National Library Week

April 9th - April 14th

Please join UCF Libraries for a series of events in honor of National Library Week

Take a Book, Leave a Book

April 9 (11:00AM—2:00PM) at the Student Union Patio

Join us to choose from a selection of free books. Take a book home to enjoy or donate a book for someone else to take.

Read Stricted: The Dilemmas Surrounding Reading, Censorship, & Challenged Books

April, 9th (Noon-1:00PM) in Library Room 223

Please join us for a lively and thought provoking discussion regarding reading, censorship, and the history of challenged books to commemorate the start of National Library Week 2018. UCF Research and Information Services Librarian, Sandy Avila will discuss the American Library Association's Top Ten Frequently Challenged Books of 2017 while providing some background regarding the history of challenged books from around the world.

This session is open to students and faculty and no RSVP is required.

FREE Popcorn

April 12 (2:00PM—3:00PM) near the entrance of the Library

Spring into Reading with the Library Bookmobile

April 13 (11:00AM—2PM) at the Student Union Patio

Where in the world is the UCF Libraries Bookmobile? Visit the bookmobile to check out an item from a selection of entertaining library materials.

10:00-Noon

Secrets of the Longleaf Pine Film Screening & Discussion with Jennifer Elliott, Associate Director of the UCF Arboretum

12:30-2:00PM

Plant a seed and watch it grow! Join us outside the Library for an opportunity to plant a seed to take home with you.

6:00-7:00PM

Experience longleaf pines and more. Join us for a guided hike through the UCF Arboretum.
