THE 1921-'22 INTERCOLLEGIATE EDITORIAL CONTEST

OPEN ALL COLLEGE STUDENTS. FIRST PRIZE WINNER ELIGIBLE TO ENTER NATIONAL CONTEST

COMMITTEE NAMED TO SUPERVISE LOCAL CONTEST

In order to arouse the active support of every male undergraduate in the United States and Canada to Liberal Arts courses, and to refute the popular claim that a four-year cultural course is time mis-spent, Pi Delta Epsilon, Honorary Collegiate Journalism Fraternity, has announced as the subject for its 1921-'22 Intercollegiate Editorial Contest, "The Practical Value of a Cultured Education."

Thousands of editorials on this subject are expected, for the contest will, this year, be open to every male undergraduate in every college and university of the United States and Canada. Because great interest in this subject has been manifested of late and because of the fact that Pi Delta Epsilon will award its coveted gold, silver and bronze medals to the prize winners, as well as its Certificates of Merit to first prize winners in each college and university represented, an exceptionally large number of entries is expected.

President Warren G. Harding, a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, and former editor and present owner of the Marion (Ohio) Star, will represent the fraternity in the presentation of awards. Three prominent metropolitan newspaper editors will act as final judges.

Nation-wide publicity will be given the 1921-'22 contest through the Associated Press and other news-gathering media, and the prize winning editorials will be released in mimeographed form, simultaneously, to every college, university and daily metropolitan newspaper in this country and Canada, together with photographs of the winners.

This year, Pi Delta Epsilon's contest will be double in scope. A local contest will be conducted at every college and university, and each local first prize winner will receive the Certificate of Merit of the fraternity, and will be eligible to submit his editorial in the national contest. Three prize winners in the national contest will

MRS. STEVENS WORK AT ROLLINS APPRECIATED

FAMOUS WELFARE WORKER SECURED BY Y. W. C. A. DEVOTES TIME TO STUDENTS PROBLEMS

Through the efforts of the ever-active Y. W. C. A. of Rollins, Mrs. Mable Irene Stephens, well known leader of the "Y" camp of the W. C. T. U., brought to Rollins a real inspiration of good. Through her many experiences as a congregational minister, W. C. T. U. worker, missionary lecturer and student of Hebrew literature, she is both helpful and of interest to the student body.

The purpose of Mrs. Stevens in coming to Rollins was primarily that of solving religious problems for the students, but graciously agreed to answer any other question that might be laid before her. In order that any student might be able to consult with her privately Mrs. Stevens occupied a suite of rooms in Cloverleaf, where either girl or boy received a hearty welcome.

Mrs. Stevens' entire time was devoted in one way or another to aiding Christian work in Winter Park. She not only conducted the services of the churches in the town, but also in Knowles. Her lectures upon the relation of health of body, mind and soul to the real Christian life was of great help to the student body. She also gave a report of the Prison Reform Convention that was recently held in Jacksonville.

Doubtlessly the grades of the entire student body were benefited by Mrs. Stevens' visit. By her enthusiasm and power to picture vividly for the students the benefits of real, honest-to-goodness work she aroused an interest for work that should last the entire year. The saying that smiles are catching was no exception in her case, for during her stay upon the campus the "blues" and grouches entirely disappeared.

NOTED VISITORS ENTER-TAINED ON THE CAMPUS

DR. BUTTRICK AND MR. ARNETT OF N. Y. EDUCATION BOARD STOP AT ROLLINS DURING SOUTHERN TOUR

Rollins has the honor of entertaining two distinguished visitors this week, representatives of the General Education Board in New York, Dr. Wallace Buttrick and his associate, Mr. Trevor Arnett. These well known educators are making a tour of the South, inspecting various educational institutions. That Rollins is one of the institutions to be visited is a source of much satisfaction to everyone concerned with the welfare of the institution.

Tuesday morning in chapel, President Ward introduced Dr. Buttrick as one of the leading men in the educational life of the country, having under his supervision the distribution of many millions of dollars for the up-building of colleges and universities. Dr. Ward spoke of the founding of the General Education Board, of which Dr. Buttrick has been secretary for many years, by John D. Rockefeller endowing the institution with sufficient millions to warrant its usefulness. Dr. Buttrick asked to be excused from making an address because of a severe cold which he had contracted, but spoke of his pleasure at having an opportunity of visiting Rollins. He closed with congratulating the students on their opportunity here.

It is understood that Dr. Buttrick and Mr. Arnett had several conferences with President Ward, Dean Sprague and Treasurer O'Neal. It is understood that the needs of the institution were carefully gone over and it is hoped that the visitors will become interested in the work which Rollins is doing.

ROLLINS AND THE ASS'N OF SOUTHERN COLLEGES

DEAN SPRAGUE REPORTS NO DIFFICULTY IN QUALIFYING FOR MEMBERSHIP

DEFINITE ACTION WILL BE TAKEN BEFORE NEXT MEETING

Dean Sprague attended the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges in Birmingham last week and returned Saturday night.

There is a College Association of the Northeastern States and one for the Middle West after which the Southern association was more or less patterned. These associations all regulate the entrance requirements and set up standards for college and university work up to which their members are expected to rise. They try to determine what is a university, a college or a school and insist that an institution of same lower grade shall not unjustly pretend by a high sounding name to move in the class of its superiors.

So the Southern Association places standards for endowment, class credits, academic degrees of the faculty, number of hours taught by instructors, degrees granted by the institution, control of athletics, salaries of professors and various other important items that should be found in a standing college.

Dean Sprague presented to the committee of the association a report on the state of Rollins College and found that we would have little difficulty in qualifying for membership if we wished to make the adjustments to meet the conditions required by the organization.

The Southern Association is composed only of the most prominent institutions of the South, which have come up to a recognized standard and which are fed by the standardized high schools. Scores of Southern colleges and hundreds of nondescript schools do not belong to it. In all probability there is a great need of many collegiate institutions which do not follow the rigid rules of the Southern Association. There are thousands of Southern students in the unstandardized colleges that never could become qualified in their country schools for entering the standard colleges of the Southern Association, and a great number of these would be

PUTTING IT UP TO US

Whenever conversation trends that way every student in school speaks in appreciation of the attainments reached in the progress of the school and the liberal spirit in its government displayed this year by President Ward and Dean Sprague.

The older students will remember that previous to the present administration the students had unsuccessfully argued for years that they were men and women especially well educated, almost, if not quite, of legal age, and certainly capable of a large measure of self government. They emphasized that if they were treated like men they would act like men in their relations to Rollins College.

The present year they have been taken at their word and these principles of liberalism applied to the government of the college. The faculty are ready to go further if we prove to them we meant what we said. In short Prexy and the dean have put it up to us to "come through" with our part. Are we going to do it? Are we the men and women we thought

By PROF. THOS. R. BAKER
Hardly any study, even in limited side-line pursuits, can awaken more interest in the minds of young men and women, especially at this season of the year, and in Florida, than that of tracing the stars and learning something of the physical features of these friendly sentinels of the night. Our atmosphere is especially clear, and at no other season of the year are the constellations so interesting as these now coming into view in the early hours of the night in the eastern sky.

But let us, this time, speak of the planets, those sky wanderers popularly known also as "stars," and so designated even by astronomers in writing about them for the public.

A very unusual planetary situation exists at present. It is that the six planets, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune are morning stars. Mercury, on account of its close proximity to the sun, and the frequent atmospheric conditions unfavorable for seeing it, is not a planet of common observation here. But in the regions of its greatest elongations (farthest angular distances from the sun) the writer has seen it as many as a dozen times, appearing as a beautiful little star in the morning twilight hour, during his 30 years' residence in Florida. Just now it is so near the sun that it cannot be seen on account of the blinding light of the big luminary.

Venus is by far the brightest of these morning stars, and its location is unmistakable in the eastern sky a few degrees above the horizon just before daylight. It is now "Star of the morning, beautiful star."

Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn rise much earlier than Venus: the first may be recognized by its ruddy and the third by its yellowish light. The positions of these, and the location of Jupiter, the largest of the planets, will be pointed out in a future note. Neptune is not visible to the naked eye. Uranus is an evening star.

TEN THOUSAND CHRISTMAS SEALS TO BE SOLD AT ROLLINS

The sale of Christmas seals began on the Rollins Campus with the Y. W. C. A. Bazaar in the gymnasium last Saturday and is being continued at the Co-operative Store. The committee in charge are hoping to sell at least 10,000 among the students of Rollins. The funds derived from the sale of these seals is to go to the National Tuberculosis Association to help wage the battle against the great white plague. It is hoped that every letter leaving the campus between now and the Christmas holidays will bear one of these fighting tokens.

We were! The "Prep School atmosphere" that we used to rail at is just about gone. Now we must accept the responsibility and justify our name as a college student in the full meaning of the word.

PHI ALPHA PHOAM

Skipper

"Casey" Warner was chosen captain of the Tar basket ball ship for 1922. It looks as if Ken will have to do a little work, or he will be seasick when the Tar sail into some other colleges.

Fresh Meat

Pledge Doug Potter has moved into the house, after a visit with his uncle in Maillard.

Pastime

If you see one of us dumbbells dashing across the campus trying to whistle, pursued by an angry mob, laughing and trying to kill the pursued, don't get excited. They are only playing Bullfart.

Basketball

You might think that all our gang ever did was play basket ball with Ken Captain, Guy Colada as manager and now Slim Leppert is trying his hand at coaching the W. P. High School.

Boston

Bro. Stanley Fougale, ex-'23, is now in Orlando working for brother. Stan took his freshman work here and attended M. I. T. last year.

Football

We are sorry to report that Phi Alpha, as we only had eight men out for football, only dragged down eight letters. We feel that this is a small start toward upholding our last year's record of having all but one member making his letter in at least one sport.

K. E. KICKS

K. E. announces as pledges the following: Beanie Coulson, Kansas City, Mo.; Debecks Caldwell, Tampa, Fla.; Carol Whitney, St. Augustine, Fla.; Mildred Kennedy, Sorento, Fla.; Kathleen Brady, Sanford, Fla.

K. E. seems real busy these days. Moving, test week, good movies, 'n everything are too much, see the lunch.

Pledge Brady knows what to take to make her feel good, and has even been so kind as to promise to fix one up for Coulson and Co., if things don't improve.

Sanford and Winter Garden seemed to be the favored spots for last week. The crowd was divided between the two, and we haven't agreed yet as to which furnishes the best amusement. But anyway, Cloverleaf makes a pretty good home.

Various conclusions have been reached as to the real cause of Flo's scratch, but it takes a deep mind to see into the matter, and explanations would therefore be useless.

Well, after all Katy says, she's willing to revive old times and see a little "more," but that doesn't explain intermissions.

L'il Eva sez: Movies never did appeal to me anyway, not when I can play tennis, paddle canoes and reach the ceiling for the basket ball, and she tries to make the rest follow suit. Now "What No Man Knows" is what we would like to see.

Carol can't understand why we don't clean house three times a day. She doesn't have enough work to do.

ALPHA ALPHA SCANDAL

Word has been received from Bro. William Sherman to the extent that he will probably drift in here about the first of the second semester. Welcome, Bill. We wish you would bring Mary with you when you come.

"Fat"

Parker Henderson writes from Hot Springs, Ark., that there is nothing doing there. Can you imagine that. Why when Fat first blew in here the whole town gasped for a week. Some of them still have stiff necks from rubbing as he went by in the old Jordan.

Shanty

Maybe you know and maybe you don't but anyway the house lost a lot of its sunshine and pep when "Shanty" Munhall left for Texas last week to attend school. Shanty was a dandy kid and the entire crew misses him.

Fivers

The Alpha Alpha Threshing machines, alias Fords, are still being parked on the front porch. We wish Chasney and Goff would either park them some place else or give 'em away. The grass (?) on the front yard is nearly ruined. Take 'em to bed with you or something, but for goodness sake please keep 'em off the grass and porch.

Christmas Party

The scandal editor has thrown out enough of this for this issue but in conclusion we'll ring off by reminding you that a struggle will be given just before the holidays so all gosses and pledges please keep awake.

SIGMA PHI NOTES

Sigma Phi takes great pleasure in announcing the following new pledges:

- Margaret Bendish, High Point, N. C.
- Mary Edwin Parkinson, Ft. Myers.
- Lydia King Conrad, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Fanny Mae Barnes, High Point, N. C.
- Mildred Cooper, Cleveland, O.
- Henrietta Crosby, Daytona.
- Emily Berick, Dade City.
- Dorothy Gray, Oberlin, O.
- Lucie Shreve, Atlantic City, N. J.

Every one had a grand and glorious time on Thanksgiving. Some of us went to the game and some of us went home. Those who went home had the sale, those who went to the game saw a game that they will never forget as long as they live. We sure did beat old Birmingham. SOME GAME, boys, we will hand it to you all and Griff. Sigma Phi doesn't object to Miss Barrett's new beaunty rule. We're optimistic enough to think that it's for the best.

Fanny and Lyd spent a very pleasant week-end in Kissimmee with Lyd's mother. Incidentally they got up all their biology work, brave little darlings!

Field ball is all over except the game in Tampa. Every one out for basketball! Some of us got pretty badly bunged up in those field ball games. Bart hurt her knee just too many times, and we sure thought that the rest of us were gone at our own particular hour.

Our old friend Kitty Sims blew around our way the day of the bazaar. Sure were glad to see her too. Izzy plays a lot of tennis at late, but she manages a call once every so often.

Pat, too, comes and brings her "young visitor" to see us. They can't keep away, you know.

Our house mother arrived during Thanksgiving week, straight from Providence. She likes our weather and makes fun of our real cold weather we have been having lately like all the other Northerners.

P. S.—Gee! our house sure is clean (due to the honorable H. M.)

TAU LAMBDA DELTA

The fraternity turned out 100 per cent strong at the Birmingham and Southern game on Thanksgiving day at Tampa.

Five of our brothers went down in a car, but brought back one extra rib. Wonder who it was?

We claim the Y. W. C. A. Bazaar was a success. Who doesn't think so?

Brother Wheldon spent the week-end in Jacksonville. There must be some attraction there.

Herbert Thayer has the honor of being president of the Thayer and Starr Gum Shoe Express to Jacksonville. Record six hours.

Miss Knowlton Gives Concert in Gainesville

Miss Knowlton, soprano, and Mrs. Hayward motored to Gainesville Friday, November 18, where Miss Knowlton sang at the opening meeting of the annual convention of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

Miss Knowlton sang, in her usual artistic manner, one group of songs which included two of Miss Dyer's compositions, which were received with great applause. Mrs. Hayward motored with Miss Knowlton as her accompanist.

Rollins Conservatory Members Enjoy Meeting With Woman's Club

Members of the Rollins Conservatory Club, who are Junior members of the Music Department of the Winter Park Woman's Club spent a very profitable and enjoyable afternoon at the meeting held Monday afternoon, November 21, at the Woman's Club House. Mrs. Hirsch, chairman of the Music Department, has planned to give a series of meetings on the orchestra, describing the instruments, their position in the orchestra, etc. The meeting Monday was under the leadership of Mrs. Hirsch. She gave a talk on "What Is Music," describing the music of different nationalities, and then playing them on the victrola. These meetings will be held every third Monday in the month. The other Conservatory Club meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month.

Miss Marion Rous, head of the piano department of Rollins Conservatory, returned on Sunday, November 27, from a concert tour of the middle West. On November 15 she gave her ultra modern lecture recital, "What Next In Music?" before the Twentieth Century Club of Marshalltown, Iowa. The following day she gave the same recital before the Woman's Club of Des Moines. A very pleasant feature of her stay in Des Moines was a buffet supper given in Miss Rous' honor by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rollins, nephew of Alonzo Rollins, founder of Rollins College.

From Des Moines Miss Rous went to Milwaukee. There she appeared at the Milwaukee Art Institute at a return engagement following her notable success there last spring. Miss Rous' program was entitled "Concerning Program Music."

Maria-Elise Johnson's Concert Huge Success

Marin-Elise Johnson, violinist, was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience on Monday evening, November 21, when she gave her debut recital.

Ward has recently been received from Dr. Charles Kimball Hoyt, Professor Emeritus of Biblical Literature, who was recently retired on the Carnegie Foundation, that his health is steadily improving. He and Mrs. Hoyt are at their home in Auburn, N. Y.

Mrs. C. W. Greene, whose miraculous escape from death in the recent storm which swept Tampa, has been a subject of much comment by the press, is a graduate of Rollins in the class of 1899. It was mainly due to Mrs. Greene's experience as a swimmer and to her training in water sports that her life was saved.

Mrs. Mary B. Patterson, mother of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, for many years Deans of Women of Rollins, passed away on October 18th at her daughter's home at San Bernardino, California. This news will be received with sadness by her many friends in this State. Mrs. Patterson was a resident in Cloverleaf during the time her daughter was a member of the Rollins College faculty and her beautiful Christian character meant much to the student body. Mrs. Patterson was a graduate of Oberlin College and was herself a teacher of note. The interment was made in Lawrence, Kansas, the home of the Patterson family.

THE EDITOR.

WHY I RESIGNED

Since my resignation as football manager I have constantly been asked why I took this step. As soon as I took the job the first of the year I started working all my spare time on football matters. I ran errands, wrote letters, sent telegrams, engaged officials, lined fields, paid bills, got out advertising, wrote reports and managed to keep myself busy. There was no definite schedule, nor was there tal in Knowles hall. She is a young artist of unusual talent and training, which was evident in her different moods, her remarkable bowing, her excellent technique, and above all, her full, rich tone. Miss Johnson is not only a wonderful artist, but with her youth and charming personality she is indeed "a rare tribute to the South."

any organization—the manager was responsible for every little detail, but in spite of opposition and lack of organization I did my best for the team and for the school. I worked for the most economical method for every game. Then a few days before the Tampa game I was called before the athletic committee and was told that owing to inefficiency and slackness and because I was still behind on two reports they had decided to allow me to go to Tampa, but I should pay my own expenses during the entire trip. I felt that this was unfair especially as the student body had been offered free transportation, and consequently resigned. I was sorry to do this, but felt it was unfair to make me responsible for all the work connected with the game and then force me to pay my own expenses.

I hope this will enlighten those who did not know the circumstances of my resignation.

ROLAND WULF ELECTED FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Last Monday at a special meeting held in Knowles Hall the 1921 letter men of the Rollins football team elected Roland (Rox) Wulf as their leader for the season of 1922. Rox as he is familiarly known about the campus came into our midst along with three others from Warren, O., where he played four years on the high school football team of that city. In his senior year Rox was elected captain of the Warren High School team and during that year the Warren High team made one of the best records ever made by any team representing the Red and White.

After leaving school Wulf worked for two years after which time he was a member of Ashland (Ohio) College football team for two years. During this time Wulf played end on the Ohio team.

This year Rox came down to Winter Park and enrolled in Rollins. When the call for football sounded the "go!" was on deck.

Coch Schlichter put the Warren lad on end and he has remained there ever since. With "Goof" Boyle as the star wingman Rollins has two of the starliest ends in the state, both of whom are real football players from the very start.

Rox is a popular choice and the team will fight hard under him. With Wulf at the helm it is safe to say Rollins will have another big year in football in 1922.

AS IT IS

She was sweet and simple, he was young and foolish. They walked from the Beanyery together. She waited for him and he for her. Nothing marred the wonderful love which sprang up between them. They smiled at each other and even went canoeing together with a chaperone. When she was sick (we know not if love caused it) he served her with roast chicken from the Beanyery. Oh, but, was love not beautiful. She wrote him wonderful little notes when she was not writing to someone else. Can we peep into one of them and see what she had to say?

"Dear One—I have been thinking about you all the time, how wonderfully brave and strong you are. It is certainly wonderful that two people can understand each other so well. I know that nothing shall ever come between us and we shall lift one another to the highest planets of love, etc., etc., etc."

We are sure she couldn't write that to anyone else but him, at least we knew she couldn't, she looked too simple.

Then as a climax to all things one day they did not walk from the Beanyery together—the demon jealousy had set in. Its greenish eyes had torn apart the faithful love and caused them not to smile at each other any more. No more would they hold each other's hands in the dark places at night when Miss Barrett was not looking. "Oh! death where is thy sting?"

She looked so beautiful in her sorrow and he so Apollo like in his anger that she should think that he would flirt with that "Blond."

But time had elapsed, never more do they talk to each other—never more do they walk from the Beanyery together—never more do they hold hands in the dark places when Miss Barrett is not looking—their ways have parted, the bird of love has left its nest never more to return.

Moral—Don't buy all your bonbons for one girl.

receive the Pi Delta Epsilon medals.

The following faculty representatives have been named by the Editorial Committee of Pi Delta Epsilon to supervise the contest at this institution: Dean Sprague, Prof. Rose, Prof. Hart.

They will act as a committee in selecting local judges, and will forward the winning editorial, by special delivery, to the fraternity's Contest Committee, care of P. C. Peck, 6415 Greenview avenue, Chicago, Ill. This editorial will then automatically identify the winner of a Certificate of Merit and will represent that particular institution in the Intercollegiate Contest.

(1) Contest will open Dec. 3, 1921, and will close Feb. 15, 1922, at midnight; (2) Editorials submitted may not exceed 500 words; (3) Type, or write legibly on one side of sheet only; (4) Write an assumed name in upper left corner of each sheet; (5) On the face of an envelope, write this assumed name, enclosing a sheet of paper on which is written your own name, age, home city, class and local address and telephone number, and seal envelope, pinning or clipping it to your editorial.

The local committee will number each editorial, upon receipt, as an additional check on the identity of its author.

PROGRAM OF DYER COMPOSITIONS TO BE GIVEN IN WINTER PARK

A musical event of great interest to Floridians will be the concert of Miss Susan H. Dyer's compositions to be given in New York City on December 28. Mr. Charles D. Isaacson of the New York Mail, one of the best known musical propagandists in the country, has invited Miss Dyer to give this recital under his auspices. He heard a group of her songs while in Florida last winter, sang by Miss Jean Knowlton, and was so much impressed with their originality that this New York concert is the result.

The program will include songs to be sung by Miss Jean Knowlton, and violin pieces to be played by Miss Maria-Elise Johnson and ensemble numbers for voice, violin and piano.

This recital will be repeated at Baltimore at the Peabody Conservatory of Music on January 2nd. Residents of Winter Park and Orlando will have the opportunity to hear this concert on December 16, when a performance of that program will be given at Knowles Hall, Rollins College, free to the public.

ALPHA ALPHA GIVES DINNER PARTY

The members of Alpha Alpha gave another of their informal and pleasing little dinner parties last Friday night. If you've ever been to one you know what they are like (eats, dancing, music and everything.) Certain humble pledges served the guests and interspersed pep into the affair by varying from a quiet, respectful behavior to knocking down the scenery and "spilling the gravy."

Everything went along happy and joyful until the popular chaperon, Miss Barrett, heard the clock strike eleven or twelve times and led everyone home to dream of chicken and Wahash Blues.

A STUDENTS APPRECIATION OF DOCTOR WARD

A remark made on the campus recently is indicative of the fact that there is one great occasion for Thanksgiving among Rollins students and that is the possession of Dr. Ward as President of the college. It is certain that the spirit of thankfulness will be very complete if each one would stop to realize just how thankful Rollins should be that a man of such noteworthy attainment and unselfish devotion is at the head of the institution.

The enlarged endowment, which Dr. Ward has been mainly responsible for, the prestige which Rollins has enjoyed under his leadership, and the dignified and phenomenal growth which have been the result of his labors are points which every Rollins student and booster recalls with pride and with a feeling of gratitude.

But the largest part which "Prosy" has played on the campus has been in the life and hearts of his students. His irreproachable example of Christian manhood has set a goal toward which the Rollins students work for the best in the college life.

ROLLINS AND THE ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHERN COLLEGES

unable to get higher education of any sort if all the colleges suddenly adopted the association requirements.

Some colleges have declined to try to enter the association because they felt that they served their regions better by operating under more flexible and independent rules than those set by the association.

It would seem, however, that Rollins could well enter the association because her students generally came from standardized schools and her constituents are of a high class of people that expect to move among the best institutions.

Rollins has a year in which to think it over before another step can be taken towards qualifying for membership in the Southern Association. Some of the problems involved in the relationship between the college and the conservatory must be solved. On other points that need attention Rollins is going to make immediate progress irrespective of her relations to the association. Rollins is rolling along in all academic matters and is rapidly making her place for herself in Florida and the nation. Every student in our classes and especially those taking part in our activities have an opportunity to demonstrate high quality of work and help Rollins qualify for the Southern or any other association of high quality institution.

COMPARES UNIVERSITY TO A CAFETERIA PLAN

Comparison of the present system of University education to a cafeteria, in which one selects his food from a great variety on the counter, was made by Dr. Greenlaw at the University of North Carolina. "The people who run the cafeteria expect us to make a balanced selection," he said, "and not to load our trays with pie and sweets—in other words, with 'pudding' courses."

Dr. Greenlaw humorously defined the "goose" conception of education as that which is delicately conscious of what is proper and what is not, but which is, at the same time, skillful in the art of side-stepping the question.

Another theory, the "goat" theory, consisted in sitting in the class-room and looking wise. Both these conceptions are bad, he said, and even the cafeteria system which we have now is not entirely above criticism.

"Suppose," said he, "having gone down the aisle, selected the various dishes for your meal, put them on your tray, and paid for them at the cashier's desk, you should sit down at the table and, instead of eating what you have selected, waste your time and do nothing. Suppose that the man at the cash register should be compelled to come out and stand behind your chair and see that you ate your soup, and the man who dishes out the beef should have to stand over you while you ate that. Then suppose that after you have finished your meal, some one should be obliged to stand at the door and check upon you as you go out to see whether you have passed in those dishes. That is the case with lots of students at Cambridge, Charlottesville, and other places."

In discussing the main purpose of university training, Dr. Greenlaw declared that he did not believe a student should come to college to lay a foundation for a cotton mill, a law building, a medical building or for any other purely vocational structure, but that he should come to lay the foundation for a temple to the living God. To do this he needs more than a well-balanced ration. He needs to employ the means whereby he will come in contact with the three types of knowledge—the knowledge of external nature, or science; the knowledge of what the people on this planet have accomplished in history, philosophy and literature; and the interpretation of beauty, the cultural side of the individual.

"Finally," said Dr. Greenlaw, "you should enjoy your meals. You do not make your selection at the cafeteria and then sit down to your repast with a lug face. There is rest in a good meal, and there should be in properly selected a dinner."

LAKESIDE BUNKERS

The Gang attended the game at Tampa.

Chas. Warner has moved down stairs so he can study and Frances Swepe moved down with him. They are known as the two Johns.

Prof. Anderson, the most enthusiastic football fan on the campus, had a pleasant trip to Haines City. He started to the game at Tampa, but he did not get here as the Walking was not good.

Those of you who do not accidentally fall into the lake at least once, miss the sensation of a life time. Ask Bessie C.

Were we at the banquet? I'll say we were, and what's more, so was Prof. Campbell!

Taller seems to have lost his old pep. Guess he left it in Umatilla.

Frank Gaylord was among the first of the Gang to get to Tampa. He arrived there Wednesday evening. Why the rush?

The Gang sincerely sympathizes with Hillabero. Hope they will do better next time.

We expect lots of mail soon, as our Grades have gone home.

We wonder what has happened to the Chase Hall Gang, as we can study at night now, which thing was impossible before. Keep the good work going, Chase.

So, H.D. Bruckensale is a very busy man at the Beanyery. He takes the attendance. Next thing he will be running the Beanyery.

John Tuller, who left college on account of sickness, is now back with the boys!

Lakeside takes pleasure in saying that they had four of the Gang on the War Canoe Crew that went to Sanford. Viz.: Wendler, Roberts, Scott, Gaylord. The Gang has sworn off this Moonlight Canoeing business, as it is not very good on the studies. Of course, we are the most studious ones on the Campus.

From the looks of things there is going to be a great crowd in the Derm. the second Semester.

We welcome to our midst "Shorty" Marshall, who recently moved up from the A. A. house.

SPARRELL SQUEAKS

Speaking of excitement, our feast in Feaster's room (Strut Rite Inn) was the most excitement that has happened lately. At 8 p. m. our party was immediately disbanded by the appearance of Miss Davey and was reorganized at 9:30. Rahl! Rahl! Rahl! for Davey.

Looks as though we will lose four of our most popular High Shade Alleyers in the matrimonial tide now sweeping over the country. After Xmas the following rooms will be for rent: "Crowd 'Em Inn," "Rush 'Em Out," "Strut Right Inn," and "Hold 'Em All Inn."

A trap was set in Strut Right Inn yesterday morning—the first catch was Ruth followed by Pat, Peg and Irene. Anyhow we got out without serious injuries.

Ruth, Pat, Peg and Jerry were the four Sparrellers who enjoyed canoeing on the lake Sunday afternoon. The oranges are fine girls, go again.

The latest organization on the campus is the G. B. C. It has been organized to extend over a period of two weeks. All Sparrellers are charter members.

The Misses Ruth Amy, Emily Lingie, Jerry Sledge, and Irene Feaster spent the week-end in St. Cloud, the guests of Pat Marine. A grand and glorious time was reported by this crew from "High Shade Alley."

Since Emily swallowed a spoon in St. Cloud she cannot stir.

Nea—Peg, why do you persist on keeping your hair bobbed?

Kid Race—Because it can be back in place before the chaperone comes into the parlor.

Ruth—Billy, I'd like your cigarette holder.

Billy—I don't use one.

Ruth—Stupid! Don't be so dense!

CHASE HALL CHATTER

Our old pastime has been snitched. After several windows, a few doors and screens were broken we decided to take our little game out to the tennis court.

We're very melancholy every night after dinner now, because we can't strut over to Cloverleaf and some of the other harems. Not only that—the girls think we are not patriotic because we wear Statson hats. Oh! this is a hard world!

Jack and Paul had many misfortunes in their trip down to Tampa, but being good boys, they arrived in time to see the second half of the game. Some game, we'll say.

Puzzle—Where is Steve's Essex? Although it left a large hole in our wads, we enjoyed the Y. W. haxnar and strut immensely. These girls sure do know how to pull things around here.

Herb and Dick Stan took a little ride up to Jacksonville to see the Florida-Carolina football game. They journeyed via Smith and Taylor and report a swell time. Ask Dick about those Carolina sponsors, oh, boy!

We now are having the great pleasure of listening to the sweet, soft (?) strains of a fiddle. Reason? Count Ledinsky has moved over to Chas. Welcome, count!

Prof. Podmore sex: "Oh, where, oh, where is my little brown hat?"

Pete Keeley Sez:

"Would two cops standing on the corner make a pair of plinchers?"

Rowe—"Won't you please kiss me good-night?"

Bess—"What? Foolish! Can you imagine me kissing you?"

Rowe—"I sure can."

Bess—"Then do! Good-night!"

We will let our readers draw their own conclusions from the following, taken from one of our exchanges noted for its veracity:

 The familiar faces of last year's faculty have been replaced by those both new and strange."

The Big Idea In This Business

The "big idea" in this business is to give something to our customers that may sound like talk: an "awfully good" attitude? Not a bit of it. It's the biggest business building idea we ever got hold of. If you give a little more value than anyone else; if you give a little more attention to styles, to personal service, every body hears about it and comes to you; it's what we all want.

The values are here and the styles are here in HART SCHAFFNER and MARX Clothes—

Ross—Oh, I don't know, I'm not.—Southern.

We'll Say So

Red—Why are a woman's arms like a necktie?

Charlie—Long and stringy, I suppose.

Red—Naw—when they are around your neck there is usually a knot tied.

Revenge

Barber—"Your hair is getting grey."

Customer—"No wonder—hurry up."—Virginia Reel.

May Be So

"24—"I hear there are two classes claiming Silsby."

"25—"Must be a popular fellow."

"26—"Yes, the Juniors claim he is a Senior, and the Seniors claim he is a Junior."—Froth.

Ouck!

Lady—"I'd like to buy a small collar for Fido."

Clerk—"Sorry, madam, but we haven't any dog collars, but would a small 'Lion' collar do?"—Brown Jug.

A Bully One

Most o' the material handed in for consideration for the Sandspur is moo-terial.—Froth.

Modern Way

"I'massessant!"

"Yes!"

"How much?"

"Eight dollars."

No Doubt

The convicts' ball team has one great fault. They all want to steal the bases.

A Ham Joke

Byrd—"I live in my girl's eyes."
Lodinsky—"Yes, I noticed she had a sty in them."—Lord Jeff.

We Wonder

How they expect a fellow to get a bachelor's degree with all these co-eds here.

How Mean

Red—My good man, you had better take the trolley home.

Sutherland—Sha' no wabe—my wife wouldn't let me—keep it in the house.—Banter.

Wise Guy
