BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES U. OF F. GAME BY SCORE 27 TO 31

Great Enthusiasm Shown by On-lookers During Exciting Struggle.

TARS FIGHT GAMELY

Florida Holds Lead Gained in First Half To Last Whistle.

As George Washington would have said were he here today, "I cannot tell a lie!" Americans try to imitate Mister Washington in many respects but they cannot tell a lie by saying that the best team won. The one trouble happens to be that Rollins didn't have the best team in this particular instance. The scoreboard shows that the University of Florida team scored 31 points while the Rollins combine netted only 27 in the same length of time. The score immediately indicates that the game was one of the sort that keeps your nerves standing on edge so long that finally they seem to fall in. This was identically the case last Saturday night, when both teams seemed to be just about all in, then a rally would take place and the nervous would immediately climb up on edge again. The Gators had the edge on the fighting Tars and since it might be called a game of nerves—the victory fell in, over on the Gator side.

The battle started with a rush and for several minutes each team struggled fiercely to draw first blood but to no avail. At last, the Gators hit hard enough to draw two points in their favor, by dropping a counter from the middle of the floor. This seemed to give them a sudden spurt for it was followed by another almost immediately. Then something happened and before you could understand what, the Tars had thrown a ringer also. If Old Man Bodiam could have walked into the gymnasium just about that time, he would have given up the ghost in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins S. Rooter. The only thing that saved the roof from doing a couple of side slips and nose dives was that fact that it was too busy watching the game to be bothered. After this opening, both teams

INSPIRING ADDRESS BY DR. BOYNTON SUNDAY EVENING

"The Pioneers of Life," Subject of Talk by Brooklyn Minister.

STUDENTS PIONEERS

Edwin Markham and Dr. C. Waldo Cherry on Feb. 25 and March 4.

The first of a series of lectures and sermons under the auspices of the Rollins College Chapel Association was delivered Sunday evening in the auditorium of Knowles Hall by the Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, of Brooklyn New York, at the present time a guest of his sister in Matland. In talking on his subject, "The Pioneers of Life," Dr. Boynton appealed to the students of Rollins, as pioneers in the world, to realize the great responsibilities resting with them. He pointed out that the world is and must be one today, that it can no longer be divided, and that it is to students, the educated few that it will look for guidance from now on. Mr. Irving Bacheffer, president of the Chapel Association, introduced Dr. Boynton to the large audience present Sunday evening.

Dr. Boynton, a former football player on his college team, called to the attention of his hearers the fact that athletic sports in the colleges and universities of America are becoming of more importance than the intellectual side of college life. He said that the condition could not last, but that while it did it was very undesirable. "Athletics are a very fine thing in their place," said Dr. Boynton.

In citing the fact that 47 per cent of 1,750,000 American men examined in the late war had a mental development of a boy of 13 years, Dr. Boynton emphasized that the intelligent few are needed in the life of a nation as never before in the history of the world, and that it is to the students that the nation will necessarily look. "The world can't wait for their influence," he said in speaking of the students.

Dr. Boynton closed his inspiring address by an appeal to the Rollins students to be pioneers in life.

WELCOME

Visitors! We are glad to have you with us, if only for a few days. While on the Rollins campus we are certain that you will find a hearty welcome from the faculty and students, and hope that you will remember the thirty-eighth anniversary of the founding of Rollins College as one of the most beneficial periods of your life as well as one of the most enjoyable. The Sandspur takes this opportunity to bid you a hearty welcome and to inform you that the keys of the campus are yours—the doors of the college are flung wide—come and celebrate with us.

Students! We are also glad to have such a number of distinguished visitors with us at one time. To show our appreciation to them for helping make this event one of the greatest celebrations in the annals of the college—we are going to do everything in our power to show them the spirit of Rollins College.

Stop! Look! and Listen! The second semester is well under way. One month is nearly gone! Have you forgotten that promise you made yourself to study and get out of "finale"? Not too late—but it soon will be.

We suggest as a motto for Founder's Week—a few words taken from Cane, namely: Every day in every way, it is getting better and better.

Baseball makes its first appearance of the season next Saturday afternoon. Remember the not so distant past when we gathered in the state championship ring—there should be a great gathering to cheer the team to victory! The old paper—it's-a-u-n-t-a-

In remembrance of the Father of Our Country we hold in reverence his birthday, the 22nd. It might be well to think one moment of the ideals set forth by our forefathers in establishing this nation. Today, a great many of these seem to have been forgotten. What are we going to do about it? The people in '76 didn't say: "Let George do it!" Wake up—let's go.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESS ASSOCIATION FORMED

Nine Schools Join Organization at Lakeland Last Friday.

Last Friday at Lakeland, the Florida High School Press Association became a reality. A constitution was drawn up which puts the organization on a firm working basis. At the first meeting held by the newly formed association, officers were elected under the new constitution. The meeting during the election of officers was presided over by Mr. F. R. Bridges Jr., of the Sandspur staff.

The constitution was modeled after the constitution of the Florida College Press Association, which was given as a model by Mr. Chas. E. Ward, president of the Collegiate Press Association. The signers of the High School Constitution were as follows: The Percolator, Lakeland; The Spokesman, Plant City; The Cocoa News, Cocoa; The Comet, Gainesville; The Putnam Press, Palatka; The Silver King, Tarpon Springs; The Gulf-Hi-Life, New Port Richey; The Oracle, Bradentown, and The Sara Satun, Sarasota.

An invitation was extended to the young press association to hold its annual meetings at Rollins College each year, since Rollins is centrally located and has the facilities for taking care of a group of delegates. However, action was deferred until the organization can get into working order. It is to be hoped, however, that Rollins will be selected for the meeting of this association.

The forming of such an association in the State of Florida is not a new idea, though it is the first time that it has been attempted. It is a step forward in high school journalistic circles throughout the state and the future is expected to bring forth some very good work as accomplished by such a combination.

In the spring-time our minds turn to thoughts of — yes, it's connected with diamonds, perhaps. It would best be construed as baseball diamonds. I'll hit! Try and get it!

DANCE.

Everybody turned out for the Florida game last Saturday night, and they all say it was some game. The wonderful fight put up by the boys was deserving of some reward—so after the game everyone went over to Cloverleaf and participated in a little informal dancing. The guests of honor being of course, the members of both the visiting and the local basketball squads. They danced and danced until someone said, "I smell coffee," and some coffee and heaps upon heaps of sandwiches appeared. Our guests, the Florida boys, had a fine time except when they were all ready to leave they almost forgot to find their hats (find memories of the trip the Tarn made to Gainesville last year?). But as Judy sez: "A good time was had by all."

EATS—FEED—EATS.

Wednesday evening, Ash Can Alley was the scene of a Valentine supper. There was perhaps too much to eat but nobody seemed to think so, for it all disappeared. Afterwards—all went down to see, "I Am the Law." Noise coming and going—plenty of everything!

THEY SAY:

That Dorothy Hart and "Bing" Haefling have announced their engagement.

That the Freshmen scored one point over the Upperclassmen last Thursday night in basketball to the tune of 9 to 8.

That the Phi Omegas gave a punch of a party on their birthday.

That it was a fine game against the U. of F. last Saturday night, and the team deserves credit for holding them to a low score.

That everyone went to see "Robin Hood" last Friday afternoon except those that went to the fair. It was a much needed rest anyway.

That the Friday Afternoon Bridge Club met Friday, February the sixteenth and Margaret Backus received high score.

That Founder's Week is here and we are all glad to see so many new faces on the campus.

That this will have to be all for this week as there isn't any more. Yours truly,

COLLEGE BOYS HALT
CONFLAGRATION BY ANSWERING ALARM

Last Saturday night, or maybe it was Sunday morning, most of Rollins College was retiring from the excitement of the game with the U. of F. and the dance afterward in Cloverleaf when the shrill call of the fire alarm attracted the attention of all. A great many couldn't keep their curiosity from getting the best of them and straightway made record time towards the station. Here to their utter amazement they found the fire truck stalled, but strong arms soon had it careening down Park Avenue with the siren going and bell clanging in true fire truck manner. Upon arriving at the scene of the conflagration it was discovered that a woods fire had gotten beyond control and was encroaching upon the rights of some neighboring residences. By quick action, however, a serious loss was averted and nothing but a little dampened feelings and perhaps some lost sleep were brought up before the insurance company adjusters.

Closely following upon the heels of the fire truck came a smaller edition, otherwise known as "T-11," the Tan Lambda Delta Roile-Rough. With the timely arrival of this reinforcement, the fire was quickly reduced to ashes in some cases and in others, was put out for disorderly conduct.

The short run acted in a measure as proof that college boys may answer the call of civic necessity and answer promptly.

DENIS PAPIN'S

STEAM CYLINDER

They Weighed Air—
and Charles II Laughed

SAMUEL PEPYS says in his diary that Charles II, for all his interest in the Royal Society, laughed uproariously at its members "for spending their time only in weighing of air and doing nothing else since they sat."

This helps to explain why Charles has come down to us as the "merry monarch."

The Royal Society was engaged in important research. It was trying to substitute facts for the meaningless phrase "nature abhors a vacuum," which had long served to explain why water rushes into a syringe—the commonest form of pump—when the piston is pulled out.

Denis Papin had as much to do as anyone with these laughable activities of the Royal Society. Papin turned up in London one day with a cylinder in which a piston could slide. He boiled water in the cylinder. The steam generated pushed the piston out. When the flame was removed, the steam condensed. A vacuum was formed and the weight of the outer air forced the unresisting piston in.

Out of these researches eventually came the steam engine.

London talked of the scandalous life that King Charles led, and paid scant attention to such physicists as Papin, whose work did so much to change the whole character of industry.

The study of air and air pumps has been continued in spite of Charles's laughter. In the General Electric Company's Research Laboratories, for instance, pumps have been developed which will exhaust all but the last ten-billionth of an atmosphere in a vessel.

This achievement marks the beginning of a new kind of chemistry—a chemistry that concerns itself with the effect of forces on matter in the absence of air, a chemistry that has already enriched the world with invaluable improvements in illumination, radio communication, and roentgenology.

In an interview given by a dean of the University of Chicago, he states that students are not required to await tardy professors for any specific number of minutes. Continuing, he states that professors are expected to be punctual in arriving at the classroom. "On the other hand students are expected to be courteous to wait for professors just as long as they would for anyone with whom they had a business or social appointment.—Cento.

"They tell me that I'm lazy.

But this I do insist,

That I'll never be so lazy

That I'll throw any girl a kiss."

—West Virginia Wesleyan.

President Warren G. Harding has been given an invitation to attend the annual Gridiron dinner to be given by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity at Ohio State University. An unusual condition of the chief executive's presence is the fact that he must pay the fee of $2.50 and write a 50-word answer to one of the following questions: How much is a lot of nickels? How many heavy hearts are asleep in the deep? If you went to a certain city and got lost, where would you be? Was Santa Claus good to you?—Cento.

Letters to parents of all Texas University students were dispatched by President Vinson of the university just before Christmas, stating that in the future no students would be permitted to maintain cars on the campus.—Cento.

The college student of today has tumbled the professor off his lofty pedestal because "we have nothing to teach, lack the wisdom to teach, and the young people know it." President Alexander Melickjohn of Anshert College told his associates at the ninth annual convention of the Association of American Colleges at Chicago.

President Melickjohn urged that the college courses be revised so that instruction only in general subjects be given during the first two years. After that the student should be allowed to specialize.—The Mississippi.

Capt. Mel Dickerson, of Binghamton, N. Y., was granted the right to wear a white sweater with a black "P." This privilege is the exclusive right of Major sports captains who win championships over Harvard or Yale. The members of the freshmen eleven were awarded their numerals, "1923" at the same meeting, and the winners of the annual "cane spree" were also rewarded with class numerals.—Cento.

Men at the University of Oklahoma have sworn off the blind date. No longer may the wily hostess entertain her vacant-lot visitor by trotting out the talent of the university to be bored by her. And, as is poetically just, the Oklahoma women have retaliated by refusing to take a chance on being "stuck" with a goofy partner who has been represented as a "twin brother" or "best chum." "It's funny how different twin brothers can be," remarked one of the duped, sadly.—U. of Oklahoma.

Princeton's varsity football heroes who captured the big three championship with one of the most inexperienced teams in Old Nassau's history were officially rewarded here when varsity "P's" were awarded by the undergraduate athletic committee. Twenty men received the coveted letters, the largest number in recent years.

H. S. STUDENTS TO BE CARED FOR BY GREENS

At a joint meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Association and the Inter-Fraternity Council last Tuesday it was decided that the Sororities and Fraternities on the campus should take care of the entertainment of the high school students who will be the guests of the college during Founder's Week. This is an important step for the Greek letter societies and the college because it is a systematic way to see that the students are properly entertained while on the campus and gives the societies a chance to look over the students in advance for the coming year.

Hot Tar

Although the Tars were the losers in last Saturday's basketball game, one will have to admit that they were good ones. The best team won, and we cannot say too much for the spirit displayed by both teams throughout the game.

The girls had a rip-anorter too, in the way of basketball. The Freshman girls made the lucky shot just at the close of the game, giving them the victory 9 to 8, over the Upper Classmen. Just another instance of femininity creeping into the world in the present generation. Go to it—Co-eds—that's the pepper we need.

We hear The University of Florida talking about a swimming meet with Rollins this spring. As yet, the Tar swimmers have not begun work, but since the time is fast approaching for such activity, the thing must be talked up. Remember, the Gator is after that hide we took from him last spring in Lake Virginia! Are we going to let him have it back? Get busy!!!!

Our co-eds, in one more instance have been at work on this mermaid proposition for quite a while. Every afternoon sees classes of them plowing up the lake, getting in form. While others are plowing it up, getting into condition for the coming canoe races. Two crews of women have been practicing now for several days, and the competition runs high for places on the girls' row.

The pill-fingers are not to be forgotten, especially since a practice game is to be played this coming Saturday with the Winter Park All-Stars. This will be a hard contest for an opening game since the All-Stars have several big leaguers. However, Coach Ashburn has been driving his men full force all this week in preparation for the game and a hot contest is to be offered.

Among those who are showing up well on the diamond are Captain Charlie "Rabbit" Roberts. "Rabbit" is out for left field, his position on the team for the past three years. It is assured that with this experience Captain Roberts will have little difficulty in leading his team to victory.

"B.B." Ashburn is a newcomer in the baseball society of Rollins, but he gives every indication of being one of the shining marks during the coming season.

The way old "C. B." Handley is heaving that pill across would make many a ball player blink twice to make sure he ever saw it. Handley is another one of the newcomers since last season, and wields a mighty wicked south-paw.

Our friend Emery, loosened up the other day for a couple of fast ones. And then we saw some more of that live steam that makes the batter run bench-ward.

From the number of students that come out just to watch the practice, there seems to be a new interest in baseball around Rollins. This, however, is the best way in which a person can show his interest in a team. Just remember to keep it up throughout the coming season.

BASEBALL WORK-OUTS UNCOVER GOOD MATERIAL

Baseball has become the major activity now that basketball is finished. The game last Saturday evening being the closing game of the season. But as the followers of the national sport have been cavorting around over the diamond for the last two weeks, it seems that quite a good bit of material has been uncovered.

Already a good schedule has been arranged although it will not be completed until the end of this week. Manager Draa promises that the Tars will have one of the stiffest seasons in the history of the sport at the college, and at the present time it looks as though seventeen or eighteen games will comprise the number of times the locals will cross bats with opposing teams. Those games already assured are with the University of Florida, Stetson, and Southern, and there are several others equally important, but as yet not contracted.

A wealth of material has been rounding into shape on the field and it seems as though the race for places on the team will be hotly contested throughout the season. Quite a number of last year letter men are out, but the competition is to be so keen that they will have to work hard to hold their places.

ROLLINS BASKETEERS LOSE FLORIDA GAME BY SCORE OF 27 TO 31

began to get in some deadly work toward winning the game, and try as they did, the Tars could not overcome the slight lead gained by the Gators. Toward the end of the first half the Gaines-villians took a sudden spurt that put them well in the lead for the first half.

The second half started off much the same as did the first period. But soon the pass work of the U. of F. began to tell on the local squad and they added several more ringers to their score. At this point the Blues and Gold opened up their long range artillery and materially lengthened the adding machine slip of their scores. But all too soon came the final whistle giving the University of Florida the large end of a 31 to 27 score. It might be of interest to note that Rollins attempted 88 shots while the Gators attempted only 67.

For the visitors the stars of the game were Jones and Newton, while for the locals our bats are named in Braunberns and Ramon Colado. Emery played his usual good game, and was responsible for a large share of the Gator meat shared by the Tars.

DARWINISM.

Eddie—A woman can't make a fool out of man.

Lyd—No, but she can prove that he is one.

FROG.

We shall never forget the howlegged floor walker who said: "Walk this way, please, Madam."

PASSING ACQUAINTANCES.

Modern Girl—Ask your fiance to postpone your marriage so I can be there.

Second Modern Girl—Sorry, but I don't know him well enough.—Purple Cow.

BUZZARD.

Joyce—There's not a bit of meat in this stew.

Ken—Who told you—a little bird? John—Yes, a swallow.

TTTTTTTTT!

One day, as I chanced to pass,
A beaver was damming a river;
And a man who had run out of gas,
Was doing the same to his liver.
—Wildcat.

RAHE.

Ruth rode in my new cycle car.
On the seat in back of me,
I took a lump at fifty-five
And rode on ruthlessly.—Va. Tech.

OUCH!

Blinker—When I marry I'm going to marry a girl who can take a joke.
Bill—Don't worry, it's the only kind you'll get.

SERVICE.

Volmer—Boy, call me a taxi!
Orlando Newsie—Alright. You're a taxi!

DEVELOPMENT OF THE CLASSES.

Freshman—Please, mother, may I go?

Soph—Let me go, mother, I'll be in by eleven.

Junior—I'm going.

Senior—Good night. Leave the door unlocked.

MENTAL TELEPATHY.

Bing—I—ah—er—um.

Jeweler—Bring me the tray of engagement rings here, Harry.

ZOO WEATHER.

Benler—It has been raining cats and dogs.

Wolf—Beastly weather, ah?

SALE—ARMY SHOES—SALE

We have just bought a tremendous stock of Army Muncie last shoes to be sold to the public direct. Price $2.75.

These shoes are 100 per cent solid leather with heavy double soles sewed and nailed. The uppers are of heavy tan chrome leather with bellows tongue, thereby making them waterproof.

These shoes are selling very fast and we advise you to order at once to insure your order being filled.

The sizes are 6 to 11 all widths. Pay postman on receipt of goods or send money order. Money refunded if shoes are not satisfactory.
