Inaugural Fair Begins April 20

The scheduled installation of President Alphonso L. Allesano as UCF's third President on April 27 has spun off a series of inaugural events. Festivities will begin April 20 with a noon address by Conrad Gersheim, the spokesperson for the U.S. Secretary of Foreign Affairs and Premier Mikhail Gorbachev. On April 25, a Knight Booster banquet will provide the 760 faculty and staff members who make up the UCF and University of Florida baseball teams, their first meeting since the Knights ousted the Gators from NCAA post-season championship play in 1989. The following day, April 26, the second annual Founders' Day program will begin at 2:00 p.m. in the Gymnasium. Designed to recognize faculty and student scholarly achievement, the program will acknowledge outstanding students and present the distinguished research, teacher and librarian for 1990. A reception for all program participants will follow at 4:30 p.m.

Salaries, Enrollment Top UCF Priority List

Funding for salary increases and anticipated enrollment growth topped the list of priorities presented to local legislators by President Steve Altmann and alumni last week. The priority list, something for lawmakers to chew on between now and their regularly scheduled session in April, was served up at the annual local legislative delegation luncheon at San Bern Mix, Feb. 15. A requested $4.8 million for anticipated enrollment growth and $1.7 million for faculty and staff salaries are UCF's highest priorities, maintains Dan Holstein, director of governmental relations.

The State University System has requested funding for approximately 4500 additional Full Time Equivalency (FTE) students in 1990-91. Of this additional 4500, UCF would receive funding for approximately 650. The SUS budget includes a proposal for a 2 percent faculty salary enhancement and a 0.5 percent staff enhancement. These raises would be in addition to any other cost of living or COL raises provided to state employees.

In addition UCF's priority list includes improving undergraduate education, branch campuses, a new film program, Florida School of Natural Resources, a blend of humanities and sciences in the departments. Deadline for applications is April 22.

UCF Bids a Fond Farewell to Milly

A Dec. 12, 1966 memo to "all employees" is significant because it notes NASA's interest in a man whose name had to be brought to the attention of Congress. The memo is one of a smattering of hard copies filled by the one person on campus who can rightfully claim the longest term of employment with the University when she retires next Wednesday after 24 years of service. If there's any doubt as to her identity, check the names on the early memo. A Miss Kennedy is one of eight who enjoyed the 4-day holiday.

For Milly Kennedy, the years since 1966 have been filled with notable memories, none least of which are the times she bid adieu to one president and welcomed his successor.

"It was a great time to be here. We knew we were witnessing events that would change the face of central Florida forever," she reflected.

Some of those events are history; others are personal observations. The June 1973 commemoration with President Richard Nixon as a surprise speaker certainly ranks as one of those highlights. Situated as she has been — first as a reporter, then as assistant to the president — Milly has been witness to the continuing eb and flow of politics, plans, projects and people that comprise a major modern university.

She may be leaving "active duty," but will retain her ties to UCF through the Alumni Association (she was awarded a master's degree in education here, following a B.A. from Rollins), and with the recently revived Retirees Association. She also is looking forward to having the necessary time to devote to gardening, a pasttime she shares with her mother, and to golf. "Anyone who has seen me in the Alumni Duffer's Delight knows I can use the practice," she said, laughing.

Cutting the ties that have bound her to UCF for 24 years is not an easy task, she admits readily. Looking back, she counts herself fortunate to have worked with "three splendid presidents and their first ladies. True to her key-nature, Milly plans to quietly depart the campus with no fanfare. She shall be missed.

Bill Daum, information director, contributed this article as a farewell tribute to Milly Kennedy.
