MISS PEDRICK GIVES PLEASING FINAL RECITAL.

Miss Jessie Pedrick of Orlando, the holder of the Rollins Conservatory Piano Scholarship for this year, gave the second of the Final Recitals for the season on Monday afternoon, May 20th, in Knowles Hall, assisted by Miss Florence Keezel, mezzo-soprano, and Mrs. E. K. Krauss, violinist.

The young pianist with delicacy and poetic feeling in the Mozart Sonata and with Mrs. Krauss showed a feeling for tonal shading and ensemble effects that was truly delightful. Miss Keezel has a very promising voice of great power and sweetness, and her songs were well received.

A CORRECTION

The following note, which should have accompanied Dr. Baker's article in the last issue on the coming eclipse, was omitted through an error.

NOTE—I am indebted to Professor Short of the College Faculty for the loan of the January, 1917, number of "Popular Astronomy," which contains an account of the eclipse.

T. R. Baker.

Dr. Ward who has recently gone to his home in Lowell, Mass., writes that he has contracted a very severe cold. Dr. Ward expects to return to Winter Park to deliver the commencement address on June 6.

Dr. French supplied the pulpit of the Memorial Presbyterian church of St. Augustine the last two Sundays in May. In spite of the fact that most of the Winter residents have returned north, Dr. French preached to large congregations both Sundays.

The Prayer of a Soldier.

(The prayer which follows was found in the pocket of a British colonel after he was killed in action in Flanders on October 11, 1917, it was sent to The Evening Post by one of his friends.)

Father of all, Helper of the free, we pray with anxious hearts for all who fight on sea and land and in the air to guard our homes and liberty. Make clear the vision of our leaders and their counsels wise.

Into Thy care our ships and seamen we commend; guard them from chance-sown mines and all the dangers of this war at sea, and as of old give them the victory.

To our men on watch, give vigilance, to those below calm sleep. Make strong our soldiers' hearts and brace their nerves against the bursting shrapnel and the unseen fire that lays the next man low.

In pity blind them to the sight of fallen comrades left upon the field.

May Christ Himself in Paradise receive the souls of those who pass through death.

Let not our soldiers ever doubt that they shall overcome the forces of that king who "seeks to wade through slaughter to a throne and shut the gate of mercy on mankind."

O, God of love and pity; have compassion on the wounded, make bearable their pains or send unconsciousness.

To surgeons and to dressers give strength that knows no failing and skill that suffers not from desperate haste

To tired men give time to rest.

Pity the poor beasts of service who suffer for man's wrong.

For us at home, let not that open shame be ours, that we forget to ease the sufferings of the near and dear of brave men in the fighting line.

O, Thou who makest human hearts the channel of Thy answers to our prayers, let loose a flood of sympathy and help for children and their mothers who wander desolate and suffering, leaving wrecked homes and fields and gardens trodden under ruthless feet.

O Father, may this war be mankind's last appeal to force. Grant from the stricken earth, sown with Thy dead, an everlasting flower of peace shall spring, and all Thy world become a garden where the flower of Christ shall grow.

And this we beg for our dear Elder Brother's sake, who gave Himself for those He loved, our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Amen.

Closing Dance of Year In Lyman Gym.

Saturday, May 18, the gymnasium floor was waxed for the last time this year and at 7:30 began the second dance of the Semester. "The second dance of the Semester," those who have attended the other dances in the gymnasium this year prefer to say, for "second" doesn't give one the queer feeling which "last" gives.

The orchestra was the best of the season. All the selections were good and were well played. Every one seemed to be determined to enjoy themselves and since good music and a jovial crowd make any dance enjoyable this one was a success. At 10:20 the orchestra played "Good Night Ladies," the crowd departed and the last Rollins dance of 1917-18 became a happy memory.

THE VOLUNTEER

William Olliphant Rencher

He knows that he'd rather much linger
And build up the future he dreams
And dwell in the land of his father for aye

Nor alter life's manifold schemes.

But—there's a fight "over there" on the hilltop,

There's a fight "over there" on the plain,

And a man must go to baffle the foe
And the knave and the weaking remain.

A man must away to his fellows,

Be one in the millions who strive
And laugh in the mud of the vermin-filled trench

And sing in the face of the drive.
For—there's a fight "over there" on the ridges,

There's a fight on the Hun-ravaged plain

And a man must go to grapple the foe
And the knave and the coward remain.

And whether he lives doesn't matter,
And it matters not much if he dies—

If he's lived or he's died for the freedom

Of land and of sea and of skies.
For—there's a fight "over there" for his loved ones.

There's blood on the Hun-ravaged plain.

And a man must go to conquer the foe,
And the fool and the weaking remain.

LARGE CROWD HEARS FRIEDA SIEWERT'S RECITAL.

POPULAR YOUNG SOPRANO RECEIVES LARGEST FLORAL TRIBUTES OF SEASON — HER VOICE AT ITS BEST.

A large and enthusiastic audience turned out last Wednesday evening to hear Frieda Siewert's graduating song recital, and their prolonged and hearty applause testified not only to the personal popularity of the singer, but to the sincere appreciation of her delightful performance of a program as interesting as it was varied.

Miss Siewert not only possesses a lovely lyric soprano voice, which she uses with art and temperament, but also a charming personality, and a magnetic stage presence. Her singing of the Jewel Song, from Faust, proved her competent to venture as far as she likes into the realms of operatic art, for she showed an ease and a nerve in its rendition which left not a trace of Amateurishness. Perhaps the loveliest song on the program was the "Rose Gardener," by Lehman, altho the fresh and sweet "Villanelle" by Dell Acqua received as much favor.

Miss Siewert's voice has gained much in power and sureness during the past year, and her diction last night was a delight. Those who have followed her progress with interest since she came to Winter Park to live are predicting fine things for her future.

Mrs. Krauss, who assisted, played DeBeriot's brilliant "Scene de Ballet" with dash and authority, and Eleanor Coffin was, as usual, a sure and sympathetic accompanist.

A Botanical Note.

The Sandspur is fortunate in having first release of the latest work of Miss Mary E. Francis, so well known throughout the State by her work with Florida wild flowers. The list which follows on page 4 was prepared by Miss Francis while visiting in Winter Park recently. It will be of great interest and assistance to students and friends in learning the many forms of plant life in and around the Campus.

Miss Francis is a botanist of distinction, having written two books on botanical subjects—one "The Book of Grasses," published by Doubleday-Page and Company, and the other "Florida Wild Flowers", to be published after the war is over. She has just completed a series of articles on Florida Wild Flowers published in the Tampa Tribune and Orlando Reporter Star.

Rollins Campus Almost A Botanic Garden

In speaking of her work on the campus, Miss Francis says:

"If a large number of plants always constituted a botanic garden, Rollins Campus might be considered one, since fully one-tenth of the vast number of native and naturalized plants found in Florida grow within the limits of its twenty-five acres.

"From the interesting aquatic plants of the lake shore to the totally different flora of the high pinelands near the buildings there is an aston-

YE ROLLINS CRABBERS, ATTENTION!

Miss Pendleton announced in chapel on Saturday morning, May 11, that the College had promised the state food administration to serve absolutely wheatless meals from now till the next harvest is in. Although there is in possession of the college sufficient flour for the remainder of the year its use will be discontinued immediately and the supply turned over to the government. That the members of the college will co-operate, both by cheerful acceptance of the wheatless menu and in private consumption away from college, is hoped and expected."—Wellsley College News.

TRENCH AND CAMP

The spirit prevalent in the army is well expressed in the following poem written by a lad in khaki:

"SMILE"

By T. W. H., Co. C. 124th Infantry
Someone smiled at me to-day,
And so I smile at you;
Now if you'll smile at someone else,
And make your smile ring true;
And someone else goes smiling on,
And on and on and on;
The whole wide world will smiling be,
Forever and anon.

Someone smiled at me to-day,
And so I smile at you;
Now if you'll smile at someone else
And make your smile ring true;
These smiles will all come back to us,
Again, again, again.
Just take and hold and pass along,
And hear their sweet refrain.

Someone smiled at me to-day,
And so I smile at you;
Now you will smile at someone else,
And make your smile ring true;
For as we step adown the trail,
To smile and smile and smile;
Will spread both happiness and joy
Amongst us all the while.

"Several of these things grow only in Florida, others, such as the partridge berry, are as much at home here as in New England, still others are common to subtropical regions, and a number are introduced foreign plants that, to some degree, have become naturalized.

Conservatory Overtones

The last meeting of the year for the Conservatory Club is scheduled for Saturday, May 25th, when a picnic at the Anchorage is in order. The Faculty is planning to reorganize the Club on a different basis next year, beginning early in the year, with regular meetings, and with a definite musical program to be followed out during the season.

Three of the Final Recitals are successfully over, Katherine Gates, Jessie Pedrick, and Frieda Siewert, and their teachers, are to be congratulated on the fine showings they have made. And also those who have assisted, Mrs. Krauss, Florence Keezel, and "Jimmy." The results of a year's work are most satisfactory. A jolly and restful vacation to them all!

By the way, "where was Jimmy" Wednesday night?

It is to be hoped that every Conservatory student who has a chance to use music in War work this summer, will grasp the opportunity. There are a lot of ways in which to use it. Hasn't that been proved this winter?

MUSIC OF THE ORIENT AND OF THE OCCIDENT

Why is the music of the Orient so unintelligible to Occidental ears? Why does the very finest performance of a Chinese Orchestra sound thin and flat and squeaky to us and arouse our laughter instead of our sympathetic understanding?

Well, for one thing, the oriental likes to use one melody in a piece over and over again, with a bit of variation and a little flavoring of improvisation, till it becomes highly monotonous and irritating to us. To him the same tune grows more inspiring with each repetition. Who shall say that we are right and he is wrong, or that our taste is superior.

Their sense rhythm, too, is so much stronger than ours that their musicians sway their bodies to the beat of the music, and the listening audience does likewise. Conversely, if they are engaged in tasks with recurrent action, they instinctively become vocal. The boatman pulling his barge, the laborer in the fields, each sings a rhythmic air which the movement of his muscles suggests to him.

In view of all this, it may be well that the Oriental has more of the essence of song in his heart than have we. Experts have even declared his type of music to be a finer texture than our own and to have much of scientific perfection.

Rabindranath Tagore touches on this subject in his book, The Man and his Poetry, but wisely refrains from trying to bridge the chasm. On the contrary, he asserts uncompromisingly: "I hold that the provinces of western and eastern music are distinctly separate. They do not lead through the same gates into the same chambers of the heart."—Violin World.

ART NOTES

Those who have noticed the copies of the Orlando High School magazine, "The O. H. S.", an exchange of the "Sandspur", will be interested to know that the illustrating is the clever work of Elizabeth Yowell, a student in the Rollins Art Department, who is the Art Editor this year. Some especially good work of hers will appear in the Commencement number of the O. H. S.

CON NOTES

The pupils of Miss Waterman gave an informal recital Saturday afternoon, May 18th. Those who took part were Florence Stone, Winnie Waddell, "Tiny" Hanchett, Florence Smith, Emily Sweigel, Margaret Smith, Jane Bass, Ione Scott, Florence Keezel, Sue Magruder, Gertrude Royal, Katherine Gates and Frieda Siewert.

C. Bunce (To Gladys Smith putting her head between Victrola doors) "What on earth are you doing Gladys?"

Gladys—"Looking for a man."

The Con has had one picnic this year. It is needless to say we had a large time. Saturday we have our second and last one of the year. All you Conservatory people pack up your suppers in your old knitting bags and let's go!

PROFESSOR REINHARD GIVES FAREWELL DINNER—ROLLINS STUDENTS HIS GUESTS AT THE SAN JUAN

Last Monday at 6 P. M. four Rollins men—Walter Hunter, Leslie Hanawalt, John MacGaughey, and Frederic Ward—sat down at a beautifully decorated table at the San Juan in Orlando as the guests of Professor Reinhard who wished to bid them goodbye before his departure from the College. In a few informal words he said that while Leslie Hanawalt and Walter Hunter were, perhaps, more intimately known to him than his other two guests he looked upon these both as friends and as representatives of the other students whom it for many reasons was impossible for him to have here as his guests. The Rollins students both men and women, had given him a square deal, and, while he felt that he had not always accomplished what he desired, he cherished the hope that his pupils would at least credit him with zeal and love of his subject.

Merriment ran high at the table as the quartet partook of the delicious menu:

Soup au Vermicelli
Baked Flounder
Potatoes a la Julienne
Olives Relishes
Tenderloin of Beef with Mushrooms
New Asparagus, Mayonnaise sauce
Ice Cream Cake
Coffee
Punch a la San Juan

A fitting close to a memorable evening came the performance at the "Philips," which Prof. Reinhard and his guests witnessed from a box. The party motored to Orlando and returned in Walter Hunter's car.

BE SURE OF YOUR EXTRA COPIES— ORDER IN ADVANCE.

Sandspur's Commencement Number is to be the snappiest and best that has ever appeared. A good number of extra copies are being printed. You will be proud to send them to your friends, and to use them as souvenirs from your Alma Mater. Twelve pages filled with news of Commencement, various cuts of Campus scenes, Senior Classes, etc., snappy resumes of year's work in general, with special emphasis on war work of Campus Organizations and Conservatory.

In absence of the "Tomokan" this year, Sandspur's final issue will perform the functions of Year Book. Permit no vegetation to come maturity under your organs of locomotion as your higher instincts urge them toward the Sandspur Box. For the convenience of subscribers, the Staff will be glad to mail these extra copies to your friends, if you will supply mailing addresses.

Cut out and fill in this coupon now.

Rollins Sandspur:

Gentlemen:

Find enclosed as payment for copies of the Commencement Sandspur, which I wish sent to the following address: (If you wish the copies mailed individually, give names on a separate slip of paper).
