DR. CAMPBELL APPOINTED TO ROLLINS STAFF

California Physicist Chosen As Assistant in Sciences

Dr. J. Stewart Campbell, graduate of the California Institute of Technology, and widely known among American physicists for his original research work in finding the nature of the atom, has been appointed assistant professor of physics at Rollins College this year, it is announced.

Dr. Campbell, President Holt has announced, comes to Rollins with the recommendation of Robert A. Millikan, Nobel Prize Winner in Physics and one of the greatest scientists of the day.

Campbell was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and received his high school and college education in California. He was graduated with the B.S. degree from the California Institute of Technology in 1927, and in 1928 he received his M.A. degree from the Rice Institute in Texas. From 1929 to 1931 he was a graduate student of physics at California Institute before taking his Ph.D. degree.

In his senior year he taught scientific German and studied oil research at the California Institute, and as a teaching fellow at Rice Institute he taught one of the laboratory courses. As the holder of a teaching fellowship at California Institute of Technology he taught two years of freshman physics and one year of sophomore physics.

In 1932 he was appointed to a National Research Council Fellowship, studying at the University of Chicago, and this past year, as a National Research Fellow, he has been engaged in important research work at the Physical Technological Research Institute in Berlin, Germany. (Continued on Page 2)

DEBATE SCHEDULE BEING ARRANGED

Rollins to Meet Oxford and Cambridge This Fall

The final arrangements for two international debates to be held during the fall term were made last week by Professor Harry R. Pierce, speech instructor and coach of the debating team.

A debate with Cambridge University of England is to take place Monday, October 23, at Rollins College, while a debate with Oxford University of Oxford, England, is to be broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company network on December 1, from New York City.

These debates were arranged for through the National Student Federation. Miss Margaret Cuthbert, who is in charge of the Federation program, has reserved half an hour, from 4:30 until 5:30 on the above date, over the N.B.C. system for this clash. It is important to note that this time is given for the contest free of charge to either of the contending schools. Mr. Carl Milliken, former governor of Maine and secretary to Will Hays, will act as chairman of the debate.

Miss Cuthbert chose as the most important question for debate, "Resolved, that Modern Warfare is an offense to the dignity of mankind," but since Rollins must take the negative of any question decided upon, Professor Pierce feels that the question, "Resolved, that the Theatre is of more cultural value than the Cinema," would furnish better material for the Tar speakers.

Tryouts for the debating team will be held next week, and it is urged that anyone who is interested in a place on the team should come out. Those who would like to obtain more information about this subject should see Professor Pierce in the Speech studio.

CONVOCAION

Opening Convocation is to be held in the Knowles Memorial Chapel Thursday morning, October 5. First Period classes are to stop at 10:00, and the Academic Profession will form at 10:15 in front of Carnegie Hall. Dr. Holt particularly desires that every member of the Faculty and Student Body march in this procession. Withstands in the Chapel the new students and faculty will take the Matriculation oath, which will be accompanied by a short address by the President of the College.

FIRST ISSUE OF FLAMINGO NOV. 1

Contributions Solicited From Members of Student Body

Attention is called to the fact that the first issue of the Rollins Flamingo in new form is to appear Nov. 1st. Contributions are solicited from all members of the student body. Acceptable material includes short stories, plays, poetry, sketches, articles and art work. Material should be typed on standard size paper, double spaced, and should be placed in the post office at Rollins to a staff member before Oct. 15. Manuscripts are to be judged solely on the basis of reader interest, quality and substance. Persons interested in working on the magazine staff are urged to report to the Publications office Friday afternoon immediately after class.

Publications Union To Elect Sandspur Editor Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon, Thursday, October fifth, there will be a meeting of the Publications Union for the purpose of electing the editor of the Rollins Sandspur, a position left vacant through the absence of George Barber, last year's editor. Two candidates have thus far filed application for this office. They are James Gowdy and Esther Earle. During his second year at Rollins Gowdy worked on the Sandspur as an assistant reporter. Last year he was a reporter and circulation manager, and this fall edited the freshman edition. Gowdy is a senior at Rollins and a member of Kappa Alpha. Miss Earle last year was first reporter, then became copy editor, and during the spring term was appointed assistant and managing editor, and is editing this issue of the Sandspur. This is Esther Earle's senior year at Rollins and she is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Pan-Hellenic Council Holds First Annual Tea On Saturday

The Pan-Hellenic Council held its annual tea in honor of new women students at the Woman's Club Sunday from five till eight o'clock. All arrangements for the occasion were made by Corolla Barrows.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Sprague, Dean of Women, and the officers of Pan-Hellenic, including Dorothy Smith, president; Corolla Barrows, vice-president, and Mary Lynn Rogers, secretary and treasurer.

All seventy girls were hostesses for the affair and members of the council served punch and cakes from the attractive table located in one corner of the room.

Members of purple sashes and yellow sashes were arranged on the stage and around the large main room of the club.

More than two hundred guests including the new girls and the active and alumnae members of sororities called during the afternoon.

The first naval commission issued by the first president of the United States is still in existence.

WORLD FLASHES

FROM THE UNITED PRESS

Havana.—An American citizen was killed today in a battle between enlisted men and "imprisoned" officers at the National Hotel. The victim, R. L. Hotchkiss, assistant manager of the Havana Branch of Swift and Company, was a spectator of the bombardment of the officers in the hotel attacked by enlisted men. This morning Hotchkiss was on the terrace in the Lopez Serrano building.

Fighting between rebellious officers and surrounding troops intensified as hours passed without constant exchanges of machine gun fire were endangering the entire zone in the vicinity of the famous hotel. American citizens fled from the district. Shots rocketing from nearby buildings endangered large groups of spectators. A garden of cavalry was placed around the fighting zone. Hundreds of men, women, and children climbed the roof tops and galleries to watch the battle.

American officials left the hotel last night when they were warned of the impending attack on the several hundred officers who were loyal to the de Céspedes regime.

At the emergency hospital where the casualties were rushed a most full in the street, the records of 9:30 A. M. showed that eleven were wounded and one dead.

Los Angeles.—A sharp earthquake, apparently centering here, shook the major part of Southern California early today. Three persons received hospital treatment for slight injuries. Two walls fell in Los Angeles and scores of windows were broken. Damage was surprisingly small for the force of the tremor which aroused almost everyone in districts which suffered from similar disturbances recently.

FRENCH WATCHING SPAIN TO SUPPLY AMERICAN N. R. A. U. S. WITH WINE

Europe Displays Interest in Western Experiment

By LAMAR MIDDLETON
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 3 (UP).—Scepticism and alarm characterize the French attitude toward the methods and achievements in the U. S. National Recovery Act.

Detailed reports are made daily to newspapers here of the NRA's work, indicating the liveliest interest. France is in consequence relatively well-informed. In Washington news recently, there is a noticeable absence of the garbled accounts which often color the dispatches of French correspondents in the United States.

Editorial opinion, based upon these accounts, is nearly unanimous that the United States is headed toward an economic hell. The widest publicity is given to every public utterance urging President Roosevelt to inflate.

For example, columns were printed dealing with Senator Pat Harrison's warning that Congress would enact some degree of inflation if the President did not act before December. Scarcely less space was devoted to the fantastic proposal of Governor Eugene Tamm of Georgia that the Treasury send airplanes to distribute greenback currency to citizens from the skies.

Apart from the scepticism, the alarm in the French attitude springs from fear that inflation in the United States may lead one or more of the remaining gold-standard nations to reduce the metal content supporting their currencies, particularly if inflation in the United States is immediately followed by a substantial rise in the commodity index.

Annual Rollins Sing Held Last Saturday At Recreation Hall

Midnight throwing wind shadow through the cyresses, gleaming on the lake—students, old and new, gathered on the bleachers. The murmur of happy voices stilled as Bruce Daugherty steps on the platform—the stirring strains of the Rollins Rouser began the first "sing" on the shores of Lake Virginia.

Mrs. Daugherty played many of the Rollins songs, then Percy took his seat at the piano, the students crowded close around him and sang all the old favorites. War songs, songs of cheer, and old love songs were all revived in turn.

Upper-classmen and freshmen mingled together until the last notes of the Alma Mater died on the air. Then they separated, feeling more closely bound to each other and to Rollins after such an evening.

Huge Propaganda Campaign
Being Outlined

By LESTER ZIFFREN
United Press Staff Correspondent

MADEIR, Oct. 4 (UP).—The National Wise Institute of Spain has announced it is preparing to launch a propaganda campaign in the United States in an effort to obtain a portion of the United States market, if prohibition is repealed.

The Institute's announcement presages a keen battle for United States' business. The Spaniards, it is understood, will be willing to offer certain trade concessions in order to gain a foothold in the important wine market. They also feel that France's war debt default will work against that nation.

The Spanish wine growers believe they had a wonderful opportunity to increase their exports if prohibition is abolished in the United States. Julie Turin, a director of the Spanish wine institute, explained that this country has wine for appetites and the table, and liquors for after dinner.

"We are making extensive plans," he said, "for a propaganda campaign in the United States. During the next three months the field will be studied thoroughly, and in 1934 we plan to advertise on a broad scale. Art and scenic beauty will be tied up in one advertising. We recently held a contest among Spanish artists for posters which will be used."

"Although France produces more wine than we do, Spain exports more. France, during the last few years, produced an average of 65,334,009 hectoliters annually. Italy was second with 48,902,000, and Spain third with 22,488,000. But we exported approximately 3,876,000 hectoliters while France exported 1,511,000, and Italy, 1,041,000."

The National Wine Institute is composed of all wine interests, co-operating with the government.

Dr. Ruth S. Hart Appointed Member Of Medical Staff

Dr. Ruth S. Hart, of Winter Park, has been appointed a member of the medical staff at Rollins College, President Holt has announced.

Dr. Hart, who was formerly head of physical education for women at Rollins, is the first woman physician ever appointed to the medical staff at the college. She will be associated with Dr. B. A. Hurka in giving medical services to the students.

Informal Sociology Seminar to be given During Fall Term

Students who are expecting to make application for entrance into the Upper Division early in the year and on account of conflicts cannot take the required work in economics and sociology will have an opportunity to take an informal seminar with Dr. Clarke and Professor Francis in which they can do the work necessary to complete this requirement. This seminar will meet evenings and will not interfere with other courses. Students interested should meet Dr. Clark in Lyman 338 Thursday, October 5th, at 10:30 A. M. The book used in economics will be "A Guide Through World Chaos," by G. D. H. Cole, and in sociology will be "Elementary Sociology," by Ross L. Finney.

MEETING IS HELD ON LAST FRIDAY

College Authorities Address
New Students Sept. 29

As a feature of Freshman Orientation Week a meeting was held in the Annie Russell Theatre Friday evening, September 29, to help the new students acquaint themselves with the Rollins campus.

Dean Enright, who presided, opened the meeting and introduced each speaker.

President Holt outlined his ideas, past, present, and future, about the Rollins buildings. He told of his search for the suitable type of structure for the locality, and the architect who could best plan and build a complete campus in that architecture. He gave a word picture of that campus as he hopes it will some day be, whether in his lifetime, in ours, or later. Pictures of the future Rollins are to be found in the office of the President in Carnegie and new students have been invited to go in and see them at any time.

Dean Anderson confined his talk to the academic buildings now on the campus: Carnegie Hall, housing the library and offices of administration; Knowles Hall, accommodating the Science Department; Lamar Hall, the Social Sciences; Spurr Hall, the English Department; Recreation Hall, the Dramatic Department and the Gym; and the Conservatory of Music. Students were requested not to smoke in the classrooms as the buildings are old and fragile.

Ervin T. Brown, Treasurer of the college, offered his services to anyone who should need advice in financial matters, without making the mistake of committing himself further than said advice.

Dean Campbell spoke of the place the Chapel holds on the campus as a symbol not only of beauty, truth and fellowship, but also of service. The chapel services, he said, teach very little on religion but very deeply on life and its problems for youth.

Dr. Campbell introduced Dr. Trowbridge who is to assist him at the Chapel this year and teach several courses in religion. The latter spoke briefly of his pleasure in being at Rollins and of his hopes for the year.

Dr. Fleischman, the new head of the Rollins Dramatic Department, talked enthusiastically and convincingly of plans for his work, of the Laboratory Workshop, the Student Company, and his confidence in Dr. Holt's leadership.

Tony Merrill, head usher at the theatre, explained briefly the privileges and restrictions of the use of the theatre, and of Miss Annie Russell for whom it was built.

BIOLOGY

The course in Biology 304F, Bacteriology, given by Dr. Upshoff, and meeting during the D period, was omitted from the schedule by mistake and will be given.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ON FRIDAY

Student Association Head to Be Chosen This Week

On Friday, October the sixth, there will be an election for the purpose of choosing the president of the Student Association, an office left vacant by the absence of Nathaniel French, who failed to return to Rollins this fall. Students who voted in last year's elections will be eligible to vote.

The candidates for this position are Thomas Johnson and Bernard Brulove. This is Johnson's fourth year at Rollins. He is a member of Kappa Alpha, O. D. K., the Rollins Key Society, Rollins debating team, the Rollins Oratorical Society, the Publications Union, was last year president of the Junior class, and is the present business manager of the Tomahawk.

Bernard Brulove transferred from Brown University during his sophomore year. This is his third year at Rollins. Since he has been here, he has been a member of the baseball team, the debating team, O. D. K., the Rollins Oratorical Society and Pi Kappa Delta. Last year he was the sports editor of the Sandspur and since last May has been assistant managing editor. He is also a member of Beta Theta Pi and is the president of the X Club.

ORGAN PROGRAM HELD YESTERDAY

Herman Siewert Begins New Series of Concerts

The first vesper program for the year was played Tuesday evening, October 3, from 6:04 to 6:48 in the Knives Memorial Chapel by Mr. Herman Siewert, the college organist.

These programs will be presented each week on Tuesdays and Fridays at the same time.

Last year at these weekly ninety-four programs were rendered for the enjoyment of the student body, at which Mr. Siewert played four hundred and thirty-two numbers, representing the works of one hundred and eighty-nine different composers.

Mr. Siewert wishes to state that he would like to make the programs conform with the selections which the students would enjoy hearing. Therefore he will be only too glad to play any request numbers which are brought to his attention. He only asks that these requests be given to him a week ahead so that he may include them in the proper program.

The Organ Vespers for last evening were as follows:

1. Marche Baroque from "Jeanne d'Arc"—Dubois.
2. Canarie—Raff.
3. Choral Prelude on the tune "St. Anne"—Noble.
4. Canonata—D'Ambrasio.
5. Canyon Walls from "Mountain Sketches"—Ciokey.
6. "Midnight Bells" (Violoncello Melody)—Kreider.
7. Prelude to Act 3 from Lehigh—Wagner.

Before prohibition Americanism consumed between 140,000,000 and 150,000,000 gallons of whisky annually.

Dr. Stuart Campbell Appointed Assistant Physics Professor

many. Dr. Campbell is the author of several reports of research which have appeared in "Physical Review" and "Nature."

"Dr. Stuart Campbell," Dr. Robert A. Millikan wrote in recommending him for appointment to Rollins, "is one of our own graduates who in his undergraduate days was regarded as one of the ablest men who has passed through the California Institute. He remained here to take his Ph.D. degree, and during that period he and Dr. Houston together turned out one of the finest pieces of research work of modern times, which has made his name well known the world over among physicists. He then was appointed a National Research Fellow, an honor which comes to what are supposed to be the best five per cent of the Ph.D.'s turned out from all the institutions of the United States. I chance to know that he made as big a hit at Chicago University as he did here, and that they are striving very hard, in spite of financial difficulties, to get him back there at Chicago. . . . Campbell did some teaching with us from his senior year on, and was a great success at it, stimulating his group in an altogether exceptional way."

On his 78th birthday anniversary, he launched his 25-foot motor boat for a speed test trial. The boat, equipped with 90-horsepower, 6-cylinder engine, performed excellently as the aged designer, builder and owner, sat at the wheel and laughed as other boats were left behind.

GORDON JONES

Salutings and greetings to all and sundry. Especially sundry, our old pal.

In inaugurating the second year of our slippery footbold on these august pages, we can't omit that cheerful salutation, "Welcome, Fresh." And the "glad to see you" that goes to everyone, old, new, or indifferent is just as open and above board as if it had been extended in last week's green ink, which was misused by the proverbial dental epidemic.

It would be very convenient if some sort of policy for this weekly endeavor could be figured out, but after reviewing what appeared here last year and trying vainly to classify it all, I think that's what it is and even if it isn't it's not worth worrying about anyhow.

As a matter of fact this very ambiguous heading was selected with the end in view of being absolutely without policy. So don't expect a bliskin' thing.

Somebody safely pointed out that the letter "p" in music possesses a rather diminutive quality as regards expression—by which the brute meant that "p," or "piano," is translated softly, and "pp" as softest. The only sane conclusion remaining is that the three "p's" above could mean nothing more than total unexpressiveness.

If I ever am lost for an alibi, I'll look that fellow up.

Have you noticed the marked resemblance between "Sentry Little Things" and "Shuffle Off To Buffalo"? And the even more pronounced reminder of "I'll Never Have To Dream Again" found in the new "Thanks"?

And did you know that those painted dolls who were so largely used some years ago—in the composition featured during the early musical talkie days and still occasionally heard—have decided to unthink the knot? Or in other words that a new song bears the name of "The Divorce of the Painted Dolls"? The end truth is that it tries to combine the masked appeal of its popular predecessor with the story appeal so successfully written into "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf, Etc." with the result that neither tune nor lyrics except for much. Like as not you'll never hear it.

That genuine and bossy old cowboy wall about "The Last Roundup" was, the story goes, unearthed in the golden west by some genius who can pick 'em and incorporated into the Ziegfeld Follies with the result that it has now 5. nally achieved an even greater audience than "Home On the Range" and other old standbys.

Most of the dance bands who hurried to lend their services toward the propagation of its success, however, neglected to investigate the vocabulary of the git-along section of the lyrics, with the result that they and their vocalists felt that they were saying a git along, little dancin', get along . . . .

Since in this great country of ours somebody always spots mistakes like that, the masters gentry of the nation was duly advised of the truth and requested to pass along the facts in the next to their roomers, in-wit: a danger in what causes a good portion of the most up itacif, being a calf which has never been initiated into much like but which is shortly to be rebuked

—about Cigarettes

Of all the ways in which is the mildest form

YOU know, ever since the Indians found out the pleasure of smoking tobacco, there have been many ways of enjoying it.

But of all the ways in which tobacco is used, the cigarette is the mildest form.

Another thing—cigarettes are about the most convenient smoke. All you have to do is strike a match.

Everything that money can buy and everything that science knows about is used to make Chesterfields.

The right home-grown tobacco—seasoned with just enough aromatic Turkish—are blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way.

Then the cigarettes are made right—firm, well-filled. Chesterfield uses the right kind of pure cigarette paper.

There are other good cigarettes, of course, but Chesterfield is the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better. Chesterfields satisfy—we ask you to try them.

KUHNS DISCLOSES FRESHMEN PLANS

Pajama Parade and Bonfire October 16

Ben Kuhns, head of the Freshman Rules Committee, in outlining their plans, stated that the freshman court to be held on Tuesdays is to be conducted in a more dignified manner than in previous years.

"Our purpose is not to have Freshmen but rather to create friendly relations and better feelings between new and old students.
If this is to be done satisfactorily we must have the co-operation of the upper classmen."

At the meeting held on Tuesday night talks were given by several members of the upper classes and the freshmen elected from their number two representatives, one boy and one girl, to carry their requests and complaints to the committee. These representatives also have charge of gathering the class together for various contests soon to be held during the latter part of this week. It is planned to hold contests every week, not only between the boys of these classes but also between the girls.

On the night of October 16, the Freshmen will build a bonfire and stage a pajama parade in celebri-tion of the opening of the football season which takes place the following evening when the Tars meet the team from South Georgia State College. The day of the game will also be "Kid Day" with the Freshmen putting on an original stunt between the halves.

The following rules have been inaugurated by the Rules Committee:

1. Caps must be worn at all times except in buildings and on Sundays.
2. Freshmen must button properly in all upper classesmen and Faculty.
3. Freshmen must wear name tags.
4. Freshmen must not cut across Horseshoe or walk on grass.
5. Freshmen must allow upperclassmen to enter buildings first.
6. Freshmen must learn Rollins songs and cheers.

Any infringement of these rules is to be reported by upper classmen at the Tuesday night Freshman courts.

Those two fellows who started out Monday to push a wheelbarrow to Chicago and back probably wish by now they'd been born legless, so they'd never have thought of the stunt.

At the University of Kansas a list of all professors who keep their classes overtime is published regularly.

MacDOWALL WORKS TARS FOR FIRST TILT WITH SO. GEORGIA

Starting lineup still tentative with two men fighting for every position on the squad

Tall, rangy, fast football players will probably compose the starting lineup as Rollins opens its schedule against South Georgia State, October 17. With an average height of little less than six feet and a weight of 160, the players will be tall enough to see over the heads of the opposition, rugged enough to withstand the strains of a hard season and yet not too heavy to play fast, intelligent ball in the traditional manner of McDowell-coached teams.

Line Coach Bob Evans is working hard with Dan Whalen and H. Brown trying to solve the center problem, and is coaching Tourtelotte, Whalen, Jardine and Powell for the flank positions. McDowell, with two backfields, is trying to decide upon a regular combination. The squad in its daily sessions on the campus shows the benefits of its training camp workouts on Daytona Beach during the ten days before the opening of college. The men are in first class condition physically and with at least two men battling for every position, this past week's work has shown that the varsity men may be selected from either squad.

are: Tourtelotte and Jardine, ends; Sealover and Owen, tackles; Morse and Hines, guards; Winant, center; Chakalos, Ray Miller, Doyle and Schrage, backs. The B team at present is composed of Powell and Whalen, ends; Baker and Thompson, tackles; Rogers and Malone, guards; Brown, center; Morrow, Moore, Elliott, Carmody, backs.

Today Coach McDowell shifted Joe Jardine, junior college grad with brilliant end prospects, to the center post in an effort to fill that position, which threatens to be a problem all season. Jardine played end center capably his last year in high school and may be a solution to the problem.

The Tar coaches have not found it necessary to warn the candidates that South Georgia State College will be a tough hurdle in the opening encounter. Members of the squad who played against the Douglas team last year will not soon forget the battle that the ambitious Georgians waged in their effort to snap the unbroken string of Rollins' victories, not how close the Douglas team came to raising the Tar's best season. The Tar won 20 to 13 in the hardest-fought game of the schedule and it was only after the Tar regulars brought out their whole bag of tricks that Rollins came out on the long end of the tally.

South Georgia State has always been a worthy opponent of the Tar and this tradition is so well established now that the Rollins players realize beyond any doubt that their opening tilt this year will provide the test of whether the team has enough stuff to try to duplicate the great record of the 1932 squad.

The opening game is slated for Tinker Field in Orlando and will be played at night.

Evans Pronounces Male Frosh Normal

As far as physical characteristics are concerned, the new class of male freshmen at Rollins College this year is almost "exactly normal," Robert K. Evans, assistant athletics director, reports after giving each young man a physical examination.

The average weight, he reports, is 142 pounds, and the average height is five feet eight and one-half inches. These two factors, in relation to each other, Evans points out, shows that the class average is just about normal.

The "most normal" freshman among the 45 examined was James D. Tuverson, Woonsocket, R. I., who is 17 years old, weighs 143 pounds, and is five feet nine inches tall.

The tallest is John B. Davenport, Elmhurst, N. Y., who towers six feet four inches, and the shortest was James Myers, Jr., Cox Col., Conn., who measured five feet, four inches.

The average age of the men in the entering class is 18 years, six months, the oldest being 23, and the youngest 16. The average chest expanded was 36 1/2 inches. Benjamin Rowe, New Rochelle, N. Y., showed the largest chest expanded, with 43 inches, and also the largest waist, with a measurement of 35 inches. Donald F. Aishum, Cleveland, O., showed the greatest chest expansion with eight inches. The smallest waist measurement was 24 inches, the identity of this will be the wisp being a secret.

TAR LINEUP RUGGED AND FAST; OUTLOOK FOR TEAM PROMISING

Average weight of squad just short of six feet. Coaches working hard to select best combinations

Jack McDowell sent his twenty-five varsity candidates into their third week of practice Monday afternoon with a lengthy signal drill and a concentrated dummy scrimmage to prepare for the Tar's opening fracas with the South Georgia Teachers at Orlando October 17.

Last Friday McDowell selected a tentative first and second string line up and allowed them to play a regulation game with the varsity limited to ten minutes each. The first stringers managed to shove over two or three touchdowns through the fine running of their quintet of backs, Miller, Schrage, Washington, Chakalos, and Doyle. Powell, a new center to the Rollins squad, was at one end of the first stringers, with Tourtelotte, a third year veteran, at the other end. Hines and Owen were at tackle, Malone and Sealover played at guards, with Winant at center rounding out the starting outfit.

The supposedly second string line offered Carmody, freshman full-back last year, and Bill Whalen, also of last year's freshmen, so stars. Carmody is being groomed for one of the tackle or guard positions, with prospects of seeing much service in the plugging position in the backfield. Whalen has been converted from an end to a guard. Marie, Moon, and Jardine, a newcomer from Georgia, and H. Brown saw service in the second string line during the practice game. Bob Morrow and George Miller, sensational speed merchants from Leesburg, Fla., showed plenty of class in the second string backfield. Miller is a freshman this year and will not be eligible for the varsity. Hines, Elliott, Johnny Moore, and Bob Howe, a newcomer from Lake Forest Academy, completed the second string line-up.

Starting line positions for the season are very much in doubt, while three positions in the backfield are certain to be filled by Miller, Washington, and Schrage. The other backfield position is being battled for by Joe Chakalos and Johnny Doyle, with Doyle holding the edge because of his position as a regular last year. However, Chakalos started in the first line up last Friday.

Apparently, the line will eventually stack up with Powell and Tourtelotte at end, Hines and Carmody at guard and either Winant or Jardine at center. R. Brown is accorded a fine opportunity to capture one of the flank positions. Morrow and Owen are certain to see plenty of action in the line when the regular season rolls around. The play of Elliott wraps him as a corner, and it is certain that he will push the leaders for a position in the backfield. Morrow and Moore have been showing consistent improvement.

FENCING BERTHS ON VARSITY OPEN

Some real experience are in store for those students who earn berths on the varsity fencing team this year. The varsity schedule includes two long trips, one is taken in the fall, when Rollins fencers meet the swordsmen from the larger Southern colleges, and the other, a campaign against Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Navy, and two more large universities in the North, will take place early in the spring. With the return of last two of last year's Varsity fencers, namely, Hall and Bothe, five of five positions will be open to first year men.

Fencing practice will begin in a very few days and those students who aspire to become Varsity fencers should make sure to attend the first practice.
