Hello, hope you're all having a great semester thus far. Remember, if you would like to request books/videos for the library collection, your liaison is Dr. Melanie Guldi. For everything else, whether creating a course LibGuide, a class visit to the library, embedding resources in Canvas, or talking about how we can support your research and publishing needs, feel free to drop me a line. I look forward to hearing from you!

Open Access Week, a global event now entering its eighth year, is an opportunity for the academic and research community to continue to learn about the potential benefits of Open Access, to share what they've learned with colleagues, and to help inspire wider participation in helping to make Open Access a new norm in scholarship and research.

You are invited to join us on Monday, October 20th from 9am to 3:30pm in Teaching Academy room 117 for a free event focusing on Open Access publishing perspectives including...

- ⇒ Live online discussion with Peter Suber, director of the Harvard Office for Scholarly Communication
- ⇒ Representatives from Springer, Gale, IEEE, and Taylor & Francis with information on open access publishing options and editorial processes
- ⇒ Discussions with six UCF Faculty members on their experiences with open access

To learn more, please visit <http://library.ucf.edu/ScholarlyCommunication/OpenAccessWeek>

Have you published in an open access journal? If so, we'd love to hear about it. Join your fellow UCF Colleagues who are already open access champions.

reserve STUDY ROOMS online

The John C. Hitt Library is proud to announce the launch of the joint Faculty/Graduate Study Room service this Fall Semester. The library has a total of 11 study rooms that can accommodate between 2 to 10 people. The study rooms are located on the third floor of the library and may be checked out by any faculty, on a first-come, first serve basis. The study rooms can be checked out for a total of four hours. This service provides the faculty with the opportunity to meet with their students outside their regular office. Reservations can be made up to 7 days in advance online. For your convenience, the link to reserve a study room is: <http://library.ucf.edu/StudyRooms/>

Research Workshops for Fall 2014

The library faculty will be offering a series of professional development workshops in the Graduate Student Center (Colburn—Suite 146). Though marketed primarily to graduate students, they are also open to faculty and staff who wish to hone their research skills.
