Lincolne. 27. 8. of. 27. mo. 82.

well & dearly beloved in the Lord Iesus Christ, who hath begotten vs, in his love, vnto himself, and one vnto another, and made vs as one people, written in one anothers hearts for that we cannot for goe, but remember the goodness, of the Lord, but many times, being broken in the time of his love, and occasions, to make mention of the name of the Lord our god one vnto another, who hath be gotten vs, by his owne overflowing love, of your, to him our all be the honor, and the glory for ever, and now I have heart by this thou may understand that I had ^{the} ~~the~~ ^{the} going into an account of your affairs, I find, it at Liffnagarine, in the north of Ireland, and I write to thee again, desiring a few lines, how it was with you, I had not ^{the} ~~the~~ ^{the} any, it may, the time was too short, I have written to Dublin, to send, to me, at Cork, and if thou had not written, before this com to thy hand, I desire this, to let me hear from thee, I shall be, at Dublin, the Lord will, at the halfe yearly meeting w^{ch} will be upon the 3. day of the 3. mo. at which time, I do expect to hear, from you, but my deare friend, and honorable, in the Lord, James Harrison, whom I dearly love, I have had, an advice, upon my side, I came into this County, and much desired to a word from you, I write my love, in the best, of my service for I have a share, with you, I am now better satisfied blessed be the name of the Lord, ^{love} my, is to thy deare wife, father mother, and all friends, as thou remembers, if Roger Haydocke be in the County, my love to him, and all go to go: Haydocke, tell him I have now what I hear, as concerning, that he write to me about, and if he, have not answer, I shall get him one when I am at Dublin, give me an account, what is be com, of my more, whether he be found, for in last I will thy friend and Bro:
