PREFACE.

Richards' first volume of the ORANGE COUNTY GAZETTEER AND BUSINESS DIRECTORY is presented to the public, with the assurance that it will be found complete and comprehensive, and the publishers believe its contents cannot fail to benefit the entire business community and serve all persons who consult its pages as a valuable guide to the County of Orange.

The general features of the work embrace a Descriptive Sketch of the County, as well as of each Post Office, a General Directory of each Town, and a Classified Business Directory of the entire County, a Post Office Directory of the State, together with a list of the Fruit and Vegetable Growers in the county, arranged by towns alphabetically.

This is the first County Directory ever yet published in the State of Florida, and its typographical neatness does credit to the Times-Union print, from whose presses the work is issued.

The publishers, in conclusion, tender their cordial acknowledgements to patrons and others who have so kindly lent the enterprise support and encouragement.

Respectfully,

ORANGE COUNTY.

POPULATION, 1885, 15,425.

Orange county is located centrally in the State, north and south, but is generally considered as belonging to the southern portion of the State. It has an area of 2,250 square miles, or 1,440,000 acres. It is bounded on the north by Lake George and Volusia county, east by Volusia and Brevard, from which it is separated by the St. Johns River; south by Brevard, and west by Polk, Sumter and Marion counties. The population of the county in 1880, as shown by the United States census returns, was 6,618, and according to the census of 1885, the increase in population in the five years has been 8,807. The aggregate assessed valuation of real and personal property amounts to $4,235,132. The rate of taxation is four mills on the dollar for the State and ten mills for county purposes. In 1880 there were 1,160 Republican and 1,866 Democratic votes polled, making the total voting population 3,025. There were 771,032 acres of land assessed in 1885 for taxes, of which amount 16,440 acres were improved or cultivated. The lands are well adapted to the cultivation of fruits and early vegetables, and this pursuit is the chief industry. There are more lakes to be found in this county than in any of the adjoining counties, and among them is Lake Apopka, the second largest lake in the State; beside this one there are others covering areas of one acre up to a thousand acres each.

ORLANDO DIRECTORY

1887.

POPULATION 4,556.

This city, the county-seat, is about centrally located in the county, on the line of the South Florida Railroad, at the junction of the Tavares, Orlando & Atlantic Railroad. This is a metropolitan city of many resources, invested with a spirit of enterprise and thrift.

Nowhere in Florida can its society, its institutions or its business advantages be excelled. Situated in the orange growing belt of Florida and surrounded by numerous lakes of picturesque beauty, one can not fail to realize the attractions that capital has so naturally sought to center upon in advancing its material developments. Within four years Orlando has thribled her then population, and with remarkable progress the commercial resources have been identified with its growth, and now, at home or abroad, the name of Orlando implies a recognition of familiarity, supported in the minds of the tourist and citizen.

There is no lack of churches, schools or literary society organizations, and the citizens have reason to pride themselves on the intelligence and culture of the community. We bespeak for Orlando a future bounded by no limit of its present resources.

SANFORD DIRECTORY.

POPULATION 2,378.

The city of Sanford is located on the St. Johns River, at the head of deep water navigation for large steamboats, and is the northern terminus of the South Florida Railroad, whose general offices and headquarters are located here. It is also on the line of the Jacksonville, Tampa & Key West Railway, and is connected by rail with Tampa, Bartow, Titusville, Tavares and Jacksonville. The DeBary-Baya Merchants and the Peoples Line steamers ply between Sanford and Jacksonville, performing a double daily service, placing it in daily communication with all points along the St. Johns River. Sanford is twenty-two miles north of Orlando, the county seat, one hundred and twenty-four by rail, and two hundred miles by water, south of Jacksonville. Aside from the water communication furnished by the St. Johns River and its tributaries, the railroad facilities that Sanford enjoys give to the city direct intercourse with every point of the State.

The South Florida Railroad has done much to increase the business importance of the place by opening up a line of through travel to the southwestern section of the State, while the completion of the Jacksonville, Tampa & Key West Railway to this point, and of its branches to Titusville and Tavares, has inaugurated a new era of activity in travel and commerce. This is the principal shipping and distributing point for merchandise and other shipments made on the St. Johns River for this section of the State. In consequence of its advantages of location, rendering Sanford a collecting and distributing centre for a growing and important section of Florida, a wonderfully large amount of business in the various branches is done here, and it is needless to say that with the recent addition to its transportation facilities, the volume of trade is likely to be largely increased.

Among the noteworthy interests that Sanford enjoys we would refer to its two progressive newspapers, the Sanford Journal and the South Florida Argus, whose editorial columns are ably edited by journalists of recognized competence, and the Daily Journal would do credit to any city in the South many times the population of Sanford. The hotel and mercantile interests, as well as manufacturing industries are well represented here in all their varied branches.

FLOWERY FLORIDA!

"The Land of Sand A Humbug Grand,"

were, perhaps, your first thoughts; but when you found out there were

"Millions in it,"

you wanted some of this same "sand," you wanted an orange grove; you soon realized that

Banks may burst; Blocks may burn; High-water, Grasshoppers, or Chinch Bugs may play the d—l with the Wheat and Corn, but every autumn you could go into your Orange Grove and pluck your Golden Dollars by the thousands—yes,—yes,—yes,—we remember the "cold snap" of last winter; but didn't everybody have time to gather all their oranges? they were ripe long before the freeze. (You show us a country without frosts, and we will show you a good place to start a successful yellow fever factory.)

*The Frost Line
Or a Gold Mine,
Please bear in mind
Is hard to find.*

You have got to dig for either. But go to Ocala, and Marion County, and see if the "freeze" set the Groves back any. See for yourself whether or not they have as many oranges as ever, and will ship as many as heretofore. Find out how many car-loads of vegetables, strawberries, etc., etc., are shipped from there every season. Examine their Orange Groves and fine Lands—their hills covered with Hard Woods, Hickory, Oak, Ash, Dogwood, etc., etc. See a county that is self-sustaining. (You have been to Duval County, and know its advantages.)

But if you buy land—no matter where—always get an abstract of title; make the party selling show his hand—title, we mean. This leads us to ask you a simple question:

Is the Title to your Florida Land Good? ARE YOU SURE? Or have you bought or loaned money, and taken a mortgage on, what may prove to be a law suit, with the chances in favor of the other fellow?

Bad Titles are found in every State, and Florida is no exception, but THE BACON & ADAMS ABSTRACT COMPANY, of Florida, offices corner Market and Forsyth streets, opposite the Courthouse in Jacksonville, and in the southwest room of the Courthouse in Ocala, have a complete set of Abstract Books of Land Titles, of all the lands and lots in each (Marion and Duval) County, and can, on very short notice, make you an Abstract of Title to your Property, showing every deed, mortgage, tax sale, judgment, lien, etc., etc., everything touching the land. Some may believe in

*Tickle the world and make it grin,
The more you tickle, the more you'll win.*

But we will make you an abstract that will show up the Title, just as it appears of record, whether it "tickles" you or not.

If you buy a bad title now, it is your own fault. If you loan money on a bad title now, it is your own fault. If you want an abstract of title; if you have money to loan; if you want to borrow money; if you want your taxes paid; if you want a deed or mortgage written or acknowledged; if you are lonesome and would like to ——— somebody who would be glad to see you, COME AND SEE US,

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., January 13th, 1882.

I have known M. R. Bacon for about twelve years. He read law in my office, and practiced law in partnership with me for several years; I know him to be a safe, reliable, honest and capable young man, and I have no hesitation in recommending him to all persons with whom he may have social or business relations, as a gentleman of more than ordinary capacity. I can also recommend him as a sober, industrious and reliable man, and one whom it will be no discredit to be connected with. As a lawyer he is a safe counselor and a diligent, careful and faithful worker. He is well grounded in elementary principles, and is perfectly familiar with the modern advancement in the law.

EUSTIS DIRECTORY.

POPULATION 1,300.

This City was first settled in 1878, at which time it was called Pendryville, since Lake Eustis, but latterly Eustis. It is located on the line of the St. Johns & Lake Eustis Division of the Florida Southern Ry, 36 miles northeast of Orlando the county seat, and 4 miles north of the junction of the Tavares, Orlando & Atlantic Railroad with the Florida Railway & Navigation Co., at Tavares.

Eustis has a bank, express and telegraph, and a money order post office. The various branches of mercantile pursuits are represented here. Has two weekly newspapers, whose columns are always well filled with general popular news items. The Eustis Lake Region is well edited, and deserves the success and prosperity it has attained. Eustis is headquarters for The Grand Army, for Florida, and its lodges and other societies take rank among the foremost in the State.

KISSIMMEE DIRECTORY.

POPULATION 1,425.

The city of Kissimmee is situated on the line of the South Florida Railroad, 18 miles south of Orlando, the county seat, and 75 miles northeast of Tampa. The city is beautifully located at the head waters of Lake Tohopekaliga, which, together with the Kissimmee river, Lake Okeechobee and Caloosahatchee river, forms a navigable outlet to the Gulf coast waters, where steamers are now constantly employed carrying freight and passengers. At this city all the dredges, snag-boats and steamers of the Disston Drainage Company are built, and a vast system of inland navigation and engineering is conducted from this point. The principal shipments are lumber, fruits and vegetables. Manufacturing and mercantile business are the chief pursuits. Much tact, enterprise and energy is to be noted among the inhabitants of this little city. The physical features of the country surrounding this city present a very favorable appearance, its lands being of good quality and very productive. The combined advantages to be had here places Kissimmee among the most prosperous towns in this section of Florida.

APOPKA DIRECTORY,

1887.

POPULATION 947.

Along the line of the Tavares, Orlando & Atlantic Railroad, at the crossing of the Florida Midland, just thirteen miles north-west of Orlando, the county seat of Orange county, is located the prosperous little city of APOPKA, whose surroundings impose within themselves every feature of health-giving adaptability. On either side is to be seen beautiful lakes, whose crystal surface reflects the peaceful quietude of happy homes that so distinctively line their shores. A short distance west of here is Lake Apopka, the second largest in the State, and four miles distant, on the east, is located the celebrated Clay Springs, whose source is a scene of wonder and beauty and whose water supply forms the Wekiva River. In 1854, the town site for this promising city was first selected, and although the growth has not been a rapid one, it nevertheless has been substantial and well founded, and within the past year it has been most promising. Intersected by three railroads, whose diverging lines give transportation facilities to all the principal points of travel, Apopka assuming its geographical position, can justly claim to be a railroad centre; surrounded by some of the largest and finest orange groves in the State, and by some of the most fertile and productive lands in all Florida; blessed with fine schools, a cultured and refined society, a public spirited people, there is certainly no place in Florida that offers to the tourist and settler, the business man or merchant, a more inviting welcome. The lands are chiefly high, rolling pine, with intervening hammock of superior quality, and it is a very easy matter for one to realize the advantages that are to be gained now from investments here, while the opportunity offers such a great inducement. The town is yet in its infancy, with every prospect of a bright future, and when it is considered that the lands yield lucrative crops of vegetables, potatoes, oats and corn, as well as some of the finest oranges produced in the State, there is no reason why APOPKA should not double its property value within another year's growth. (There are two weekly newspapers published here, whose wide awake columns are ever open to the interest of the city and its individual citizen's welfare. The Apopka Citizen and Our Advertiser are the names of the two papers, both of which are enterprising, spicy and newsy, and would do credit to any place in the State many times the present size of APOPKA.] We would also refer to the refined and cultured society that one meets within this city, which is a combined outgrowth, made up from the customs of many States, as there are people living here whose nationality is purely American, and whose ideas are cosmopolitan and progressive.

There are mercantile establishments representing all branches of commercial and business pursuits, all of which enjoy a reasonable share of trade and business. There are no failures, so common to places that are on a boom. ) The merchants are also close observers of supply and demand, and careful buyers. The city is regularly incorporated, with municipal jurisdiction, and upon a whole, nothing seems to be lacking in the way of push and enterprise among the citizens, to further the advancement of the individual benefit of those who form a part of Apopka's interests. Suffice it to say, the publishers of this, the ORANGE COUNTY GAZETTEER, have experienced nowhere in the County of Orange a more liberal support and patronage, or a more hearty welcome, than Apopka has extended and shown, which illustrates to our satisfaction the merited worth and deserving success it has attained.

TAVARES DIRECTORY.

POPULATION 697.

The town of Tavares was first settled in 1882. Located 32 miles northwest of Orlando, the county seat, at the junction of the Tavares, Orlando and Atlantic Railroad, the Lake Eustis branch of the Florida Southern Railway and the Leesburg branch of the Florida Railway and Navigation Co's lines. The town site is located on Lake Dora and Lake Eustis, on both of which it has water communications with the Ocklawaha and St. Johns rivers, and this, together with the railroad advantages this city enjoys, places Tavares in direct communication with all sections of the State. Tavares bids fair to become a railroad centre of great importance. The country surrounding it is fertile and productive of good yield in fruits, vegetables and general field crops. There are various branches of business enterprises represented here, that enjoy a full share of patronage and trade, and it is evident that the city is rapidly increasing in population and importance as the development of the country surrounding demands.

WINTER PARK DIRECTORY.

POPULATION 613.

Was first settled in 1882, and is situated on the South Florida Railroad, four miles north of Orlando, the county seat and nearest banking point. Has express and telegraph offices, several stores, two steam saw mills, three good hotels, a college, Congregational, Episcopal and Methodist churches, and daily mails. Oranges, vegetables, limes and lemons are the principal shipments.

This is an incorporated town of a promising future. It is surrounded by lakes Maitland, Osceola and Virginia, upon whose shores some of the finest fruits and vegetables are grown that are produced in the State. This town is a winter resort, possessing commendable advantages. The college located here is ably conducted, and offers advantages of the higher branches of learning. The Seminole Hotel ranks among the finest in the State.

POPULATION 1,027.

Longwood is located on the line of the South Florida Railroad, at the junction of the Orange Belt Railroad, twelve miles north of Orlando, the county seat, and ten south of Sanford, the nearest banking point. Has express and telegraph offices, three hotels, sash, door, blind and building material manufactory, two saw mills and eight stores; Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, Congregational and Presbyterian churches. The Longwood News is a very creditable weekly paper, and is well supported. Oranges, lumber and building materials are the principal shipments. The chief pursuits are mercantile, manufacturing and growing oranges. This little city is the most important place between Sanford and Orlando. It is located in a prosperous section of the country, and bids fair to become a railroad center when the different lines now building are put into operation.

LAKE MAITLAND.

Population 400. Lake Maitland is an incorporated town on the line of the South Florida Railroad, 6 miles north of Orlando. It has express and telegraph offices, public free school, a weekly newspaper, the Maitland Courier, and is a money order post office. Oranges and vegetables are the principal shipments. This place is sometimes called Maitland, which is properly the name of the railroad station, but Lake Maitland is the correct name of the post office. It is finely located on high, rolling land, amid deep, clear lakes, the gem of which is Lake Maitland, probably the handsomest body of water in all this lake country. Here is a neat, pretty village of half a dozen stores, five churches, a town hall, and school house. Within a short distance, though little visible from the railroad, are some of the thriftiest bearing groves in the State, and many elegant residences, situated on romantic sites, overlooking the lakes. A fine class of people have settled here, either for winter or permanent residence. Bishop Whipple, of Minnesota, makes his winter residence here, close by the beautiful little memorial church he built. For health, beauty, freedom from insects, and a soil adapted to fruit culture, Maitland cannot be excelled. The late freeze showed an immunity from frost truly wonderful, some of its groves not losing their leaves even. We cordially invite all intending settlers to stop over a day or two and make a close inspection. Our land agents are gentlemen who will fairly represent the country, and resort to no clap trap methods to induce you to buy.

Population 200. Few towns can boast of as many facilities and advantages as this one. In six years, from a dense growth of hammock and pine, it now stands unrivalled. Location unsurpassed for beauty and health. Orange groves interspersed with clear lakes, margined with stately magnolias, palms and pines.

Situated on the South Florida Railroad, direct from Sanford to Tampa, only three miles from Winter Park, the Saratoga of Florida. The Atlantic and Apopka R. R., a local enterprise, passes through a section of tropical loveliness, seldom found. The town is mapped with wide streets, building lots ample. Has post office, express, telegraph, telephone, and carriage shops, artificial stone, brick works, carbonized stone and marble, three boarding houses, two resident physicians, church and veterinary hospital, and ice factory turning out the best ice, and in larger quantities than any other in Florida. Water works supply the inhabitants with pure, filtered water.

ZELLWOOD.

THE HOME OF THE ORANGE—A PLACE WHERE HEALTH, WEALTH AND PROSPERITY IS UNIVERSAL.

This thriving village is located on the line of the Tavares, Orlando & Atlantic Railroad, 24 miles northwest of Orlando, the county seat. The town site is surrounded by lovely lakes and beautiful orange groves. Zellwood has its churches, schools and society organizations that compare favorably with any place in the State, and the citizens are among the foremost in the land, intelligent, courteous and enterprising. The quality of the land surrounding Zellwood, is of the very best that can be found in the State, producing oranges and vegetables, corn, oats and other field crops in lucrative yield. Fruits and vegetables, however, form the principal industry of the farming community in this section. There are express and telegraph offices located here, and its railroad advantages place Zellwood in direct communication with every section of the State. Unlike many Florida towns, this little city seeks no popularity, but is content with its steady and permanent growth, that comes to it by natural means and through unsought channels.

In 1876 the town of Zellwood was first settled, and its present population is estimated at about 400. The principal shipments are oranges and vegetables, and the main pursuits are mercantile. Any one who may chance to favor this place with a visit, will always find a welcome among its citizens.
