IRVING BACHELLER OFFERS PRIZE IN ORATORY

$100 To Be Awarded Florida
High School Boy Who Delivers Best Composition on Present-Day Problems

Contest Will Be Feature of Founders'
Week, Taking Place In Knowles
Hall Saturday Afternoon,
Jan. 21, at 3 O'clock

According to an announcement made in chapel Wednesday morning, Mr. Irving Bacheller has donated one hundred dollars as a prize to be awarded to the Florida high school boy who prepares and delivers the best oration on some question of present-day importance. The contest will take place in Knowles Hall at three o'clock on the afternoon of Jan. 21, Saturday of Founders' Week.

Much interest in this contest is being displayed both because of the personality of the donor of the prize and on account of the prospect of representatives of the high schools of the state meeting on the campus in Demosthenic combat.

Mr. Bacheller is making his home in Winter Park, and is serving as Chairman of the Advisory Board of Rollins College. He is much interested in present American problems and takes this means of stimulating thought and research upon such important questions by the young men of the high schools of Florida.

ROLLINS BASKET BALL TEAM RETURNS FROM TRIP

Games Staged with Aviators, Tampa
"Imps" and Southern College

After an exciting three days the basket ball team returned from the southern trip, having played at Arcadia, Tampa, and Sutherland. In spite of the fact that only one of the three games was won, the trip is considered a big success, and there is no doubt in the minds of the players but that the long end of the score will be theirs when these teams play their return games here.

The team left early Thursday morning just as "Gabriel" Glassey was sounding chapel call. The girls were out to bid them good-bye, good-luck, and a successful trip.

Manager Fosgate had procured two "Olds" eight and these just com-

ROLLINS ALUMNUS IS BEHIND ATHLETIC FIELD DRIVE

H. A. Nickerson, Chairman for Maine,
Boosts Drive In His State

The Athletic Council reports progress on the Memorial Fund for the new athletic field. Several checks have been received at the Treasurer's office. Letters of encouragement from the State Chairman have been received and while it is expected that the campaign will extend through a lengthy period, it is believed that the former students will respond to the memorial call.

The following letter is indicative of the spirit it takes to win. Mr. Nickerson has sent this letter to former Rollins students in Maine.

Portland, Me., Thanksgiving,
Dear Friends of Rollins:

If Rollins has given you anything to be thankful for, here is your chance to repay,

If you have a pleasant memory of the years you spent in the days of long ago beside its lake shores;

If your life has been successful from the lessons you learned from its teachers;

If you have life-long friends or

DR. WARD GREATLY IMPROVED

Recent telegrams received by friends in town from Mrs. Ward indicate that Dr. Ward is improving as rapidly as could be expected, although he is not at all strong yet. It is understood that he is still confined to his room in the Poinciana Hotel. It will therefore be several weeks before he will be able to make the trip to Winter Park.

The course is open to all students who have had any laboratory work in cookery.

In addition to the home cookery and table service there will be given a course in elementary food preparation.

Two courses in sewing are given, the one is an advanced course and the other is more elementary.

FUTURISTIC MUSIC THEME OF MISS ROUS' RECITAL

Held at Winter Park Country Club,
Under Auspices of Rollins'
Conservatory

The auditorium of the Winter Park Country Club was filled to its capacity last Thursday evening, January 15th, when Miss Marion Rous, pianist, gave her lecture recital, "What Next in Music?" Miss Rous has made a special study of modern music, and has been interested in it ever since she graduated from the Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore. She is an artist of the highest caliber, and is especially delightful in these recitals, which are not lecture-recitals in the strictest sense of the word, but very interesting talks. She illustrates them by playing, from time to time, selections by the modern composers.

MISS ROUS' LECTURE A

"In order to appreciate the new music," Miss Rous said, "we must forswear all we have hitherto held dear before we can put ourselves into a sympathetic attitude towards it. As an ardent admirer says of Shoenberg, the composer, 'The entire man in you must be made over, before you can divine Schoenberg's art'; and yet there is a great deal of truth to be found in modern music."

Miss Rous, by her wonderful technique and brilliancy of execution, proceeded to illustrate this fact to her audience.

The Rhapsodie in G Minor, by Dohnanyi, must be considered Miss Rous' best selection. Though made up of our inherited material, it is intensely modern and seems to be charged with all the forces that are working in our great age of high power, high tension, and high aspiration.

The "Berceuse" was taken from the "Bird of Fire," given by the Russian Ballet some years ago. It is full of a melodic charm, and has distinctly modern harmonization.

The "Poem," by Scriabin, was written entirely on one chord, and, tender and lovely as the "Poem" is, it leaves us at the end with all the longing it expresses, still unsatisfied.

The "Bear Dance," by Bela-Bartok, gives a very convincing picture of an awkward bear, being compelled to dance, very much against his will, as is testified by the series of grunts heard occasionally in the bass.

Miss Rous studied with Harold Randolph and Ernst Hutchison, at the Peabody Conservatory, later going to Munich, where she was the pupil of Stravenghen. As well as being a brilliant concert pianist, Miss Rous has given a great deal of attention to this fascinating subject—futuristic music,—and wherever she has given these recitals, has met with greatest success. Last summer, at the annual Music Convention at Peterboro, N. H., she gave this lecture-recital before an enthusiastic audience. Her magnetic personality and clear, pleasant voice, together with her very interesting subject, never fail to captivate her audience wherever she appears. Some months ago she was called to give this same recital before the Philadelphia Music Club, where it scored great success.

LUNCHEON FOR MRS. ERIK PALMER

On Thursday, Jan. 15, Miss Watkins entertained at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Palmer, a former member of the faculty of the Conservatory. Covers were laid for four. The guests were Miss Mabelle O'Neal, sister of Mrs. Palmer, and Miss Ida Barrett. The luncheon was given in the dining room connected with the Domestic Science laboratory.

The K. E. pledges seem to be getting it hard. We pity the next bunch after these are initiated.

SERENADE

"What's the matter? Where's everybody going?" asked a sleepy-eyed girl Tuesday night, staring after some girls racing down the hall.
"Serenade!" floated back from the disappearing group, and sleep vanished from the eyes of the questioner as she tried to catch up with the other girls. Finally everyone got settled and listened to a very short but also enjoyable serenade. After repeated encores the boys started on "Clover-leaf Girls," ending with a shouted command to "go to bed!" which the girls regretfully proceeded to do, hoping that the next serenade would be just as good, but longer.

REHEARSALS FOR ORLANDO FESTIVAL BEGUN

Rollins Students and Local Citizens Invited to Participate
Mr. Walter Drennen, director of the Orlando Music Festival, which is to be held in that city in February, began his rehearsals in Knowles Hall last Friday evening. An invitation was given to the students of Rollins, as well as to the citizens of Winter Park to join the chorus. Since many of the world's most famous artists are to be present, it is an opportunity that should not be neglected. This chorus will unite with the Orlando chorus in the festival

SPLendid PROGRESS BEING MADE IN FRENCH DEPARTMENT

On December 18th, before closing of school for the holidays, Madame Glatz, teacher of French at Rollins College, gave an informal and most interesting exhibition of the progress and proficiency in French of her pupils.

Mrs. George Morgan Ward, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Freeman, Chancellor and Mrs. Brooks and others were present and expressed themselves unqualifiedly in commendation of their rapid progress, of their proficiency in accent and pronunciation and of their dramatic rendering of their respective selections, selections of considerable length and variety.

Madame Glatz is a Parisian and was a teacher at Bryn Mawr College before coming to Rollins. She is an experienced instructor and certainly demonstrated by the result obtained, the correctness of the theory that the conversational method is the only logical method of acquiring a practical knowledge of a modern language.

The students taking part in the exercises referred to were: Wilhelmina Freeman, Ruth Waldron, Nina Marsh, Rosa Brooks, Persida Mladenovitch and Mr. Charles Varney.

Madame Glatz, who is enthusiastic in her department, taking a personal interest in her individual pupils, expresses the hope that later an "Alliance Francaise" may be instituted here to stimulate interest in the study of French.

Madame Glatz will take a limited number of private pupils, old or young, who may desire to begin or to extend their knowledge of this most important language; terms and appointments may be had by addressing Madame Mathilde Glatz, care of Rollins College. Winter Park Post.

APPRECIATION OF DR. WARD

The following clipping from the Palm Beach Weekly News will be of more than passing interest to the college and town:

"In spite of the inclement weather of yesterday morning the Poinciana Chapel was well filled. The Rev. Dr. George Morgan Ward is a prime favorite with sojourners at Palm Beach, and those who have once had the pleasure of listening to one of his excellent sermons, are sure to return the following week anxious to hear another."

IT SHALL NOT BE A WOODEN HORSE

The question now is, "What will our new 'brothers' in Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi stand for?" Loyalty is a big word. Greek letter societies have a background of loyalty—loyalty to their own ideals and to the ideals of their college. Greek letter societies can and do accomplish a great deal in fostering college ethics, college spirit, and college loyalty. When they cease to accomplish these things they become parasites. We anticipate great work on the part of the two women's fraternities this year and in coming years. There is much to be done in their line, and it is with a feeling of great warmth and thankfulness that the men's fraternities welcome the new organizations.

We expect great things from our Greek letter societies.

fortably held the nine fellows who were to make the trip.

Time was lost in Orlando as Coach "Chauncey" Boyer (alias Attorney Boyer) was at an important trial and could not leave. However, after much stalling around we left for Kissimmee, arriving there at 1:30. A fair meal was procured here and the fellows ate as though starved for a week.

The only excitement on the remainder of the trip was caused by a little hard luck which took the form of two punctures and a wild chase of Captain Fletcher through a corn field.

The last note of "Soupy" had just sounded as we pulled into Carlstrom. Doubt as to whether we would eat or not filled our minds but this doubt was at once dispersed by Lieutenant Carrol, who quickly had us washed, primped up, and eating at the officers' mess. Several ex-buck privates were heard to remark that they never had dreamed of eating at an officers' mess.

After dinner our fellows scattered; some to the movies, others to the canteen, and a few went back to the rooms and talked over the chances of winning.

Carlstrom Game

At 8:45 the game commenced. At the end of the first half the Aviators led, 9-5. Our fellows came back with an attack that literally took the Aviators off their feet. Eleven minutes before the end of the game the score was 14-13 and it stayed there, Rollins putting up a defense that was flawless. Every man fought like a demon and no individual mention can be given.

The winning of this game put us in good spirits and the jokes that flew around our rooms were many. "Don" Vincent pulled the worst one. It seems that his bed was a home for about 1,000,000 bed-bugs, anyway Don woke everyone up by crying around, "I haven't got a bed—it's a little buggy." Coach finally sung Don to sleep and we all slept peacefully till morning.

The first thing that was noticed was Boyle's black "lamp." Everyone gave him the "merry razzberry," and half the men on the team nearly found themselves in the hospital.

The line-up for this game was:

Rollins Men Go Up in 'Planes.

Then came the event of the trip: everyone went up in the aeroplanes. It was wonderful, all the fellows agreed, and no doubt everyone in college knows every minute detail of it by now. Not enough can be said of the fine time that was given the boys while at Arcadia, and many thanks are extended to Lieutenant Carroll, the best of sports. After thanking Lieutenant Carroll, and the rest, for their great entertainment, we left for Tampa.

Arriving in Tampa about 5 o'clock, dinner was obtained at the Y. M. C. A. cafe. Manager Fosgate went bankrupt, as the fellows never seemed to be able to fill up. "Liniment" Sloan and "Goof" Boyle ordered everything on the menu and seemed scarcely satisfied with that.

Tampa Game

The game started at 8 and was a fight to the finish. The score stood 2-1 in the "Imps" favor for the first 12 minutes. Then hard luck took hold of Rollins and the "Imps" had doubled the score when "time up" was called for the end of the game.

That night was spent in peaceful repose at a small boarding house just off the main section of town. Did I say "was spent in peace"? Well, at least most of it was, until "Liniment" saw some storm clouds out of the window about 2:00 A. M. and thought it was smoke from a big fire. To add to this deception several fire engines dashed by and Sloan, Shannon, and Boyle dashed after them. After running beaucoup blocks and finding nothing they returned. Just as they were entering the boarding house (3:00 A. M.) who should come out but "Smut" going to the mailbox to post some letters! With the help of "Cheesey," everyone was quieted and nothing more happened until the next morning when Manager Fosgate had a date and thought so much about it that the rest of the fellows had to go without breakfast.

We left Tampa at 2:30, for Sutherland, and arrived there at 4:00 p.m. Coach Boyer was taken suddenly ill and had to be put to bed. The rest of the fellows saw Southern seconds defeat Hillsborough High and then we all drove over to Tarpon Springs where we had beer (?) and pretzels. Returning at 6 o'clock we had supper, and a very good one it was.

Southern Game

The game started at 7:30 and outside of the Arcadia game, this was the most exciting game of the trip. First Rollins was ahead, then tied, and then Southern led. The result was in doubt until the last second had passed. The score then showed Southern 27, Rollins 23. "Cheesey" played his best and fastest game of the season in this contest.

Wait until Southern plays us here on our own floor next Saturday night!

Feb. 15. My man forgot to shave this morning.

Feb. 16. My man looked at me in the mirror and smiled, kind of gentle, like a choir-boy, and patted me and said: "Well—why not?"

Feb. 17. My man patted me a lot today. But when he woke up first he had an awful hard time finding me, and was sore.

Feb. 18. All the people in the college are kidding my man about me now. It's great to be a public character.

Feb. 19. Patted some more.

Feb. 20. Patted some more. He reached up for me when he was talking to a man, but missed me, and said a lot of things.

Feb. 21. Told me he'd shave me off if I didn't grow faster. What does he think I am—a night-blooming cereus? I've a hard enough life now—3 eight-hour shifts a day and no pay for overtime.

Feb. 22. Still peeved with me. I'll strike soon if he isn't nicer. Wonder why Washington didn't grow a mustache? All those big men are stingy when it comes to little fellows like us.

Feb. 23. He was better today but said "Good Lord! How much longer are you going to take?" Rested all night just to show him. He didn't see any difference. What's the use of growing? They never give you credit. Gee—I wish I were Pershing's mustache!

Feb. 24. Talked to a beard today. Said he took three months to grow and his man had to live in a cave and pretend to be a wild man while he was doing it. So there's hope yet. But my man never had any perseverance.

Feb. 26. Took me to a barber shop. Barber asked if he should leave me on. Man blushed redder than hot towel makes him and said "yes." Bet he was proud, though.

Feb. 28. Somebody sent my man an eyebrow-stick, and he swore at me all morning. All the same, I'm not a child any more. I have a real place in the world.

session of us. They entirely captured some of the fellows. Manager Fosgate and Captain Fletcher were hit the hardest. Just ask them about the Southern girls and hear them rave! The fellows certainly did thank the girls for the hearty entertainment.

As Southern could not give us rooms we were obliged to leave for Tampa at 11:30 p. m., arriving there at 12:15. Manager Fosgate felt good (?) so he generously bought us a meal, for which we were very grateful.

Rollins Looked Good

Leaving Tampa at 1:00 we managed to reach Rollins at 5:00 A. M. without any excitement to speak of. The fellows then crawled into their beds and began to dream about nose dives, loops, side slips, etc. Rollins sure looked good to us all and was a fitting scene for the close of our first big trip.

NEW DINING ROOM FOR HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The students of the Home Economics department were delighted the other day when Miss Watkins told them that a part of the present laboratory is to be partitioned off as a dining room. Just as soon as possible this room is to be furnished with a sideboard, buffet, table, and chairs. Table linen, silver, and a complete set of dishes will also be given.

Each desk in the laboratory is being supplied with a complete equipment for individual work and also with a cupboard in which to keep the equipment.

NAVAL RESERVE OFFICERS IN CENTRAL FLORIDA MEET AT KEY WEST

Naval Reserve Officers from this section of Florida are in session at Key West, and while there, will discuss the forming of a naval unit with headquarters on Lake Virginia.

The delay in the arrival of the equipment for our college Naval Unit is caused by nothing less than the red-tape of the Government, and it is hoped that the boats will soon arrive. A College Naval Unit in operation here, together with a Naval Unit for Central Florida should add a deal of interest to the activities on the campus. There are splendid opportunities offered for naval work on Lake Virginia.

MISS SARA WILLIAMS YANCEY

Among the Rollins Alumni who have entered the teaching field is Miss Sara Williams Yancey, whose likeness appears herewith. Miss Yancey spent one year at Columbia University, New York, and three at Rollins, receiving her A.B. degree in 1918. The following year she was head of the English department in one of the high schools of Alabama and last summer she returned to Columbia University to continue her post-graduate work in English.

While at Rollins Miss Yancey was a brilliant student and active in student activities. She was a member of Delta Phi Beta Sorority and a prominent member of the Delphic Literary Society. In her freshman year she took an important part in "Everywoman," the play presented by the Drama Class of the English department.

NEW GREEK LETTER SOCIETY FORMED BY GIRLS

Sigma Phi Fraternity Receives Its Charter

A new Greek society has been formed on the campus under the name of Sigma Phi. The girls made their debut Tuesday night with a special dinner in the dining hall. The table was beautifully decorated with green and white, the Sigma Phi colors.

The guests of honor were Mrs. Harcourt, Miss Barrett, Miss Eckerson, Mrs. Townsend, and Miss Pendleton.

This society wishes to express its gratitude to Dr. Ward and to the faculty for their interest and help in this organization.

The charter members of Sigma Phi are:

Isabel Foley,
Mabel Townsend,
Loanna Schorer,
Alice Waterhouse,
Helen Waterhouse,
Dorothy Richards,
Gertrude Davies,
Katherine Sims,
Mrs. Harcourt (faculty adviser).

Bang!

Prof's Wife—"Do you think married men live longer?"

Absent-minded Prof.—"Only seems long, my dear."

Exclusive

Captain Fletcher seemed to think he was too good for the boys at Southern. He wouldn't sit at the big table with the rest of the fellows. What's the matter Smut, did she have you vamped? Watch him Pat.

PROFESSOR JOHNSON RIDES THE GOAT

Professor Sexton Johnson reached the city Monday morning at daylight, having come immediately from Rollins College where he had been through the initiatory exercises of one of the Greek letter societies during the early hours of the morning. The impressive (?) ceremonies began immediately after the town clock announced that it was no longer Sunday. They continued until the orb of day warned the college boys that it was approaching study hours. Prof. Johnson looked as though he felt about like Clarence Brown the next morning after the Shriners had finished their arduous work of making him a fellow member.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

cherished memories of those departed, gained through your college days;

If the word "Alma Mater" means anything to you when you have become an Alumnus;

Here is your chance to repay.

I have been reading a bit of the contributions made by, and expected of the "Sons of Harvard." I have been able to find but little concerning any demands from our own college. Have you done anything to pay the debt you owe to the college? It is so well-known that it need not be said by me that no colleges of today could exist if they were to be managed on mere tuition fees. Have you ever paid back what you got from some contribution of others who often-times gave merely for love of the giving and who had no debt of gratitude to pay?

Others are going to give generously; are you going to be a "Slacker" when you have a chance to be not so much generous as honest and square and full of remembrance?

If you do not in full honesty feel able to give your proportionate share you ought and will give to the limit of your means and where your means are large, you ought and doubtless will give more than your proportion. And if you do not give your proportions, you must pay your debt to Rollins by giving your energies to raising the funds she needs and by enlisting the aid of those who can give what you cannot. If you know of a generous person in your community, or one whom you can reach by letter, won't you spend the trifle of time and money necessary to reach that person and solicit from him the funds for Rollins.

Won't you re-read the first few paragraphs of this letter and think of the days you spent at Rollins, and try

K. E. PLEDGES STAGE VAUDEVILLE

Thursday evening the pledges of Kappa Epsilon Fraternity gave a brief entertainment for the benefit of the K. E. members, the faculty and the student body. The opening number was a welcoming song to the old Kappa Epsilon fraternity. This was followed by a "telephone conversation" carried on most cleverly by Florence Bumby. Helen Hanna then sang "I Wish I Were a Janitor's Child." The pledges then appeared in their K. E. costumes, singing "It's Nobody's Business but My Own." Each pledge, assisted by the others, sang one verse which contained a decided hit upon herself. This number was enthusiastically received and the pledges responded with an encore. The program which was necessarily cut short because of study hall, closed with another Kappa Epsilon song.

On Friday, after having given an exhibition of the old advice, "Be seen and not heard," the pledges were allowed to come back to their normal appearance, with their days of public initiation completed.

to repay a little of the debt you can never fully repay in money.

Hello Sister

Now that the girls are calling their organizations "Fraternities," what are the fellows that belong to Alpha-Alpha Sorority going to do? Call each other sister instead of brother?

Quite a Little

Prof.—"A man is a little bit taller in the morning than he is at night."
Stude—"I don't know about that, but I do know that a fellow gets short by the end of the month."

No Chance

We've often thought what a pity it is that a man can't dispose of his experience for as much as it cost him.

Catch Him, Winnie

"Isn't that woman gross?"
"I should say so. A perfect 144."

Fourth Speed

Olive—"Jack and Mary are fast friends, aren't they?"
Pauline—"Yes, he is one of her fastest."

Rechristen It

"And they call that stuff moonshine!" exclaimed the man who was more inquisitive than wise.
"That's the name it goes by in this place."
"You ought to rechristen it. It tastes like bottled sunstroke."
—Ex.

A Come Back

Devoted—"My dear, you are one girl in a million. Will you marry me?"
Proud—"Certainly not! You only amuse me."
Devoted—"Well, after all, you are only one girl in a million."

Curiosity

Hagerty (listening to new jazz record)—"What kind of music do you call that, Pud?"
Pauline—"That's a fox trot."
Hagerty—"And how many tin cans did that fox have tied to his tail when he trotted?"

Fearless

She—"How dare you! Father said he would kill the first man who kissed me!"
He—"How interesting! Did he do it?"

Just So

Prof.—"What did Milton mean by 'blind mouths'?"
Student—"The eye teeth had been extracted."

They Say It's True

A woman was testifying on behalf of her son and swore that he had worked on a farm ever since he was born.
The lawyer who cross-examined her said, "You assert that your son had worked on a farm ever since he was born?"
"I do."
"What did he do the first year?"
"He milked."
—Ex.

H and H

"I hear he drinks like a fish."
"You don't say? I never thought that of him."
"Yeah, never touches a thing but water."

Hail!

He—"I have a swell headache."
She—"Well what do you expect to get out of that head—a brain storm?"
—Ex.

Chick (to Rowe, the golf hound)—"That was a fine drive you made this morning, Duke."
Duke Rowe—"Which one?"
Chick—"Oh, you know. The time you hit the ball." (And with that the little frog in the pool croaked.)

Grub—"I'll have you understand I'm not the idiot you think I am."
Hal—"Which one are you?"

Simplified Spelling

Teacher—"What's your name, my boy?"
Boy—"Jule."
Teacher—"You mean Julius. What's your name?" (to next boy.)
Second Lad—"I guess it must be Billious."
—Ex.

A Catastrophe

Teacher—"Betty, name one bird that is now extinct."
Betty—"Dick."
Teacher—"Dick? What kind of a bird is that?"
Betty—"Our Canary, the cat exterminated him."

Sleep, Sweet Sleep

"'Twas in a first year Physics class The talk ran smooth and slow,
And soon were sleeping peacefully The students row on row."

Seven Wonders of Rollins

1. Glassey's hair.
2. Don's cloverleaf walk.
3. Homer Carr's brilliance.
4. Rowe's brown vest.
5. Fosgate's method of chapel study.
6. Snyder's ties.
7. Fohl's conceit.

Sloan and Boyle were flipping coins,—
"Liniment"—"If it's heads we go to Orlando. If it's tails we go to bed."
"Goofy"—"If it stands on edge we will study our lessons."

They Help

Little would-be jokelets
Tho dusty all with age,
Can help to do away with space,
And fill an empty page.—The Tiger.

Either Way

Bates—"Are you taking your son out to air?"
Jones—"No sir, I'm taking my heir out to sun."
—Ex.

A Break

Prof. Blair (in chemistry)—"Now name some of the impurities of the air we breathe, beginning with Charles Fohl."

A Hint

Ask any of the basketball fellows about the Southern girls. They sure treat 'em right down there.

Camouflage

Coach Boyer said that the breakfast he had in Tampa made him sick. How about that upside down flying, Chauncey?

Oh!

Sloan—"I sleep with my dog every night."
Sticks—"That's very unhealthy."
Sloan—"I know, but he's used to it now."

Dry America

Luke—"Sloan and I went hunting yesterday."
Duke—"Have any luck?"
Luke—"Yea, we killed a package of Camels."

At Arcadia

Stan. to Boyer—"Did you thank the Lt. for taking you up?"
Boyer (pale around the gills)—"No, but I thanked God for getting me down safe."

Customer—"See here, there is a hair in my soda."
Clerk—"Oh dear, it's that boy again; he's so careless about shaving the ice."

Subdued

Before he was married
We called him a dude,
But now that he's wed, why
He's only subdued.
—Widow.

Bed-Bugs

Don. Vincent had a hard time of it at Arcadia. He woke every one up by yelling in his sleep, "I haven't got my bed, it's a little buggy." Cheesey said his were Catholic bugs and they wouldn't eat meat on Friday, so he slept o. k.

Smut at Arcadia, 'If these guys don't win we'll beat 'em."

What?

Miss Bellows at 9:15 a. m.:
"Why, Mr. Potter, you come to class quite early of late."
Dick—"Oh, yes! I used to be behind before but now I'm first at last."

Righto!

Zip—"How do you make hash?"
Mrs. W.—"You don't make it, it accumulates."

Ode to Virgil

Lines of Latin all remind us,
That if we had old Virgil here,
We should leave, but leave behind us,
Living footprints on his ear.
—Ex.

A Genius

Miss Dyer (to aspirant for orchestra)—"Have you an ear for music?"
Sedgwick—"I should say so—I've got drums in both of them."

No Charge

Stone—"Want a job digging potatoes?"
Mac—"Yes, if it's digging them out of gravy."

A Give-a-way

'I go to Wekiwa to bathe in the spring.'
"Oh, is that so? I have mine every Saturday night."
—Record.
