Chicago Citation Style (17th edition)

This guide is designed to get you started with the Chicago citation style. For more information, please consult the official source, The Chicago Manual of Style, 17th ed. (2017), available in Rosen REF Z253 .U69 2017.

In-Text Citations and Formatting the Bibliography

- Chicago style generally recommends that you use footnotes (notes that appear at the bottom of each page) in the text of your paper along with a bibliography at the end of your paper. For other methods (parenthetical notes, etc.), please refer to the Chicago Manual.

- Most word processing programs handle footnotes automatically, including font size and spacing. In Microsoft Word, go to the References tab and select Insert Footnote in the Footnotes section.

- The bibliography includes information for all works cited in the notes, so you can generally use shortened forms for the footnotes: the last name of the author(s), a shortened form of the title, and the relevant page number(s) (or section). For example:

For more information on shortened citations, see section 14.29 of the Chicago Manual.

- Formatting the bibliography:
  - Arrange the entries alphabetically by author (if no author is given, then start with the title).
  - According to professor preference, spacing for the bibliography may be double-spaced throughout, or entries may be single-spaced with double-spacing between each entry.
  - Use a "hanging indent" (indent the second and following lines) for entries longer than one line.
  - For a book with a single author, invert the name in the bibliography. For a book with two authors, note that only the first-listed name is inverted in the bibliography entry. For a book with four or more authors, list all the authors in the bibliography entry.

WEBSITE

Citing a website in Chicago style requires you to include much of the same information you would including in citing a print resource like author(s)/editor(s), title of website, publisher information, etc. The Chicago Manual also requires that you include the date you accessed the website and/or publication date (if available).

Bibliography Form: Last, First M. [or Organization]. "Title." Document type [if necessary], Organization [if different than author], Date. URL.

PERSONAL COMMUNICATIONS

The Chicago Manual states that "Unpublished interviews are best cited in text or in notes, though they occasionally appear in bibliographies" (Sections 14.211-244). If you need to cite them, the following formats are recommended:

Bibliography Form: Last, First M (title/position if applicable). In discussion with the author, Date.
