Orlando – The University of Central Florida Library recently announced the recipients of two scholarships that are awarded specifically to library employees. Placido Buniao has been awarded the Lois Holt Scholarship for Library Student Assistants, and Lisa Byl will receive the June S. Stillman Memorial Scholarship for Library Student Assistants and USPS Staff.

Mr. Buniao, a junior majoring in Microbiology, has been employed in the Reference Department of the UCF Library for one year. After graduation in 2002, he plans to pursue a degree in the medical field.

The Lois Holt Foundation, created by the late Lois Holt in 1992, provides an annual scholarship for a UCF Library student assistant, as well as an endowment for library enrichment and other general scholarships.

Ms. Lisa Byl is a junior majoring in Psychology and has worked in the Circulation Department for two years. After graduation in 2002, Lisa plans to pursue a career as a social worker.

June S. Stillman's friends and family established the June S. Stillman Memorial Scholarship in honor of the former UCF librarian, who was slain four years ago.

No other unit at the University of Central Florida provides scholarships specifically for their student assistants, and the Library is pleased that its students assistants are recognized in this way. Over 150 students work in the Reference, Cataloging, Circulation, Acquisitions, Serials, Interlibrary Loan/DDS and Administration departments as well as the Curriculum Materials Center.
