Vol. II.

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1888.

No. 9.

TO PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

[NEWS-HERALD.]

Welcome the Nation's chosen chief,
To this our sunny clime;
We greet you here with hearts and hands,
And all its gifts entwine.

No bugle's blast nor beating drums,
Nor sound of wars alarms,
Shall greet thy coming on this day,
Or clash with friendly arms.

This day so full with sacred life,
Which God to man has given,
To Him whose name shines o'er the world
Like meteor stars of Heaven.

We welcome you, a Nation's chief,
To this our Land of Flowers,
And may the people's love be thine,
A Nation's pride be ours.

The crystal link which binds the chain
Of Union strong and great,
No lapse of years nor flight of time
Its sacred bands shall break.

Welcome to-day, our country's son,
From all of cares or strife,
And hail with grateful hearts the dawn,
That gave a Nation life.

Bright Florida, thou land of dreams, [sea,
Whose name shines bright as summer's
To-day this tribute here we give,
Our country's pride, land of the free.

Cleveland, name honored and beloved,
God bless thee in thy sacred trust,
To guard the people's dearest rights,
Until thou sleep'st in silent dust.

Welcome to this bright land of flowers,
Beautiful home of orange and vine;
The fruits of the tropics we place in your hand,
While Florida's blessings shall ever be thine. —H. W. RIPLEY.
Winter Park, Fla., Feb. 22, 1888.

THE PRESIDENT VISITS WINTER PARK.

Seldom has a place the size of Winter Park been so highly favored as we have, but from the first we have had, added to our beautiful location, fine climate and enterprising citizens, good friends, who have stood high in affairs social, political and financial; so that while insignificant in point of numerical strength, we have been favored with attentions from prominent people that are denied many a place larger than ours. From the day when the truly lamented Lewis Lawrence escorted President Arthur through what was then a town only in name, getting from him the expression, "The prettiest spot I have seen in Florida," until now, great people of all shades of belief and politics have visited our little place, all of them uniting in praises of the fine scenery and entertainment to be found here. While within the limits of an article like this only a few of them can be mentioned, we may certainly be pardoned if we allude to a few of them, beginning of course with President Arthur. We have also entertained Gov. English of Connecticut, Hon. F. B. Knowles of Massachusetts, Gen. Bentsley of Jacksonville, Gen. Marcy of New Jersey, E. N. Blake, Judge Eugene Cary, Van H. Higgins, S. Corning Judd, James S. Kirk, Ferd. Peck, and A. W. Rollins of Chicago, Judge Walker of Indianapolis, Mr. Garrett of Baltimore, R. M. Pulsifer and E. B. Haskell of Boston, Bishop Whipple and Richard Chute of Minnesota, Hon. Wm. H. Chandler of New Hampshire, G. G. Green of New Jersey, Mrs. Mary J. Holmes, Dr. Henry Foster, Lewis Lawrence, A. S. Apgar, Dr. C. Agnew, Rev. W. Burrows, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Col. H. B. Plant, and Hon. Edwards Pierrepont of New York, S. V. Harkness of Ohio, Geo. Westinghouse, Hamilton Disston, and Hon. Wayne McVeigh of Pennsylvania, Senator Chace and Nicholas Bull of Rhode Island, Hon. John A. Kasson of Iowa, Col. Franklin Fairbanks and C. M. Chase of Vermont, the Duke of Sutherland and Hon. S. Plimsoll of England, Sir Geo. M. Pullman of Chicago, Chas. F. Crocker of San Francisco, and now last, and may we add, as a crowning glory of all, President Grover Cleveland and his party, through the influence of Col. H. B. Plant and Judge J. F. Welborne, have made us a call, and left us pleased with the beautiful place and the cordial greetings they received.

in the afternoon, who patiently and good-naturedly waited the coming of our Nation's honored chief magistrate. About six o'clock the pilot engine came in, followed soon after by the train bearing the distinguished party. The reception committee, consisting of Hon. J. F. Welborne, Wm. C. Comstock, and Loring A. Chase, met them and escorted them to their carriages in the following order: President and Mrs. Cleveland, Judge Welborne; Secretary and Mrs. Whitney, Mr. Comstock; Col. and Mrs. Lamont, Mr. Chase. Hon. Chas. Dougherty and Col. D. H. Elliott, who had come to see the reception, occupied the fourth carriage. Arrived at the Seminole, the party went to the rooms reserved for them, and were soon ready to meet the eager throng. They first took a look at the elegant collation spread for them in the ladies' parlor, which was magnificently decorated for the occasion with a profusion of lovely roses and other flowers. The table groaned with a most tempting array of the finest luxuries known to the culinary art, and which Messrs. Forbes and Paige should be proud of—only that it is impossible for them to do anything in the line of keeping hotel that is not fine. Right here we wish to digress a little, in order to express the thanks of the managers to Hon. F. B. Knowles, Mr. Mahlon Gore, Judge Bryan, G. W. Burden, and others for flowers, and to Mr. Howe, of the Orlando Ice Works, for a most beautiful wreath frozen in the center of a full cake of ice. The presidential party, headed by President Cleveland and Mrs. Plant, then proceeded to the grand parlor, where, introduced by Mr. Loring A. Chase, the President and Mrs. Cleveland received the large and elegant company. All were delighted with the easy manners and cordiality of the President and charmed with the beautiful face of his lovely wife. After the reception was over the party formed as before and walked through the spacious corridor of the Seminole to the "bounding horse-car," in which, propelled by the faithful old mule, that has hauled all the material of which the hotel was built, and many a load of much more precious freight since, but who is an ornament to his profession still, they were quickly landed at the station platform, the President remarking that the street-car ride was one of the pleasantest diversions of his whole trip. Soon the train started on its return trip, followed by the best wishes of all and the sincere wish that the President's last words as he got on the car, "We hope to see more of your beautiful place in the near future," will be realized. Not all here agree with President Cleveland in politics, but all joined in a cordial, sincere welcome, and all speak in warm terms of the plain, unaffected, hearty greeting that he gave us. X.

PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION.

How Orange Park Gardeners Market Strawberries.

They formed a permanent organization, with constitution, by-laws, etc., and charged each member twenty-five cents to pay incidental expenses. A fund of $1,000 was created, consisting of 100 shares at $10 each, of which each citizen was allowed to take as many as he chose. They bought a lot and building for refrigerating or cooling room, then they mortgaged this property for $1,000 and bought refrigerator boxes for the transportation of their strawberries. These boxes contain each 125 quarts. The money at command did not buy boxes enough, so they put their first earnings into more until they had seventy-five, which number answered them last season.

A charge of twelve cents a quart was made to all growers shipping in these refrigerator boxes, whether they were members of this association or not. The actual cost of transportation, as developed, was eight and one-half cents a quart. The three and one-half cents a quart constituted the earnings of the association. But these earnings instead of being put into the members' pockets, were invested in further appliances, until now the association has a plant worth $3,500, with a debt of only $1,000 against it. This year they expect to clear off that debt.

The refrigerator boxes were iced at Orange Park, and again at Jacksonville, then were sent on their way to Philadelphia, New York or Boston. Every grower was allowed to ship to any house he might select, but in case two or more growers had berries in the same refrigerator, the grower having the majority of quarts was allowed to decide to what house it should be sent.

The transportation charges amounted to twenty-three cents per cubic foot for the round trip—fifteen cents for the full trip, eight cents for the return of the empty boxes. Later in the season a rate of seventeen cents for the round trip was secured.

The association now has about fifty acres of strawberries in all, and for this amount 130 boxes are deemed sufficient. The round trip generally occupied fourteen days. They had an agent in Jacksonville who attended to the returning of the boxes promptly to Orange Park.

The berries were "topped," but not always with the largest berries. They were instructed by the dealers in the North to finish off each cup with a smooth layer of the best formed berries. A piece of manilla paper was laid over the upper tier of cups in the refrigerator to absorb the moisture arising from the sweating of the lower tiers, which naturally arises to the top of the refrigerator, and will mold the top berries unless it is absorbed. They never lose a quart of berries. They netted them sixteen and two-thirds cents a quart; to the members this really amounted to over twenty cents, since the three and one-half cents of earnings went toward the enlargement of the plant of the association.

It cost the same amount of money to ship a refrigerator to either of the three cities, Boston, New York and Philadelphia.—Ex.

P. O. ADDRESS, LOCK BOX NO. 22,

WINTER PARK, FLA.

Teosinte.

When last spring we undertook to distribute for the United States Department of Agriculture the seeds of this new forage plant, we promised our readers and the Department to publish the results of the experiments made in its culture by those to whom the seed was sent, a promise which we make good in this issue.

Two things are clearly demonstrated by the experience given; first, that it is admirably adapted to this State, and will become one of our most valued forage, and perhaps grain-producing plants. For while a number reported adversely, and several from whom we give no published report, say the seed failed to germinate. It is plain that this was due to the lateness of the season when it was planted. On this point, Doctor Chase's experience is pertinent, as he had a previous planting with which to compare it. The second thing demonstrated is that the plant will seed abundantly in South Florida, and supplying seed to other sections of the South may prove a profitable industry, as the plant will in all probability be largely planted throughout all the southernmost States of the Union, but will not seed north of peninsular Florida.—Florida Dispatch.

Home Dried Figs.

We have our figs picked just as they are ripe from trees near me of my own planting. Then make a thick syrup of white cane sugar; have it boiling hot in preserving kettle; immerse the figs in the boiling syrup ten minutes. Take out and drain; then place on the dryer racks. After thoroughly being dried, which will be the first day, pack down in wooden pails, sprinkling white sugar over them as packed.

The above method is given by Robert L. Tanner, in the Southern Live Stock Journal. He used a Zimmerman dryer and adds that the figs were delicious and kept perfectly until the bottom of the pail was reached.

Mr. Reasoner has gone to the sinks of Hernando after the Maiden Hair Ferns about which he has discoursed so eloquently to the lady visitors at the Sub-Tropical. He proposes to bring up a car load in order to convince the ladies of the Presidential party that exquisitely delicate ferns are to be found in Florida notwithstanding the popular opinion to the contrary.—Florida Dispatch.

WINTER PARK, MAR. 2, 1888.

OUR correspondent in describing the President's reception inadvertently omitted the name of Mr. M. C. Rerdell, who should have been mentioned among those who contributed largely to the floral display.

JOTTER describes in another column the good work being accomplished by two quiet ladies in the eastern part of the town, and commends it to the attention of those who may be interested or disposed to help. Such a good work in a community like this certainly ought not long to lack so simple and inexpensive a convenience as a few singing books. Those who are disposed to help will no doubt be able to find some other little things, equally acceptable and useful, if they cannot all give singing books. Don't wait for them to ask for something, but just drop in some Sunday afternoon to see them, and no doubt your interest in the work will suggest some little convenience that you can help them to. Try it, and see if it is not the pleasantest Sunday you ever passed.

THE picturesque customs of our heathen ancestors, a few thousand years back, are playfully revived in the planting of a tree in our neighboring town of Maitland. Passengers on the trains lately have no doubt noticed a china tree planted nearly opposite the Maitland station, on which a dozen or so of the enthusiastic devotees of tree-planting have hung their votive offerings, in the shape of oranges, grapefruit, peanuts, etc., doubtless hoping thereby to propitiate the sylvan deities, and make the tree a favorite with them, so that it may flourish exceedingly under their protection. Seriously, the generous enthusiasm thus betrayed is a very hopeful sign for the future beauty of our sister town, which has shown a very commendable enterprise in this direction. We trust the interest of its citizens in such work may never flag, and that its neighbors may emulate its good example, until our Florida towns become noted for their fine avenues of noble trees. Our climate makes this an easy task, and the young trees are ready to our hands within easy distance everywhere, for only the trouble of transplanting them. Let every good citizen, and every man who appreciates a world of shade and beauty, see to it that his own grounds and street line are planted with as many trees as can comfortably grow on them. He will be surprised to see how soon our genial climate will bring them to a size that will repay him for his trouble.

A GOOD WORK.

One of the most interesting as well as benevolent institutions in this locality is the Sunday School that is conducted by Misses Brown and McClure about three-fourths of a mile east of the Seminole. These ladies have succeeded in building a neat cosy building one and a half stories high. It is cosily furnished for the purpose for which it is intended; the walls are hung full of maps showing the places mentioned in the Bible as well as illuminated texts and maps of Florida, Orange Co., etc. Here at three o'clock on Sunday afternoons gather a company of colored people to study the scriptures and to learn to read. The infant class meets up-stairs and the first floor is occupied by a class of adults.

Here, simply taught and in language easily understood, these noble ladies impart the great truths of Scripture and point the ways of peace and happiness to about twenty-five people who anxiously listen and fully appreciate the efforts made in their behalf. We were very much interested in the exercises a Sunday or two ago and we wish to say to the readers of LOCHMEDE that in no way could they spend a more profitable afternoon, than in making them a visit. You will be gladly and courteously received, and will see what a good work these ladies are doing. We noticed a sad lack of singing books; they use the Moody and Sankey books and if anybody has a copy of the book to spare or wishes to donate a little toward buying them some, if they will please hand either the money or the book to J. S. Capen he will see that this useful object will get the benefit of it.

JOTTINGS.

Col. H. B. Plant and party have left for a flying trip to Havana.

The ladies of Mr. Hart's family made a very pleasant excursion to Rockledge on Tuesday.

The prospect for several good houses being built here during the coming summer is very good.

Hon. Dennis Eagan is here for a few days, he does not admire the ice and snow of New Jersey.

The fishing here is grand and we have never seen a more enthusiastic crowd of anglers than we have here.

Mrs. Gilbert Hart is entertaining her sister and daughter from Detroit, the young lady is a fine pianist.

The Misses Sparrell, of Boston, are stopping at the Rogers House. They are life-long friends of Dr. Hooker.

We had the pleasure of meeting F. L. Fort, of the Chicago Times, lately. Mr. Fort is looking for investments and we hope to number him among our property holders before he goes away.

Mrs. Chas. Doddridge, whom all our older citizens will remember as Mrs. Alcott, is visiting at Mr. M. Alcott's and added her remarkably sweet voice to the services of All Saints' Church, last Sunday.

We are glad to see Hon. J. A. Kasson, of Iowa, back with us again. He is just back from an extensive trip through Mexico and is chock full of matters of interest. We have found him one of the most interesting talkers we ever met.

The lecture on the Indian question by Bishop Whipple, Monday evening, at White's Hall, was a fine scholarly effort and added considerable money to the window fund of All Saints Church. Rector Talbott reports very encouraging progress in this direction.

The air is full of rumors of new hotels, new railroads and new enterprises for the coming year; if a reasonable number of them materialize, the growth in this section will be wonderful. Now is the time to make investments, and those who put their money here now will reap a rich harvest.

A very prominent party is now at the Seminole composed of Mr. Adams a grandson of President Adams and himself a very prominent man in Massachusetts affairs; Col. Hay who was President Lincoln's private secretary and is now, with Col. Nicolay, writing his life; and Gen. Slocum of the U. S. Army, who when a lieutenant, just out of West Point, served in Florida.

An incipient strike of the bell boys and laundry help was stopped on Sunday by the prompt action of Forbes and Paige. We don't know the true inwardness of the strike, but of all the foolish ways to settle any question a strike carries the banner, not one in a hundred is successful and in this case some of the boys have been thrown out of work for reasons that we know would have been righted had the proper representations been made in a proper manner to Messrs. Forbes and Paige.

The concert given at the college chapel, last week, to furnish the boys' cottage, was largely attended and was a success both in numbers and financially. While each number on the program was good we hope we will not be considered as showing any partiality if we allude to the strangers who so kindly helped out the program—Misses McMullen and Lee—theirs was certainly a splendid addition, as was the reading of Mr. L. A. Chase. Through the kindness of Mrs. Westinghouse and others the fund was helped more a great deal, than the audience, large as it was, showed, and the prospects for furnishing the cottage in the near future are good.

Said a very prominent Northern gentleman the past week. "If your hotels touched each other clear round the banks of your beautiful lakes and were five stories high, you could keep them filled." We are surely suffering now for want of room, and we do hope that some of the many hotel schemes now talked of will materialize during the coming summer. We want everybody in the country to know that all of the following schemes will pay sure: Another large first-class high price hotel; two or three first-class medium priced hotels, say from $2 to $3 per day; any number of first-class boarding houses; a fine restaurant with furnished rooms, that is an European Hotel; small cottages partly furnished—lots of them. Wake up good people of the North! This is going to be a hotel center and the first that come will begin to accommodate the crowds of next winter and make the money.

Beautiful Maitland.

FLORIDA has no more desirable place of winter residence than MAITLAND: a healthful atmosphere; beautiful groves on the banks of deep pure lakes; churches of several denominations; a permanent and refined society.

I will take pleasure in showing property around MAITLAND, which can afterwards be purchased direct from the owners. Parties will be met at the Station or at the Hotels if requested. J. C. EATON, Lake Maitland.

Why They Stay at Home.

We are permitted to make the following extracts from a letter written by a correspondent, from Petoskey, Michigan, to W. W. Thompson, the well known LeConte pear grower of Smithville, Georgia, and Lake Jessup, Florida:

Nine out of every ten in this country know nothing of that section of country (Florida) and the fruits grown there. What little they think they know is all against it. The average Northern man thinks it is so hot there that it will burn a hole in a man; that insects of all kinds are so numerous one can't take any peace of one's life, that there is a rattle-snake under every tuft of grass; that malaria can be scooped up by the basket full anywhere, and that was about my idea of the matter five years ago. But by taking papers; by extensive correspondence with persons in different parts of the State, and last but not least by a residence of five months at Palatka (while there I traveled hundreds of miles by river and rail), I am convinced that away from the river and swamps it is the healthiest State in the Union, and there are fewer insects than I ever saw any place I ever lived the same length of time. I traveled at least seventy-five miles on foot, and I saw just one snake, and that not a poisonous one, and, with this exception, I did not see the track of one in the sand; so I know they are not there.

If you think it worth while to send me some of your catalogues I will put them where they will do the most good, not that I think any one here will want any of your trees, for this climate; but it may induce some to go South. For my part, I am determined to get out of this cold country. Plenty of others are in the same fix, but don't know where to go, as they have overlooked the South. The cry has all been "Westward, ho!" and they read of the blizzards and people freezing to death every winter in the West, so they stay here.—Florida Dispatch.

The Agriculturist pertinently says, that while tourists and winter climate are good things, permanent prosperity must be based upon something more substantial—upon the productive value of the State. "One family settled in our midst, who will assist in developing the country, is worth more to the State than a car load of tourists, who flit here and there on the cheap excursions, and benefit no one but themselves."

Do not forget to send a copy of this week's LOCHMEDE to your friends North.

Fodder for Fourteen Cows.

We have grown this year corn for fodder, ten feet in height, and upon the same ground where this corn was grown we have now a splendid crop of cow peas, which will be ready, in their turn, for fodder purposes. We have a second crop of corn looking and doing well. Our Doura Corn, or Milo Maize, has been cut once for fodder, and is now two feet high towards its next cutting. This crop grew fully ten to eleven feet in height. The crop of Pearl Millet was something wonderful, none of it less than nine feet high. It must have yielded at the rate of ten tons of fodder to the acre. During the past week we cured and got into the barn about three tons of it, in perfect condition. Our crop of cow peas, also for fodder purposes, is something marvelous. We have broken up, the past week, some new ground upon which cow peas will be planted.

Since the first week in June, we have not used any hay for fourteen head of cattle, which is certainly not a bad showing, nor shall we be required to use hay for our cows for months to come.

Just to show what can be done, let us make a computation. We feed fourteen head of cattle, three times a day, upon green fodder grown upon the place, consequently we produce sufficient fodder in one week to keep one cow ninety-eight days, and in one month sufficient to keep one cow 434 days, sixty-nine days over one year. From this computation it would seem that if our citizens would only manage to shake off the feeling of its being impossible to do such work during the summer it should look as though they might be able to grow the best part of their own fodder. The lethargy which our people permit themselves to indulge in during the summer months is just what is preventing the advancement of our county and State.

We would also wish to say that to attain the results mentioned we have not highly fertilized a rod or so of ground for the purpose of showing what enormous crops can be grown to the acre. If our citizens and interested parties will come and see for themselves they will find acres under cultivation from which the above results have been attained. — James Caulfield, in Florida Agriculturist.

I have heard of men who knew more than they could tell, but I never have met one. If a man has a genuine idea, he can make himself understood.

E. P. Hooker, D. D., President. It is one of the most charming resorts in the State. Thousands have visited it to find health and recreation this winter, and none have gone away disappointed. Its educational advantages and its healthfulness, its location and its easy access by railroad makes it the most desirable and loveliest spot in Florida.

THE WINTER PARK CO.

LOCHMEDE

We trust the people of Winter Park will be sufficiently pleased with our effort to give them an attractive paper to come to our support generously with advertisements and subscriptions, looking for the return on their investment quite as much to the impression of their town created by a presentable paper sent abroad, as to the direct value to them personally of the reading matter supplied, although we shall try to make this as good as possible, and of a character which shall be an index of the refined class of people to whom we look for support. Send us $1.50 for

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

and see that all people at a distance, who are in any way likely to be interested in Winter Park have a chance to subscribe too. The more we get the better we can make the paper, and we shall take pride and pleasure in enlarging and improving as fast as we can afford to do so. Send us and do not be ashamed of a small one, nor too close in calculating the return from as big a one as you can afford. It will all help to make a good showing for the town.

YOUR ADVERTISEMENTS
