DEAN SPRAGUE AND JUDGE CHENEY ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

THE AFFIRMATIVE TAKEN BY THE DEAN WHILE THE JUDGE DEFENDS THE NEGATIVE

Approximately 300 Persons in Attendance—Large Student Representation

A very interesting and instructive debate was entered into by Dr. Sprague and Judge Cheney of Orlando on the subject of the League of Nations on the evening of Tuesday, October 19. This debate was held in the auditorium of the Winter Park Public School and was largely attended by both the town people and the students of the college. The college felt a particular interest in the debate, as Judge Cheney is one of the trustees, and Dr. Sprague, dean. The affirmative was supported by Dr. Sprague and the negative by Judge Cheney. The time allotted each speaker was 20 minutes. Mr. A. Schultz, vice-president of the Board of Trade of Winter Park, introduced the speakers.

Dr. Sprague prefaced his remarks by giving the main facts regarding the League of Nations, and in defense of which he first died on the horror of war and the devastating effect which it has on the nation's resources and man power. He pointed out that should the United States not become one of this body it would find it necessary to be ever ready to fight any combination. He drew attention to the fact that the German newspapers in America and anarchistic elements opposed the League. "We need some new things in the world once in awhile," said Dean Sprague, and cited the Constitution of the United States as some-

DR. FARR TO OPEN THE LECTURE SEASON NOV-3

Vice-President of University of Florida to Appear Under Auspices of Delphic Society

An announcement of much interest to the faculty, student body and townspeople is that which has just been made; that Dr. James M. Farr, head professor of English Literature at the University of Florida, has been chosen to open the lecture season at Rollins on next Wednesday evening, Nov. 3. Dr. Farr has been for many years vice-president of the University, and is well-known as a lecturer in the field of English Literature. He holds the Ph. D. degree from Johns Hopkins University.

The lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the Delphic Society in Knowles Hall, next Wednesday evening, Nov. 3, at eight o'clock. The speaker will be introduced by Chancellor Brooks. Students will be admitted upon presentation of the Student Association tickets. To all others there will be a charge of $1.00.

It is understood that Dr. Farr will be followed, from time to time by an even larger number of lecturers than were secured last year. Among those appearing for 1919-

FORMER LATIN PROFESSOR DIES IN MAINE

Miss Lord Taught at Rollins During Dr. Ward's First Administration

The sad news of the death of Prof. Frances E. Lord, a former much valued member of the Rollins College faculty, reached us in Winter Park early in August. The interment was on August 4 in Evergreen cemetery, Portland, Me. Her home, with that of her two sisters, was Wakefield, Mass.

Miss Lord was Professor of Latin in Rollins College, and her work covered Dr. Ward's first administration, and part of Dr. Blackman's connection with the college, she having resigned her position at the end of the college year (1908), in which she was given the usual allowance given to those whose age and years of work satisfy the requirements of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

I was Miss Lord's faculty associate during her entire connection with the college and know of her excellent work and her great rare ability and wisdom; able as a teacher, conscientious in the discharge of her duties, and entering in the upbuilding of her department in the college. She received the degree of Litt. D. from Rollins

DRAMATIC DIVISION OF DELPHIC GIVES PROGRAM WED.

PARTS IN "TWELFTH NIGHT" ASSIGNED; RICKARD, WRIGHT AND BELL RECITE

Fourth Meeting of the Year Led by Richard Potter—Speers Led Parliamentary Drill

The fourth regular meeting of the Delphic Society was held on the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 7:15. The program of the evening, which was nobly and ably led by Richard Potter, was a dramatic one.

After the minutes were read and the business of the meeting was over, a ten minute parliamentary law drill was presided over by Charles Speers, whose pet scheme in life seems to be to try anything once. The eternal "laying of the sidewalk" question was brought up and fought to a finish by the freshmen and sophomores; the freshmen coming out victorious. In a final effort to save the face of his class, Robert Wright, a budding sophomoric, rather vaguely suggested that we refer the whole matter to the city authorities. Next a motion was made that we have quantity instead of quality in the Beamery, and a very clever joke was "pulled off" in "Seconds."

When this was over, Charles Speers, our poetical friend, went forward to make one of his extemporaneous speeches. He talked on the life of Shakespeare and certainly did himself credit. We learned many and strange things about this ancient poet and dramatist that we were never aware of before, one of which was that "Shakespeare, when a boy, was very young!"

Richard Potter read the list of

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

It is a foregone conclusion that the great majority of the persons in the United States want a league of nations, therefore it will be a waste of time and valuable newspaper to advertise the advantages of such a union.

But there is a league of nations. Now since there is such an organization, what is the matter that America does not adopt it, since the majority of its people want a league? The matter is simply this: The existing league was proposed and championed by the Democratic party, while the Republicans, envious for fear that the adoption of this, the most progressive movement since time began, during Democratic administration, would so raise the opposition party in the favorable estimation of the nation that Republican supremacy would be endangered forever, determined to defeat the league's adoption. In short, political selfishness is the direct cause of America's failure to subscribe to the covenant.

The chief misrepresentations of the League of Nations are: That it is a super-government which impairs American sovereignty; that England could out-vote us and override us; that the League could, by a majority vote, compel us to go to war against our will or order our soldiers abroad; that the League fixes forever the existing boundaries and nationalities. All these notions of the league are mostly false. The League cannot declare war nor order our soldiers abroad. It does not prevent internal revolutions. It does not prevent change of boundary except through arbitration. On the other hand, we can withdraw from the League at any time upon proper notice if we find it is to our best interests to do so.

The Republicans say they want a league of nations, but still they are careful not to propose one; they are afraid it will be no more perfect than the one we now have. Their idea is to defeat the Democratic party at the expense of the present League of Nations, which is as much as to say that they are willing to gain their ends at the expense of the nation's international honor and good will, for the present situation has made the meaning of the two synonymous.

The only way to get a league of nations is to adopt the League of Nations, for the 43 states that are now members of the present League will not throw away the one they now have simply to accommodate the United States, even if she was the deciding factor in winning the war. These countries might have done this once, but that time is a couple of years back in history. The only way for us to

K. E. KICKS

Mrs. John W. Stagg of St. Petersburg (who is a K. E. alumna) has been invited to act as patroness of the Phi Alpha dance Saturday, October 30, she being the wife of a Phi Alpha.

The same invitation has been sent to Mrs. Walter Pettis of Tampa, who is also an alumna K. E.

Mrs. John K. List, fraternity mother, was called to Wheeling, W. Va., to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law last week.

Mrs. William Glenn is visiting in Hendersonville, N. C.

Jean Wagner is attending the University of Pittsburg.

Elizabeth Murphey will re-enter Rollins the second semester.

ALPHA ALPHA SCANDAL

A letter was received from Brother Charles Fohl. He reports favorable conditions at Boston Tech. (Good for you, Chick! Lucy will be glad to hear this.)

Brother Burt A. Hazeltine is now instructor in mathematics at Tufts. Brother Hazeltine yearns for Florida. Says that a trip up old Snake Run would please him greatly. He will be down at Christmas time and expects to drag Brother Fohl with him. We are all looking forward to meeting them.

Miss Kerr presented Alpha Alpha with a flag. We thank her from the bottom of our hearts.

There is still another round of thanks due to Miss Kerr. Alpha Alpha, or rather most of it, greatly enjoyed the outing at Olivia park last week. It was a real affair and gives an idea of what there is in store in the future. We hope to be able to spring a little surprise soon. Be prepared!

The lake was bathed with moonlight.

Soft strains of music echoed from the victrials.

The canoe slipped lazily over the ripples.

And up in the heavens the star of Love was shining.

A summer breeze gently stirred the trees.

And all the world seemed to be smiling at The Two.

He smiled a smile half of joy, half of something else.

And the old moon seemed to wink, as he stole his hand gently toward the Other's.

And He opened his mouth as he uttered the old, old words:

"Bill, ain't it a darn shame. If we only had a couple of girls this scene would be perfect."

GIDDINGS-MANSFIELD

Word has been received of the engagement of Mr. William Giddings to Miss Harriet Mansfield, both former students of Rollins. While at Rollins Miss Mansfield was one of the most popular girls on the campus. Mr. Giddings was a member of Phi Alpha Fraternity. During the war he was an instructor in the Artillery Corps.

Fred Essinger, '97, is another well-known alumnus who is making a name for himself in the religious world. He is now State Sunday School Superintendent for the state of North Carolina.

DEAN SPRAGUE SCORES VOCAL HIT IN CHAPEL

Sage of the Faculty Proves Himself a Ready Composer

Anyone who thought before he had not yet become acquainted with Dean Sprague surely put all such notions out of his dull cranium upon seeing the whole-hearted way in which "His Honor" joined, heart and voice, with the students in singing praises to their Alma Mater at the sing held on last Thursday in chapel. His is the sort of spirit which makes of those few precious moments each week just what they ought to be; for, unprovided with the words of the songs, Dean Sprague sang those he knew and "la, la, la," for those he didn't know, until some kind soul in the audience came to his assistance with one of the coveted copies. After that he sang with even greater animation and the roguish smile which played over his face gave ample proof of his enjoyment.

My roommate never troubles me
By playing cards 'til half past three;
Nor does he sing and shout and slam
Whenever I may want to cram;
It is no deaf-mute that I own
The reason is—I room alone.

worthiness. She was a woman of College in 1908.

Miss Lord did much philanthropic work among our colored people during her residence in Winter Park, especially Sunday School and other religious work, and will long be remembered by them on account of her kindly and thoughtful interest in their behalf.

Miss Nathalie Lord, sister of Prof. Lord, private secretary to Dr. Blackman, secretary of the college faculty and active worker among our colored people, including the furthering of special interests in the Hingerford School, of which she was a trustee, was with her sister during her stay in Winter Park. They lived in the house built by Prof. Austin on his beautiful lake-site about halfway between the New Seminole Hotel and Maitland Run on Interlachen Avenue.

Prof. Lord had broad ability as an author. Her publications include, "Latin Pronunciation," "The Meters of Horace Set to Music," "Jesus Said," and two Rollins College songs. "Jesus Said" has been translated into Turkish and Chinese, and has a wide circulation in the missionary field. Prof. Lord's sister, Agnes, was for many years a missionary in Turkey.

Following are words of the songs:

Rollins Song

Fiat Lux! let Rollins shine
Clear in the golden light of day;
Nothing to hide, strong in the truth,
Steady she holds her way.

Boating Song

Refrain: Cara! Carissima! Clara!
Clarissima! Cara! Carissima!
Cara! Clarissima! Sempiterna
Rollins!

Splendent thou! true as steel
'Gainst error she draws her shining blade;
Justitia fiat ruat cœlum!
Naught shall make her afraid.

Refrain.

Per purum serene her banner
Blue and gold is flouting wide,
Truth and glory, glory and truth,
Undimmed shall aye abide.

Refrain.

Women

A woman is queer, there's no doubt about that,
She hates to be thin, and she hates to be fat.

One minute it's laughter, the next it's a cry—

You can't understand her, however you try.

But there's one thing about her which everyone knows—

A woman's not pleased till she powders her nose.

Student Life.

Houx—"Did your garden win any prizes last summer?"

Coax—"Indirectly, yes. My neighbor's chickens took first prize at the poultry show."

Men are so contrary that if their wives wanted them to stay out late they probably wouldn't do it.

Hiram—"Southern claims to be a self-made man."

Manda—"That relieves somebody of a terrible responsibility."

Miss Ross Leaves

Miss Ross left for her first concert trip of the season last Tuesday night, going to New Haven, Pittsburg and the Fox Croft School near Washington, D. C., in all of which places she will give lecture recitals featuring the works of modernist composers.

Miss Knowlton at Morocco Temple

Miss Knowlton, new head of the vocal department of the conservatory, has been engaged for a song recital in Jacksonville, on November 5, where she will sing at the Morocco Temple, under the auspices of the Springfield Improvement Association. Miss Knowlton will give her costume recital on this occasion, with a program of old French and English and more modern Spanish songs.

Her first recital at the college will be on Monday, November 22, in Knowles Hall.

R. Potter, Manager Glee Club

At the last meeting of the Men's Glee Club, the following officers were elected for the present season: Manager, Richard Potter; Treasurer, Frank Evans. Work has begun in earnest, and there is every prospect that this year's glee club will be the best in the history of the college.

Orchestra Begins Practice

The College Orchestra has begun rehearsals, and will as usual take up the study of some serious musical work as the feature of its season. In the past this organization has presented at its concerts such works as the Hadya "Surprise Symphony," Mozart's Symphony in G minor, and Overture to Figaro. This year Beethoven's First Symphony will be studied, with other works of a different character.

"PAT" FOLEY SWIMS AROUND LAKE VIRGINIA

UNUSUAL FEAT ACCOMPLISHED IN ONE HOUR AND FORTY-FIVE MINUTES

A New Candidate for Prof. Blair's "Frogs"—First Girl to Accomplish This Stunt

Three cheers for Frances Foley, the first girl at Rollins to accomplish the feat of swimming entirely around the lake! "Pat" has been threatening to try this for some time, as she has been desirous of becoming one of Prof. Blair's frogs, but until a few days ago she has contented herself with such simple pastimes as either swimming across the lake or from the boathouse to the girls' dock. Last Tuesday, however, she decided that, as the walrus once remarked, "The time had come" for her to show us that she really could swim and thus a little thing like a three-mile lake was nothing in her sweet young life! So promptly at 1:30 she dived off from the boathouse, followed by two staunch friends in a canoe, ready at any moment to "throw out the life-line" should she need assistance. But not so Pat! Of course, there were vicissitudes, such as water snakes, alligators, and numerous turtles, who were all highly insulted at this new variety of fish which had so rudely invaded their paradise.

Notwithstanding these tribulations she pressed nobly on and the anxious watchers on shore saw her round the bend on the opposite shore of the lake about an hour after leaving. At 6:15 she stepped gaily upon the boathouse dock once more as fresh as a daisy and apparently good for yet another watery adventure.

Here's luck to our budding Annette Kellermann and many hopes that she may be captain of the girl's swimming team this year and break all previous records.

Editorial on League

regain that lost prestige is to accept the League with its many admitted imperfections along with the other nations. We must get in and smooth its roughnesses from the inside.

President Wilson and the other Democrats are true Americans just the same as anyone else; they are not traitors; they are not going to allow America's birthright to be sold for a mere ideal. What about such sound thinking men and women as Charles Eliot, ex-President of Harvard; Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale; Rabbi Stephen H. Wise of New York City; President King of Oberlin; Prof. Charles Seymour of Yale; Mary E. Woolley, President of Mount Holyoke; Caroline Hazard, ex-President of Wellesley, and many other prominent personages who are endorsing the League; are they willing to become traitors, too?

Many of the leading college publications over the country are endorsing the League editorially and otherwise.

Every day men and women all over the land are making the decision to support the League, for they realize the utter foolishness of trying to present a new covenant to a ridiculing international public. It is generally conceded that the recently enfranchised women of America will be the determining factors in the adoption of the League of Nations. The mother heart is going to rise up and take advantage of this exceptional opportunity which may be lost forever.

The Sandspur heartily endorses the League of Nations.

League of Nations

thing new in 1789, a monument erected by human minds and universally respected, that was thought impractical at first. He stressed the fact that the League of Nations is new, the culmination of years of study and planning, imperfect as all things are, but material for a growing, living, human organism—a basis of justice and right that will run this whole world on another principle than that of savage power.

Judge Cheney based his objections to the League on the ground that it insured war in its present form. He stated that such a league, rightfully drawn, would be a splendid thing, but as a means of putting those prerogatives of declaring war, providing for use of army and navy, sending the kids to fight the foe into alien hands, it was a menace to the life and liberty of the United States. He spoke of the doctrine practiced by the United States, under which she has thrived for many years, regarding foreign nations; that of having as many commercial relations as necessary and as few political relations as possible. He mentioned the fact that a majority of the nations of the League are of the yellow and black races and such equipped with the same number of votes as the United States, one, while England controlled six. He concluded his remarks by saying that he believed President Wilson was carried away with the idea of the League of Nations as many others have been and that by refusing to ratify this document when it was placed before them by the Chief Executive, the Senate of the United States saved her from the most humiliating disgrace that could be put upon her—the loss of her own sovereignty.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S DRAWL

It was the happy idea of some of Rollins' students to give a picnic at Olivia Park on Thursday evening. After securing three capable chauffeurs and an equal number of chaperones the party managed to arrive safely.

Covers were laid for ten couples. After lunch the lure of music and the unexpressed desire for dancing called the couples forth. The evening was spent in this pleasant pastime, with occasional bits of foolishness by Messrs. Sloan, Boyle and R. Wright.

WHY SO MANY ADS?

The Sandspur is confidently looking forward to its best advertising year. Under the able guidance of W. Sherman the paper has secured some good "Ads."

It has been brought to the News Editor's attention that some are "kidding" because of the amount of advertising. These "jabs" may be explained by the fact that the subscription price of The Sandspur is not sufficient to pay the cost of printing. Therefore we must have quite a bit of advertising if we are to keep on the credit side of the expense book.

C. Ward—"It is the only way I know to get my bed made decently."
—Princeton Tiger.

Watch Your Step

She—"Have you a date for the Halloween Dance?"
Ditto—"Not yet. But I am going to wear this dress today and trust to luck."
—Iowa Privet.

Horses' Necks—and Hoofs

Sloan—"The modern lady enjoys her canter in the morning."
Williams—"Yes, and her decanter in the evening."
—Ex.

DELPHIC MEETING

the names of people who were to take part in "Twelfth Night," scheduled to be held in a month. Three attractive poems were recited by Edward Bell, Robert Wright and Marion Rickard, respectively. Robert Wright added much to the enjoyment of his poem by glancing his eyes fixedly and unquestionably on the sole object of his affections while he recited it.

Mrs. Roundtree kindly gave us some suggestions about carrying on the form of our meetings, after which some one made the motion to adjourn.

This Is Awful

Prof. Podmore—"Do you know that when Noah lit the candle, he made the first Ark light?"

A Fishing Snack

A young man in love doesn't care so much about having a yacht at sea as he does about having a little snack ashore."

Choose Well Spelling Class

McGinley—"How do you spell made?"
Butler—"M-I-e."
Don—"You left something out."
Butler—"Yes, I left You (U) out."

Barneyed Blues

Palmer—"Have you a cow?"
Wendler—"No, but I have a lot of ball."

Round and Round

The maiden's hue of winter red
The freckles now replace;
And summer tan will give way to
Her autumn mobile face.
