UCF, Poland strike unique deal
Detailed plan calls for exchange of professors, ideas, support, etc.

UCF has brokered an educational, scientific, cultural and economic agreement between the state of Florida and the Republic of Poland that is likely to lead to programs ranging from job training to student and faculty exchanges. Florida Secretary of Commerce Gregory Farmer and Jaroslaw Zietkowksi, Polish secretary of state, signed a statement of intent in Washington, D.C., March 21, during Polish President Lech Walesa's state visit.

The statement pledges to "foster meaningful educational, scientific and economic partnerships, which will appreciably strengthen cross cultural understandings, and ... help to establish deep and lasting friendships between our peoples."

Specific programs are to be developed this summer under terms of a more detailed agreement expected to be signed next month by Gov. Lawton Chiles and Polish ambassador to the United States Kazimierz Dziewanowski. Under the agreement, UCF will administer Florida-based programs on behalf of the State University System, which, in turn, will represent the state.

The agreement began to germinate this January in discussions between UCF Provost Richard Astro and Julian Pstrazanski, a professor in tourism from Warsaw who is visiting UCF during the spring term. Further discussions here and in Poland followed, yielding commitments to be formalized next month. According to Astro, cooperative programming could span a variety of possibilities, including:

- Scientific exchanges pairing one party's strengths with the other's needs, such as an exchange of UCF computer scientists and Poland's world-class mathematics theorists to help in the inauguration of UCF's Ph.D. mathematics program.
- Collaborative film projects involving UCF and Poland's national film faculty, Disney, Universal and faculty from Poland's renowned film school in Lodz.
- Job training for Polish trainees in internships in key businesses and industries, augmented by workshops and short courses offered by SUS institutions.
- Education programs under the

Legislators to consider BOR increase
Extra regent would likely come from Central Florida

UCF may soon have another voice on the Board of Regents. Florida's legislators are considering a proposal to increase the number of board members from 13 to 14. The proposal also suggests a more organized schedule so two regents can come up for reappointment annually.

It is possible that if legislators approve the plan, Gov. Lawton Chiles would appoint someone from Central Florida. When Orlando resident Joan Ruftier's six-year term expired in January, and Chiles did not reappoint her to the board, it left UCF without a permanent local voice. UCF student Ross Wolf is the UCF without a permanent local voice. Chiles did not offer Ruffier another term. Many of board members from 13 to 14. UCF receives high praise in poll

Three Florida schools make honor roll for teaching excellence

UCF has been named by college presidents and university deans to a national honor roll for "an institutional commitment to traditional Western political and economic philosophies."

In earning a place on the 1991 John Templeton Foundation Honor Roll for Free Enterprise Teaching, UCF joined 86 other colleges and universities who also were acknowledged for their economic education through a poll of presidents and academic officers at accredited colleges and universities throughout the United States. The honor roll included such institutions as Boston College, Harvard, Stanford and Northwestern, Stetson and Florida State were the only other Florida schools named to the honor roll.

All four-year, accredited colleges and universities were eligible for the Free Enterprise Honor Roll. Balloting materials were sent to officers at more than 1,300 colleges. A total of 610 institutions received one or more nominations on some 400 returned ballots. The survey was conducted by the Foundation for Economic Education in Irvington-on-Hudson, New York.

Administrators were asked to name schools that, in their opinions, "best exemplify the teaching of the values of Western civilization and the free market economy."

"Although studies of this sort certainly possess inherent limitations, it does provide one measure of a universe of values," maintains the NEC in its Honor Roll announcement.

LIFE pays off $2,500 debt

The mostly retired students who have joined UCF's Learning Institute for Elders (LIFE) offered a real-life lesson in generosity on March 26 by repaying $2,500 the university provided to launch programs aimed at the educational interests and needs of the area's senior residents. The combination of pressures on UCF's budget and success in registering seniors for the LIFE program led to the repayment action, according to Roy Connally, LIFE president and retired psychology professor. Some 180 people paid $100 each to become LIFE members for the 1991 spring and fall terms. The repayment to UCF came from membership funds, which fund weekly mini-courses each month on such topics as "Live and Learn: How We Remember" and "Why We Forget," as well as a monthly lunch and lecture series addressing subjects as varied as the Holocaust and the satisfactions of writing. The full-year scholarship was established by OSF's board of directors to enhance its ongoing relationship with the university.
