NEWS YOU CAN USE FROM THE JOHN C. HITT LIBRARY

NEW RESOURCES

The UCF Libraries is adding 8 important resources from Technology Fee Awards in 2015 through collaborations with departments such as English, Women and Gender Studies, History, Modern Languages.

⇒ Women & Social Movements in the United States - Scholar's Edition

A database and a peer reviewed journal includes innovative scholarship, primary documents, books, images, essays, book reviews, web reviews and teaching tools on U.S. history and women and gender studies between 1600 and 2000.

⇒ Executive Branch Documents

This collection offers a record of federal department and agency activities from our nation's founding through the early 20th century. It complements the Serial Set collection (below) and is an essential resource for doing research on the Americas from 1789-1939.

⇒ U.S. Congressional Serial Set

Considered one of the most important resources for the study of American history, politics and society, the U.S. Serial Set gives you the thinking behind events to add context to your research. This collection of government publications captures key aspects of American life - from agriculture, to westward expansion, scientific exploration, politics, international relations, business and manufacturing.

⇒ ProQuest Congressional (for 3 years)

The ProQuest Congressional content provides indexing and abstracting access to the Serial Set documents from 2004 through 2018, with links to the full text publications. Additional full text content beyond the Serial Set volumes includes the Federal Register, Congressional Record, and hearing transcripts.

⇒ British Periodicals III & IV (submitted by the Department of English)

The two collections extend the scope of the British Periodicals series by focusing on the first half of the twentieth century, with full text of primary sources.

⇒ C19 - Nineteenth Century Index (submitted by the Department of English)

The C19 Index draws on the strengths of 14 existing indexes to form a dynamic and expanding source for discovering nineteenth-century books, periodicals, official documents, newspapers, and archives.

⇒ Mango Languages Learning

A database and a self-learning software offers creative lessons designed for conversational skills and grammars in 60 languages.
