STUDENT REVIEWS
FIRST PRODUCTIONPlay Given Friday Evening
Disappoints Audience

By BOB-ROY MIZE

When George Kelley wrote "Philip Goes Forth" was, in the main, disappointing. It was the kind of a play that one is supposed to sit back and enjoy, but the enjoyment never came. Instead, one was forced to sit on the edge of the seat and try to figure out what was going on. There was a feeling of tension and insecurity, caused partly by the inadequate play itself, but also by the failure of the play itself to do what they could have done with their parts.

The leading man seemed to be trying to remember lines, and he spoke to the maid with the same dispassionate voice with which he was supposed to fume at his father. Burleigh Drummond, leading man, was perfectly cast as Burleigh Drummond, but he failed to add to the character of Burleigh Drummond that plus quality that would have made his role a splendid thing.

Boyd Kyrer, as the young man's father, lacked maturity, and turned in a rather jerky performance. Mrs. Randolph (Betty Chisholm) seemed to be suffering from an attack of stage technique, but outside of that stumbling block, did well.

There were several A-1 performances turned in. That only went to show what the play really could have been, if these actors had been suitably supported. Eleanor Wright, as Mrs. Oliver, started out well indeed, and became even better. Her interpretation showed verve and intelligence. Robert Currie, although only on the stage for five minutes, contributed the best bit of character acting in the whole production. The character of Mr. Tipton Shreck, the Artist (with a capital A) was very well done by Jack Kelsey. Mr. Kelsey attained for his part several facial expressions very much like those of a rabbit—only not as fierce. Thelma Van Baskirk might have done better if she had not been horribly let down several times by the leading man.

Student opinions of the play varied as much as opinions on golf. Some liked it and some did not—mostly not.

RANDOM COMMENTS

By GORDON JONES

The fates decree a president
To now elected be;
Will Sir P. D. go pitch his tent
Where Hoover's taken tea?

Whoever wins, this thing is sure:
The other gets left out;
When March begins, the new turns
Will start off with a shout.

And who can tell? Two years from now
We may not care who won,
Both can do well, and both know how
To have a job well done.

New let us glance at what we find
Laid out for us to see,
And if by chance my fates are kind,
This guess will quite right be:

TUNE: "BETTY CO-ED"
Oh, Roosevelt has all the South-
land for him,
While dear old Hoover has New England tied;
And Roosevelt's a walkway in New York.

While Jersey goes to Herbert
Hoover's side,
Franklin D. Roosevelt's got California.
And Iowa is Democratic, too;
So Franklin D. is loved by every section now,
But don't you worry, Herbert, I'm for you!

Chorus the Second
Our western states seem sure to go to Franklin,
But maybe one or two will stay
with Harb;
It looks as if Ohio's Democratic,
While Tennessee either party may disturb;

If only Hoover knew he'd pull the Hoosiers,
And lots of other states through
there as well,
He wouldn't care about the Solid
South or West.

Florida Will Be Able
To Observe Shower of Meteors During Week

Florida will be able to observe a shower of meteors during the week of November 12-18, 1934, though sometimes it may be good in two or three successive years.

It is known to have occurred in the following years: 1902, 1903, 1934, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, field College; the plan incorporated a high faculty-to-student ratio, with twenty professors and a maximum of 100 students. On the day scheduled for opening there were present exactly two teachers and no students.

One of the most hazardous adventures in the history of aviation will be undertaken soon when a flying exhibition will attempt to circle Mt. Everest, the highest peak of the globe. Although the summit of Everest is 15,000 feet below the "ceiling" achieved by Captain Owsin in his altitude record, the dangers to be surmounted by the fliers in the projected endeavor or make of the new adventure a true epic.

The mountain lies in the heart of a range of terrific peaks, in a region where a forced landing means certain destruction; winds of hurricane force are common, and tremendous mists surround the giant's head, which is perpetually hidden by vast masses of frozen clouds.

Two planes, each with camera equipment, will likely make the flight together, and the photographic record obtained is expected to put the success of the expedition beyond the range of skepticism.

The New York Times, Nov. 3.

Nevada is experiencing a business and bank holiday of twelve days, declared by Lieut. Gov. Orin, who acted in the absence of Governor Baker. The Governor is in Washington soliciting the aid of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the banks of his state.

Salaries of employees are suspended during the holiday, which is to end November 12. Of the twenty-six banks in the state, more than half have taken advantage of the "breaching spell" offered them. The First National Bank of Reno is the sole house open in that city, and as a result of the doubt planted in the minds of the citizenry it was forced to import $1,000,000 from San Francisco in order to withstand successfully a run on its cash reserve.

The inability of the local livestock men to meet their obligations was given as the chief reason for the unique holiday; many of them must be carried over until next spring if they are to remain solvent, and pending the advancement of funds by the R. F. C. the banks are temporarily suspending operations.

Harold Sproul Reviews Friday Evening Play For Rollins Sandspur

tion was Thelma Van Buskirk's beautiful job with Cynthia. The part is hardly more than a "love interest," thinner than any of the others, but it became for a few moments a living thing. Miss Van Buskirk acts from a center. Her motions of body and voice have continuity and meaning to the surface because they stem from this central awareness and because she has learned how to allow that knowledge a complete and controlled expression. Or one might say, the knowledge, held by concentration and unshakable by a stare of mind and body, flows into images without needing any control.

Barthelme Drummond is just as much at home in his part behind the footlight, but it's too easy. He would be at home anywhere. He graciously and casually lends himself to this play as he would to a chess discussion or a dance; since he was well-cast there was no effect.

There is often more edge and more freedom in the acting of amateurs when they are given roles strange to their usual personality. Jack Kelsey, for example, made Geylon, Shonk, the lightness-dressed in high-brass clothing, a clearly felt bit of comedy; whereas, Celestina McKay, fading away as usual, failed to make the half-toned person definitely pathetic with her wistful courage.

Betty Childs, dramatic as she is in real life, becomes absolutely undramatic on the stage. She thinks about her part sincerely, but fails to be it. Her gestures are pinned into her words, and neither flow directly from the underlying forces in the person and play.

Mr. Kysar also makes appropriate motions, but his face alone proves he doesn't completely believe himself. The only move that convinces me was his putting the shoulder of his coat at the end when they found themselves boys together. He knew about that.

"Folly Goes Farth" was an interesting exercise with flakes of significance and moments of illusion. As a whole, the cast did well with their cross-word puzzle of a play. Or perhaps I was too sleepy.

improvement is not only desirable but necessary.

The dining hall in any school should be a formidable competitor of any and all outside eating places in which students might go if dissatisfied with their "board." In case the term "board" sounds harsh, I leave it to those who must partake of our college table to decide whether its offerings are superior to the average inexpensive restaurant fare of the town, or whether DINING REGULAR "IN TOWN" IS NOT USUALLY MORE DESIRABLE THAN TAKING MEALS AT THE COLLEGE COMMONS.

No deep-seated analysis of the school dining-room situation, either national or local, is claimed in this criticism, but the need for some adjustment in our present scheme is, in my opinion, undeniable.

Having observed various types of non-profit restaurants in operation under widely varying conditions, I can sincerely state that I believe that the Rollins messery is far below the average organization of its kind. A poll of the newly-arrived freshmen to learn whether or not their respective preparatory schools provided better food at equal or less cost than does Rollins would obtain a cross-section-view of the discontent that extends from the oldest to the newest groups on the campus.

If the Commons is willing to endeavor to stand on its own merits, let the board fee paid to the college be omitted for one term and meals served in a canteen at strictly non-profit prices to all students desiring to eat on the campus.

Would not that be a perfectly fair trial for the messery to face? If the food provided were as good as it should be, a ruling would be needed to prevent OUTSIDERS from taking advantage of the occasional meals served. At present the fact that all meals are already paid for is all that keeps the attendance at the Commons from dwindling to pitifully small proportions.

Service Held In Chapel Sunday

An organ prelude, "Chant & Amen," by J. M. Gillette opened the morning meditation in Knevels Memorial Chapel Sunday. Dean Bryant gave the call to worship. The responsive reading was led by Tervant Aristoteles.

Following the hymn "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," Alice Butler read the scripture lesson, Rev. E. P. Ingerson gave the address, "The Essential Virtues For Perfect Madmen."

"Psalms in D" by Lemmon closed the service.

1. Dean Campbell is expected to arrive in Winter Park the first part of the week.

2. The chapel will be open for rest and for quiet meditation and prayer from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M., with the exception of the noon hour from 12:30 to 1.

3. Mr. Stewart will be assisted by Miss Katherine Goss, violinist, at the organ, vespers Wednesday evening. Numbers appropriate to Armistice Day will be played on Friday.

4. The speaker of the morning was Rev. E. P. Ingerson, pastor of the Winter Park Baptist Church.

Excavations Are Made by Students

October 17, Jack Connery and Carrington Lloyd began a series of excavations down the St. Johns River for the purpose of excavating Indian mounds.

Trips down the river have been made practically every day since then, and the results have been satisfactory. To date, besides several small immaterial finds, these complete Indian skulls, and the bones of a human foot, and its mother have been unearthed. One of the skulls had an arrowhead imbedded in it, which undoubtedly was the cause of death.

Museum Robbed

Colorado Springs, Colo. (UP)—Cliff Sweller's museum, at Manitou, Colo., known to hundreds of thousands of tourists, was robbed and three valuable Indian bronzes stolen, recently.

RATING FOR YEAR ENDED LAST FRIDAY

Last Friday marked the end of Rating for this year. According to tradition, from now on every applesome man will abide and every freshman will expound his opinion on how to improve rating for next year.

To us the greatest difficulty of rating this year came from the delay in starting. Freshmen who have been treated as part of the student body for two weeks, find it difficult to adjust themselves to the low status of a rat.

However, some freshmen succeeded better than others. Everyone likes a good sport and has no use for a poor one. Most of the first year students made the best of a bad bargain and took rating in the way it was intended. Every upper classman has been through the same thing, if not here, at some other college.

Unfortunately, some freshmen seemed to think it was a personal matter and objected to doing the silly but harmless things applesomeness requested.

We may be wrong but if rating were started within a few days after the opening of college, carried on intensively for several weeks and then dropped, we feel it would leave everyone better satisfied.

So here's to better rating next year.

MANAGEMENT OF BABY GRAND
SHOULD BE CONGRATULATED ON FREE SHOW

On Saturday, October 23, Rollins won its first home football game. Immediately after that, the Baby Grand put on a free show for us.

No doubt, considerable expense was incurred by the performance and the owners and management of it, deserve a vote of thanks from the entire student body, particularly as this was an act of kindness on their parts and there was no obligation for it.

We just want them to know that we do appreciate it. It made an excellent ending for an already successful evening.

Mentality and morality together constitute character.—Rev. Dennis B. Coleman.

MANY STUDENTS FAIL TO COMPLY WITH DR. HOLT'S REQUEST

In view of Dr. Holt's letter to every student, asking each one to attend chapel a week ago Sunday, it seems unfortunate that such a large number found it impossible to comply with his request.

The service was very lovely and very brief—which seems to be a major consideration to most of the student body. There are so few times that the college, as a whole, is asked to attend any particular function that we cannot understand disregarding Dr. Holt's request so completely.

The chapel has been built for the students. To date the regular attendance has been so small that everyone has looked for a reason. From time to time suggestions have been made about changing the hour or the type of service. People have suggested that the hectic weeks of fraternity and sorority rubbing have been responsible for the lack of attendance.

All of this may be true but there is still no excuse for at least half of the student body remaining at home on Sunday morning when, as a tribute to Mrs. Warren, we were all asked to come to chapel.

Looking back over it, it seems that it was really asking very little of the students. It was a personal request rather than an official order from the administration. Unfortunately, fifty per cent of the student body did not look at it in this light. In fact, one student said to us that he would not go because he had had to change his plans for the week-end as no permission were given to leave town at that particular time.

We suggest that each student take it upon himself to give the college a little better support the next time we are all asked to attend anything as a whole, whether it be a Sunday morning service or a dog fight. It really won't be so difficult.

What is a classier, if it be not a book that forever delights, inspires, and surprises,—in which and in ourselves, by its help, we make new discoveries every day.—Lowell.

STUDENTS WILL PUBLISH
NEW ROLLINS
PICTORIAL

This year the editing of the "Rollins Pictorial" will be in the hands of the students. Instead of having only one issue a year, there will be three, one this term, one during Founder's week and the third sometime before graduation.

This seems to be quite an undertaking for the students vitally interested. However, there is little reason why they should not succeed.

It will mean an opportunity for many students who have not been on the staffs of the three major publications. Competition for the different boards, editorial, pictorial and business, will be held and any one interested, regardless of former experience, is eligible.

The fact that money prizes are to be given for the best work done in photography each term should mean a lot to us in these times of depression.

Is life worth living? Yes, so long
As there is wrong to right.

OTHER EDITORIALS

SINCE 1918

"Can the Germans bomb New York from the Air?" Way back in the time of the war, May 1918, two writers in the Review of Reviews attempted to prove the possibility, but they did not picture German planes flying all the way from Germany. They admitted the possibility of making a one-way trip by plane, but with only one pilot and with all equipment left behind to make room for fuel.

Likewise, they admitted the possibility of a one-way Zeppelin trip, but as Waldemar Kaempfert and Carl Dienstbach themselves said, "A lone Zeppelin setting out from a German base and hovering over New York is a military absurdity."

Difficulties presented themselves to these writers, but in each case they surmounted them with suggestions of secret bases, of almost unbreakable airplane-carrying ships, and of impractical submarine carriers of from one to three disembled planes.

But today, after fourteen years, we see how really practical their ideas were. Twice the great aerial triumph of Germany, the Graf Zeppelin, has been in this country, once in New York itself. Lindbergh and many others have flown the Atlantic from this nation to Germany and farther. Our U.S.S. Saratoga, our U.S.S. Lexington—yet in 1918 the people were cautioned against thinking a ship able to carry and launch one airplane impossible. Now submarines are new built to carry as many as nine airplanes ready for action.

This truly is the Century of Progress. Next year the World's Fair in Chicago will display the newest in architecture, in mechanics, in electricity, in amusement. Youth undoubtedly has the advantage over age in today's thing, but it is the appreciation of our progress those who are old enough to remember the last world's fair will have a better background for the appreciation of our Century of Progress.

VALUE OF EDUCATION

Although the average college graduate is supposedly too idealistic to consider the financial benefit of an education when he is answering that old question, "Why I Came to College," there will probably be quite a few who will be interested to know that William Althaus De Puy, the eminent statistician has estimated that the pecuniary value of a college education amounts to $65,000.

While the high school graduate may expect to earn only $10,000 during his life span, the college graduate will earn $15,000 according to the report of Mr. De Puy, executive assistant at the department of interior, who has just completed a statistical study of the power of education.

At 18 the high school graduate earns $800 in contrast to the boy with only grade school training. He will not an income of $1,500 at 22 which represents the maximum of the average income of a man with grammar school education. The college student begins to earn at the age of 25, reports Mr. De Puy, without taking into account the abnormal conditions due to the depression. He starts off at about $1,400, which is less than the high school graduate makes at the same age, because the latter has been working for years. The college graduate's income rises rapidly by the time he reaches 20 years of age, but that of the high school graduate mounts more slowly. When the two are between the ages of 43 and 45, the college man's income usually comes to a point of rapid increase and the high school trained man's income is stationary and his momentum is slackened. When the college man reaches 60 he is earning $4,000 a year, but at 70 his income drops to $2,000.

BOOKS

By H. ALLEN SMITH
United Press Book Editor

"The Bishop's Jaegers" is the name of Thomas Smith's new book, perhaps the only novel that has ever been written around a pair of dyers.

Bishop Walter is not a bad sort, even though he gets all tangled up in questionable company. Fats (or Thomas Smith) burles him into a little group which includes a young coffee importer, the importer's beautiful and predatory secretary, a pick-pocket named Little Arthur, a freewheeling named Aspirin Liz who loves her beer, and a haughty young woman from Park avenue.

They all manage to get on the same ferryboat, headed for New Jersey. The boat gets into a fog for days and days and days. Our little group borrows a rowboat from the captain and pulls for shore. There, in the wilds of New Jersey, they end up in a modest camp. From then on it's just plain, unadorned madness and the disfigurement is grand.

"The Bishop's Jaegers" isn't the best book Thomas Smith has written, but you shouldn't miss it if you like to laugh. It is published by Doubleday-Doran.

"Feds and Quackery in Howling" by Dr. Morris Fishbein (Covici Fried) is another book for those who like the works of Dr. Logan Cleland and Dr. Howard W. Hargard.

Dr. Fishbein ranges over a broad field. He treats of Christian Science, sepiology, chiropodics, the physical culture fads, food fads and follies, rejuvenation, etc. There is an amusing chapter on Arthur Brisbane's writings on medical subjects, and another on the press in general.

The book is stimulating reading though this reviewer got the impression that some of Dr. Fishbein's wisecracks are weak.

Sensenet Maughan goes to Malaysia for his new novel, "The Narrow Corner" (Doubleday-Doran). We find Dr. Sanderson, philosophical even away from his opinion pipes, in company with young Fred Blake and Captain Nichols, an amiable reprobate. The three of them long around in an old higger while the mystery of Fred Blake's past grows intriguingly interesting to the old doctor's mind. Eventually they come across an English planter and his daughter, Louise. Love and tragedy are intertwined, in a manner familiar to all Maughan readers. Violent death occurs here and there in the tale, and much of the characters stands out sharply. Maughan has done some superb descriptive writing in "The Narrow Corner."

Stephen Vincent Benet has been awarded the G. Henry Memorial prize for the best American short story of the year, "An Eld to Dreams." James Gould Cozzens took second prize, while third went to Edwin Granberry.

Other authors receiving recognition are Kay Boyle, Katherine Brush, Dorothy Canfield, Levin Cobb, Walter D. Edwards, William Faulkner, J. P. Marquand and Booth Tarkington.

There can never be peace where material values of money, place, pleasure and power are the whole object of human pursuit.—Dr. Cyril Norwood.

I try to make the enemy wonder what I am going to do.—Grant.

STUDENT OPINION

November 1, 1932.
The Editor of the Sandspur,
Rollins College,
Winter Park, Fla.

Dear Sir or Madam (as the case may be):

A more or less intensive perusal of two recent issues of the Sandspur moves this old heart of mine, still beating in sympathetic quickened tempo with the hey-day of the gem amid the waters blue, to a frenzy of haughty protest. From the eminence of the glorious hunting-grounds of the old grad, I look down with patronizing discernment on the personal hurly-burly of the campus salaciously reflected so graphically in the gratifyingly numerous pages of the Sandspur. I wince at this one's disparagement of the "Seamster," I cringe at that one's defamation of his fellow students; I shudder at another's abstraction of the general administration of the college; and then I rise in the superior grandeur of my alumnus wrath and, with two unbelievably nimble thumbs, tick-tack a withering polemic against all who so much as curl a scornful downy upper-lip at God's and Holt's gift to America's sports-fest youth—Rollins College.

Willingly would I harter my noon-day "brunch" at Earl's amid episode-lugged, lettuce-nibbling, bread-A/V females and spind-legged, lettuce-nibbling, bread A/V males (!) for a straight-backed chair at the none too heavily-laden board in the Rollins "banquetry" surrounded by blasphemous, carnivorous, natural men (!). Not for a moment would I hesitate at transferring my number nine from a tabernacle desk under the jealous eye of a scenario editor to an obscenely decorated plate under the indifferent eye of a glided Rollins personality. Just give me an opportunity to depict this high-pitched bundle of taxis, subways, and klaxons in once more were a pale hand in telecentric protest at impudic guests in the verdant sunniness of Winter Park. A pen for a nibbler, a law book for a college algebra, a supper at Cavanaugh's for a dish of plomatine in the Commons, a Noel Coward first-night for a bout at Chico's, this frantic scurrying for material success for the selfish unconcern of the undergraduate.

I say to you echoes of what once I was, quiet your cavilling. Drink deep of the Elysian cup of life at Rollins. Score the petty vexations that peek from the shadows of your all-too-short night of furious happiness. The snowing-after is horrible. Make the most of your sojourn in the clouds and look not down at the pizazzing conceits of mortals. The descent to earth is disastrous.

Remember that soon you, too, shall be turned out into the frigid blasts of an unrelenting world with the scant protection of a strip of sheepskin and that your complaining voices, now strong with the assurance engendered by regional encouragement, shall sound appallingly puny in the teeth of the hateful gale of practicality.

You have no hopeless tears.

Out at Northwestern a group of one-eds have proposed to form a "student's union" in recognition of their true sweathearts back in the home town. Details provide that these effluent widlers shall place around their necks a bright yellow ribbon that will signify to every ambitious Northwesterner at that the arched line is in reserve. The stings initiation vow would be, "No dates!"

Two enterprising Phi Gamma have invited Constance Cummings, well known movie star, to be with us this week-end. Did I say two? Yes I said two. The point is, according to a good authority, that the boys have formed a corporation, and, if she comes, will charge $25 a look, $20 an autograph. I don't know what else they're willing to arrange, but money talks, and if you're a thousand or so to spare it might be worth while looking in to.

Brown and White.

A group of faculty, friends and students are planning to observe the Leonid shower of meteors between November 13 and 18 from some point in this vicinity.

There is a shower every year, but every 33 years there is a display 200 to 500 times as thick as the annual one. This makes it a very spectacular sight. In the past, it appeared in 1799, 1833, and 1866 and was scheduled to come in 1899, but failed. This leaves a question as to its appearance this year, and thus makes its observation more important. Groups all over the country will observe the spectacle in collaboration with the American Meteor Society.

Between midnight and dawn of each night, different members of the group will scan the skies. If the display comes, they will try to count the meteors; time their flight; record their color, magnitude, and time of appearance; and photograph them. The passing meteors will look as if they were emerging from one point, and flashing out of sight at the horizon.

Necessity begets invention, undoubtedly; and no one can accuse the undergraduates at Cornell of not being ingenious. When help from home and from college loan funds failed them this year, the students turned to novel ways of maintaining themselves until graduation. Some work as painters, some as ditch-diggers, and some as breadwinners. One of particularly masculine appearance has become an expert in embroidery. Another is a "paid escort"; one delivers religious talks to church groups; a member of the football team has established as successful an egg delivery route that he requires an assistant. Two boys live in a tent near the campus; and others deal microscopes and other apparatus in exchange for being allowed to live in a science laboratory.

SOCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

GLEE CLUB PLANS TO INCLUDE TOUR

Members Chosen For Trip Based On Attendance

Edwin Libby, president of the Glee Club, wishes to remind the members that every rehearsal is important. Since some new music is taken up each time, every unnecessary absence retards the progress of the club. The choice of those who will make the trip now being arranged will largely depend on the secretary's record of attendance.

The first program of stanzas, principals and folk songs is well under way and ought to be ready in a few weeks. Glee club members are becoming authorities on that to do with a drunken sailor, how to tell her they love her, the way to "be" a battle with rain, the behavior of Russian ladies and other strange and wonderful techniques.

Barold Sproul, director, says he is delighted with the spirit of the singing at rehearsals, a proof that there is a natural glee in singing. The meetings are held in Speech Studio at 7:30 every Thursday evening. The sound of singing is likely to become a traditional disturbance to the nursing couples on the premises of Claverleaf and upriver. It may, at least, give you something to talk about.

Christian Scientists Elect New Officers In Meeting Tuesday

The Christian Science Club held a second meeting this year in a chapel last Tuesday evening. President Eliza Windsor presided. The club is a comparatively new one to the campus. It was founded last spring. Of a social nature, it meets weekly to discuss subjects pertinent to Christian Science and student affairs. Available in the library to its members is the complete works of Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science, together with such publications of the sect as the Monitor, the Sentinel and the Journal.

At the first meeting last Saturday the following officers were elected: Vice-president, Barbara Reed; secretary, Francis Ask; treasurer, John Bullock. Eliza Windsor, last year's president, was named in office.

Membership in the organization is not limited to members of the Christian Science church. A social invitation is extended to all faculty and students interested.

Annie Russell Plans Series Of Dramas To Be Given This Winter

"The Murder in the Red Barn" they do so in its performance. The era of the melodrama was a definite and individual period in the theatre. Our fathers and grandfathers enjoyed these plays to the utmost, and it is only in keeping with the ideal of The Jitney Players in presenting the unusual and the best of the drama that such a play is given. Although these dramas of the past thrilled and moved to tears, it is interesting to note that the present reaction is one of comedy, indicating both the change in the style of theatre and in the emotional reaction of the younger generations.

Alice Keating Cheney, who heads the Jitney Players, will enact the role of Maria Marton, and Douglas Rowland will appear opposite her as William Gordon. They will be supported by the entire strength of the Jitney organization, the members of which are Elmer Leve, Helen Morrow, Barbara Benedict, Charles Kradoska, John Maroney, Sam Pearce, Harryson David, Lee Crave and Royden Whitehead. Miss Phyllis Flanagan will add to the merriment of the play by her delightful piano accompaniment.

Sunday morning, November the sixth, the annual breakfast given by the pledges of Alpha Phi for the pledges of all fraternities and sororities was held at the chapter house. Over fifty guests were served during the morning. Mrs. H. J. Spence and Mrs. Emily Cass chaperoned the party.

Delta Rho Gamma announces the pledging of two more men. They are Dexter Elliott and Jack McWatt.

Miller Entertains In St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg was a very popular city over the week-end. Helen Ruth Gimes, Teddy Earle, Harriet Miller, Ann Jones, Blanche Foback, Priscilla Hakes, Becky Coleman, and Eleanor Estes visited at the Miller home while Molly Vincent and Ruth McWatt visited Katrina Knowlton. They all attended the Coon Sanders dance accompanied by Bill Miller, Bob Knike, Rip Parsons, Curtis Casson, Harvey Geo, Buck Moon, Bob Robinson, Ralph Schleicher, Tommy Johnson, and Bernice Bralove.

Members of Kappa Alpha Theta entertained with an informal "luncheon" on Sunday night at the chapter house. The committee in charge consisted of Nancy Gantt, Mary Kay Hoffman, Virginia Jones and Sally Linerick.

Kho Lambda Nu Fraternity is pleased to announce as a new pledge Lenora Allen of Louisville, Kentucky.

TEA HELD BY PHI MU LAST SUNDAY

Sorority Gives Entertainment For Patronesses

Alpha Omega of Phi Mu entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon from four to six at the chapter house in honor of its patronesses and alumnae. Lu Caldwell and Eliza Windsor received at the door.

Genevieve Groer played and sang an Indian song, "By the Waters," and an old Indian lullaby that her mother used to sing. She was dressed in a colorful Indian costume.

Mrs. Jacques Pfister presided at the tea table. Among the guests who called during the afternoon were:

Professor and Mrs. Pfister, Dr. and Mrs. Groer, The Misses Grover, Miss Audrey Packham, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Garret, Mrs. E. T. Brown, Mrs. Merrick, Mrs. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson, Viola Wilson, Frances Woodcock, Mrs. Fred Lester, Mrs. Werden, Ruth Errant, Verma Maxon, Mary Howard, Dorothea Brock, Leah Jean Bartlett, and Ellen Kallen.

Gamma Phi Pledges Give Buffet Supper

Pledges of Gamma Phi Beta entertained with a buffet supper Friday evening at the chapter house, honoring all sorority and fraternity pledges.

Approximately eighty guests were served at six o'clock.

Miss Alvahn Holmes, province director of Gamma Phi Beta, Messrs. Mrs. Wilcox, and Miss Apperson chaperoned the affair.

Tars Win Over Georgia 12-0 : Meet Miami Tomorrow Night

LONG RUN BY ROGERS TURNS GAME TO TARS

Washington and Ray Miller Score Touchdowns for Tars; Semi-cripples Were Stars

Will Rogers' sixty yard return of a punt down the east side line of Yankee Field late in the second quarter of Saturday night's game between Rollins and South Georgia State, furnished the impetus necessary to enable the Tars to go on and win, 12-0.

The first quarter and part of the second was all Georgia. Led by Bowling, the Teachers three times penetrated deep into Rollins territory. Only a stalwart defense by the Tars prevented the Teachers from scoring. None of the Rollins plays got anywhere. The State line ensured every play that was called. A Rollins victory seemed doubtful. Then Will Rogers picked up a rolling punt on his own 10-yard line, dodged two converging Teachers ends, and dashed after the sideline behind Doyle, "Fly" Morris, and Miller, who waded off any would-be tacklers until the State safety-net lifted through them to nail Rogers on Georgia's 25-yard line. From this line on Rollins was top dog. Rogers ripped through left tackle to the 13-yard marker for a first down. Four more hits at the line and the Tars were lined up on the Georgia 2-yard marker. From here "Building" Ray Miller gripped the ball and leaped past the Teacher left guard for the first touchdown. Washington's place kick went wild. The half ended soon after with a flurry of incomplete Tars passes.

In an exchange of punts following the opening of the second half, Ray Miller got off a long one which bounced outside on the Teachers' 1-yard line. Shaw, the right tackle, who was punting for Georgia State, booted back to his own 35-yard stripe. The Tars gained 29 yards in the exchange. Aided by two first downs, the Rollins team punched its way to the nine-yard line. A penalty for off-side brought them back to the 14-yard line. A scuffle around end netted eight yards to place them again within easy scoring distance. After Miller had tried vainly to pierce the line, Barton called for a pass on last down. Doyle faded back and catapulted the ball over the goal line to waiting Dick Washington, who dove in for the second Rollins tally. The try for point failed. Score, 12-0.

The remainder of the game saw a tired Teacher team strive manfully to prevent a complete whitewash. Several times the shifty, powerful Bowling threatened to shake loose. But fumbles and a determined defense by the Rollins team squashed each sign of an extended advance. Penalties, too, were a great factor in holding them down in their own section of the field. The Tars on their part took few chances. Failing to take advantage of recovering a Teacher fumble on the three-yard line, the Tars then contented themselves with holding intact their comfortable lead of 12 points.

Dick Washington, Ed Crager, and Bud Childs, all cripples of varying degree, deserve plenty of credit for the fine work they accomplished. Sent in the game to break up the Teachers' offense which seemed certain to culminate in a touchdown, they held the Teachers in check, and furnished the foundation for the Rollins scoring efforts.

Dan Cental played his usual stellar role. On the other end, Bud Childs shone. They both effected on the Teachers offense to stop ball carriers before they got away. All the gains that the State backer were able to get were through the line, and not around the line. The State punt receiver was valued in his tracks more often than not.

Intra-murals Started As Theta Kappa Nu And Chase Win Tilts

A stronger and more efficient Theta Kappa Nu team employed and outwitted a hard-fighting aggregation of Delta Rho Gamma to secure the first touch football victory of the season Thursday afternoon to the tune of 12-0. The Theta Nu Wildcats, under the coaching of Ray Fralick, bested their opponents with a mixture of fast line plays and forward passes, two of which Paul Worley, (last Theta end, engaged behind his own goal line for the winning touchdowns. The Delta Demons, coached by Captain Willie Childs, tried desperately to even up matters in the last quarter, but a wary Theta backfield, composed of Al Stoddard, Kaye Trochmann, T. C. Parker, and Harvey Ford, broke up pass after pass to stem the enemy attack.

Both lines worked well with Frank Wetherill and Ed Roberts for the Theta Nu's and Joe Moore and Stan Palsen for the Delta's outstanding. Both teams played a fast, heady game, but two long passes, one by Al Stoddard and the other by Harvey Ford were taken by Worley and converted into touchdowns. The players, many of whom were playing touch football for the first time, showed real skill and technique in blocking, passing, and punting, and the touch football tournament should prove to be a hard-fought battle on all fronts.

Chase Hall and Kappa Phi Sigma took the field immediately following the season's opener, and fought until darkness necessitated putting the time short, before Chase Hall was able to score one touchdown to claim a well-earned victory. Both teams played a hard, fast game, but Chase Hall managed to hold their slim six point margin, a pass from Reid to Dunlop, to win. Reid, Camp, and Dunlop starred for Chase, with Kuhn, Russell, and Durkin outstanding players in the Kappa Phi Sigma attack. Reid Kuhn, breaking away on a long end run in the final quarter, was tossed heavily by field of Chase Hall and was forced to leave the game in a rather unsteady condition. With the ball on Chase' two-yard line, the Kappa Phi Sigma's failed to make good their opportunity when Russell dropped the tying pass behind the goal line. The game ended a few moments later.

Intra-Mural Crew Race Final Is Won By Cudmore's Crew

In the finale of the intramural crew championships held Monday on Lake Maitland, the boat stroked by John Cudmore managed to stave off a last minute upset by Captain George Edwards' boat to win by a quarter of a length. It was a perfect day for a race with practically no wind, while the lake was as smooth as glass. The two shells started for the starting line at four-thirty, but Cudmore's boat twice broke a rudder, and it was quarter of six before a temporary rudder was finally rigged on his boat. Cudmore's boat jumped off to a better start and an early lead which was almost a length at the halfway point. But here Captain Edwards' boat began to close in, raising their stroke to thirty by the end of the race, only to lose out by about five feet. The time was 6:00.

FRESHMEN ROUT NEW SMYRNA 25-0

Baby Tars Show Fighting Spirit in Latest Game

Headed by Acting-captain Carmody, the Freshmen team showed that they have some potential, variety material when they beat New Smyrna last Friday afternoon at Harper-Shepherd Field by a 25-0 score. After a scoreless first quarter Passett made 5 yards through the line and Carmody carried the ball across for the first touchdown of the game. In the second quarter Gannon followed up a beautiful end sweep of Whiteley's by a touchdown dash around right and for another score. To add to the fireworks Pepper, Rollins left end, took the kickoff as the second half opened and galloped down the east side line for another six points. In the fourth quarter, Henry Winant, defensive Rollins center, cracked through and blocked a kick which he fell upon a second later for the final touchdown. Passett, who had missed two previous goals, kicked the extra point.

First Quarter
New Smyrna kicked off to Moore who ran the ball back to the Rollins 25-yard line. A pass from Carmody to Whelan was incomplete. Moore made five yards on a line play and Carmody plunged three more on the next play. Moore kicked and New Smyrna tried the line without gain. An end run was smothered and on the next play Cooper fell on the ball after Pepper had tackled him. Moore, Passett and Carmody tried line thrusts which failed to make a first down by inches. Smith, of New Smyrna, kicked poorly and gave the State the ball on the New Smyrna 24-yard line. Moore skirted left end for a first down on the 10-yard line. Carmody was tackled behind the line of scrimmage on the next play. Passett made three yards on the next plunge through center and Moore made eight yards on another end run. With the ball on the 1-yard line, Carmody failed on an attempt through the center of the line. New Smyrna kicked out of danger to their own 50-yard line and Rollins opened up a punting attack. However, after two fumbles to gain ground Moore again made a substantial gain around end for 19 yards. The quarter ended as Carmody flipped a beautiful pass to Moore who received on the 13-yard line. Rollins 6; New Smyrna 0.

Second Quarter
Passett made 5 yards through the line which brought the ball to the 8-yard line. On the next play Moore, on an off-tackle smash, placed the ball on the 1-yard line. Carmody plunged through center for the first score of the game. Passett failed to convert. Rollins 6; New Smyrna 6. Passett kicked off and Whelan tackled hard on the New Smyrna 20-yard line. Two penalties were incurred on the first two plays and after having a pass grounded the opponents kicked to the Rollins' 4-yard line. Moore again got away around left end for 15 yards. Carmody smashed through tackle for another first down on the next play bringing the ball to the 20-yard line. Gannon was smothered behind the line on the next play and Passett went off-tackle for 8 yards to regain the ground. Whiteley rumbled around left end for 8 yards but New Smyrna tightened up on the next play and held Gannon for no gain. Carmody went through the line for 5 yards and Whiteley lashed through the line for eight more on the next play. Passett failed to gain, but Gannon took the ball around right end and raced to a touchdown on the east sideline. A dropkick was wide for the extra point and the score stood Rollins 12; New Smyrna 6. Passett's kickoff rolled over the goal line and the ball was brought out to the 25-yard line. Whelan steered an end run and Cooper stopped the following line-plays at the line of scrimmage. Rollins was offensive on the next play and the opponents tried a pass for the remaining five yards to a first down. However, the pass amounted at the half end-of.

Third Quarter
New Smyrna kicked off and Pepper took the ball on his 20-yard line. Eluding two tacklers he started off on a beautiful broken-field dash which ended over the goal-line. Carmody's pass to Passett for the extra point was bottled down. Rollins 18; New Smyrna 6. Later on in the 4th quarter, after having been hurried by aggressive Fresh linemen, New Smyrna's kick was smothered by Winant who fell on the ball over the goal-line. Rollins 25; New Smyrna 6.

The entire team showed a fighting spirit which it has apparently lacked in previous games and also displayed the sort of precision and teamwork which marks a winning eleven. In the line Pepper and Whelan at the end positions continually hurried the New Smyrna backs and hit them behind the line for losses. Cooper and Hines showed up well as did Winant in the center of the line. Carmody and Moore romped through for gains behind driving interference and Passett showed up well on line plunges. Although the passing attack was considerably weaker than that displayed against Tampa, Carmody still holds an additional scoring threat in that department. With a few remaining games it is a good bet that the Freshmen will show up well and uncover some good material for next year's variety.

SPORT MIXTURES

Lock of upsets feature Saturdays football play; Tony Canzoneri defends title against Petrolle; Cheering at games again brought to fore.

Saturday, in the football world, belonged to the favorite. There were fewer upsets in the games this week than there has been in any previous Saturday. The most amazing thing that happened Saturday to my mind was the overwhelming defeat of Harvard at the hands of the Army gridders. I know that the Army had a strong team, but I didn't look for anything like the rout that took place. Brown's last minute drive against Holy Cross that netted them a touchdown in the last minute of play must have been a thrilling spectacle. With less than a minute to play, Brown took the ball on their own fifteen yard line and carried it eighty-five yards in a sustained drive that netted them a touchdown and snatched an apparent victory from the hands of Holy Cross. They have yet to be defeated this season. Next week they meet Columbia and then on Thanksgiving day, they will encounter Colgate in what might decide the championship of the East. The Fordham Rams turned in a mild upset when they turned back the St. Mary Gaels from the coast by a 14-0 score. The Coast lads were undefeated until they met their eastern opponents. But in the main, the day belonged to the favorites. Pitt, Notre Dame, Southern California, and Columbia garnered victories, but the latter were lucky to down the Navy 7 to 6. A blocked punt was their margin of victory.

Canzoneri Whips Petrolle
Tony Canzoneri was able to turn back the gambles of Billy Petrolle in the Garden the other night to retain his crown. He decidedly whipped the Fargo Express in six of the ten rounds, while two were scored evenly. Petrolle has beaten more champions without ever having held them any man in the game. He probably had his last chance against Canzoneri, and he took a decisive licking. The champion was all over him almost the entire fight, driving punishing lefts and rights to his face and body. Petrolle was hopelessly outclassed, but he put up a game fight to the very end.

W.A.A. Constitution Amended and Dance Planned at Meeting

W. A. A. held a special meeting Wednesday at 10 A. M. for the purpose of voting on two amendments of the constitution. The amendments voted on were as follows: That the number of points given for carrying six miles be changed from three points to four points, and that two points be given on one hour horse back riding. These two amendments will be added to the regular point system. Three officers did not return this year so the new ones nominated by the board were voted in by the association.

Doris Lang, vice president.
Holly Lynn, secretary.
Kay Harn, treasurer.

Seven girls were taken in as new members: Mary Virginia Taylor, Barbara Conter, Maryruth Mitchell, Jean Parker, Annis Longhry, Elizabeth Richards, and Solly Lemrick.

A dance was announced for December 3, after which the meeting adjourned.

HOMECOMING TILT TO BE COLORFUL

Tars and Miami to Resume Old Rivalry at Tinker Field

Tomorrow night the Fighting Rollins Tars swing into action again, this time against the Miami team from the University of Miami in the most important game of the season thus far. It's the homecoming game for the Rollins and with the added support of the Alumni to help them in this cause, they will be out there every minute trying to garner the victory that eluded their group last year in Miami.

Due to the hard game that the boys played against the South Georgia aggregation last Saturday night, all scrimmages have been called off for this week. Except for some bad bruises that the boys sustained in the game Saturday the squad is in pretty good shape for the boys from Miami. Coach McDowell was rather non-committal when asked about the game.

"It's a hard thing to keep a team primed over a long period of time, especially when the schedule is difficult one. We'll be right in the game all the time Thursday, and we may win and we may not. I don't know very much about the strength of the Miami team, but they always have a strong team. We'll have our hands full, but they'll know they've been against a real team."

The main trouble that the boys will have will be the fact that the line will be trying too hard, but it is going to be a fine game. Miami this year, has defeated the strong William and Mary team, the Emory and Henry, and Piedmont. Last week they bowed to the South Georgia Teachers of Tiffin, Georgia, by a 19-6 score.

First Meeting Held in Women's Swim Class

Twelve women appeared last Wednesday morning for the first meeting of the new women's swimming classes, under the instruction of Fleet Peoples. These classes, which are open only to women faculty members and to house mothers, will meet hereafter each Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock.

"Our purpose," Fleet said, "is to give the women on the campus a thorough training in swimming and to provide them with a regular form of group exercise. There will be two classes, one for the beginners and one for the intermediates. Both groups will meet at the same time." Fleet is being assisted by Miss Weber.
