As your Sociology Subject Librarian, I encourage you to contact me if you have any library-related questions, need help with the Information Literacy Modules, or want to invite a librarian to work with your students either face-to-face or online!

Open Access Week Event

Open Access Week, a global event now entering its eighth year, is an opportunity for the academic and research community to continue to learn about the potential benefits of Open Access, to share what they've learned with colleagues, and to help inspire wider participation in helping to make Open Access a new norm in scholarship and research.

You are invited to take advantage of a free event to discuss the possibilities Open Access publishing affords authors across a variety of disciplines. Join us Monday, October 20th from 9am to 3:30pm in Teaching Academy room 117 for sessions focusing on Open Access publishing perspectives including...

- Live online discussion with Open Access guru Peter Suber, director of the Harvard Office for Scholarly Communication;
- Representatives from Springer, Gale, IEEE, and Taylor & Francis with information on Open Access publishing options and editorial processes;
- Discussions with six UCF faculty members on their experiences with Open Access; and
- Discussions with colleagues from area institutions.

For more information, please visit the Open Access Week web site:

Illuminations: A Newsletter for New Faculty

The Fall 2014 issue of Illuminations is now available, and it's full of articles from new and returning faculty and updates from departments across campus. While targeted to new faculty, this is a great resource for learning about the diverse research being conducted at UCF. <http://illuminations.library.ucf.edu/>
