ROLLINS COLLEGE OPENS SEMI-CENTENNIAL SESSION

Kappa Phi Sigma Fraternity Given Phi Delta Theta Charter

LOCAL ORGANIZATION TO BE CHAPTER OF ONE OF BIG THREE

Installation of Rollins Group to be Held in January; Petition Accepted by Overwhelming Majority

Kappa Phi Sigma, Rollins social fraternity, was accepted by Phi Delta Theta for installation into the national order during the coming academic year. Acceptance by the larger organization was made at the 1934 biennial convention held at Mackinac Island, Michigan, during the first week of September.

Installation of the new chapter will probably take place during January of 1935, although final arrangements have not as yet been completed.

The Phi Delta Convention was one of the largest in the history of the fraternity, with 49 delegates, representing 184 of the 103 chapters present.

"Duke" Wellington was chairman of the nationalization committee of Kappa Phi Sigma, and Jim Tullis, president-elect, and Jack Ott, vice-president elect, represented Kappa Phi Sigma and contributed to the great victory. "Duke" not only directed the pre-convention campaign but also designed the Kappa Phi Sigma emblem and loath, which attracted much attention at the Mackinac Convention.

Local is 8 Years Old
Kappa Phi Sigma was founded at Rollins eight years ago, and almost immediately determined to petition Phi Delta Theta. Four years ago it succeeded in adding Rollins to the Phi Delta Theta approved list of colleges, and two years ago secured the approval of all the chapters in Episcopium Province, and presented its formal petition. With one exception Phi Delta Theta has never granted a petition the first time it was presented, and the Kappa Phi Sigma boys were asked to resubmit their petition this year with the assurance (Continued on page 2)

ROLLINS GIVEN FRENCH MEDAL

France Recognizes Participation in Lafayette Centenary

As a mark of appreciation of the part taken by Rollins College in the Lafayette Centenary commemorations the French Government has presented to the College a handsome medal bearing the profile of General Lafayette.

This honor is in recognition of the ceremonies held under the auspices of Rollins last March, commemorating the significance in Florida's history of the Lafayette Grant of Land and the activities of the great French general in establishing a colony in this state.

The Rollins program, which was organized by Prof. A. J. Hanna, consisted of a re-enactment of acts of the Legislature of Florida. A large number of Floridians, descendants of friends, associates and admirers of Lafayette participated in the Rollins ceremonies.

This new Rollins acquisition bears the profile of Lafayette which was drawn by the celebrated engraver Guttenberg in 1803. The reverse side carries an inscription worked by the Academie des Inscriptions et Belles Lettres as follows: "America et Gallia Memores, MCMXXXIV".

The Freshman Reference Edition

Convinced that the customary form of the "Freshman Bible" a small handbook in which the new students may find salient and needed facts bearing upon their problems as they enter college, is now obsolete, the Rollins Administration has this year introduced an innovation in college publications.

The SANDSPUR has been requested to present the information data previously carried by the "BIBLION". This we are happy to do, for we are assured a warm, friendly mutual introduction between our pages and all entering students. Virtually every feature of the usual small handbook has been adapted to newspaper form and included in this issue of the SANDSPUR. For this reason we have designated it as the FRESHMAN REFERENCE EDITION.

The rule that it must be preserved and carried on the person at all times has been applied to this current edition as to the "BIBLION" in the past.

Upperclassmen, and faculty members, who often have occasion to consult each other regarding certain rules and regulations will also do well to keep it as a convenient place for ready reference.

DRIVING RULES TO BE ENFORCED

College to Campaign Against Reckless Driving

Rollins College is going to impose strict automobile regulations upon its students this year in order to reduce as much as possible the hazards of reckless driving which have been so evident in recent years.

Rollins students have been involved in serious automobile accidents with the frequency of at least one a year during the past few years, the worst occurring last Spring when John C. McNeill and Thomas Trammell were killed and three other students badly injured in a smash-up on the Orlando-Winter Park highway.

As a result of a list of rules and regulations adopted by a Student-Faculty Traffic Committee last year to be put into effect this year, every precaution will be taken to insure careful driving of student cars.

Cars will be thoroughly examined by skilled mechanics before they are licensed, each student owner or driver will be required to carry personal liability and property damage insurance. Each student licensed to drive an approved car will be required to purchase a number-plate issued by the Student Faculty Traffic Committee. The Administration of Rollins College will reserve the right to revoke licenses at any time for traffic violations.

As the students themselves have already taken the initiative in proposing a system of control, Dean Bryant said that the College expected no difficulty from the students in enforcing the regulations. The students, he said, realize that regulations of the kind proposed are designed for their own protection and the wholehearted cooperation of the students is assured.

OUR PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT HAMILTON HOLT

This is the Fifteenth Anniversary of the founding of Rollins College, and I am happy to tell both the returning old students and the students who come here for the first time that this promises to be the red letter year in all respects in the history of the College.

Our plans are already under way for various appropriate ceremonies in celebration and commemoration of historic events. Distinguished men and women, whose names will be announced later, are expected to be in attendance upon our chief occasions.

Our student enrollment is running over ten per cent above that of last year, which would seem to show that general business conditions are improving because of (or despite, if you prefer) the N. R. A.

Ex-President Lowell of Harvard once said that if you want to win a race, a good start is essential. A word to the wise is unnecessary.

HAMILTON HOLT

Dr. L. E. Kinsler to Succeed Campbell as Physics Professor

Dr. Lawrence E. Kinsler, a Californian, has been appointed to the Rollins faculty for the coming year as assistant professor of physics. Dr. Kinsler succeeds Dr. J. Stuart Campbell, who resigned in June to accept an offer from the University of Rochester.

Dr. Kinsler is a native of Los Angeles and a graduate of California Institute of Technology, where he received his B. S. degree in 1913 "with honor" and his Ph.D. degree in June, 1924. Between 1921 and 1924 he held a teaching fellowship at California Tech and in the summer of 1924 he taught at the Cornsack Junior College in Los Angeles.

Dr. Kinsler comes to Rollins with high recommendation from Dr. R. A. Millikan, the famous physicist and head of California Institute of Technology.

A go-getter is a man who sells a garage to a person who has just bought a raffle ticket on an automobile.

Dr. Holt Requests Return of Fox

A pet Rollins tradition has, to all appearances, been snipped in the bud.

With the establishment of the order of the Fox and the Cat on the college campus, the enforced humble obedience of freshmen by upper classmen was, for the first time in many years heartily endorsed by the administration. But, alas! At the close of last year, some unprincipled second-year swiped the effigy of St. Bernard from its pedestal at the head of the walk to Recreation Hall. It is evident that homage cannot be paid to a non-existent figure.

The tradition was introduced to Rollins by Dr. Holt, who, after a great deal of time and effort, secured the statutes and set them up in their appointed places.

While a great deal of shagreen was felt by "Prexy" when he learned of the disappearance of the Fox, the summer months have calmed his sterner passions.

The latest bulletin from the office of the President states in a manner of speaking, that if the boogie, who, in a spirit of jest, departed with his beloved effigy, will please either return it to its proper place, or make its whereabouts known to the proper authorities, NO QUESTIONS WILL BE ASKED.

DIGEST ADDED TO SANDSPUR

Rotogravure to Appear Each Week as Regular Feature

Beginning with this issue of The Sandspur, students of Rollins will each week receive the COLLEGIATE DIGEST, a rotogravure, a picture containing national college news in picture and paragraph, as a regular feature of the paper.

Presenting each week a pictorial review of college events, COLLEGIATE DIGEST contains many features that will be of interest to our readers, its new department, "Report Card," contains the latest news of the entertainment world.

Photographs of events on our campus can and will appear in COLLEGIATE DIGEST, and students are urged to send photos to the editor (Box 472, Madison, Wis.) so that he may have a greater choice of interesting news from our college. He will pay $1 for all photos accepted for publication when published.

This will be the first year that The Sandspur has distributed COLLEGIATE DIGEST as a regular feature for its readers. It is published by the Associated Collegiate Press, a cooperative organization of some 250 college and university newspapers in the United States, and has proved its "readability" during the time that it has been published.

Some of the other colleges that use this feature are Harvard, Dartmouth, Brown, Rutgers, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Chicago, Notre Dame, Columbia, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, and many others, all of which are members of the Associated Collegiate Press.

ORIENTATION WEEK BEGINS FIFTIETH ACADEMIC YEAR

Large Freshman Class Enters; Dr. Hamilton Holt Appoints New Professor of Physics to Faculty

Rollins College, the oldest institution in Florida, opened its fiftieth year yesterday with a meeting of the faculty at 4 p. m. as the first official event of the new year.

A program designed to acquaint new students with their surroundings formally opened Orientation Week last night, and English and Foreign Language Placement Tests were administered this morning and during the afternoon. A morning assembly was held in the Annie Russell Theatre, when Dean W. S. Anderson explained the Rollins plan to the entering men and women.

Approximately 120 freshmen and other new students have been accepted by Rollins for entrance this fall. All of these students will be afforded the opportunity to complete certain preliminary exercises unhampered by the distracting presence of a large body of older students.

In the course of Orientation Week new students will complete their registration for the work of the year, take physical examinations, hear lectures on the use of the library, how to study, care of health, management of finances, college regulations and customs, the Rollins Conference Plan, and visit the Library in small groups under the guidance of conductors.

Old Students Register Monday

Old students are not expected to be on the campus during Orientation Week except those that may be there officially to help with the exercises or other college business. Registration for old students takes place on Monday, October 1st, and full details of the new procedure are contained elsewhere in this issue and should be carefully followed to avoid delays in completion of the necessary steps.

Classes for all students will begin Tuesday, October 2, and the first all-college social event is officially scheduled for the following Saturday night at 8:15, when the Student Association will hold its annual reception to new students and new members of the faculty.

Only One New Professor

The number of new faculty appointments is the smallest in several years with only one new member of the professional staff to gain appointment.

Dean Winslow S. Anderson, who has directed enrollment procedure this past summer from his home in New Brighton, Maine, reported several weeks ago that the number of withdrawals of "old" students is considerably less than last year and that Rollins anticipates a registration of well over 400 this year.

I want to urge that as soon as the newcomers become accustomed to the campus, they show an interest in the affairs of their own government, which is in the hands of the Student Association. If we begin with a sincere purpose in mind we will all benefit from the results during the coming year.

Urging you to bear this in mind, I extend to you all the cordial greetings of the Rollins Student Association.

At least quite a few million people receive the most admirable of compliments during election campaigns. Most radio speakers begin their addresses with: "Ladies and Gentlemen."

Dr. and Mrs. Burton Back From Abroad

Dr. Richard Burton will rejoin the faculty of Rollins College about October 1, after a summer in Honolulu, as visiting professor in the University of Hawaii summer session.

Dr. and Mrs. Burton sailed from Honolulu for San Francisco and Los Angeles August 6. From Los Angeles they proceeded to Chicago for a brief glimpse of the Century of Progress Exposition. They will arrive August 19 in New York, where Dr. Burton will lecture September 25, and then to Washington, where he will address the Chevy Chase school, September 27.

WELCOME, NEW STUDENTS

since that it would have friendly consideration. The granting of the charter at the recent convention was a great victory and brings to Rollins among the largest national fraternities in membership in the United States to join the splendid group of leading national societies who have already installed chapters here.

The Phi Delta Theta fraternity was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1849 and is one of the oldest Greek letter fraternities. It now has 106 chapters in 42 of the 48 states in the Union, and in six of the nine Canadian provinces. The Rollins chapter, which will be known as Florida Beta, will be the 106th.

Phi Delta Theta has a membership of more than 40,000, which is larger than that of any other college fraternity. Its chapter houses and national headquarters represent the property value of $1,000,000.

Second Chapter in Florida

The Florida Beta chapter at Rollins will be a member of Epsilon Province at Phi Delta Theta which embraces Georgia and Florida. Frank S. Wright, Director of Publicity at the University of Florida, has been Epsilon Province president since 1930, and his counsel and hearty support have been of great help during the past four years. There are four chapters of Phi Delta Theta in Georgia: the University of Georgia, Emory University, Mercer University, and Georgia Tech. The only other chapter in Florida is at the State University. There are nearly 700 members of Phi Delta Theta scattered throughout Florida, representing many of the leading colleges and universities of the country.

Phi Delta Thetas Prominent
Members of Phi Delta Theta have held many prominent offices in the nation, including a United States Presidency and a vice-presidency.

In the field of journalism Phi Delta Theta ranks high. George Hearst, president of the San Francisco Examiner, and William Randolph Hearst, Jr., president of the New York American, are both members of Phi Delta Theta. So is William Allen White of Emporia, Kansas, the famous writer and author. Other eminent Phi Delta Theta members in the newspaper field are Grantland Rice, the world's greatest sports writer; Herbert Johnson, correspondent for the Saturday Evening Post; Carr V. Van Anda, managing editor of the New York Times; W. P. Reesell, managing editor of the New York World; Gilbert T. Hodges, secretary of the New York Sun; W. L. Cheney, editor of Columbia Weekly; Richard Henry Little, the famous columnist of the Chicago Tribune; Byron Price, chief of the Washington Bureau of the Associated Press; and Edward L. Keen, European manager of the United Press.

Walker Young, U. S. construction engineer in charge of building Boulder Dam, and Harold L. Jekes, Secretary of Commerce, who is one of the outstanding men in President Roosevelt's cabinet, are both Phi.

First in Senate

At the present time there are five members of Phi Delta Theta in the United States Senate, and ten in the House of Representatives. To name a few: Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida, is an enthusiastic Phi and served two years as president of the Grand Council of the Fraternity. Dr. Tigert gave the Rollins petition his unqualified endorsement. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, and Major Way of Orlando, are also members of Phi Delta Theta and endorsed the Kappa Phi Sigma petition, as did Ray Stannard Baker, who is both a Phi and an honorary member of Kappa Phi Sigma.

During the past summer Dean Smith, a Phi from the University of Indiana, was honored with the presidency of the National Education Association; and Dr. McLeister, a Phi from the University of Virginia, was the presidency of the American Medical Association. Another Phi, President Lewis of Lafayette College, was recently elected president of the Association of American Colleges, succeeding Dr. Soper, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, who was also a Phi.

Phi are Outstanding Athletes
In the finals of the National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament of Cleveland this summer three of the four semi-finalists were Phi. Charlie Yates of Georgia Tech, the winner; Ed White of Texas University, runner-up; and Frank Ridley, also of Georgia Tech, third. Chick Evans, Jr., the former national golf champion, who is an enthusiastic Phi, said in his letter of congratulations, "I am always happy when a Phi wins a golf trophy. I sometimes feel that all golf championships should go to members of Phi Delta Theta. It is a great feeling to have the good wishes of one's fraternity behind him when he is in a championship—and I am sure Charlie Yates and Ed White felt it."

Three of the eleven men who made up the All-American football team as listed in Columbia Weekly were Phi Delta; namely Cowford of Duke University, tackle; Carlson of Stanford University, guard; and Wistert of Michigan, end.

Perhaps the big athletic sensation of the summer was the breaking of a whole bunch of world's swimming records at the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition by Jack Moffat, a junior and Phi Delta at the University of Washington. Moffat clinched the greatest swimming year ever recorded in athletic annals by winning all three events in the annual intercollegiate swim meet, and then going on to win all three events in which he entered at the Chicago N. A. A. U. meet. In the mile free style championship he bettered the record of the then world's champion, Arne Berg of Sweden, by 22 seconds. In the 448 yard free style swim he broke the former world's record made by Johnny Weismuller, outdistancing the course in four minutes, fifty and nine tenths seconds. Moffat also won the 800 yard swim, and personally scored 15 points at the meet. He has now broken eight world's records in swimming, and is America's hope to regain the Olympic swimming title, which is now held by Japan, in the 1935 Olympic games.

Local Occupied High Place
Kappa Phi Sigma has always occupied a high place on the Rollins campus and its members have been awarded five out of the eight Sullivan Honor Medallions presented to Rollins undergraduate men during the past eight years.

The honorary members of Kappa Phi Sigma include Dr. Charles A. Campbell, Dean of the Knowles Memorial Chapel; Dr. Arthur D. Knapp, Dean of Men; W. E. O'Neal, secretary of the Rollins Board of Trustees; Linton J. Allen, vice-president of the First National Bank in Orlando; and Dr. Edwin G. Grever of the Rollins faculty.

In order to accommodate the large number of men who wish to live in the chapter house, Kappa Phi

Choirmaster Is Raised To Asst. Professor

The promotion of Christopher Binnas from the rank of instructor to that of assistant professor of music education in the Rollins Conservatory of Music was announced during the summer holidays.

Mr. Binnas came to Rollins from Minnesota in the fall of 1932, and during the past year served as choir master in the Knowles Memorial Chapel and as director of the Rollins Glee Club.

He spent the past summer studying in New York City.

Sigma has taken the beautiful Cole residence on Lakeview Drive where they have much larger quarters, and beautiful grounds bordering on Lake Virginia.

The coming of Phi Delta Theta to the Rollins campus will be a notable feature of Rollins Semicentennial year.

The Chinese, long remarked for their profound politeness, presented another example of their ancient courtesy of manners when an American author submitted a number of articles to a Peiping firm of publishers.

A New York publisher would have sent printed slips: "Herewith we return . . . we regret that . . . trust that . . . remain . . . very truly . . ."

The Chinese firm put it thus: "We have read your manuscript with boundless delight. By the sacred ashes of our ancestors we swear that we have never dipped into a book of such overwhelming mastery. If we were to publish this book it would be impossible in the future to issue any book of a lower standard. As it is unthinkable that within the next 10,000 years we shall find its equal, we are, to our great regret, compelled to return this too divine work and beg you a thousand times to forgive our action."

To the New Students

The season of welcomes is at hand, and the befogged freshman is surprised with the abundant friendly greetings, official and otherwise, that are tendered each new arrival as he alights from his automobile or train.

Every welcome that is extended may be accepted as sincere, and if the new student is overcome by the smothering blanket of effusive verbal goodwills, he is simply the innocent victim of well meant, if misguided enthusiasm. Truth to tell, the repetition in a thousand different ways of the familiar "make yourself at home" is usually sweet music in the air to the young newcomer, who may be venturing from the home hearth for the first time.

The freshman at Rollins is likely to be confused by the problem of combining in his one mind and one body all the mental and physical attributes that he is soon informed are his; he has been selected as a superior student before his entrance papers were accepted; he is a lowly, ignoble, ignorant and undignified rat; he is one of a promising group which must carry on the finest of fine college traditions; he is an underdog who must kowtow to upperclassmen at every turn; and he is the bosom friend of everyone in sight—all at the same time and almost in the same breath. It is confusing to say the least, and illogical in the extreme.

The only attitude in which a freshman can possibly enjoy the "exiting" period is one of wholehearted participation in all rat activities. If the new student but realized it, the sophomore pleasure of berating him would dwindle away if he entered into the process with a disconcerting willingness. Mahatma Gandhi could do marvels among the freshman classes in American schools with his gospel of passive resistance.

In our opinion, the best advice a freshman can receive is simply, BE YOURSELF. Although someone else had the idea first as a philosophy of life, we never heard it applied specifically to freshmen.

Let that, then, be the distinguishing mark of the incoming class: an utter absence of frills and airs, a like absence of undue subservience, a spirit of willing cooperation in all activities, and a friendly acknowledgment of the temporary superiority of the upperclassmen.

The Sandspur, in that spirit, bids you "Welcome to Rollins."

Phil Delt Takes a Bow

A new national men's fraternity has been announced for early appearance on the Rollins campus. The granting of the Phi Delta Theta charter to the Kappa Phi Sigma local culminates a campaign for the latter's nationalization which has been in progress several years.

Rollins has long enjoyed the presence of an ample supply of national societies, and is almost unique among colleges in having no locals among the women's social organizations. The majority of similar men's groups have, on the other hand, until this year been strictly Rollins' own, and the advent of this chapter of one of "The Big Three" will swing the balance in favor of the nationals for the first time.

It is gratifying to observe among the student body on our campus a group bent upon progress and development; an attitude of lassitude and laziness, even of utter self-satisfaction seems to have invaded several Rollins fraternities and sororities. This will inevitably act as a dangerous hindrance to both the improvement and the prestige of those organizations and should be zealously guarded against.

The SANDSPUR congratulates the members of Kappa Phi Sigma upon the success of their efforts, and the members of its new foster-parent upon the acquisition of an able and promising new chapter.

Will You Help Us?

The 1934-35 SANDSPUR makes its bow with this, the largest edition of its history. It is particularly fitting that such an occasion should mark the beginning of our fortieth year of publication.

With this issue, which contains material to be preserved for future reference, we are distributing our first illustrated supplement. The College Digest, of which the complete story may be found elsewhere in our pages, is included only the campus emblems for the students' pleasure, and we are most desirous of receiving your frank opinion of and reaction to this new feature.

Comics of national circulation also make their initial appearance in this edition, and we have added a crossword puzzle in answer to many requests. Soon to come is a radio program listing, also in response to popular demand.

Our sports department will receive able attention, and we plan to strive for efficient cooperation in the gathering of all news, particularly the personal items that are most readable.

The SANDSPUR is your paper—"Published Weekly by the Students of Rollins College"—and can be only as good as a NEWSPAPER as you are willing to make it. The editorial staff hesitates at your cooperation in its efforts to place the Sandspur high among the outstanding collegiate publications of the entire country.

THE CHAPEL TOWER LIGHT

By Dean Charles A. Campbell

Do a Little More!

Some time ago while passing through the city of Charleston, I was accosted by a small darky boat-black with his challenging "Shine 'em up, sub!" Just then another appeared on the scene quite determined to secure my patronage. Believing in the value of honest competition, I said, "Which gives the more for the money?" One said, "I gives you a good shine, sub!" The other replied, "I gives you a good shine, shine you a little song and does you a little dance." I closed immediately with the latter, who fulfilled his pledge with fidelity, proving himself a versatile artist.

I confess to a great admiration of the man, boat-black or banker, who does a little more, who gives a little more than the law demands, and who finds in the process a real satisfaction. Most of us prefer to deal with the merchant who gives "down weight." He never lacks customers. Nobody yowls the man who is precise and exact to the uttermost farthing. In the long run he who does a little more than he is supposed to do goes forward to increasing success. The student who studies a little harder than is necessary to make a passing grade is in a fair way of getting an education, for his sense of privilege

Keep Your Head High

The Rollins College Tars are facing the most difficult football season in the history of the College. Dire predictions are being cast concerning the outcome of the 1934 season.

Football scores, in the final analysis mean very little. Within a very short time they are completely forgotten and only remain for posterity in the shelves of musty college yearbooks. Reputations, however, are priceless, and are handed down each year to the new to maintain "old city" on.

In the words of Coach MacDowell, "A Rollins Football Team has not failed if it has upheld our tradition of being a fighting, scrapping team that never quits."

This is applicable to the student body. It is up to us to show our players that we are behind them to the last man. No matter what may be the score or the condition of the game, cheer on our fighting gridlers and give them the last ounce of your support.

Convince every player that the faith of the student body in them is unchanging and immovable. When the determined Rollins fighting spirit cannot be downed, even at the time when ours is the short end of the score, many resource opponents will depart from the field of battle, realizing too late the truth in the old adage, "That it is not the size of the dog in the fight, but the size of the fight in the dog."

Thank You and Congratulations

The SANDSPUR acknowledges a debt of gratitude to Miss Katherine Lewis and The Alumni Record for the generosity with which the services of that publication were lent in the assembling of news for this first edition of the year.

Felicitations are tendered Miss Lewis upon the honors she has most deservedly received in recognition of her untiring labors. Although every one knows of the sacrifices and generous devotion of her time that she has always been more than willing to offer, few realize the constant application demanded by her tasks, and we are pleased to add our earnest plaudits to the many she has already received.

Patronage

A number of the merchants in Winter Park and Orlando have pledged their support of Rollins College and its activities. Only through their cooperation and interest in this publication made possible.

It is only right and proper that the students of Rollins should show their appreciation to these business men in any way that they possibly can, and they can do this by giving the advertisers their patronage. They have publicly demonstrated a friendly and amicable feeling towards us, and this sentiment should be reciprocated.

Patronize our advertisers. Give them your business. Let them know that Rollins College never forgets its friends and supporters.

Sometimes jealousy is a tribute; it marks one who appreciates your superiority.

Not what I must do, but what I may do is the distinction between a slave and a free man. To work after the clock strikes the quitting hour, to earn a little more salary than your salary represents, to hang on to a difficult problem when everyone else gives up in despair—this is the spirit that weaves a golden thread into the web of life and makes it fine.

Someone said that Wellington's soldiers were no braver than the soldiers of Napoleon, but that they were braver for thirty minutes longer. It was this thirty minutes more that turned the tide of battle from defeat to victory. Go where you will, into all the great enterprises of life, you will find that the superb heroisms belong to those who work a little more, who think a little harder, who endure a little longer.

The great Teacher of mankind once spoke of "good measure, heaped up, pressed down, shaken together and running over." He also said, "If one compels you to go with him one mile, go with him two." That is one of the insignia of royal living; to convert an obligation into an opportunity and to glorify a necessity by translating it into a gracious service. Do your own bit and a little bit more, and see how it works!

BANKRUPT

ANCIENT ITALIAN MERCHANTS EMPLOYED THEIR NAMES IN THE MARKET PLACE ON SIGNAGE, SO WHEN ONE OF THEM FELL INTO DEBT HE WOULD BE KNOWN TO HIS DEBT. FROM THIS CAME THE TERM "BANKRUPT" (BANKRUPT).

MACARONI

WHEN THE COOK OF A HEALTHY DINNER, ITALY, WOULD PAN FRY HE EXCLAIMED "MACARONI!" AND SO THE NAME WAS GIVEN. AND AS THE NAME WAS GIVEN, SO THE NAME WAS GIVEN. AFTER, CALLED "MACARONI."

Tiffany Thayer made obviously one of those fellows who will try anything once. Mr. Thayer is a young man no author, and a hard worker. He has a good-sized stack of books in his credit (some, of course, in his debt), and he probably has many more volumes left in his system.

His latest adventure in unique literary endeavor is called "Kings and Numbers" (Harvard), and it turns out to be a modernized view of Greece and the world that Pericles knew.

Now, Pericles was a great person himself, and Mr. Thayer has not had to look far for a raft of material concerning his life and times. He has taken this material and welded it into a book that is startling at moments, hardly dull at others but, on the whole, quite interesting. Thayer, with an eye in his public, has slipped on layers of sex pretty heavily, but that doesn't hurt the general picture.

He asserts that this book is the first in a series and may count to six volumes before he is finished. It's all right with us, one way or another.

"Black God," by D. H. Lawrence (Lancaster) is another book about the whites and the blacks of the Congo. Yet it is vastly superior to most novels that have been written about Africa.

The setting is a little town on the banks of a narrow river, where a black man whose hands were cut off by a slave-driving

There is more than enough gold in the ocean's depths to reduce the entire world's debt. As the theme for a new song by this probably comes under the heading of Liquid Assets.

plantation owner, it's day in and day out on the bank, waiting for the gods to act as promised by a native which doctor. The story moves along familiar lines, and the characters are pleasantly real. The tale itself winds into an excite-ing climax. Rest assured that the Gates gods do not let McKee down.

With all the professional detachment of a clinical scientist Bernard DeVoto, who took on the stature of a giant in the field of social history with his "Mark Twain's America," has assembled a group of characters from the late Last Generation for a study in low-blooded human nature. He calls his novel "We Accept With Pleasure" (Little Brown).

Jonathan and Loring Gule, distant cousins with their ancestral roots deep in one of Boston's older and more hallowed families; Ed Barren, writer of smart plays; and Ted Gwynne, academic university professor, all attended Harvard together and received the World War. Their intellectual grappings for a way to live form the basis for Mr. DeVoto's studies. They are now in middle (perhaps "middle") would be more appropriate) years; the glowing, confident applications of their youth have been lost in a shifting world.

Two people accept compromise without too much argument. DeVoto's characters find their escape in the acceptance (without too much pleasure) of what circumstances have doled out for them.

The author writes dignifiedly of unglorious things. His detachment and the report of his own study constitute an approach in some degree to Aldous Huxley's "Point Counter Point."

Humanity surely needs practical men who make the best of their work for the sake of their own terms, without forgetting the general interest. But it also needs dreamers, for whom the unselfish flowing of a purpose is so imperative that it becomes impossible for them to devote much attention to their own material benefit.—Max Curren.

Naturally enough, what America's farmers are interested in learning is how much the R. F. C. can do for the R. F. D.

The Darker the Better

By J. Carver Pusey

Summer Squibs

Chicago was the popular place for Rollinsites this summer, and "Prexy" Dave Schenke seems to have done his share as host during the season.

Joe Jacobs visited Johnny Baker, Leslie and Peg Jenkins were at the Fair. Walker and Holly Edwards spent a while with Ruth Todd. Katrina Knowlton represented her sisters at the Phi Phi Convention in Yellow Stone Park, where she acquired a shiny loving ring by virtue of her aquatic ability; she stopped enroute home at Rocky Coleman's. Connie Richter accompanied Katrina in the West.

Bob Howell spent several weeks in Florida, and then pursued a job to Chicago. Cleveland McGillem received the order by leaving a job in the Windy City and hurrying back to Florida to find some cool weather. (Advt.)

R. Brown and his sister, Helen, who is entering Rollins this term, drove over from their home in New York to attend the Woodstock Reunion. They collected Johnny Moore in Chicago and visited him on Long Island afterwards. Johnny had been working in a Century of Progress exhibit.

Golden Spence, after cruising off the New England coast the early part of the summer, finally settled down to work and assisted Pres. Holt on a speaking tour. Sally Farnsworth, by coincidence, also cruised off the coast of Maine.

Johnny Turner summered on Mackinac Island; Dick Lee played at the Family Manor in Pullman and entertained all the sail boats and yachts he has just fallen heir to.

George "The Duke" Porter went Continental on us and insisted on writing approving letters from Paris, Zagreb, and points south. Eleanor "the Duchess" Brown and Grace Connor made the crossing with George with the Dickens suffering from a slight touch of "mal de mer," almost all the way.

Marlin Eldridge went social what with spring dances at Annapolis and visiting about New England. Beta Richards and Adeline Atkinson spent the time at the latter's summer home in the mountains of Vermont.

Charles and Lesma Allen toured California with their parents. Jack Ott showed Mary Jane the blue hills of Kentucky; Howard Showalter put Dean Bayard's Economics to the test by working in a bank. Jim Yellis had a summer job in Cleveland from where he contacted on one important occasion to the Phi Delta Theta convention up in Michigan.

Hand Boxer visited Midge Jaeger in Milwaukee and went on to Boston to see Johnny Benford.

Ruth Dawson attended the Theta convention in Asheville, but soon was loafing away on Long Island; Sally Limerick and Norris Clark were both working in New York, Sally with a publishing house. Betty Chapman visited Ed Rollins, and at last respect neither was planning to return to school this fall. Teddy and Buck spent their time visiting back and forth.

Gil Maxwell admits he broadcasted his poetry on NBC in competition with Eddie Guest, but failed to make the grade. "Rollinsian" Davis made life miserable for New York artists' models while attending not school there and made a big hit with the "New Yorker" and "Golden Book," but also failed to make the grade by a narrow margin.

Jane Thayer visited Virginia Jankin in Doylestown, then Ginny returned to visit in Cleveland; Jessie Vale visited in Bensenville and Julie in Jersey. Cricket Maimering was in Mangata, N. J., and then went to Canada; Alice Butten visited Anne Lawry early in the summer and the two went to Wisconsin together.

Tampa Hyer spent a while in July at Cricket's home in Pennsylvania. Margaret LeFevre summered in the North Carolina mountains.

Ken Salomon yachted away at Duxbury, and Bill Woodhall summered at Keenebeck as usual, while Stu Eaton worked in New York as an agent for a cellophane wrapping concern.

Nancy Cushman and Helen Jackson went to Yellowstone for the Kayak convention, while Connie Rie attended the Gamma Phi convention in Denver; Connie returned to her summer home in Westmoreland, N. H., after attending to her duty out west. Eloise Williams visited in New York, Hartford and Chicago, and then went on to her home on the range in Montana. Jerry Collinson also went home to the far regions in Sober, Montana.

Charles Clawson frittered away the summer in Babson Park and went north about the first of September. He has composed three new lyrics that he is going to try out on the long suffering faculty and student body when he gets back to Winter Park. Johnny Bollock also spent the summer in Florida.

Tony Merrill was quite ill with a case of acute appendicitis, but recovered sufficiently to work as 7th assistant electrician in a small summer theatre on Cape Cod. Jim Toverness did similar work in Rhode Island, and apparently swined assorted cases of pox on his dogs off.

Alyce Cleveland, Olive Dickson and Dot Smith attended the Chi Omega convention in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania in the first part of the summer. Eleanor Shout was a camp councillor at Bradenton.

Nedjet Hayri has been with the Turkish Embassy in Washington. Various reports placed Kid Roberts digging ditches for the CWA, playing in a jazz orchestra, playing nurse to a couple of polar bears, and in jail. The latter report seems to be the most believable. Bert St. Cyr spent a quiet summer in Bethlehem, Pa., with her knitting.

John Benford was writing for the Christian Science Monitor, Mal Malone was life guard on Lake Virginia. Johnny Bliss was also in Florida, hunting bones. See Charles spent several weeks in New York after driving Kay Lewis up to the Big City. Bill Carney worked in a bank in Newark.

Gordon Jones spent the summer touring the country with his mother, and they covered the territory between here and Yellowstone Park pretty thoroughly; Jimmy Gowdy was visiting Jean Glass in Estes Park and Gordon dropped in on them for a while during his month in the old home town, Denver.

David Retha, after spending three weeks during the early part of the summer in Chicago and vicinity while away the remainder of the vacation working in a paper products factory. Bill Whalen occupied himself doing odd jobs about Peabody, but managed to get away for a few week-ends in Pennsylvania.

Henry Garrison, Jr., worked for his father in the Penn. railroad. Joe Rowell studied birds in Maine. Paul Parker had a job selling in Boston and doing special editorial work. Dick Shattuck was with the Palmer Players in Vermont.

Gover Terry taught the accompanying Spaniards of Tampa how to speak French. Jean Parker went to Columbia Summer School

"Story" Winner
Now Published

The October issue of STORY, just out, contains the first prize story in the first nation-wide college short story contest conducted recently by the magazine STORY.

The winner is James Laughlin IV of Pittsburgh, Class of Harvard '36, and one of the editors of the Harvard Advocate. The story, "Melody into Pagan," is one of a handsome German family under the Nazi regime.

Laughlin, who has made frequent trips to Europe, is returning this fall from another visit to Germany, Austria, and Yugoslavia.

The second prize story, by Madeline Cook, of New York University, will appear in the November issue, and October 1938. A second contest is being planned for this school year, according to Whit Bennett and Martha Foley, editors of the magazine.

One hundred and forty colleges in forty states competed in the contest, only two entries being permitted each college.

Bucklin Mass, the only contestant from Rollins College, qualified with one story.

Woman, 67, Drove Across U. S. HARTFORD, Conn.—(UP)—At 67, Miss Harriet E. Willard, Long Beach, Calif., bought an automobile and learned to drive. This year, desiring to return to Wethersfield for the tercentenary of her native town, she drove across the continent alone. After a visit of several months with friends, she started back alone.

SPRAGUE AND WELLINGTON WED RECENTLY

Ceremony Performed Saturday at Home of Bride

Miss Miriam Guernsey Sprague, daughter of Mrs. Robert J. Sprague, of Winter Park, became the bride of Arthur M. (Duke) Wellington of Columbus, Ohio, at a beautiful wedding performed by Dean A. D. Keyart of Rollins.

The ceremony was celebrated at four o'clock on the afternoon of September 13, at the home of the bride on Lake View Avenue. It was attended only by a group of close friends and relatives.

The bride was given away by her mother, Thomas Weeds, of Indianapolis, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. Miss Eleanor Sprague, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the ushers were Miss Damaris Wilson, Miss Miriam Guernsey, Jack Ott and Robert Sprague.

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's mother at the home, to which wedding guests were invited. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was cut and served with ice cream by Miss Ethel Engart. Miss Gwen Bartholomew received the ring from the cake. Miss Damaris Wilson caught the bride's bouquet.

Following the reception a dinner at the Perrydell was given by Mrs.

Twins from Across The Sea to Present Campus Difficulty

Students and faculty at Rollins College are due to face a lot of difficulties the next few weeks in identifying the Suk twins from Czechoslovakia.

Lee and Henry Suk, who arrived today to enroll at Rollins as foreign exchange students, look so much alike as two peas in a pod. They resemble each other almost identically not only in their faces, but in their physique.

Sprague. Guests with the bride and groom were members of the wedding party and Mrs. A. G. Owen, Miss Lida Woods, Mrs. A. B. Owen, Miss Ophelia Hudson, of Miami, and Miss Ethel Engart.

Immediately after the dinner the couple left by motor for a wedding trip to South Florida and will return at the end of the week for a few days before going to Columbus, where they will make their home.

The bride traveled in a smart brown and white crepe suit, with three-quarter length lined coat and her matching accessories were most attractive.

Mrs. Wellington is a graduate of Rollins, '32, and is a member of Psi Beta Phi Society.

Mr. Wellington attended Columbus Academy, before receiving his A. B. degree at Rollins. He is a past president of Kappa Phi Sigma, which was recently accepted for installation as a chapter of Phi Delta Theta. Mr. Wellington will study for his Master's degree at Ohio State University.

The Chapel Dean

DR. CHARLES A. CAMPBELL

Recently a world traveler, familiar with great architecture, commented, "This is not a chapel—it is a cathedral!" As to design, beauty, and atmosphere, it is of cathedral dimensions, but at the same time, it maintains the sense of intimacy and the spirit of hospitality. From the great doorway to the lovely pictures upon the walls warmth and friendliness prevail.

The activities centering here are largely in the hands of students constituting the Chapel Staff and various voluntary committees organized for specific forms of service. Thus the life of the campus is freely expressed and developed not only by worship but through various channels of interesting and vital enterprises.

Outstanding in the Sunday Morning Meditation, the programs being enriched by inspiring music, occasional addresses by men of understanding and conversant with student needs and problems. Students participate eagerly and effectively in the fulfillment of the various functions of the service, the work being done not for them but by them.

Both the campus and the community share the delightful provisions afforded, there being no provincial or denominational bias. The Chapel is open every day and many find quiet, rest and renewed within its stately walls or in the chapel garden, a duplicate of the old monastery garden of Toledo Spain.

The Dean of the Chapel is always available to students, especially new students in need of counsel or comfort, and may the old and new find beautiful friendship as the college year unfolds. It will be a pleasure to see you and to know you.

Cordially yours,
CHARLES ATWOOD CAMPBELL

Edward M. Davis Appointed Baker Museum Director

Edward M. Davis of Shirley, Mass., has been appointed director of the Thomas R. Baker Museum by Dr. Holt for the coming year.

He succeeds to the post left vacant by the death of Dr. Thomas R. Baker in May, 1930. Dr. Baker had been in charge since the museum was established and had given it his name. The museum contains numerous valuable collections in the fields of zoology, ethnology, botany, geology, and occupies a portion of the upper floor of Essex Hall.

Mr. Davis was graduated from Harvard in 1910 with an A. B. degree and attended Massachusetts Agricultural College the next year.

Since 1910, he has owned and operated a fruit farm in Shirley, Mass.

An ornithologist, an entomologist by avocation, and a son of William M. Davis, distinguished professor of geology at Harvard, the new director has a wide acquaintance among scientists in these fields. For the past few years he and his family have wintered in Winter Park. Under Mr. Davis' direction the Museum will be recognized. He plans to build up scientific collections for study purposes and to hold occasional exhibits of interest to the general public.

Eventually, it is planned to make the facilities of the museum available to visiting scientists for study and research purposes.

Cartwright Installs New Light System In Carnegie Hall

Under the direction of George H. Cartwright, Jr., electrical engineer at Rollins College and light technician for the Anna Russell Theatre, a new system of indirect controlled lighting has just been installed in Carnegie Hall at Rollins College.

It is said to be the first installation of its kind in the South and it has already aroused so much interest in the trade that representatives of one of the large electrical companies visited the College this week to examine it.

It is planned to install similar systems throughout the Rollins College buildings as fast as funds become available for the change.

Dual-Filament Lamps Used
The system, known as Controlled Lighting, makes use of the lamp developed by the General Electric Company and released only recently for market. It is of ultra design, being a combination of two filaments controlled through a special switch and provides for the choice or demand of the lighting requirements in two, three and five hundred watts.

The fixtures used in conjunction with the new lamp are of the indirect type, giving a soft-glowing light that is as true to daylight as modern commercial practice can obtain. The shape of the fixtures, while modernistic, is adaptable to all types of interiors.

Cartwright believes that Controlled Lighting, the primary purpose of which is to reduce eye-strain to the minimum, will become widely used in a short time. As the public becomes aware of the improved conditions brought about by this type of lighting, he believes, restaurants and home owners as well, will give more consideration to indirect lighting and less to the mere appearance of the walls and fixtures.

Paris Styles

By MARY KNIGHT

United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris (UP) — The all-fur evening gown furnishes a nucleus of this with a museum of discomfort from undue exposure. It is a Callot Soeurs creation, has long sleeves but no back and the sleeves are held on by means of a narrow strip of fur that circles the throat like a necktie. The fur nucleus also holds up the bodice in front, which is cut precisely to exhibit the bosom in a proper perspective.

The fur of the gown is that called "Bastion" from Condor, France, Dorel, and creates the body as though the fur belonged to you instead of the other animal. The hem of the Callot gown is bordered with beige wool so that you can both look and feel like the real jungle queen in this outfit. You can even have an evening wrap or sling a little cape of snakes over the shoulders—but keep the fur on the wall!

You won't like it but the "Paris de Soiree"—that skin, if we must tell you—is very lovely stuff. There is no denying the softness of a little baby rat, and this material

From Via Berger is being used by our best dressmakers and worn by our best people, even those who squeal and run for a chair to jump on whenever they see a new fashion model. There is also a new "Bats Peur" velvet which is literally "Fearless" velvet—unafraid to be crumpled up, caught in the rain or delayed by a cocktail. It is even being used for nightgowns, so that night in bed you have no trouble with it. Condor, France, Dorel, make it and pretty good they are of their hair and handwork.

TODAY'S FASHION TIP

For evening gowns: new "Paris de Soiree" or Bat Skin, and "Fearless Velvet" feature important new fabrics.

Paris (UP)—"Skins are gay and lighter in color than other fashions or sweaters or blouses," says a friend of ours at St. Moritz.

Incidentally, there are fewer Americans at that resort, French visitors being in quantity, Italian, second and American. And after that there are more Egyptians than anything else. All the society folks in Cairo and Alexandria have chosen St. Moritz this season and the Palace Hotel is housing the best families of Suez, Khayatta.

HERE'S ONE FOR RIPLEY

Cavendish, Vt. (UP) — What amounts to a local legend is the case of Phineas P. Gage, who was shot through the head with a tamping iron 40 years ago—and lived to tell the tale.

It was while working as foreman of the Rutland & Burlington Railroad construction crew that the iron, three feet, seven inches long, one and a quarter inches in diameter, and weighing 15½ pounds, entered Gage's face at the left side near the jaw, went back of his left eye, emerged through the top of his skull, and landed 34 feet away.

Gage's men picked him up, put him in an ox cart and took him to a tavern a mile away. He lost much blood, but not his consciousness. The hole in his head was two inches wide and three and a half inches long. Believed dying, he was awakened for his coffin, but to the astonishment of all, he gradually recovered and lived 12 years thereafter.

His skull and the tamping iron are now on exhibition at Harvard Medical Museum in Boston.

Dickson-Ives' send a 3-Way Greeting to Rollins

Prelude

We're dividing this ad into three sections because (to us) there are that many groups at Rollins whom we wish to write. So, if you are not interested in Section 1 or 2, read on!

To the "Old Girls"

Here's a welcome back from Dickson-Ives, the store on the southwest corner of Orange and Central in Orlando. And here's an invitation for you to come over and see what's new! Clothes for every occasion and things for your room... the same friendly store that prides itself that it is still the place where Rollins girls like to shop. (We ARE proud of that because we know collegians are smart and critical so when they like this store, we feel we're doing a good job.)

To the Freshmen Girls

Many of the upperclassmen have accounts over at Dickson-Ives and we hope you'll get the habit of shopping here and making this your Orlando headquarters. It's convenient for a meeting place and grand for finding just the clothes, cosmetics (Dorothy Gray, Rubinstein, Charles of the Ritz), accessories and home furnishings you'll need as you make your home for the school year in Central Florida. Deliveries go right to your room every morning, too!

To Rollins Men (old and new)

We can't sell you suits and shirts and socks and shoes, but we CAN fix you up when you want something for your mother's birthday or sister's debut (and when you want a gift for any other femme.)

And we're also glad to render other little services, such as cashing checks, or tendering you phone use or checking parcels. Further, if you ever go shopping with a co-ed (don't snort, you may get roped in yet!) we'll provide comfortable chairs and a cigarette while the co-ed looks around.

Here's wishing all of you a great year!

HAUPTMANN IS INDICTED; MORE CLUES FOUND

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Bronx County grand jury indicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann on charges of extortion today after hearing the testimony of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and the detectives who this morning discovered $240 more ransom money and a German pistol hidden in Hauptmann's garage.

The trial date will probably be set for two weeks after the arraignment tomorrow to give New Jersey a chance to extradite him on the charge of murder.

The indictment climaxed a series of swift developments which police believed smashed the last shred of Hauptmann's story, leaving him shaken and nervous despite his persistent declarations of innocence.

300 police guarded the courthouse as Colonel Lindbergh arrived to tell the story of his futile negotiations for the return of his son when the child was already dead. Police discovered nails found in Hauptmann's garage to be the same as the nails used in the kidnapping. Paper found in the house was the same as that of the ransom notes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Detective Arthur Johnson, one in Europe, was ordered to proceed to a "certain city" to await developments momentarily expected in the Lindbergh case.

DETROIT KIDNAP VICTIM DEAD

DETROIT, Sept. 26.—A week's search for Lillian Galtier ended on her eleventh birthday, when her body was discovered bound with cord and stuffed into a trunk in a local apartment house. The girl apparently had been strangled. M. W. Goodrich, 26, a trap drummer, and occupant of the apartment until several days ago is being hunted as a suspect.

ROOSEVELT PLANS INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—President Roosevelt said he plans to investigate thoroughly the textile strike leaders' charges that some manufacturers are discriminating in reemployment. His decision was announced when he returned to the White House from Hyde Park, as union leaders feared they would seek presidential action unless the discrimination ceased.

The president also said he will tackle NRA reorganization plans immediately. He declined to elaborate on his letter accepting the resignation of Administrator Hugh S. Johnson.

Kansas Students to Maintain Low Costs

Manhattan, Kan. (UP)—A plan introduced last year at Kansas State College in which students assisted in preparation of their own meals and did housekeeping to defray expenses of a higher education will be continued this year, according to college authorities.

Two large groups, the women's dormitory and another group organized for meals at the college cafeteria, already have heavier commitments than those of the same date last year.

The re-operative plan at the dormitory calls for a $4.75 cash payment weekly and not more than eight hours of weekly work.

NEWBERRY, S. C., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Annie Stennis Bizzell, who killed her husband two years ago, is believed to have slain her daughter, Annie, 12, and son, Martin, 17, fired her farm home and then shot herself. Two bodies have been taken from the ruins, apparently those of the woman and her daughter. The third body is still in the ruins.

Attention Called To New Registration Procedure

All students are to report at the Office of the Treasurer as soon as possible after arrival where they will be given a Commons and Registration Permit. This must be presented at time of registration.

New students will be given an appointment with their advisors when they will have an opportunity to talk over their work and make out a schedule for the year. If it is necessary to consult other professors in regard to certain courses they should do this and arrange to finish making out their schedules with their advisors after doing so. As soon as the schedule is completed the students will go to the Library where they will make out their registration cards.

Old students will register on Monday, October 1. Those who are making no change in schedule may go directly to the Library and make out their cards. Each student should check carefully with the schedule, however, to be sure that note of the courses for which he has registered have been changed. If any changes are contemplated it is necessary to consult with the advisor who will be found in his office. Any student who does not have an advisor should report at the Library and arrange for the appointment of one. Old Plan students will register at the Registrar's Office.

Physical Education Registration. All new women students will register for Physical Education at the time of the physical examination and must bring cards made out at that time to the Library when they register.

All new students will make out physical education cards in consultation with the physical directors in the Library at the time of registration.

All old students will make out physical education cards in consultation with the physical directors in the Library at the time of registration.

All students should read and carry with them a copy of the REGISTRATION PROCEDURE, which may be obtained at the Office of the Registrar.

ALL-WEATHER ARENA PLANNED

Huge Indoor Stadium to be Built in Philadelphia

Philadelphia (UP)—The hopes and ambitions of sports promoters since commercialized athletics was introduced are about to be fulfilled. Plans have been completed for the erection of a huge indoor-outdoor stadium in which sporting events will be held regardless of weather conditions—rain or shine.

A building once occupied by the Baldwin Locomotive Works will be converted into the sports arena. A movable steel ceiling, electrically operated, will cover the place during bad weather.

All types of sports.

All sporting events, with the exception of pony polo and baseball, can be held in the vast stadium. As ice skating rink will be built in and concealed under the turf at one end.

Badmen and the arena may be staged in the new combination stadium with only the sky as a ceiling when the weather is clear.

There will be housing facilities for 1250 head of livestock under the stadium.

The playing field inside the stadium will be 430 feet long by 200 feet wide—suitable for football, soccer, and other outdoor games. For contests where the entire playing field is used, the ground level stands and two balconies will accommodate 70,000 spectators.

When boxing, wrestling and other sports, where a ring in the center is the stage for competition, the capacity of the field is increased to 82,000.

The new stadium will take in an entire block only several squares from the center of the city, and the management believes more than 3,000,000 persons will view the entertainment provided there annually.

It is expected that construction work will begin about the first of the year and be completed by the Fall of 1935.

Students May Study Practical Government

Rollins College has been selected as one of the colleges and universities which will be eligible to nominate candidates for Scholarships in Practical Government in Washington, D. C., in 1935.

"Stressing the 'internship' plan, in which each student will serve as an apprentice to a governmental official, receiving instruction at the same time the National Institution of Public Affairs is inaugurating a program of training and study in the practical and human elements of government and politics for the benefit of selected college students and graduates," according to an official announcement from the Institution.

"On a scholarship basis," it is announced, "the winners and appointments to the Institution will be brought to Washington for the months of February and March, 1935, for a practical experience designed to supplement classroom study of political science in the preparation for leadership in public affairs."

The National Institution is a non-partisan, non-political, privately-financed and self-governed organization enjoying the co-operation of the Federal government in its training and study program.

Eligible for these scholarships, it is announced, are juniors, seniors, graduate students and recent graduates of accredited institutions who have pursued a substantial study of political science and related subjects.

Necessary qualifications required of scholarship candidates are: a strong scholastic standing; a demonstrated interest in politics and government; qualities of character and ability, especially those having to do with leadership and good health.

In the fall of 1934, a faculty selection committee at each college and university will nominate the respective institution's quota of candidates for the National Institution's scholarships. These candidates will compete for final appointments to be made by the Institution on a regional basis determined by distribution of student population. Most of the National Institution scholarships will include educational expenses, transportation to and from Washington, and board and room for the two months of the training period. A restricted number of additional scholarships will provide all costs of the Institution's training, but will not include living costs.

Candidates for the National Institution Scholarships should address their requests for application forms to the National Institution of Public Affairs, 201 Fifteenth St., Washington, D. C.

GRID SCHEDULE DIFFICULT FOR ROLLINS TARS

Many Formidable Opponents Make Prospects of a Winning Season Uncertain

In beginning his sixth year as coach of athletics and head football coach at Rollins, Jack MacDowell is facing the most difficult grid schedule he has yet attempted.

The Tars have dropped several formidable opponents to take such adversaries as Florida and Oglethorpe, in addition to Miami, Southern, Tampa, Eschsch and Cumberland.

MacDowell has been making it tougher for himself each year since he took up the task of guiding Rollins out of the shadows in grid athletics. In the last four years the Tars have lost only four games, having their best season in 1932 when they were undefeated, and their worst last year when they lost to Miami and Cumberland.

Three Defeats Probable
Rollins faces probable defeat in the opening game with Florida University on September 29 and even the most rabid fans look for the Tars to be on the short end of the score in the battles with Oglethorpe and Miami, and probably Tampa and Cumberland. In the other listed encounters, the Tars, at this stage of the season, are considered an even chance.

Mathematics Makes The Tars Look Bad

One was in figure out what the score of the Florida-Rollins game in Jacksonville, September 29, is going to be in the 13 games which have been played between the two schools and take the average.

In 13 games with Rollins Florida has counted 214 points, which gives the Gators a probable 24 points for the September 29 game. Rollins, on the other hand, has counted only 19 points in 13 grid games with Florida, and it is a bit difficult to figure out how Rollins can hope to score highly on the coming occasion, for even safety at two points could be above the average.

Wise football folks, however, look for the Tars to give the Gators a real battle and nothing is being taken entirely for granted in advance of the game.

YOUR WILL IS BACK...

Will Rogers, former Rollins Star, Joins Tar Coaching Staff

Will Rogers, stellar halfback who gained the name of the greatest football player in Rollins history, has returned to his Alma Mater to serve as assistant coach under Jack MacDowell.

The "Dever Plach", as he is known, is to take complete charge of the freshman squad as soon as they report for initial practice. He has already aided MacDowell in working the varsity into shape for the opening game with the University of Florida.

Rogers was graduated from Rollins in 1933, and during his four years here amassed a large collection of athletic letters in football, baseball, and basketball, compiling one of the greatest records ever made by a Tar gridman. In four years of competition, the pint-sized halfback never failed to get away for at least one long run in

The only restriction in balloting has been placed in the fact that each undergraduate is allowed to select no more than one full team each week.

At the end of the contest, the closing date of which will be announced later, COLLEGIATE DIGEST, representing the undergraduate bodies and newspapers of the United States, will present each member of the student's own All-American with a gold medal, significant of the honor which has been bestowed upon him.

Good playing in the earlier, less important games of the season is just as important as good playing in the later, more important games. In order to make a selection which will compare favorably with the team that is finally picked as the COLLEGIATE DIGEST All-American for 1934, it is advisable to start watching the gridiron feats of the different players and institutions early in the season, and to start voting for your choices without delay.

ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT ENLARGED

New Courses in Business Administration are Added to Curriculum

In recognition of the increasing demand for men and women capable of assuming leadership in business Rollins College is enlarging its course in Economics and Business Administration as a major course in the 1934-35 academic year. It is announced.

"As long as the economic structure of the United States continues to expand along the lines that have marked its development in the past century," a bulletin from the College points out, "opportunities for young men and women in business administration will continue to grow in variety and importance."

Need Theory Training
"No longer is business a matter of bookkeeping; no longer is the development of any single business a matter of expediency; no longer is the discovery of new markets a paramount requisite for the success in sales. Business administration today calls for men and women who are thoroughly trained in fundamental theories, well grounded in cultural, and educated in thinking."

The course in Economics and Business Administration it is announced is not designed to train the student to become an expert accountant or a marketing specialist, or a banker, or an investment counselor. The course is planned, however, to give the student a practical as well as a cultural background upon which he can base his specialized studies. He is encouraged first to survey the field through generalized courses, and later to individualize his education by pursuing work in which he is most interested.

Courses in Both Divisions

The generalized courses are taken in the Lower Division. With the foundation already laid, the student is enabled, in the Upper Division, to pursue a more detailed study of the actual operation and administration of business in the modern world by studying the problems arising from the relationships between capital and labor, viewed both from the standpoint of employer and employee. Studies in finance, investments, banking, business law, business writing, marketing, salesmanship, advertising, accounting, statistical methods, mathematics of finance, and transportation are also covered in the specialized program.

The whole course, according to the announcement, is thus designed to give the student not only a broad social and cultural viewpoint of the operation of the present economic system, but a practical insight into the actual operation of business in the major aspects of production, distribution, finance, investment and management.

TWINS

The Sack twins were highly recommended to Rollins by the Ministry of Education of Czechoslovakia as well as by the Institute of International Education which arranges for the education of foreign students in this country.

They are twenty years old and were born and reared in Prague. They have interrupted their studies at the Commercial School in Prague in order to spend a year studying in the United States. At the end of the year they plan to return to Europe to complete their studies for the degree of "Engineer in Commerce."

In addition to their native languages, the Sack Twins speak English, Polish, and German.

Date of Game With Tampa University Shifted to Dec. 8

The football game between Rollins College and Tampa University originally scheduled for November 10, has been shifted to Saturday, December 8, by Coach Jack MacDowell of Rollins. The game will be played in Tampa.

The shift was made in cooperation with Tampa officials in order to permit Rollins to schedule a game with Miami University at Orlando on November 9 or 10. Because of regulations over which Rollins had no control, a game with Miami had not been scheduled for this season, but arrangements have been worked out recently to make it possible to bring the two rivals together again on the football field.

Rollins will open the season on Saturday, September 23, against the University of Florida in Jacksonville. The remainder of the revised schedule, calling for five games at Tucker Field in Orlando, will be found elsewhere in these pages.

Barbara Donaldson Translates
Work of Eric Berger

Peter Eric Berger, German exchange student in Rollins College in 1929, has recently published a noteworthy monograph, "Landeskunde der Kallidinsel Florida", which contains the results of his study of the geography of Florida extending over the past five years.

The publication has been added to the Rollins collection of Florida and has been translated into English by Miss Barbara Donaldson who was graduated from Rollins last June.

This German publication, which was presented by Dr. Berger as his inaugural dissertation for the degree of doctor in the second philosophical faculty of the Ludwig-Maximilian University of Munich, Germany, discusses Florida's geography in three main divisions—Highlands, Lowlands, and the Coast. The introduction deals with the geological composition of the peninsula and the implications across the land divisions.

INTRODUCING BENNY

By J. Carvey Pusey

Benny is a youngster without family, home or visible means of support. . . . But he has untold thousands of friends who follow his daily doings with the delightful feeling of discovering a great comic strip character. . . .

Benny faces the world alone. . . . never uttering a word. . . . but saying more with a shrug of his shoulders or a gesture with his hands than a volume of explanation. . . .

The more you see of him the better you like him. . . . He pulls at your heartstrings while he tickles your insides. . . . He's a gorgeous blend of pathos and humor. . . . one of the great comic characters of the day. . . .

BENNY WILL APPEAR EACH WEEK IN THE SANDSPUR.

THIS IS BENNY, FOLKS

He's going to be with us all year

DORMITORY AND COMMONS REGULATIONS

As a part of the anti-riot plan the Board of Trustees has adopted the following requirements for college fraternities, societies, drink-tickets and the commons:

1. Every new student regularly enrolled in Rollins College is required to live in one of the college dormitories until one full year's work has been completed.

2. Every upperclass student regularly enrolled in Rollins College is required to live in one of the college dormitories or in one of the approved fraternity or society houses.

3. Every regularly enrolled student is required to board at the college commons.

4. Only regularly enrolled students, who are active, undergraduate members of local organizations may live in fraternity or society houses without special written approval of the College Administration.

Naturally, the above regulations do not apply to the limited number of accepted day students who live at home with their parents.

College dormitories and the commons will be closed during college vacations.

J. CARVEY PUSEY
Creator of "Benny"

He's a farmer. . . . young, handsome, rugged, full of enthusiasm. . . . but like a lot of farmers in this year of grace, he finds the farm more of a liability than an asset and does everything to keep the farm going. . . .

Owens a big stable of horses, and rides at every opportunity. . . .

His wife, who is extremely beautiful, rides with him. . . .

Riding together or walking together, they are likely to stop traffic, while people say, "What a handsome couple!"

He was born south of Philadelphia, brought up west of Philadelphia, and then bought the farm—eighteen acres—north of Philadelphia, in the wilds of Bucks County. Concentrated on raising chickens for a long time but failed to discover the secret of making them profitable.

Made funny sketches of things and people from childhood and always had a lot of fun with them. Began sending some of them to newspapers and magazines and found they got printed.

Got up a strip called, "Cat Tails" that lived for nine years and then made way for the great inspiration. . . . BENNY.

BENNY, different from other comic strips, bringing a Charlie Chaplin sense of pantomime to the comic pages, is a tremendous favorite.

Because they had followed BENNY, the Marx Brothers saw in its creator a great movie gag man and enlisted him to Hollywood at a fabulous salary to supply ideas for their new movie. . . .

But even Hollywood gold could not keep him on the coast when he thought of his horses and his Bucks County farm. . . .

Pusey is the living answer to "How're you going to keep 'em down on the farm?" . . . The answer is just to supply them with money-making gifts outside that make farm life luxuriously possible.

A Sketch of Denys Wortman

His fame is as Wortman. The first name is Denys. After a little red school house beginning, back in the nineties, Denys Wortman went to study at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Rutgers College. His best had always been towards art, and he left Rutgers to attend the Chase School of Art in New York City. This was the famous school conducted by William M. Chase, the noted portrait painter. Among those attending the Chase School at the same time as Wortman were George Bellows, Rockwell Kent, Gies Coleman and Edward Hopper.

After three years at art school, Wortman started painting, primarily landscapes, and he kept it up for ten years. He became known as one of "the Gloucester school," doing most of his paintings at Gloucester, Massachusetts, and at Martha's Vineyard. His paintings were popular, and there were a number of one-man Wortman shows in New York that were heartily acclaimed by critics.

The war, as in many cases, proved a turning point in Wortman's career. He enlisted in the navy and at Great Lakes Training Station, he started to draw for his own amusement sketches of sailors' life. These sketches were beginnings of the Wortman that the world has since come to know. They managed to tell in a flash a story or to illuminate a character in an unforgettable fashion. To Wortman they gave a feeling of being closer to life than he was in his painting. He began to believe this his painting was too much on the "pretty" order. As he himself puts it, he felt like a big sloppy dog curling in a lady's lap. He decided then that his greatest gift and happiness lay in illustrating real life character. His interest had concentrated on people rather than on traditional beauty.

His postwar problem was how to make use of this new inclination. He sought satisfaction first in illustrating. For the New York Tribune Sunday Magazine, he supplied all of the magazine's cartoon drawings, using different styles to get variety.

The New York World at that time had started a feature called "Metropolitan Movies." Gene Cary did most of them, but other artists contributed. Wortman started to supply sketches and eventually the feature became his. He took as his function visual reporting of the way the city looked and talked—what people were saying and what they looked like when they were saying it. He actually and effectively did, he report contemporary life that artists were quick to scold him as a man of genius.

Recognition of the value of this contribution has come importantly from the New York Public Library and the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts which both get daily proofs of Wortman's cartoons to keep on file as a record for posterity.

Wortman is an extremely affable big blond Viking of a man. He went in for athletics at college and he still keeps himself in athletic trim with tennis and swimming. He lives in Greenwich Village, New York, most of the year, but travels considerably. Most of his summers are spent at Martha's Vineyard.

While his work started out to be exclusively devoted to New York scene, he has since widened the scope of it so that now it moves out to embrace everyday people everywhere under the title of "Everyday Movies." The scene is as likely to be in New England or the South or even in Europe as in New York.

The Sandspur will publish Wortman's "EVERYDAY MOVIES" regularly.

PROSPECTS FOR FENCERS GOOD

Experienced Prep - Scholars to Aid Veteran Team

Fencing is looking forward to another big year at Rollins.

Introduced as a sport four years ago, it has won a prominent place in the athletic program of the college, with a guided nearly as large as that of football each year. Its excellence as a body-builder and as a keenly competitive individual sport, together with its romantic appeal, have made fencing one of the most popular sports in the college.

The Rollins varsity team have met nearly all of the best teams in the South and East, and have made a number of extensive trips, including visits to Yale, Harvard, Navy, Army, N. Y. U., Princeton, M. I. T., Penn., University of North Carolina, University of South Carolina, Georgia Tech, Citadel and University of Florida. The team have proved themselves equal to any southern competition and have had excellent success in the East.

Besides the varsity and second teams it is planned to extend fencing into the intra-mural field, by which means it is possible that even more fencing talent may be developed.

Extensive Trips Planned
The varsity schedule proposed for the coming year is in process of finalization, but it is known that plans so far include a Spring trip to the East, with Princeton, Navy, Army, N. Y. U., Yale, and Harvard, as opponents, repeating the trip taken last year. It is also likely that Alabama, Georgia Tech, South Carolina and North Carolina will be met in their own backyards, with return matches to be held at Rollins after Christmas.

The match with the Alamedanos Club at Havana, Cuba, is pending, and it is expected that the Cuban team will fence at Rollins as part of our annual observance of the birthday of Cervantes. Altogether, the fencing offers a very attractive schedule to candidates and audience alike.

Besides a majority of last year's team as a nucleus for the 1934 model varsity, there are said to be several of the best prep fencers in the East registered in the freshman class, some of whom should be

South May Offer Dozen Top-Notch Football Teams

By VALCO LYLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

Atlanta (UP) — Southern football, which produced from three to six All-American athletes last year, promises at least a dozen top-notch players and a dozen top-notch teams this season.

Alabama, 1933 Southeastern Conference winner, and Duke, 1933 Southern Conference champion, will not enter 1934 competition forced to repeat since there are from three to five teams in each conference rated on par with them.

Crimson Tide

The Crimson Tide, which must find ample replacements for its two regular guards, Tom Hupke, All-American, and Be Kirkland, and all except Millard Howell of its starting backfield, faces strongest competition in University of Georgia, Tulane, and L. S. U. However, "Bama" plays only Georgia out of the three—Oct. 21 at Birmingham. (Mark this down as one of the classic struggles of the season.)

After 1934 seasons of reverses from its usual top form, Tulane seems destined to take its place among Duke's best again. Coach Ted Cox has 22 of 29 letter-men back and plenty of potential stars to replace who were lost. The Greenies root Georgia, L. S. U., which to win a place on the team. Competition should be strenuous this year with a team better than that of last year as a result.

The girls' fencing team is likely to be more than a name this year if the addition of the more experienced of the girl fencers proves feasible. The girls' squad has numbered about fifteen each year, and a number of excellent fencers have been developed, who lack only intercollegiate competition to gain recognition. It is expected that something will be done to arrange matches between the Rollins girls and the girls' fencing team at several other colleges, with a woman faculty member as director.

Fencing practice for men is held three times per week throughout the year and for women twice per week during the year. Work begins for men the first Monday in October and all candidates are urged to report promptly. Women will report the first Tuesday in October. All work begins at 3:45 P. M.

and Georgia Tech among the stronger teams in the South.

Tennessee Great Loss

L. S. U., leading locally the loss of Jack Tennessee, the 275-pound All-Southern tackle and 1933 man (defeat) George Mitchell, line running guard, and John Kent, invaluable center, has its spectacular 103 sophomore backfield of Jeff Fathoms, wingback; Ernie Seagr, and Albi Mihal, returning. Mihal will hear watching by the All-American makers. L. S. U.'s toughest are Tulane, Vanderbilt, and Tennessee.

Georgia, with L. S. U., has one of the best backfields in the nation and experienced line material at all positions. Cy Grant, triple-threat All-American last year; Jack Griffith, brilliant quarterback; a fine blocker, and Black Chapman, 200-pound fullback, perhaps the hardest slugger in the South, are the backfield mainstays. John Bond, sophomore sensation last year, will cause no team over loss of diminutive Buster Key, elusive fullback; Georgia, minus Alabama, Tulane, Georgia Tech and Florida among the more outstanding of conference teams.

Tennessee and Auburn, two Southeastern Conference stalwarts last year, do not appear at the top on paper, but may surprise the spectators. Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Florida, and Kentucky promise fine teams.

Duke, 1932 winner in the Southern Conference, rules a slight favorite over South Carolina, also unbeaten in conference games last year were North Carolina, N. C. State, Washington and Lee, and Virginia. Coach Wallace Wade, however, must replace Freddie Crawford, All-American tackle; Tom Rogers, All-Conference fullback and high scorer; Herscoe Hendrickson, All-Conference and All-Southern quarterback; Carl Schack (captain) guard, and Nick Laney and Harry Bostert, who alternated at half and did all the punting and kicking.

Some of the players who will hear watching are Mihal, L. S. U.; Grant and Chapman, backs; and Masscheide, guard; Georgia Tech; Phillips, full back; Georgia Tech; Howell, Alabama; Dixon, Vanderbilt; Shewer, center; Florida, and Robinson, center, Tulane.

one rather expects that should the need arise this chap can and will do the punting and the place kicking.

We fully anticipate his being the thorn-in-the-side of his opponents all season that he has been in his team status in practice. So completely has he won the confidence of the camp foot, our member, that he has been made alternate captain of the Tars for the Florida game.

That tall, well-built fellow with the engaging grin and infectious good humor is none other than Rupert Scott. We call him "Scottie-mag" for short. See him left that high floating lazy spiral sixty-five feet from the field? Well, you ain't seen nothing yet—that just one of his specialties. This corn-drenched fellow can do anything with that big-headed protein, especially except make it hatch.

In short, alone better, most Rollins' top tackle and heir apparent to the throne of the late-famous Ray Miller. His native habitat is the jungle fastness of darkest South Carolina, where our intrepid explorer Coach MacDowell, the crazy Scotsman, tracked, brought to bay and trapped this demon of the white and shipped him to Florida. He will be displayed for public inspection several Friday nights at Ticker Field. You may poke your fingers at him or make faces at him if you wish, but you must not feed him.

The shaggy Carl ("Goose") Kottler of baseball renown is already known to you. His incredibly attenuated cervical pipe is a familiar and much-decorated sight on the campus. He is variously known as "Griffin Neck," "Swan Neck," or "Periscope," but plain, simple "Goose" seems to be in vogue this season. He is making his bow in Rollins varsity football as a center, and is giving cherubic Danny Winant a weary tackle five the first sizzling job. Carl stand 6 feet 5 inches from stem to stern, bushy of nose, and with tip the beam at 194 pounds anytime after breakfast. He holds that foreign and show territory, Georgia, has taken out his first papers in hopes of becoming a naturalized citizen.

Jim Mobley is Kettler's counterpart, and therefore also labors under an odious stigma, but the charm of his personality and the mighty right arm which enables him to throw third string punt on any business during spring football are serving to overcome this handicap. Jim's wonderful wrist control, his forward passing throw on offense, while his dash and drive is a hubbuck at looking up the line. It is hoped he won't be scorned because of his nativity.

Ray Allen is another angry proportion from Carolina. He is reputed to excel in a blocking and defensive back, and should see plenty of action during the season.

Bob Johnson, the Sunshine Boy, is a local product. He is indigenous to Lakeland, Florida, which itself gives him a claim to distinction, but aside from his leadership, his disposition of a gladiator has demonstrated that he is a fighting backfield that has to be reckoned with. His free blocking and tackling are known quantities, and they promise well for his of, however play when he gets the chance.

The Tars again can muster a representation of the Noble Red Man, without which no Rollins team would be complete. This time it is in the person of Curdie Baskin, a tribesman of our own Dick Wade, who also learned his war dance in the hills of Cherokee, N. C. Curdie is a long-winded fellow who chases down punts like his ancestral forebears ran down buffaloes. If there's any truth in the old adage "there's no good Indian but a dead Indian" then this pleasant, copper colored American is indeed a mighty bad, bad Indian!

Coach McLennan, of Stanford, high school teammate, is helping to ready the Tars for Florida, by sending his lads to "Dumey" scrimmage against the collegians. . . . An attempt was made to bring the Southern College Moccasins here one day last week for a scrimmage session, but Coach Walter Waulford of the Mocs turned thumbs down. . . . George "Giant" Miller, the Leesburg speed merchant, looms as the long distance scoring threat. This diminutive halfback charges down the field like a flash of brightened lightning and is every bit as hard to tap hands on as that blonde's telephone number. . . . The squad has a bumper crop of injuries this fall, including four week achles, three lame knees and a like quantity of bad shoulders, besides all manner of miscellaneous ailments. North Carolina continues to be strongly represented on the Tar squad, sending this year a stalwart contingent of five sturdy ones.

Orientation

SPLENDID idea, we think, especially in Winter Park. Believe it or not, East Park Avenue runs north and south, and eventually the sun will rise in the east for you.

BUT, as we were about to say, it is a fine idea to get the why, the when and the where all firmly fixed before the troublesome Sophomores arrive. On the campus we feel that the Deans are perfectly able to handle all these matters, but when you get down town, we should like to have something to say about the "where."

FOR MANY YEARS we have played some part in dressing the men at Rollins. We are proud to have turned out some of the better dressed men on the campus. And we are just as eager this year to serve you in any way we can.

MESS Jacket outfit, Tuxedo, sportcoat, slacks, Keds, tennis ball, sweater, shirt, shoes—if it's wearing apparel, just put a check mark after BAKER'S and you will not go wrong.

a good cigarette gives you a lot of pleasure

... just about every cigarette smoker knows that—but here are some other facts to keep in mind . . .

For a cigarette to be milder and taste better it must be made of mild, ripe Turkish and home-grown tobaccos.

We wish you could go into the factories and see Chesterfield made. The mild ripe tobacco is cut in long even threads—then packed into the cigarette so as to make Chesterfield draw right and burn evenly.

A good cigarette can give you a lot of pleasure, and we would like for you to try Chesterfield.
