DR. WARD DELIVERS ELOQUENT SERMON IN KNOWLES HALL

LARGEST AUDIENCE OF YEAR ATTEND CHRISTMAS VESPER SUNDAY EVENING

Both Glee Clubs Sing Old English and French Carols; Miss Keezel, Soloist

In the opinion of many, the most impressive service ever held in Knowles Hall, was the Christmas Vespers last Sunday evening with Dr. George M. Ward as the speaker, assisted by the Glee Clubs of the Conservatory.

The chapel was prettily decorated with palms and holly and presented a most appropriate setting for the holiday service. The churches of Winter Park united with the college in the service and their ministers assisted President George Morgan Ward in conducting the Vespers. The rendition of the Old English and French Carols by the combined Glee Clubs of the college, and the ancient "Sacred Lullaby," sung by Miss Florence Keezel were superb. Dr. Ward in the address of the evening carried the true message of Christmas in his eloquence, impressiveness, and convincing arguments of the sacrifice of the Savior and what it meant to the past and means to us today as we celebrate the gladsome holidays. The large audience was most attentive, which, in itself, was the highest compliment to Dr. Ward's worth and his force as a Christian leader. Every student will return to his home with a better and broader message and a more intelligent understanding of the real meaning of the Christ-birth after having heard Dr. Ward's wonderful sermon. To the many visitors from the hotels and from nearby estates, it was the first treat of its kind for the season, and for the townspeople who never fail to hear Dr. Ward speak, it was a happy and most gratifying occasion.

NAVAL UNIT RECEIVES AID OF PROMINENT OFFICER

Rear Admiral Thomas Washington Greatly Interested in Rollins Naval Unit

The following letter recently received by President George Morgan Ward in reference to the assistance which Rear-Admiral Thomas Washington of the U. S. Navy has rendered in the matter of securing Government aid for the equipment of the Rollins Naval Unit, will be of interest to the readers of the Sandspur. Admiral Washington, whose work is in the Bureau of Navigation, has been very prominent in Naval Construction for years and his active interest in the

December 20 to January 5

For fear some studious person might forget, this is to serve notice that today at noon we leave for the Christmas vacation; to forget the trials of the classroom and of student government until Monday, January 5, of the new year 1920. Of course all those who can, are going home; others are to visit relatives and a few are to remain on the campus during the holidays. Wherever you are, Here's a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You!

ROLLINS FACULTY RECITAL SCORES HUGE SUCCESS

Over Four Hundred and Fifty Persons Hear Misses Rous and Greenup

The first faculty recital of the year was held in Knowles Hall Friday evening, Dec. 14, at 8:15. The hall was crowded to the utmost, for in spite of the rainy weather, over 450 music lovers from Winter Park and neighboring towns came to hear Miss Rous and Miss Greenup. Both artists were in fine form, and the audience testified to its enjoyment of the program by most enthusiastic applause.

To those who have heard the ever-popular Mendelssohn Concerto in E Minor played by great artists elsewhere, Miss Greenup's execution of this master work was eminently satisfying in its breadth of style and expression, and sparkling purity of technique. In the shorter numbers also Miss Greenup displayed her powers to the best advantage. Her double stops, played with admirable smoothness, gave to the numbers which she rendered, a wonderful depth and breadth of expression.

The two numbers by Miss Dyer were especially well liked. The dreamy, rather slow, rhythm of the Montevidean Lullaby lending a pleasing contrast to the more lively motion of the "Negro Melody." The enthusiastic audience persisted in its applause until Miss Dyer reappeared.

Miss Rous is always a delight, and her Chopin Group was a revelation of tone coloring, and brilliance of execution. The little waltz in A Flat was especially charming, and the Liszt Etudes, and the Poem after Omar Khayyan, by Arthur Foote, were full of exciting climaxes, and passages of emotional beauty.

PHI ALPHA FRATERNITY GIVES RUSHING PARTY

Serenade by Girls' Basket Ball Team Adds Zest to Evening

There's nothing like a good feed on Saturday night, especially after a basket ball double-header, such as was played this last Saturday night, and there's nothing like the fun of having that feed in the frat room! With the Phi Alpha boys entertaining there wasn't anything left to be desired. All of which leads us to tell you that Phi Alpha Fraternity held the first "rushing party" of the season last Saturday night.

As usual the pledges, Stanley Fosgate, Jack Glassey, Alvord Stone, Sexton Johnson, and Bob Galt, did the serving—chicken, sandwiches, fruit, punch, ice-cream, cake, etc. While the good work was going on, Cloverleaf voices were heard in the distance, coming nearer and nearer, until a real serenade by the girls came to life. It was rewarded by the usual "eats," which seemed particularly acceptable to the hungry basket ball girls.

The guests of Phi Alpha were: Boyle, Palmer, Rowe, Kinnear, Sedgwick, Potter, Ward, Sloan, and Hagerty.

The hosts, who constitute the active chapter of the Fraternity, were: J. H. Hill, R. W. Greene, A. J. Hanna, F. H. Ward, C. A. Boyer, and W. M. Ingram. Alumni present were: G. O. Charles and A. P. Musselwhite.

Word has been received of the death of Prof. J. Irvin Chaffee, father of Irvin Chaffee, Jr., a former Rollins student. Mr. Chaffee, Sr., was a professor at Webb Academy, New York, for many years.

KAPPA EPSILON SORORITY REINSTATES CHAPTER AT ROLLINS

VERY OLD ORGANIZATION AND HAS STRONG ALUMNI BACKING; FACULTY INVITATION TO RETURN

Misses Idabel Edwards, Elizabeth Murphy, Mary Whitehead, Helen Hanna, Florence Bumby, Pauline Phelps and Mary Knoske Are New Pledges

Of more than ordinary interest to students and alumni alike is the news of the reinstatement in Rollins College by the Kappa Epsilon Sorority of an active chapter. The new pledges, Misses Idabel Edwards, Elizabeth Murphy, Mary Whitehead, Helen Hanna, Florence Bumby, Pauline Phelps, and Mary Knoske wore the attractive pledge ribbons for the first time at dinner on Tuesday evening.

The K. E. alumni residing in Winter Park, Mrs. Arthur Schultz, Mrs. Kenneth McCulloch, and Miss Louise Smith, with the co-operation of those from Orlando, have reinstated the sorority chapter upon invitation from the college faculty. The pledging was completed the early part of the week and it is expected that the initiation stunts will be begun at once.

The Kappa Epsilon Sorority is the oldest of the Greek Letter Societies at Rollins, having been founded in 1902. Among its alumni are some of the most prominent women in the state, who are staunch and loyal supporters of Rollins College.

DR. FRANK S. CHILD FORMER TRUSTEE RESIGNS PULPIT

Is One of the Strongest and Staunchest Friends of the College; Resigns on Account of Ill Health

The following clipping from The Telegram of Bridgeport, Conn., telling of the resignation of Dr. F. S. Child from the pulpit of the First Church of Christ, in Fairfield, after faithfully serving thirty-two years, will be of much interest to those who have known of Dr. Child's loyal and active support of the college. As executor of the Palmer Fund he has generously contributed to the needs of Rollins and has proved one of her strongest and staunchest supporters. He is a personal friend of Dr. Ward's and has only recently sent him a check for $500 as a Christmas present for the college.

Early in January, Dr. Child will leave the East for California for a complete rest. The clipping reads as follows: "Dr. Frank Sherman Child, one of the most widely known clergymen of the state, and prominent as historian, author, lecturer and maga-

ROLLINS THE IDEAL

Students and friends of Rollins, have you ever paused, just for a moment, to observe the advantages we have right here about us?

This is the South, in all respects, and Rollins is a Southern institution, bringing together people from the North, the South, the East, the West, and from other countries, thus creating on the campus a universal understanding, a cosmopolitan atmosphere that is booming the college like tourist traffic is booming the state. Those people way up North have been slow in realizing, and prejudiced in admitting, the great advances the Southland, especially Florida, has made within the past decade or two. With mighty leaps and bounds it has been surging ahead, and although yet only a baby state, each year its sisters look more and more towards Florida for its citrus and truck productions, its educational advantages and, lastly, its ever-attractive resorts for tourists.

Have you ever noticed these magnificent orange groves all about us, just over-laden with golden fruit? The continual stream of machines passing day after day, ever increasing, thru our college town? And have you ever noticed the elements of

NOBODY LOVES A PESSIMIST OR DRONE

If Rollins students were to be judged last Saturday evening by the enthusiasm and pep shown at the basket ball game, we would be judged, very emphatically, "pepless!" Out of that big crowd, present, only a dozen or so girls even attempted to give any cheers. There was not a single man present who even ventured to lend his voice to the yells. It wasn't the cheer leader's fault! It was your fault, students, and yours alone. When the cheer leader asks you to "get together," go ahead and get together with all the pep, vigor, enthusiasm possible. Girls, don't whine and say, "Oh, I'm afraid some one will get my chair! Be a sport, and act like a sport! Nobody loves a pessimist or a drone. If you are just the least bit inclined to be that way get it out of your system and get it out quick, or go home. We don't need you here. When a player makes a foul, don't make a terrible face and say, "Oh, she's no good; why don't they put in a good player!" Keep still until this same player makes a good ball, then yell, yell for all you're worth. She will play ten times better when she knows you're backing her up and cheering for her.

Come on, boys and girls, and show these folks you're the right kind of students. Get into the game, cheer your level best! You'll be surprised to see how much it helps, and how much joy and satisfaction you yourself will get out of it.

"High Learning" right here in our midst each and every day, in the form of our beloved College President and his faculty in general? They are here and you will see them if only you pause to think.

One may ask, "How can the educational advantages excel those of New England and the North?" There are many answers. Among these is that of a small college over a large. In many of our larger institutions thruout the country, owing to their large and often over-crowded classes, the pupil does not receive the individual and direct attention. Here at Rollins great stress is laid upon this individuality, with splendid results.

Take alone the physical advantages of our college, nestled here among the palms and pines on the shore of beautiful Lake Virginia. Outdoor sport is king thruout the year, for at no time, even in the very winter months, are the high spirits of the enthusiastic students chilled, due to the wonderful southern climate. Windows are never shut, and consequently the mind is never deadened by artificial heat and stuffy air, as in the more northern colleges.

It would be possible to go on and on, but let us cease here and think it all over again, and see if we haven't got just a wee jump on our sister institutions.—S. F.

"What the h— is that?" exclaimed "Red" Palmer, as Schultz poured a liquid on "Red's" blazing top.

Schultz—"This will revive dead tissue."

YE BUDDING JOURNALISTS HEED!

(Literary Digest)

The cat is at last out of the editor's bag and the mystery that to many has enshrouded his office is laid bare. Writers for the press have so often invented strange reasons to explain to themselves why they are "rejected" that this statement of the real reasons will enlighten many minds. Mr. Holbrook Jackson, of Today (London), calls the ignorance of the way an editor should be approached "invincible." For all that, he takes heart of grace and sets out to lighten "his own burden and that of his fellows of the craft." The observance of the following rules, he thinks, "would augment the amenities between literary aspirants for the honor of print and those who have the power of pronouncing yea or nay upon what is submitted to them." They begin namely:

1. Typewrite your copy or hand-write it clearly.

2. Write your name and address clearly on the back of the last page of typescript or manuscript.

3. Enclose not a loose stamp but a stamped and addressed envelope.

4. Don't write a letter of explanation to the editor. But if you do write—

5. Don't tell him your stuff is good—he won't take your word.

6. Don't tell him it is bad—bad writing needs no brush.

7. Don't tell him that your friends like it—he doesn't care.

8. Don't say that another editor advised you to send it along—that would make him suspicious.

9. Don't say you want to earn money by writing—he is not out to help you, but to edit his paper and pay those who help him.

10. Don't flatter him—editors are cynics.

11. Don't tell him you know his old aunt—he may hate her.

12. Don't ask his opinion—he may not have one.

13. Don't ask why he rejects your offer—he may not know.

One added caution seemed too important to condense into a line:

"Those about to try to become contributors to a particular magazine would be well advised to purchase or borrow a copy first, so as to form an opinion what it is like. If this precaution is taken it is as well not to say anything about it. Above all, don't ask an editor to tell you what he wants—you are supposed to find that out for yourself."

CHASE HALL BOYS: AN APPRECIATION

Oh, the Chase Hall boys are a merry crew,
They're continually thinking of what they can do
To make you more happy, and more at home,
And they never could think of "pulling a bone."

They're very unselfish, and so thoughtful, too,
Of our feelings. No, they've never been rude.

So here's to them, girls, let's give them a cheer,

And hope that they'll never be worse than this year.

C. S. G.

FOOLISH QUESTION

You have heard of foolish questions,
And no doubt you wonder why
A person that can ask them
Can expect a sane reply.
Did you ever take a girl a box of candy after tea,
And watch her as she grabs it
And exclaims, "Is it for me?"
Foolish question! and you answer, if you can,
"Oh, no! it's for your father, or for John the hired man.
I just wanted you to see it,
Now I'll take it all away."
Now that's a foolish question you hear most every day.

Every morning when you shave,
There's some one round the place
Who sees you take your shaving brush
And lather up your face,
And as you give the razor that preliminary wave,
That fool is sure to ask you,
"Are you going to take a shave?"
Foolish question. And you answer him I hope,
"Oh, no. Not at all prepared for shaving,
I just like to taste the soap,
I just like to take the brush and paint myself this way."
Now there's a foolish question you hear most every day.

And if you have a caller,
Say some afternoon at five,
And as you sit conversing
The doctor should arrive,
Do you think she could keep still,
Or fail to ask concernedly,
"Is there some one ill?"
Foolish question and you answer, with a shrug,
"Oh, no. We simply have the doctor come—
He tunes our grand piano, some times we want to play,"
Now, that's a foolish question you hear most every day.

If you have been away from town for several days or weeks.
What is it your friend says, the first time he speaks,
As he sides up behind you
And greets you with a whack,
And nearly knocks you silly
As he hollers, "Are you back?"
Foolish question. And you answer in this line,
"Oh, no! I hadn't thought of coming back;
I'm at Bingen-on-the-Rhine—
I'm traveling in Europe and won't be home till May."
There's a foolish question you hear every day.

And if the elevator boy forgets to close his doors
And you go tumbling down the shaft,
Past twenty-seven floors.
When you finally reach the bottom
And are there inert,
The crowd that gathers round you
Will exclaim, "O, are you hurt?"
Foolish question! and your dying words are:
"No, but I was in a hurry and that elevator goes so blooming slow,
I found I saved a lot of time by coming down this way."
Just some foolish question you hear every day.

Guletide Poem

HOW THE GREAT GUEST CAME

Before the Cathedral in grandeur
rose,
At Ingelburg where the Danube goes;
Before its forest of silver spires
Went airily up to the clouds and fires;
Before the oak had ready a beam,
While yet the arch was stone and dream—
There where the altar was later laid,
Conrad the cobbler plied his trade.

It happened one day at the year's white end,
Two neighbors called on their old-time
friend;
And they found the shop, so meagre
and mean,
Made gay with a hundred boughs of green.

Conrad was stitching with face
ashine,
But suddenly stopped as he twitched
a twine:

"Old friends, good news! At dawn
today,
As the cocks were scaring the night
away,
The Lord appeared in a dream to me,
And said, 'I am coming your Guest to be!'"

So I've been busy with feet astir, Strewing the floor with branches of fir.

The wall is washed and the shelf is shined,
And over the rafter the holly twined.
He comes today, and the table is spread

With milk and honey and wheaten bread."

His friends went home; and his face grew still
As he watched for the shadow across the sill.

He lived all the moments o'er and o'er,
When the Lord should enter the lowly door—

The knock, the call, the latch pulled
up,

The lighted face, the offered cup.
He would wash the feet where the spikes had been;

He would kiss the hands where the nails went in;

And then at the last would sit with Him

And break the bread as the day grew dim.

While the cobbler mused, there passed his pane

A beggar drenched by the driving rain.

He called him in from the stony street

And gave him shoes for his bruised feet.

The beggar went and there came a
crone,

Her face with wrinkles of sorrow sown.

A bundle of fagots bowed her back,
And she was spent with the wrench and rack.

He gave her his loaf and steadied her load

As she took her way on the weary road.

Then to his door came a little child,
Lost and afraid in the world so wild,
In the big dark world. Catching it
up,

He gave it the milk in the waiting cup,

And led it home to its mother's arms,
Out of reach of the world's alarms.

CHANCELLOR BROOKS SAYS THE ROLLINS SPIRIT WILL WIN

Dr. Ward Presents New Faculty Member in Chapel

At the Saturday morning chapel exercises President George Morgan Ward introduced Professor James Brooks, the new chancellor, to the student body. Dr. Brooks was received most enthusiastically and responded with a brief but vigorous address. He spoke in particular of the Rollins spirit and of the way in which it takes hold of the newcomer and of its certainty to win the day.

Professor Brooks is the latest addition to the faculty of the college. As Chancellor he will supplement the work of Dr. Ward and be in active charge of affairs during the temporary absences of the President. He will also assist Dr. Ward in the Endowment Campaign which is soon to be inaugurated.

The day went down in the crimson west
And with it the hope of the blessed Guest,

And Conrad sighed as the world turned gray:

"Why is it, Lord, that your feet delay?"

Did You forget that this was the day?"

Then soft in the silence a Voice he heard:

"Lift up your heart, for I kept my word.

Three times I came to your friendly door;

Three times my shadow was on your floor.

I was the beggar with bruised feet;

I was the woman you gave to eat;

I was the child on the homeless street!"

—Edwin Marwham, in "The Shoes of Happiness."

Mary—"Too tame! I want something to shock the community."

Clerk—"Oh, I guess you want alarm clocks on your hosiery."

Nell C. (at dinner). "Huh! the pie must not be good, the pieces are so big."

JAMES I. NOXON, '18

James I. Noxon, '18, president of the Alumni Association of Rollins College, while only a recent graduate, is making good in the outside world. His four years at Rollins were busy and interesting ones, covering many phases of college life. For two years he was president of his class and took an active interest in other student organizations, notably the Men's Glee Club, in which he was the chief soloist for three years. His pleasing baritone voice was a great favorite wherever he was heard.

Mr. Noxon was released from the Army last spring and has since been associated with his father in Auburndale, Florida, in the citrus industry.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Ethel Perkins entertained several girls in Cloverleaf last Friday evening at a birthday party. There were all sorts of good things to eat—even a huge birthday cake. Those present were Uarda Robinson, Lee Wilderson, Hazel Watts, Nellie Coleman, Bertha and Anna Gram, and Gertrude Davies.

"BASKET BALL SPREAD" IN CLOVERLEAF

Pat Richards, the girls' basket ball manager, entertained the team royally Monday night with a spread in her room. Besides the many good things to eat, there was "Hotard's famous punch!" Those present were Mary Salisbury, Loanna Schorer, Pauline Phelps, Frances James, Helen Hanna, Margaret Sutherland, Easter Russel and Mary Knoske.

Y. W. C. A.

This has been an unusual year in the history of the Rollins Y. W. C. A. in that there are so few of the "old" Y. W. girls here this year. The illness of the president, Ruth Green, has made it necessary for the vice-president, Easter Russell, to take the chair. Although Miss Russell is new in Y. W. work, she has done the work admirably well.

A very enjoyable and enthusiastic meeting was held Tuesday evening in Cloverleaf. As it was the Christmas meeting and the last meeting of this year, every effort was made to foster the Yuletide spirit. Ruth McKee led the devotional exercises and a Christmas story was read by Dorothy Richards. The last part of the meeting was spent in singing favorite Christmas carols. All too soon the lights flashed for study hour and after repeating the benediction the meeting was adjourned.

The Y. W. C. A. wishes to express deepest appreciation of all the assistance given by various friends in connection with the recent bazaar. Whether you gave work or materials, or patronage, we thank you.

MRS. WARD ENTERTAINS FOR MRS. BROOKS

Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. George Morgan Ward gave the last of a series of teas to the ladies of the faculty and of Winter Park to meet Mrs. James Brooks, wife of the new chancellor of the college.

These delightful affairs were held at the College Bungalow, the Ward home, which was beautifully and charmingly decorated for the occasion. Those pouring were Mrs. Charles H. Morse and Mrs. John K. List.

Mrs. Brooks is a charming woman and the ladies were delighted to meet her. Besides being a talented linguist, she possesses a clear soprano voice. She has a most pleasing personality and it goes without saying that her coming to the campus will mean much in a social way.

"BABE" WAGNER GETS FINE PROMOTION

Mr. Melvin R. Wagner, or "Babe," as he was more familiarly known to his many friends in Rollins while a student here, has just been made office manager of the Chicago branch of the Star Rubber Co., whose factories are at Akron, Ohio. For the past two years he has been connected with the Akron branch of this well-known firm and his promotion to this responsible position in one of the largest offices is a high compliment to his worth. Mr. Wagner was a visitor on the campus last June during the Commencement festivities.

zine writer, presented his resignation as pastor of the First Church of Christ, Congregational, today after 31 years in the pulpit here. Increasing duties and declining health are given as the reasons, and while Dr. Child's retirement was not entirely unexpected, it is a source of great regret. During Dr. Child's pastorate, the church has doubled its membership, its finances have quadrupled, its Sunday school increased four-fold, and two mission chapels have been established."

Alumni News

Mr. Alan Cooper, who did some special work at Rollins year before last, is now a freshman in Yale and writes that he is highly pleased with his work there.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Henry Fordham, both former students, were visitors on the campus last Sunday morning, having motored from Miami, where Mr. Fordham is engaged in the manufacture of paint, to visit Mrs. Fordham's mother, Mrs. Davis, of Orlando, for several days. They returned to Miami by car Thursday morning.

A card received from Joe Musselwhite the first part of the week, states that he and his bride are visiting Leon Lewis for several days.

Mr. Grafton O. Charles was a visitor on the campus Saturday evening, attending the basket ball games and the Phi Alpha Rushing Party later.

ROLLINS DEFEATS WINTER PARK IN FAST BASKET BALL GAME

Saturday evening, December 13, before one of the largest crowds ever gathered in the Lyman Gymnasium, the boys defeated the fast basket ball team from Winter Park to the tune of 20-9. It was an interesting game from the start and many thrilling plays were exhibited. Although every Rollins man was outweighed from 10 to 15 pounds, the college men showed great superiority in team work and played rings around their husky opponents. The first period ended with the close score of 7-6, but in the last period the Rollins boys gained a sufficient lead to end the game 20 to 9 in their favor. "Smut" Fletcher was the star for Rollins, playing a consistent game throughout and making several spectacular plays.

The line up:

TWO LITTLE "DARIUS GREENS"

It was in the second grade, at the Friday afternoon exercises, that my sister and I first heard of Darius Green and his flying machines. We were deeply impressed. We arrived home breathless with the desire to try it. We had more sense than Darius Green—we would not make wings but a parachute! And we were greatly pleased with our finished work.

We got a huge umbrella, with large orange and white labels advertising "Peresota Flour," that Dan, our cook's husband, had given us for a tent. To this we tied the rings from our trapeze. We tied a parasol to the top of the umbrella to insure a safe arrival. We were then sure that we would be wafted gently from the roof of the ice-house to the garden below, or possibly farther.

We had a frightful time getting the child of our genius to the gutter of the proposed starting place. It was a simple matter to climb up the drain pipe alone; but with the apparatus it was an entirely different matter. In the end, we lowered our parachute from the highest barn-window and carried it around to the starting place.

Standing on the gutter with our flying machine we were confronted with another difficulty. We could not get on, either separately or together! We soon managed that—we would run and jump, each holding on to a ring. Perhaps with a good start we could float out on the lawn—there was lots of wind.

"One for the money
Two for the show
Three to make ready
And FOUR TO GO!"

Alas, that the optimism of extreme youth should be blighted ere it blooms! Upon the word "go" from the twins, who, as usual, had watched the proceedings, we ran and jumped. A rib of the umbrella caught on the

ROLLINS DEFEATS GIRLS FROM WINTER GARDEN

The second game of girls' basket ball was played Saturday night with Winter Garden in the Lyman gym. Rollins took them off their feet at the very beginning by getting the first field goal, and from then on they kept the lead straight thru the game. Good passing was especially noticeable in the first half, as well as pretty shots.

It took some time to start off the second half and for about ten minutes fouls had the floor, and interest in the whole game was lessened. Winter Garden seemed to come to life then and made three field goals. Their fouls were sure things and nine of their fifteen points were free line throws, which shows up the consistent guarding by Rollins' girls.

Each girl played a good game and handled the ball like veterans. They can afford to pat themselves on the back. Phelps was the individual star and not enough praise can be given to her. Special mention goes to Sutherland and Richards for their good passing. Winter Garden's side center was right on the lookout every turn and kept our girls running.

The line-up:

gutter and with a rip and a tear and a bang, we fell, landing in a heap, umbrella and all, in the midst of mother's choicest asters!

It was later that we learned the details. We found ourselves in bed, in the nursery, with the doctor and the family watching us seriously—my sister, lying so quietly in her bed, and beside her, my own bandaged head and toothless grin.

It was the dear old doctor who saved the day. He told them that, after all, Kitty's back was not broken and that my teeth would grow in! So we all laughed. All ten of us just laughed, and laughed, and laughed!

DR. WARD ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT OF STATE ASSOCIATION OF SOCIAL WORKERS

Will be Associated with Supt. Marcus C. Fagg of the Children's Home Society, Who Inaugurated the Work

President George Morgan Ward has recently accepted the Vice-Presidency of the State Association of Social Workers, having been unanimously elected at the recent annual meeting held in Jacksonville, the headquarters of the organization.

This worth-while association was formed several years ago mainly through the good efforts of Superintendent Marcus C. Fagg, of the Children's Home Society of Florida, whose work is known throughout the state. Other colleagues in this work are some of the most prominent philanthropists and social workers of the state.

THE STUDIO

Does the studio look small and exclusive on the edge of the campus among the pine trees?

If so, the appearance is proved deceptive by its ample art school interior.

The light that comes in through its large new north window must be peculiarly illuminating if one can judge by the rapid development of clear vision evidenced by the group of earnest students gathered there.

May what comes in at that window go out by that door to express abroad the beauty of truth and the truth of beauty.

DON'T FORGET YOUR PLEDGE FOR THE DES MOINES CONVENTION!

Well, the Convention is really going to take place! That is, unless something unforeseen occurs within the next week. On account of the coal shortage it seemed doubtful that it could be held, but the last word from headquarters was very favorable. Delegates will not, however, have the privilege of going in a special Pullman from Jacksonville. Mr. McCandless says they regret this very much, in that the Florida delegates would have had a better chance to get acquainted.

Instead of sending four delegates from Rollins, as was at first planned, it will be possible to send but three. The faculty will decide this week which faculty member and which student will go from the campus. The town people will decide on the lucky town student.

These people will come back with "heaps" of good things for those who have not the privilege of attending this splendid convention.
