustained. But the establishment and support of good papers have developed her natural resources till the material progress of the last five years is hardly equalled by any State in the Union. If the people of Florida are wise they will not overlook the great debt they owe to their newspapers, nor will they fail to recognize the fact that, taken all in all, the journals of that State are among the very best in the country. Other localities in the South should take a lesson from this state of affairs and learn that all efforts at booms will be found fruitless unless a liberal support is accorded the home paper. Capitalists at a distance are more prone to judge of a people by their newspapers than any other way, and the locality that fails to accord a generous support to the home journals is sure to be overlooked. Your Board of Trade and "Booming Committee" may send out a million of circulars setting forth the advantages of your place as a manufacturing center and may attract the attention of the very men you most desire to have investigate your claims to great advantages, but in nine cases out of ten these same men will seek the local paper for further particulars and if this journal is not what it ought to be the matter will end there. These last observations are not for Florida because Florida has learned the truth of them already, but most localities in the South have not. The Progressive South.

JOTTINGS.

Rev. S. D. Smith preached at New Smyrna last Sunday.

Work is progressing rapidly on the painting of the Seminole.

Col. Chubb is driving a new horse. He holds the reins "jauntily."

Major Marks and Mr. Schutz, of Orlando, made us a flying visit this week.

The Henkel and Ergood blocks are progressing rapidly towards completion.

The tide of travel to the south has set in, and we hope will be larger than ever before.

Anybody wishing Rollins College circulars can find them at the Winter Park Co's. office.

Several of our citizens are summoned on jury duty at Maitland this week in condemning a road.

S. S. Capen has a Japanese persimmon that—well we won't tell how big it is for fear it will not be believed—but it is immense.

Col. F. F. Adams writes from Erie, Penn. that he will soon build on the beautiful lots he purchased of Mr. Godfrey last spring.

The regular meeting of the Town Council is Thursday evening, too late for this issue. Stop indiscriminate shooting, and keep the cattle out, gentlemen!

The Improvement Association have decided to have their next meeting a public one, and hope to have a program of exercises that will be pleasant and entertaining.

Dr. H. C. Jones has let the contract for his neat new cottage to Mr. Stubblefield, of Orlando. From quite an acquaintance with Mr. Stubblefield's work we can assure Dr. Jones that he will get a thoroughly good job.

Mr. M. E. Parker, of Orlando, called on Wednesday, in the interest of Moon's patent roller coultter and jointer, which seems to be a good thing. Mr. Parker is suffering from some affliction of the eyes that makes it impossible to attend to his duties with the South Florida Machine and Foundry Co. We hope he may soon recover.

The committee of the Immigrant Association for this end of Maitland precinct have already enrolled between 50 and 60 members, and hope to get several more. They ask us to have all who joined leave their membership fee either with J. S. Capen, at the Winter Park Co's office, or with H. S. Kedney, by Saturday the 12th, as they wish to close the matter up this week.

Capen & Co. sent to Mr. F. B. Knowles, for his Thanksgiving dinner, two sweet potatoes of the Providence variety, which weighed eight pounds, two ounces, and seven pounds, two ounces, each. The vines were planted in May of this year, and both these potatoes grew on one vine. While we often find "stand overs" that are larger, we think these are pretty good size for five month's growth, on one vine, on high pine land.

Commodore Paige and a party of five arrived on Wednesday evening, and they will at once open the canal for steam navigation, and put the Winter Park Co's fleet in commission. The flagship "Fanny Knowles" will run on Lakes Osceola, Virginia, and Mizell, and her work will be supplemented by the trim little yachts "Gussie" and "May B." What, ho! Commodore; send us a pass and we will beguile a few hours with you; shiver our timbers if we don't.

Our circulating library is in receipt of a box of books from the library of Mrs. A. W. Rollins. This collection consists of about fifty bound volumes and as many more pamphlets—it contains Chambers' Encyclopedia, Moore's poetical works, Lossing's History of the Revolution, E. P. Roe's works, and a great many standard works of fact and fiction. It is a valuable addition to our library. The thanks of the association are tendered to Mrs. Rollins for the same.

We have had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Austin, an architectural terra cotta manufacturer of New York City. In August last he caught a heavy cold in New York, and ever since has suffered from a severe cough. He was told to come South by his physicians, almost as a last resort, and stopped at several places on the way here, but got no relief; about a week ago he landed in Orlando, has spent the time since there and here, and has not coughed any since he got here. He is, of course, very enthusiastic about this region and will buy and build at once. He is a man of means, and thus does our glorious climate add one more solid citizen to our number.

On a Sugar Plantation.

From a profusely illustrated article in the November Century, by E. V. Smalley, on "Sugar-Making in Louisiana," we quote the following as illustrating the relations between employer and employed: "The relations between employer and employees on a sugar estate are unique. They are the nearest approach in America to a feudal system. Not a foot of land do the laborers own. Yet their right to homes and labor on an estate is a sort of unwritten law, so binding that they are seldom sent away except for very serious cause. They regard the mules and implements of the planter as to some extent their own, using them to cultivate their gardens and haul their fuel. In directing the plantation work, he seldom uses any harsh words of command; talks rather in kindly tones, scolds a little if needs be, but in rather a parental fashion; asks opinions at times from swarthy old 'uncles' who have a standing on the place as faithful men and experts in cane culture; knows the strong and weak points in the character of every man in his employment. Indeed his rule is so mild that a stranger to plantation life wonders how the uncouth mass of black laborers is held together and disciplined so as to produce favorable industrial results."

Foreign Fables.

The following extract from a Berlin paper about American journalism is too curious not to be translated: "It is incredible to what expedients American newspapers resort to gain a point over a competitor. Three eatable papers, printed on sugar cakes flattened out, appear at present in America; two on rolled chewing tobacco, five on fly paper, one on porous plaster, seven on linen handkerchiefs. Three publishers have each of their subscribers photographed yearly and make them a present of a dozen photos, several give them free burial, five invite them to dinner once a week, and 264 give each a doctor's certificate."

It is much easier to reconcile an enemy than to conquer him. Victory deprives him of his power, but reconciliation of his will; and there is less danger in a will which will not hurt than in power which cannot. The power is not so apt as the will, as the will is studious to find out means.

Up in Greenland they serve frozen whiskey in sticks. That would be an easy place for a man who drank to break off.—Yonkers Statesman.

❖LOCHMEDE❖

❖WINTER❖PARK❖FLORIDA❖

A beautiful location on the Water-shed or backbone of Florida, with nine beautiful lakes of running water ; with the Hotel Seminole, accommodating 400 guests ; with Rollins College and its 100 students, with an able faculty under Rev. E. P. Hooker, D. D., President. It is one of the most charming resorts in the State. Thousands have visited it to find health and recreation this winter, and none have gone away disappointed. Its educational advantages and its healthfulness, its location and its easy access by railroad makes it the most desirable and loveliest spot in Florida.

Having added a General Real Estate Department, those having property to sell, as well as those looking for investments, will find it to their advantage to give us a call. Property will be shown free of charge and maps, circulars, etc., promptly furnished on application to

THE WINTER PARK CO.

❖LOCHMEDE❖

We trust the people of Winter Park will be sufficiently pleased with our effort to give them an attractive paper to come to our support generously with advertisements and subscriptions, looking for the return on their investment quite as much to the impression of their town created by a presentable paper sent abroad, as to the direct value to them personally of the reading matter supplied, although we shall try to make this as good as possible, and of a character which shall be an index of the refined class of people to whom we look for support. Send us $1.50 for

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

and see that all people at a distance, who are in any way likely to be interested in Winter Park have a chance to subscribe too. The more we get the better we can make the paper, and we shall take pride and pleasure in enlarging and improving as fast as we can afford to do so. Send us and do not be ashamed of a small one, nor too close in calculating the return from as big a one as you can afford. It will all help to make a good showing for the town.

YOUR ADVERTISEMENTS
