LOCHMEDE

Vol. III.

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1889.

No. 26.

OUR LAST.

The present issue completes the second year of LOCHMEDE, and with it we find it necessary to bid our readers good-bye. When LOCHMEDE was in its early months we had great hopes that the favor with which it seemed to be received would lead to its becoming the natural channel through which the life of Winter Park would find representative expression. We knew that there were many people in town who might naturally be expected to contribute to its pages, and we repeatedly invited them to do so, but with few exceptions we were left entirely to our own devices to find appropriate matter. The income of the paper could not be expected to repay the publisher for his whole time, and without giving that he could not meet the conditions which seemed to be demanded of him. Hence the gradual decline of the paper after the first effort, in which the hope of growth had led to greater exertions than the actual returns warranted. In fact, at no time has the income from the paper been equal to more than laborer's wages for the time spent upon it. We do not say all this in any spirit of reproach, but simply to emphasize the fact that the only possible condition of permanent success in the publication of a paper is generally absent in a small town, and our experience has been no exception to the rule. We trust Winter Park may soon have another representative, and if it does we hope the editor will receive the active co-operation of all hands, without which his venture must soon go the way of our own. Unless the people use a paper they will certainly soon cease to be interested in it, and where the numbers concerned are so small no one can afford to think that there are plenty of others without him. A paper is like a church; if the pastor receives the active co-operation of his people, the church lives and moves and grows and does effective work, but if the people simply listen to the preaching on Sunday and say good morning to the preacher when they meet him on the street, it will not be long before most of them will stay at home on Sunday and the preacher will seek more promising fields. There must be effort on both sides or successful work is impossible.

We do not forget, however, the faithful efforts of a few who have tried to do all they could to help us. Of these our faithful Jotter deserves the first place. Without his encouragement and aid the paper would never have seen the light, and could not have lived a month during its whole existence. In all the two years past he has only failed in his contribution a very few times, and then only because compelled by more important demands upon his time. He has been criticized for incompleteness and partiality in his work, but this is only what all who work for nothing in the public service have to expect, and his critics have only their own failure to co-operate with him to thank for his shortcomings. Let them be wiser another time. Next, our agent, who has worked at a disadvantage from the same causes, and has stood by us in spite of scant returns for his trouble and slight hope of better. Without his readiness to stop all gaps, and patient continuance of service when it must often have seemed that the game was hardly worth the candle, we must long since have given up. To them and those others from whom we have occasionally received contributions we owe such local interest as the paper has possessed, and we appreciate and thank them for their services accordingly. For the rest, our thanks are due to those few faithful patrons among our subscribers and advertisers whose interest in the work our paper might do to advance the interests of Winter Park has led them to stand by us in spite of the small return we have been able to make to them. We have wished it might be greater, and trust they may be better rewarded next time. In closing we cannot help thinking if all were as enterprising as a few, or would add even the weight of numbers to carry out the enterprises of the few, what great things might be done, but for lack of faith in the hearts of the many the mountain often fails to move at the bidding of the few.

JOTTER'S ADIEU.

With this last issue of LOCHMEDE, Jotter lays down the pen which he took up with the first number and which he has wielded since to the best of his ability, considering the busy life he leads and the lack of time he has always had to contend with from the first. He has tried to keep his readers posted in local happenings at Winter Park, has had many pleasant experiences, and some not so pleasant. If he has succeeded to even a slight degree in interesting anybody, he is contented. If he has hurt anybody's feelings, either by omission or commission, he is sorry and ready to do the honorable in all such cases that he can find out. While differing at times from some of our best citizens, he has tried to put all questions on their merits as he has seen them, and carefully avoided any personalities of any sort, going on the ground that if nothing good can be said of a person to say nothing. Nor has he omitted to mention many people for this reason, but most omissions have been simply and solely owing to a lack of time to get around and find out what was going on. And now as a last word allow him to thank all for uniform kindness, to hope that our little village will continue to thrive and prosper as in the past, that we will soon have a successor to LOCHMEDE established here, and that the local Jotter of such successor shall have no more to complain of than this one has. Adieu.

The experience gathered from books, though often valuable, is but of the nature of learning, whereas the experience gained from actual life is of the nature of wisdom; and a small store of the latter is worth vastly more than any stock of the former.

WINTER PARK, JUNE 28, 1889.*JOTTINGS.

Col. Fairbanks is spending the summer in California.

Judge Mizell has been in Jacksonville this week on business.

Will Ingram is taking a much deserved rest at St. Johnsbury, Vermont.

One of our prominent caterers is soon to be married, so we are told; look out for a tony wedding.

Alderman Dieffenderfer has joined his family in Virginia for the summer. We wish him a delightful summer.

Oh my! Did you ever experience such delicious nights for sleeping as we are having now? We never did.

Col. Dennis Eagan has returned from Washington and reports his chances for the collectorship first-class.

We hear rumors of a large deal in real estate here on which a fine house will soon be started. We hope it is so.

The civil engineering class at Rollins College, such of them as are left here, are continuing their studies under Dr. Barrows' charge.

The Rollins place, under the charge of Mr. Tolly, is looking finely and a great many curious plants and flowers can be seen there in flourishing condition.

C. B. Davids is making all of Mr. Knowles' property here to blossom as the rose. He is an intelligent and energetic man in the line of fruit and flower culture.

Mr. Kedney expects to go to New York soon on some important financial business. It's needless to say that it will be successful—that's the kind of man Mr. Kedney is.

Miss Ida Missildine has been given her certificate of qualification as a music teacher, and will take great pleasure in teaching both instrumental and vocal music.

Negotiations looking to the early completion of the O. & W. P. to Lake Jesup are going on which we hope will succeed and the road be built this fall ready for the winter.

Mrs. S. H. Etter left Monday to join her husband at Boardman, Fla., from which place they will go to Borden, Cal., where they expect to reside in future. Success to them.

The Society of Christian Endeavor of the Congregational church has founded quite a flourishing Sunday School at Lake Howell. A great deal of interest is developing in it.

Mr. W. R. Smith, the efficient manager of the Anchorage, says that while the long drouth damaged the crop prospects somewhat, the place will produce quite a good crop this season.

T. C. Wilkes has got a bonanza in ten acres of fine water melons on a piece of land out by the old Wilkes mill. He expects to realize $2000 from the patch, and from the way his melons are turning out and the prices they are bringing we don't think the estimate out of the way.

We had the pleasure of a long conversation the past week with Captain Murray, the noted St. Johns river navigator. He is an interesting talker and can tell more about the St. Johns river from Jacksonville to Lake Poinsett, the Halifax, Hillsborough and Indian rivers, and the coast from Savannah to Key West than any man we have talked with. He says that the harbor at New Smyrna can be made the finest on the coast and that the Gulf stream runs closer in there than any place along the coast. All of which is good news to South Florida.

We hereby acknowledge the receipt of a pass over the J. F. & R. R. (Jerome's First R. R.) Said road is among the first elevated roads to be built in Florida. It runs through a beautiful stretch of scenery, has three stations, Hart, Jerome and Louise, runs smooth and having trains only one way at a time there is no danger from collision. A great deal of skill has been displayed in its construction, only first quality heart spools, size used for linen, have been used in the wheels and with the elevated road built by Dee Batchelder, forms quite an attraction for all the boys of Winter Park.

The following notice has been sent out by the mayor: At the regular meeting of the town council of Winter Park, Thursday evening, June 27th, at 7:30 o'clock, the subject of bonding the town for municipal purposes will be under discussion. You are earnestly invited to be present as we are desirous of having a full interchange of opinions on this most important subject. The meeting will be held too late to get the particulars for this issue, but as the notice was sent to all the principal tax payers of the community we hope it will be a full one and that it will come to a unanimous conclusion to improve the town in what is now about the only way left for us.

After this week we shall have the only office in the county exclusively devoted to job printing, with no paper to interfere with or delay such work. Don't forget it when you want any printing done.

At Sorrento they have adopted a novel method of clearing up the streets, parks, etc., which is proving very effective. They have what they call "field days." The men come out in full force and work with a will, and are refreshed by a big dinner provided by the ladies of the vicinity. They propose to make Sorrento a model town.

The Polk County Florida Exposition has been organized, with a capital stock of $50,000, divided into shares of $1 each.

The Japanese keep meat fresh in hot weather by placing the raw flesh in porcelain vessels and pouring on it boiling water, whereby the albumen of the surface is quickly coagulated and forms a protection against the further action of the weather. Oil is then poured on the surface of the water, so as to prevent the access of air and consequent putrefaction of the meat.

*WINTER PARK, FLORIDA.*

A beautiful location on the Water-shed or backbone of Florida, with nine beautiful lakes of running water; with the Hotel Seminole, accommodating 400 guests; with Rollins College and its 100 students, with an able faculty under Rev. E. P. Hooker, D. D., President. It is one of the most charming resorts in the State. Thousands have visited it to find health and recreation this winter, and none have gone away disappointed. Its educational advantages and its healthfulness, its location and its easy access by railroad makes it the most desirable and loveliest spot in Florida.

Having added a General Real Estate Department, those having property to sell, as well as those looking for investments, will find it to their advantage to give us a call. Property will be shown free of charge, and maps, circulars, etc., promptly furnished on application to

A WEEKLY ADVOCATE FOR WINTER PARK.

We believe in the natural resources and beauty of our Town, our County and our State, and it is our mission to make others do so too.

Our capacity for usefulness in this way is only limited by our means, which depend entirely upon the support accorded us.

The work is for the good of all alike, and we therefore hope for the help of all to support our enterprise and make it a power for progress.

We send out our modest little sheet to show the world that our town, like our paper, though small, is neat and attractive.
