Hernandez Made Chairman Of Tech Faculty Senate

Dr. David E. Hernandez, Associate Professor of Education, was elected chairman of the FTU Faculty Senate at a meeting held July 24. Prof. W. K. Grasty was selected vice-chairman and Prof. S. E. Omans was elected secretary-treasurer.

Previously each college had elected 2-year and 1-year term senators, the number according to the number of faculty members in that college. Two-year term senators for the College of Business Administration are Dr. John W. Budina, Jr., Dr. Robert E. Hicks, Dr. Newel W. Comish, and Dr. Eugene E. Teeple. One-year senators are Mr. Robert R. Saltsman, Mr. Kenneth R. Sylvester, Mr. Kenneth R. White, and Mrs. James Wilson.

In the College of Engineering, Dr. Gerald Ventre, Dr. John Brennan, Dr. William Smith, Dr. Donald Wall and Dr. Harvey Rexroad were elected two-year term senators. Dr. John Bolte, Dr. Ronald Evans, Dr. B. J. Henderson, and Dr. David L. Block are one-year senators.

Prof. W. K. Grasty

Prof. S. E. Omans

Dr. D. W. Abbott, Dr. L. H. Jackson, Dr. R. L. Arnold, Dr. D. D. Mays, and Mr. S. E. Omans are senators for a two-year term in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. One-year term senators are Mr. Robert L. Bledsoe, Dr. B. C. Kissel, Mr. S. D. Lotz, Dr. C. M. Unkovic, and Mr. W. K. Grasty.

In the College of Natural Sciences, two-year term senators are Dr. Graeme L. Baker, Dr. Arthur M. Dutton, Mr. Homer C. Gerber, and Mr. Henry O. Whittier. One-year term senators are Dr. George E. Allen, Dr. George R.

Hertel, Dr. Frank E. Juge, Dr. Ernest J. Lytle, and Dr. William W. McGee.

The faculty senate was established at FTU during the 1968-69 academic year. It is comprised of representatives from each college that act together as an advisory group to the administration on matters pertaining to the University. Before the election of Hernandez as chairman, Vice President C. B. Gambrell presided as chairman.

One representative from each college was elected to the steering committee of the faculty senate. This committee will set priorities for plans for the 1969-70 academic year, appoint members to committees, schedule meetings, and conduct elections.

"This year has been devoted to organization", said Hernandez, "We hope to have a positive role in building this into a top University. It takes top students, faculty, and administration."

In relation to possible interaction of the faculty senate to student government, Hernandez stated that the faculty senate plans to invite S.G. representatives to attend senate meetings after approval of the senate is received. "We plan to work for open communication with students and administration," said Hernandez.

Gas, Alcoholic Studies At Tech

Dr. Robert Humphrey, Director of Continuing Education, recently announced that the Florida School for Alcoholic Studies will be held at FTU August 17-22 and that the Florida L.P. Gas Association will hold a school at Tech to upgrade the knowledge of their members from September 17-22. Members of the L.P. Gas Association will assemble at Tech for lectures and discussion sessions.

The Florida School for Alcoholic Studies is designed to provide training on alcoholism problems for a road category of professional persons and community leaders. The purpose of the course is to provide training in the techniques of working with the alcoholic and his family.

The director of the Alcoholic Studies program is Dr. Charles M. Unkovic, chairman of the department of sociology at FTU. Unkovic and Dr. B. C. Kissel, chairman of the communications department, and Dr. F. D. Rother, associate professor of education, will lead panel discussions and workshops. A former Tech faculty member, Dr. Richard Neel, will also participate in the workshops. Neel is now the associate dean of the college of business administration at Georgia State College in Atlanta, Georgia.

Those participating in both of the continuing education programs will live on the Florida Tech campus in residence halls during the sessions.

Chris Schmidt, Summer Senator from College of Humanities and Social Sciences, was elected President Pro Tem for two meetings while Walt Komanski, SG President was away on active duty. Later Schmidt used his presidential prerogative and vetoed Resolution 1-5, dealing with the tuition payment for executive student government positions.

Regents Fail To Confirm Tenure

At a recent Board of Regents meeting the Regents failed to confirm the tenure of 262 professors in the State University System. The tenure was not denied the professors but the motion to grant the tenure was not brought before the board like several members of the board thought it would. State University Chancellor Robert Mautz, said, "This is a sensitive area. It's essential that academic people have a sense of job security when they've proven they deserve it."

According to George King, assistant to the President here at FTU, none of the professors at Tech are presently up for tenure as a person must be at one institution at least three to be eligible for tenure in the fourth year contract. The final decision in the matter, however, eventually will have an effect on FTU as soon as some Tech professors are eligible.

The present tenure system, according to Mautz, was "blasted" at the meeting, evidently giving some people the impression that the Regents have no intention of granting any more tenure at the present. Mautz said it was "extremely unfortunate" that the nine-member board "didn't have sufficient confidence in the selection process of the university chancellor, in the university presidents, and the chairman."

Added VC Construction Scheduled For Fall, '69

Specifications of a proposed expansion which will more than double the size of the present Village Center are currently being submitted to architects, who will submit final blueprints for the project.

Construction of the addition is slated to begin this fall with completion of the food service area scheduled for the fall of 1970 and total completion projected for early 1971.

The addition is being financed through a loan of $1,025,000 from the Federal Agency of Housing and Urban Development and an additional matching grant of $325,000 from the state.

The proposals as outlined in a 20-page report prepared and submitted by Kenneth D. Lawson, Director of the Village Center, call for two dining areas, totalling 9,600 square feet, a 3,600 square foot game room, and several covered patios on the first floor. Upstairs, plans include an all-purpose room with projection facilities and portable stage equipment. Specifications also call for the all-purpose room to be totally, or partially convertible to an art gallery.

Further proposals for the second floor include a suite of offices for the Director of the Village Center, a suite of offices for FuTure, yearbook, and magazine editors and staffs, and a suite of offices for student government. In addition there will be offices for Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, Women's and Men's Residence Associations, and offices for other student groups as yet unformed.

Other specifications call for two study-lounges, each 20 by 30 feet and several meeting rooms.

According to the proposal submitted by Lawson, the purpose of the addition is to complete the Village Center to "make the entire area a hub of services, activities and programs to involve the student through informal associations outside the classroom."

Allen, Rollins Appointed

Dean Charles N. Micarelli, College of Humanities and Social Sciences at Florida Technological University, has announced the appointment of Dr. William D. Allen as professor of sociology and Dr. Jack R. Rollins, Jr. as associate professor of psychology.

Allen, a native of Evansville, Indiana, received the A.A. Degree in 1945 from Evansville College, Indiana; the B.S. Degree in 1946, the M.S.W. in 1949 and the Ph.D. in 1963, all from Ohio State University.

Allen has been the recipient of several scholarships and awards and has authored publications and reports. His current professional memberships include the Academy of Certified Social Workers, American Association of University Professors, American Sociological Association, Council on Social Work Education, and National Association of Social Workers.

His academic experience includes Instructor at Evansville College, Western Michigan University, and Ohio State University; associate professor at Florida State University, University of South Florida, and the University of Texas, and professor, Graduate School of Social Work, University of South Carolina. Allen has also been associated with the Department of Public Welfare of Columbus, Ohio; the Welfare Federation of Los Angeles; the Community Chest & Council of Evansville, Indiana, and Kalamazoo, Michigan, and Assistant Director of the Division of Field Services,

Well Worth Waiting For

At last we are able to see some results of the weeks of waiting for the landscaping. Daily new palm trees are popping up, potted plants are becoming planted plants, and sod is becoming grass. What may sound like not much is going to make our campus one of the most beautiful in the state.

Only a few years ago the campus of another fairly new State institution, University of South Florida, to be specific, was a barren wasteland which was broken only by the building. And beautiful though the buildings were they still looked as if the ground had been scraped clean and the buildings air-lifted in. No one expects a brand new campus to have the stately look of a campus the age of the University of Florida or Florida State, the ivy-on-red-brick look is hard to duplicate. (This beauty, I might add is often marred once you step inside to see the ceiling caving in or find the building burning to the ground from age, as was the case with the historic Wescot Building at Florida State last year). The wise architect does not try to duplicate this look but to find another, one equally stately without depending on age for the stateliness.

One can not help but feel that the architects have succeeded at Tech if they venture by the "A" dorm and see the elegant look the dorm takes on with landscaping. The sweeping sidewalks (which the FuTure poked fun at last issue) will add grace and a unique look to campus. (I still suspect the sidewalks spell something from the air, but I suppose I will never know).

I can well imagine that the expense of landscaping this ground was vast, but it is and will add the final touch to the campus. It can be compared to the beautiful new library in Orlando, which almost looks out of place in the middle of Orlando but I can imagine what it would look like sitting on top of a sweeping hill, with beautiful sod and plants finishing it off.

Keys? Keys?

By JOHN GHOLDSTON

There are some things which people are forced to do which no mortal should be subjected to. One such thing is the obtaining of a key for any door on campus. I recently attempted to obtain a key for the FuTure office in the Village Center. The procedure last year was to approach the director of the Village Center and ask for one. If you had a reason for possessing such a key it was granted to you on the spot. Evidently, however, this system was too simple for the great minds on campus so another system was devised. The new system is more in keeping with University policy, that is, "I'm not real sure, sire, you'll have to check with Mr. X about that procedure."

At any rate, the story you are about to read is true. Some things have been spiced up a bit to make things more exciting, but I didn't need much spice:

It all began when I faced the Director of the Village Center (who seems to be aging quite rapidly, and I am beginning to find out why) around the first of July to ask, "When are we getting our keys back, which were supposedly taken up for inventory?" The poor man suddenly waxed a pale white as a strange look entered his eyes. I could tell I had just gouged a rather deep cut even deeper. "Keys?" he whispered, "Keys, Keys, Keys?" "Ah yes, Keys!" He sat silent for a moment, like I had just awakened him from a pleasant dream. "I no longer have charge of the ... " A silence again filled the office, finally I heard him mumble "Keys." He then seemed to muster all the courage he could and slowly explained to me that he could give me a form which he would have to sign which I was to take to the security office. He handed the signed form to me (there were four or five copies, starting with a white one, going to a pink, then a blue, then green, and so forth) and patted me on the back as he ushered me out of the office as he said "Good luck, John, I sincerely hope you make it all right." I found out later that one member of XBA was sent on a similar mission and has not been heard from since.

I arrived at security the same day (a feat in itself coming all the way from the VC.) And with my head held high I paraded in, totally unsuspecting what I was to encounter. I was greeted by a rather sadistic man, who explained to me that he was not certain but he thought I needed to take the form up to the Director of the Physical Plant. (Since I was in the basement, of course, the Director of the Physical Plants' office was on the fourth floor.) I went up to the office but found that the director and his secretary had left for the day. (I will admit that as close as I can remember it was close to 3:30 p.m.) I took a quick vote by a show of hands and decided to wait until later to push the matter further.

Wait I did, in fact until last Tuesday did I wait. I was finally remotivated after being locked out of the FuTure office with no one having a master key available for about the twentieth time. I trooped up to the Director of Physical Plants' office, (actually I sent one of the associate editors since I thought perhaps the first time was only a delusion which he would not suffer. Delusion it was not, however, for when word reached me again I found that it seems I also needed the signature of the Vice President of Student Affairs. (There was no space for this signature but it must have seemed like the thing to say at the time) I was then supposed to take the signed form back down to security.

Upon reaching the Vice Presidents' office I found he would be back sometime next month and if I wanted to wait I could have a seat over by the wall. Then one of the secretaries (whom I have found are often far more logical than their superiors) suggested that I have it signed by the Dean of Men, which seemed like a good idea and the Dean most cordially did.

Play Opens On Aug. 11

Monday, August 11, marks the opening night of the FTU stage production of "The Absence of a Cello" by Ira Wallach. Under the direction of Dr. David Mays, head of theatre, the play concerns an impoverished physicist, trying to eliminate his numerous debts, who almost sells his soul to a big corporation which in turn sells its own soul to him.

The seven members of the cast includes Simone Tetreault as Celia Pilgrim, Russ Bentley as Andrew Pilgrim, Debbie Ford as Marian Jellicoe, Beverly Wynne as Joanna Pilgrim, Susan Gilmore as Emma Littlewood, Ken Lawson as Perry Littlewood, and Jim Fay as Otic Clifton. The scenes are designed by Dr. Harry Smith. The stage manager is Marie Block and assistant director is Linda Singer.

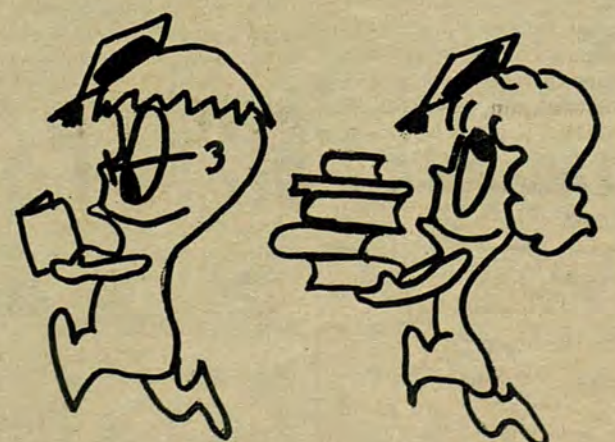

Tickets may be obtained for the August 11 and 12 performances by the presentation of ID cards (full-time students) at the box office. Admission for part-time and non-students will be $1.50.

The Unpark'ls Here

By STEVE JONES

Recently the City Council of Winter Park voted to impose an 8:00 p.m. curfew on all of the city's parks. This means that the public park in downtown Winter Park can no longer be used by the public during a certain time of day. Now the whole city folds up before nightfall.

The action was the result of complaints registered by Winter Park residents against a nightly gathering of young people in the downtown park. The complaints accused the group of being noisy, putting cigarettes out on cars, and creating a general disturbance. The Winter Park Police checked out the gatherings several times but found no evidence to support the complaints. Dan Hunter, Winter Park Mayor, then said that the young people had the right to assemble in the public park as long as no city laws were broken. This statement left the door open for Winter Park's City Council to alter the law to serve the purpose of getting rid of the young people.

To disguise any straightforward discrimination against the people participating in the gatherings, the Council ruled that the park would be closed to everyone at night. Isn't that fair? No, not really. It's not fair to the general public wishing to use the park or to the young people who had the right to be there to begin with. The natural question to ask is: will the law be enforced for everyone or just for people under 21? It seems the latter is true since I personally witnessed several adults walking in the downtown park well after the curfew time.

The complaints that started the whole hassle seem to be a bit contrived. It's doubtful that a peaceful gathering of people could ever equal the noise produced by Seaboard Coastline trains that run on a regular basis on a mainline track through the middle of the downtown park. It all gets down to the fact that the citizens of Winter Park did not want their public park overrun with a bunch of "uncouth" young people attempting to put the park to good use. It's typical Winter Park snobbery. Only the "right" type of people can set foot inside the beautifully maintained park, lest it become sullied.

I begin to wonder about the free society the United States supposedly provides for its citizens when public property is closed because people are using it. If it had been proven that laws had been broken by the young people, then Winter Park would have been justified in getting rid of them. However, the key word seems to be "injustice" and Winter Park has just contributed a large amount of it to Central Florida.

Kissel Moderates T.V. Production

Dr. Bernard C. Kissel, head of the Communications Department at FTU, recently became the moderator of a weekly television series on WDBO. The 15-minute program is aired on Sunday at 12:15 p.m. with future plans calling for a 30-minute show. The program is currently being produced by the Communications Department at FTU in connection with Channel 6.

At the present time the public service program is working in connection with the National Alliance of Businessmen, a group concerned with creating jobs for persons without skills and then training them for these jobs. A recent production, entitled "Rent A Kid", was aimed at obtaining jobs for students of the community.

Fall Housing Payment Due

Final payment for fall quarter housing and food service is due today, August 1. Payments received after today must be accompanied by the $15 late charge. Financial aid recipients are requested to return their invoice with a notation that payment will be made through the Student Financial Aid Office.

Sigma Sigma Chi Fraternity will meet Chi Beta Alpha Fraternity in a softball game Sunday, August 3 at 7 p.m. The game will be played at the Orlando Naval Training Center on Field I.

Periodically one of the most mysterious apparitions in the state of Florida appears on this road after dark. To find out all that's known and unknown about it be sure to read the series entitled "How Many More?" starting the first issue of the Fall Quarter.

Also in that same issue Steve Jones will don "establishment clothes" and infiltrate the establishment to find out what makes it tick.

Don't miss our special "Welcome, or Welcome Back" issue, which ever the case may be.

Pearson Stands Behind Column

He went on to say that Pearson and his colleague Jack Anderson have been warned about this sort of thing time and again.

In a reply to this Sentinel article, during an interview last week, Drew Pearson replied, "Kramer is one who has long indulged in bull dozing tactics. He likes to threaten. He doesn't think he should be up for public comment. Because he is in Congress, the public has a right to know what he is doing."

"The facts in the column are accurate beyond any shadow of a doubt and I stand by them, regardless of what Mr. Kramer may say," he concluded.

NOTICE

The following names were inadvertently omitted from the Winter Quarter Dean's List published last week in the FuTure.

In a recent article appearing in the Orlando Sentinel, Jack McDavitt, Sentinel Washington Bureau, replied to a column by Drew Pearson. The article dealt with Representative Kramer and a hit and run accident and a dry cleaning business that Kramer has a share in.

Kramer was quoted in the McDavitt article as saying that "as usual Pearson has said only what he wants to. He has always been down on conservatives, then he takes tips from his Liberal friends and won't touch them."

New Handbook Seeks Approval

The student handbook for 1969-70 has been revised and if approved, will be available September 15, according to Mrs. Wanda Russell, who is acting chairman of the revisory committee for Dean Sarchet. The committee is comprised of students from each of the colleges.

Mrs. Russell said that the revisions have been completed and the handbook in new form will be submitted today for approval. Several of the changes in the handbook are the addition of the student constitution, the communication process between President Millican and the student body, and a new cover. When asked as to whether the Citronaut would be on the cover again, Mrs. Russell replied, "It was not even considered."

Bids Coming On Food Plan

By SHULTZ

Pre-bidding of FTU's proposed food plan for next year was held Wednesday. According to Bill Bryant, representative for Morrison's cafeterias and head of the campus cafeteria staff, seven companies, including Morrison's were to bid for FTU's food contract.

"Morrison's terminated their contract with FTU due to a decline in profits", said Bryant. "We (Morrison's) were just losing too much money. Too many students were missing meals."

While interviewing some FTU students, the FuTure heard these remarks: "The service is good, but there just wasn't enough food for the money they were charging," said Mike Stone, a commuting senior.

According to Debby Kerben, a sophomore from the UoF, "The food is an 'epicurean delight'. It may not be kosher but the prices are unbelievably economical and it's always enough to keep me full and happy."

Said Dave Harding, a 'lunch toting' junior, "The food may be bad here, but it's a lot better than my wife's."

August 15 will mark the announcement for the holder of the new food plan contract. "I like it here," said Bill Bryant. "I hope Morrisons takes the services."

Keys? Keys? Keys?

a young lady approached me to ask if she could help me. When she saw the form in my hand a small smile rippled across her lips. She read the form over just as one of the security officers came over and began to inform me of my rights. "I am sorry sir," she began, "I am not certain of the procedure on this, but", "You have the right to remain silent," the officer read "I think you need to take this to the Director of the Physical Plant and have him sign it and send it down to us," the young lady concluded. "You have the right to call a lawyer" the officer said. "Then," the girl went on, "They send a locksmith to your office to make you a new key." I asked what happened to the old keys I used to have but she said she thought they were all destroyed. As I left the basement I could still hear my rights being read.

Could the end be near?

I must have walked around in a daze for a few minutes because the next thing I remember was finding myself in the office of the Director of Physical Plant. The secretary informed me that the Director was out but that I could leave the application with her and she would see that he signed it. She then told me that they would call me as soon as the keys were ready. I started to ask her how I was supposed to be in the office to receive the call when I didn't have a key but decided instead to stay outside the door all day and when the phone rang go to security and see if the key is ready yet.

That is where I am now, sitting in the hall in the VC, wondering why the heck after all that I still have no key.

Oh well, I guess it keeps my mind off Student Government.

It was once said, "If at first you don't succeed, don't take any more chances."

Patrol Cars Get Radio Equipment

Two-way radio equipment was recently installed in the campus security patrol car, according to John F. Smith, Superintendent of Security and Communications at FTU. The radio equipment will be installed in all patrol cars purchased by the campus security force in the future.

The communication system had been originally planned for the security force and was delayed in installation because funds were not previously available for its purchase.

With the use of these radios, radio messages and security force assistance will be improved, according to Smith. They will increase effective operation in time of emergencies and the patrolman will not be required to leave his post in order to deliver messages.

WFTU To Begin Testing Monday

WFTU, Florida Tech's radio station, will begin testing Monday. The all-campus station will transmit at 25 watts of power and can be tuned in at 900 on the AM dial. The station tests will last four days and play hard-rock music.

The signal will be sent through phone lines from the transmitter in LR211, audio lab, five hours a day to all buildings on campus. Permanent transmission over WFTU now awaits the approval of President Millican.

The project is being carried out by the Radio-TV lab class, with plans to expand transmission to the entire Orlando area in the next two years. According to Russ Bentley, station manager, and Chris Schmidt, program manager, WFTU can use more student help and anyone interested may contact them.

Tough Judges

Let's face it! Young ladies don't know much about diamonds - but they know perfectly well whether a ring is beautiful or not. In the last few years they brought about a revolution in diamond ring styling and we are all for it.

We will be proud to show you the most modern style selection in town and to guide you to some understanding of diamond quality, cut, color and clarity.

We want you to try on as many styles as you like and after discussing them thoroughly with you, you will wind up with the right ring on your finger. Right in style, right in price, right for the admiration of your friends. Most important - right for you - forever.

Why not see the best selection before you choose? Come in whenever the time has come.
