Dear friend whom I love of divine love I do embrace the love of God salute thee with thy mother, and all faithful friends after me, by this thou may understand retained them I doed the 23 of the were glad to hear from thee, and of being, and as for your requirers as time said the shall never have them on as you loose your integrity, the Lord will found them, in their own imaginations, for you your trust in the Lord, who will stand by you and spend your cause, with his and your own money, will draw heart my love flows forth as a river of living water, but I cannot be large at this time had me in that which was before words, I shall give thee a short account of our travell in the south of Jermoney we went first to Crowell, that is a place where there is a new gathering of friends, and we had were good for us, it is but about two years since the had a meeting, and now the are about 20: on a first day, from thence we went to the settlement and there we had a fine time with friends and took our leave of them, in much brotherly love, and two friends came along with us, to a little called Olgava where we were to appear before the magistrates, and to give account of our business in that country, and when we came before them the were moderate and said we must stay there till the had sent to the printer but we might be at our journey and we might have the liberty of the city: and that day the had sent for us a gain to come before them, and the had a request with them and told our opinion, and said we must yet stay till answer came from the printer but we must have the same liberty as the were set of the printer and the the name of the printer my own part we are the printer's I am thy friend
