THE NEWS SPOTLIGHT

Late Flashes by United Press Wire

NATIONAL BOARD MOVES IN STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Following with unprecedented speed the National Labor Relations Board today submitted a plan for the peaceful end of the Cleveland A. & P. store strikes and lockout which has threatened Roosevelt's trust between capital and labor. Hopes are high that the plan will be accepted on both sides.

The plan was drafted in conference with John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company and officers of Cleveland unions. A decision from the A. & P. directorate and the union membership is expected within a few days.

The project of the Relations Board is believed to be acceptable to the union because it assures the reopening of the Cleveland stores and the rehiring of 2,300 employees discharged when the A. & P. preferred to close rather than submit to unionization.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ARGUES AGAINST MARRIAGE SUBSIDY

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sat on a "board of review" here today as eighteen delegates to the National Youth Conference discussed difficulties of life in the present economic scheme.

Mrs. Roosevelt frequently questioned the speakers, once taking issue with Philip Schatts, who suggested that the dissemination of both central information and government subsidies would encourage

MEXICAN PRESIDENT OPENS ANTI-CATHOLIC CAMPAIGN

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—(UP)—President Abelardo Rodriguez charged Roman Catholic clergy with fomenting a rebellion and ordered Attorney-General Emilio Portes Gil to take action against those found guilty.

Rodriguez' order is believed to be the first move in a campaign to expel all archbishops and bishops from the country immediately and all priests later.

Authentic reports indicated that every Catholic church will be closed within a month and all priests expelled.

DEBATES PLANNED

Department Makes Tentative Dates

Many feature debates have been arranged by the Speech Department pending the satisfactory development of available debaters.

Up to the present time the Rollins debaters have lacked experience in local fields, and arrangements are being made for them to speak at assembly periods in different high schools and before Chambers of Commerce.

The tentative plans of the Speech Department are for one northern trip to meet, among others, such colleges as City College of New York, Columbia, and Yale. Prof. Fries is also corresponding with the National Broadcasting Company, arranging for Rollins to meet an English team on the air. All these plans depend solely on the development of the debaters and nothing will be definitely decided until they have proven their metal.

Bates College of Lewiston, Maine, is in correspondence with Rollins at the present time and it is hoped that a meeting can be decided upon sometime during the mid-winter term. Bates has made a world debating tour and possesses one of the strongest teams in the country.

President Grey, of Bates, plans to spend his vacation in Florida, and Dean Anderson has said that it would be a happy affiliation if Rollins could encounter Bates in his presence.

National Student Meet Scheduled

The second national conference of Students in Politics will be held in St. Louis, Mo., from December 21 to December 29, 1934.

The conference is under the auspices of some of the leading student organizations of the country, among them being the Student Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., International Student Service, National Student League, and Student League for Industrial Democracy.

Meetings are to be held during the conference to discuss aspects of the central theme "The Student and the Crisis." At the majority of the meetings students will lead the discussions, with resource people present.

It is expected that much national interest will be aroused by the plans of this group. Those interested are requested to get in touch with Prof. Paul Trowbridge.

CHAPEL COMMITTEES BEGIN WORK

Program, Music, and Social Service Groups Plan Year

The Chapel Committees got under way last week with the meetings of the Program, Music and Social Service groups.

The Music Committee has been studying the problem of making the Organ Vesper programs more popular with the students, both as to the matter of the hour, and the types of music presented.

The hour for Vespers has been moved to six in an attempt to make the programs more convenient, while the students have been asked to request any numbers which they desire to hear played and leave them in writing either in the Chapel office or with some member of the Committee. It is hoped that advantage will be taken of this offer as a sincere attempt is being made to please students in this connection.

Armistice Service Planned
The Program Committee seconded these plans of the Music Committee. The program for the Armistice Day service has been worked out in full detail, with Dr. Newman giving the address. The Thanksgiving service is under consideration, the details yet to be worked out, while the Christmas Service, which takes place just before the closing of college for the holidays, and which is the outstanding service of the year is being planned. A joint meeting of the Program and Music Committees has been called for Thursday evening at 7:30.

The Social Service Committee, composed of about 30 students, is divided into seven sub-committees: The Hungerford School Committee, Library and Recreation, Infirmity, Aid, Summer Work Investigation, Public School and Day Nursery Committees, with the idea of this simplifying the work which this committee must do.

The interest which is being shown in these committees as well as in the Publicity and Usherung groups shows yet a further step in the idea of Dean Campbell to have all the active work in connection with the chapel administration done by students. If you have something to offer in this connection, it is not too late to identify yourself with one of these committees, and in this way help to produce a better college and a more understanding and sympathetic community.

District
Educators
Meet in Orlando
A district meeting of teachers and educators was held in the senior high school at Orlando last Thursday evening.

The chief speaker was Prof. Henry Smith, dean of the College of Education and president of the National Educational Association. The subject of his address was "The Changes in Education Which Have Wrought by the Passage of Time."

President Hall, in a short talk, welcomed the district meeting to Orlando and spoke of how fortunate Rollins College considered itself to be located in this part of the state.

Other speakers were W. C. Cantor, state superintendent of Education; Dr. Edward Connelley, President of the Florida State Women's College at Tallahassee; H. H. Filer, President of the Florida Educational Association.

At the close of the meeting, D. H. Moore, of Lake county, was elected president of the district; T. W. Lawton, vice president; and Redman Lehmann, of Mount Vernon, secretary.

DRAMATIC TRYOUTS

All students interested in trying out for the forthcoming production of the "Wind and the Rain" are asked to meet at Recreation Hall, on Sunday, November 4th, at 7:30 p. m.

DEAN ENYART SPEAKS SUNDAY

Urges Vision to Give Action Power

"Silence—Seeing—Action" was the theme of the sermon delivered last Sunday in Knoxville Memorial Chapel by Dean Arthur Enyart.

"Every day," he said, "we hear complaints about this generation, and how blasé and indolent it is, yet students today are interested in things religious as never before. They are seeking, struggling to find religious experience."

Three helpful ingredients which they can put in their test tubes and experiment with are: vision, seeing, action.

We need time for thinking and quiet brooding in the turmoil and (Continued on page 2)

Key Society Holds Meeting Wednesday

Last Wednesday the first meeting of the year of the Rollins Key Society was held at the Old Omega House.

Plans for the organization of a freshmen honorary scholastic fraternity were discussed and several committees were appointed. It was decided that another meeting be called in a short time to elect new members and to pass definitely upon the new honorary group.

INTER-RACIAL COMMITTEE FORMED

Organized to Promote Good Feeling

An Inter-Racial Committee has recently been formed among the college students in order to better racial relations between Rollins and negroes in the vicinity.

It is under the direction of Professor France, who is vitally interested in the subject, and is divided into five groups, each one having a faculty head and a student chairman.

Professor France has taken direct supervision of the Grousemar School Committee which has Sally Limerick for chairman. The other groups are: Hospital Service Committee under Dean Enyart and Marlen Elmendorf; Day Nursery Committee under Mrs. Maxine and Kathleen Shepherd; Library and Recreation Committee under Professor Clarke and Dornitha Yast; and Hungerford School Committee under Professor Trowbridge and Jane Thayer.

The Inter-Racial Committee is to work in collaboration with the Social Service Committee of the Chapel since their duties touch on much the same topic. However, the Inter-Racial group is confining its attention solely to negroes and their needs, in order to improve understanding between the races and to aid colored people materially.

If anyone is interested in joining—and more students are needed—either let the chairman know or ask Betty Trevor who is secretary of all divisions of the Committee.

Symphony To Give Five Concerts

The Winter Park Symphony Orchestra, under the management of Miss Mary Leonard, will present its concert in Recreation Hall, Rollins College, on the following Sunday afternoons beginning at four o'clock: December 9, 1934; January 6; February 10; March 10, and March 24, 1935.

The orchestra was founded several years ago by Miss Mary Leonard, who continues as its patron and sponsor. Musicians for this organization are, for the most part, residents of Central Florida. However, many Rollins students are included in the group. Among these are Dante Borgogni, Theodore Ehrlich, Everett Roberts, Claudell MacCraw, Vincent Caronnet, Dorothy Smith and other students of the Rollins Conservatory. Mr. Harry Clemens, Director of the Rollins Conservatory of Music, will wield the baton for the Orchestra.

In order to help defray necessary expenses of the Symphony Orchestra Miss Leonard is opening a tea and gift shop in Winter Park on November 1.

A season ticket for all five concerts may be purchased for $3.00. The cost of single admissions has been set at $1.25.

This is the ninth season of the Winter Park Orchestra, which now numbers seventy members.

First Assembly Held Today

On Wednesday morning the first of a series of all-college assemblies was held in Recreation Hall.

To the interest of the student body, Coach MacDowell put his men through a demonstration of football plays, showing the spectators the methods by which the Tars prove themselves such worthy foes on the football field.

Throughout the year assemblies will be held at regular intervals with a variety of programs that should interest every member of the student body.

Stokowski
Gives Baton
Wielders Chance

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — A school for conductors has been started by Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

From within his own orchestra, Stokowski has selected several musicians who, he said, had shown a distinct talent for conducting.

"The idea may ultimately develop benefit and enrich the musical life of the country as a whole," Stokowski said, "and that is the motive of the present experiment."

Artists in the orchestra who seem to have talent and potentialities for conducting will be given almost daily experience in baton wielding.

"I feel that musically the United States is entering a new era," said Stokowski. "We gradually are building up a new kind of musical life upon a firmer foundation than formerly has been possible."

"As this process takes form it will necessitate the development of a complete and completely American musical technique and a more general extension of the orchestra idea."

May Seek America's Cup
OTTAWA, Ont.—(UP)—A suggestion that Canada should build a yacht and try to win the America's Cup was made by Premier L. P. O. Tilley, of New Brunswick, in an interview during a visit here.

Premier Tilley said the money to defray the expenses of building the cup challenger could be raised by national subscription.

ALL REQUEST PROGRAM

1. March, Pomp and Circumstance (No. 1) — Elgar

2. Adagio (Moonlight "Sonata") — Beethoven

3. Caprice "The Brook" — Debussy

4. Funeral March of a Marionette — Gounod

5. The Desert Song — On Mound Stage

The Rosary — Nevin

"The Brook"

Debussy has for many years been teacher of music at the Institute of Musical Art in New York City. This composition is one of the most delightful written for organ, but is too difficult of execution to be played by beginners. The picture is obvious: the brook glides smoothly, quickly, now gurgles softly, now dashes swiftly, always playfully, but busily on its way.

I. R. CLUB TO MEET

Gathering Open to All Interested

The Rollins International Relations Club will hold its first meeting of the year at eight fifteen tomorrow night in the home of Dr. Louis E. Wise, 144 West Chestnut avenue, when Mr. A. Rod Trowbridge will review Ernest Renan's recent book, "Hitler Over Europe." An informal discussion period will follow the talk.

This meeting marks the commencement of the club's activities for the year and all members of the Rollins Faculty and Student body are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Trowbridge will be the Faculty Advisor to the Club this year during the leave of absence of Mr. Elton Smith, who is now away from the campus studying for his doctor's degree. Miss Agatha Townsend is president.

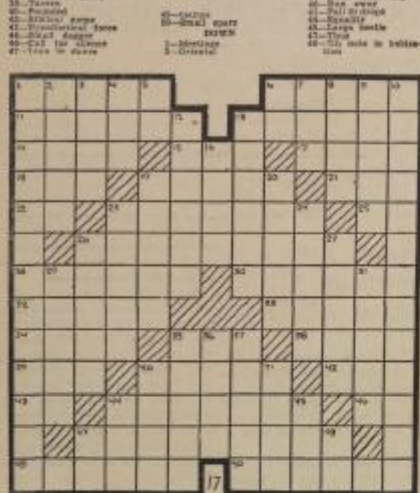

Cooperating with the club in its activities will be an informal student faculty committee made up of those interested in adult education. And as in the past, the club will be aided by the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace and will be supplied with current literature from that organization.

rush of college life. "Reading maketh the full man; writing maketh the exact man; meditation maketh the wise man."

This age with its materialism would have us forget that we have a soul. So it takes vision, the voice of God from the mount, to give perpetual inspiration, and the college inevitably becomes the mount, the place of withdrawal. It is a spot not only of study and play, but of meditation, where the best results often accrue from teaching which is not concerned with "how to do," but with "how to be."

"The vision must go before the deed if there is to be power in the deed itself," continued Dean Bryant, "but vision is useless if action does not follow." Here in college we see how much larger are faith and life than we know; are led to an ideal; and are given the chance to serve God through the ideal.

Seymour Ballard and Martha May Newby led the Invocation and Responsive Reading, while the Old and New Testament Lessons were read by Gordon Jones and Elfreda Winant.

Big Mirror Ready for Grinding

CLEVELAND—(UP)—A three-ton mirror, which will become the world's second largest "eye," has arrived here from the Corning Glass Works in its own private car.

The mirror will be ground and polished to a mathematical curve with such precision that its deviation from the curve will be less than a millionth of an inch. More than a year will be required by the Warner and Swasey Company to finish the job.

The mirror will be used in a new telescope now under construction by the same company and will be installed at the McDonald Observatory in Texas. The observatory will be the property of the University of Chicago. Dr. Otto Struve, director of the Yerkes Observatory, will also be director of the McDonald Observatory.

The new glass, when finished, will be either 81 or 81 1/2 inches in diameter. Its exact size will depend upon how much of the edge must be ground away.

Tarantulas Sluggish CALLUP, N. M.—(UP)—Cool weather has made the tarantulas sluggish and several specimens have been caught and brought into Gallup. In addition to the tarantulas a shell-backed scorpion colored specimen of a spider was exhibited. The specimen could not be identified.

More than 650 persons have been placed in employment by the occupation bureau of Barnard College (New York City) during the past year. They earn an aggregate salary of more than $111,000. Wages ranged from $600 in teaching to $780 in office work.

HALF A CENTURY OF ROLLINS HISTORY TO BE REVIEWED

This is the first of a series of articles which will appear each week in the Sandspur as a part of its observation of the coming Rollins semi-centennial.

By John Beasford

Conferences plans, unit cost, term projects and all the other appurtenances of a modern Rollins were unthought of 50 years ago when Rollins College for "young ladies and gentlemen" first opened its doors.

In view of the semi-centennial to be observed during the coming term, a view of the college in its early days may be amusing and interesting to modern students. A description of the school is found in a little brochure published by Winter Park back in 1888 when Rollins was but three years old. It had been recently under the aegis of the Congregational Church, but became an independent non-sectarian school as soon as it was able to stand on its own feet.

Today, Rollins has about 480 students, and several of its modern buildings are comparable to the finest on any campus in the country. But in 1888, the college's domain was small enough to be surrounded by a stout wire fence and consisted of four structures—Knowles Hall, Ladies' Hall, Dining Hall and Boys' Hall. The students numbered about 100.

In those early days there was no "hush-hush" for freshmen to avoid, no Carnegie Hall, no diving tower, no Annie Russell Theater, and no Chapel. Rollins students of today will probably appreciate the description of the school quoted from the Winter Park booklet:

"Young ladies and gentlemen who cannot endure the northern winters and yet have health sufficient to pursue their studies under favorable circumstances, will find here an institution of the best grade, and in a delightful climate, where they may hope to pass safely their most critical years, and go forth with health confirmed to strong and useful lives. The cottages for young ladies and gentlemen, and the common dining hall, furnish a cheerful and cultivated Christian home.

The institution was founded as a Christian college. It is thoroughly non-sectarian. Its charter says, 'Its object, which shall never be changed, shall be the Christian education of youth; and to this end it proposes to provide for its students the best educational facilities possible, and throw about them those Christian influences which will be adapted to restrain them from evil, and prepare them for a virtuous, happy and useful life.'

At another point, the booklet states: "Much attention is given to the writing of compositions, the learning of choice selections, and the recitation of mottoes of the pupils." At that time, such complex brain children as unit cost plans were still in the nebulous realm of things unborn. For advancing the religious, moral and scholastic progress of the "young ladies and gentlemen," the college received a little more than $200 a year. An itemized list has it:

"Expenses for a term of 12 weeks (9 weeks term proportionately a little less) are as follows: tuition in collegiate department, $15.00; . . . board $48.00; furnished room with light, $12.00. Washing done in the college laundry at a 50-cent above cost. No students will be permitted to room or board out of the institution except under wholesome family influences."

Though there was no conservatory to send forth piercing sounds upon the still night, the use of a piano was granted at $15.00 a term.

Studies at Rollins were divided into three departments, the course in each occupying four years. There was a preparatory branch, with "classical" and "scientific" courses, an academic unit designed for those who could not take a full college course, and the collegiate department, also with "classical" and "scientific" courses.

The college was managed by 21 trustees, "many of whom are known throughout our own and foreign lands as Christian gentlemen of the highest culture." And it was these and other devoted workers who laid the foundation upon which Rollins has continued to build during its first 50 years.

representative today of the high artistic traditions of France. According to his estimates, the allocation of 20,000,000 francs to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs would be sufficient to carry out the project successfully.

He suggests that 16,000,000 francs be divided among the 130 most important French posts abroad for the acquiring of works of art created by living artists and sculptures while another 10,000,000 francs be used to effect embellishments representative of French furniture, bronze work, tapestries and wall paper.

Mac West Hunts Indian CALLUP, N. M.—(UP)—Mac West wants a good Indian who looks like the head on an Indian penny and a search of the Navajo Indian reservation is under way so that Mac can have her man. The Indian will have a part in Miss West's next picture.

Pres. E. M. Hughes, of Iowa State College (Ames), will soon investigate complaints that have been lodged with Iowa's governor which state that a professor in that institution has been partial in his teaching.

33 States Will Change License Colors

WASHINGTON—UP—Thirty-three states and the District of Columbia will change color schemes on their 1935 license plates, an American Automobile Association survey has disclosed.

Black, green and blue will predominate on the new plates, the A. A. A. said. Thirteen states will retain their 1934 color motifs, reserving numerals and background.

Arizona and West Virginia, however, will not alter their present schemes.

Black and yellow, favored by the Bureau of Standards to offer good visibility, will be used in five states—mainly, Colorado, Florida, Kentucky, South Dakota and West Virginia.

Four states will employ white on green, white on blue, and black on white motifs, while three will use orange on black, blue on white, and white on black.

Arkansas plates will have blue on cream; Delaware, colonial blue on old gold; Indiana, black on robin's egg blue, and Minnesota, gold on maroon.

The District of Columbia, which has favored a black and yellow combination for seven years, will have a green on white motif in 1935.

RAT SQUEAKS

By Tux

We take this opportunity of expressing to Milton Beckman, our Class Secretary, our deep and sincere sympathy on the sudden death of his mother.

made us feel bad to see how we looked, too.)

Rats you shouldn't have missed: Our own Harold Tees going to the K. A. dance last Friday night.

fish night, in his own original soup and fish: tax pants, rolled up at the bottom (under whose they were), checkered (race track) sport coat, brown hat with the brim turned up, black shoes and (luckily) black socks, and girls, black and lavender suspenders! Add black bow tie and shake well. Also, for the dramatic effect, an hour and a quarter late for dinner at that.

The Rat who went down to see the football team off, sat on the running board of a car, held his head, and as the train pulled out asked what all the noise was for.

Those Cleverleaf Rats in general. We hear that the other day five beds were piled over there, and that the dorm was out on the veritable war path. We asked if the avengers couldn't tell by their characters the people who would be so childish as to pull a junior-grade prep school stunt like that, and when to retaliate at. Our informant had to admit that there were too many "squirrels" over there; it just couldn't be the whole dorm. (Remember those cakes last week; she may be right.)

The Rat who got thirteen diamonds in a bridge game the other night and was so surprised she threw down the hand.

That fat wettling (with the first base) splashes that look place in Rollins a while back, but the pressure came on and the hose snapped around; so it wasn't a success.

The shoe ripping and bad dumping rough horse in Rollins that ended up in the wrong bed.

The "Scree Mousie" in Rollins and that mysterious telephone call which for the first time this year quelled the place down.

What a place Rollins Hall turned out to be.

The Rat who didn't know what to do to turn down a Fraternity bid.

The Rat who couldn't get into a bar.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Voters in 47 States will join November 6 in the first referendum on New Deal policies since Franklin D. Roosevelt's smashing victory in 1932.

432 Congressional Seats

The nation-wide poll is to elect 432 members of the House of Representatives. Maine's regular jump-the-gun election last September sent two Democrats and one Republican to the House, a numerical alignment identical with that chosen by Maine voters two years ago.

Democratic congressional leaders are fighting to protect their vital two-thirds majority which enabled them to beat down almost all rebellion in the 73rd Congress. If the Democrats retails a bare two-thirds majority of 290 seats the Administration may count it as unqualified triumph.

The average minority gain in off-year elections is 70 seats. Republicans are peddling an increase of from 50 to 85. Their gains probably will be much less than 50, Democrats insist that they will be as strong in the next House as they were in the last. The 73rd House was composed of 311 Democrats, 114 Republicans, five Farmer-Laborites. There are five vacancies.

California Contest

In California the gubernatorial candidacy of one-time Socialist Upton Sinclair may offset the lack of the Democratic congressional ticket. Likewise in Nebraska, due to a bitter Democratic senatorial fight involving the Gov. Bryan wing, Republicans may gain seats. A split in Michigan's Democracy also suggests Republican gains.

The Farmer-Labor third party situation in Minnesota and the LaFollette Progressive party campaign in Wisconsin are disturbing factors in congressional races in those states. The Coffey-Ewer-Pischel argument in the Pennsylvania senatorial fight may have repercussions in congressional districts.

Pick Up Few Seats

Minnesota, Kentucky, and Missouri elected their Congressmen at large in 1932, and Republicans are expected to pick up a few seats in those states now that redistricting is completed.

In Rhode Island, textile strike violence rebounded into politics. Massachusetts was swayed by a Democratic senatorial primary fight which may affect re-election chances of Democrats.

Republicans to make substantial gains are more likely to cut into Democratic ranks in those states which are usually Republican, but which climbed on the Roosevelt bandwagon in 1932. These include Illinois, Indiana, California, Iowa, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia and New York.

Off-Year Records

House majority leader Joseph W. Byrnes, chairman of the Congressional Democratic Campaign Committee, refuses to concede that the Republicans will gain any seats, despite the fact that the off-year elections normally show a swing away from the Administration.

The record in recent years shows what usually happens in the off-year congressional elections. Midway in the Hoover administration the Democrats gained 61 seats to win a majority. They gained 14 seats in 1928, and 35 in 1932. In 1938, during the Wilson administration, the Republicans gained 21 seats. In 1914 the first Wilson off-year poll they gained 66.

The administration can retain a two-thirds majority in the House next session only by holding Republican and Farmer-Labor gains to 25. A two-thirds majority of the House is 290. The present lineup is 311 Democrats, 114 Republicans, five Farmer-Laborites. There are five vacancies.

Car Trouble for Date Bureau

TORONTO, Ont.—(UP)—The youthful "date bureau" established a few days ago at the University of Toronto where lonely students can leave their names and descriptions in an effort to arrange meetings with co-eds, already is having trouble with "note - diggers." We have 25 couples paired off now," one of the operators of the bureau said. "We could have fixed up a lot more, but most of the girls demand that their 'dates' are filled only by boys with cars."

Claims "Mousie" Endangered

WYOCENA, Wis.—(UP)—Members of the band of the village of 400 claim that their "mousie" is endangered by irregular income and as a result citizens will vote Nov. 6 on the question of using a portion of a one-mill tax on land for the support of the band.

Vermont U. Co-eds Try Housekeeping

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UP)—A co-ed experiment in co-operative enterprise of house management is in progress at University of Vermont.

A house has been set aside for the use of the girls, 23 in number, and a house director has been named to take charge of the experiment in wise buying and careful saving.

Dining rooms and two complete kitchens have been provided. Each girl will contribute the same amount of money and the entire sum will be pooled and budgeted. A schedule of work has been planned in which each girl will assume the various duties of management in rotation—cooking, washing on table, washing dishes and kindred tasks.

Perfect Bridge

NORTH BAY, Ont.—(UP)—Mrs. A. Brown and three friends sat down for a game of bridge a few nights ago. Suddenly they gapsed in unison, peered at their cards and then put them on the table. Each held 13-card suits. Mrs. Brown had 13 Spades; Mrs. T. LaFrance, 13 Hearts; Miss M. Korman, 13 Diamonds, and Mrs. E. Cavanagh, 13 Clubs.

Congratulations

To the thirty-eight men who last Sunday became affiliated with the five men's social fraternities of the Rollins campus, we offer our congratulations. Likewise, to each of the organizations, we express our gratification at their success.

Thirty-eight men have thus taken perhaps their most important step of the year. After a short month of hurry-hurry rushing, each was called upon to decide for himself which fraternity offered him the greatest opportunity for social and mental advancement, and each has decided.

Pledges are the life-blood of the fraternity, for without them to replace active members who will not return after the present year the groups would fast dwindle and disappear. This obvious truth, however, is often distorted, more often than not by the pledge himself, into a belief that the newcomers who have been bid to join and who have accepted are indispensable to the organization as a whole.

Any fraternity man will attest to the falsity of that belief. A pledge, having taken upon himself a semi-membership in his chosen fraternity, is on trial and is to prove his spirit and worth before final acceptance. Were this not the case the pledge period would be abolished.

We urge, then, all new men who have undertaken the task of becoming fraternity members to maintain the same excellent spirit which they demonstrated to show themselves as desirable candidates. Only thus can the fraternity's true value be attained.

Intolerance

Those who attended the Holy Rollers' baptismal service on Lake Virginia last Sunday will recall the stinging epithets which the fervent and sincere colored minister aimed at the curious assemblage of college students who gathered to watch the proceedings.

Including the casual onlookers in the class of "Pharisees" and saying that "the best educated people are not always the best people," the negro pastor indicted the godlessness and lack of reverence prevalent among the so-called educated classes of today.

Dyed-in-the-wool Southerners will doubtless ignore the entire matter in their typically pseudo-superior manner, and many Northerners will likely return the pastor's compliment in kind by including the negro Holy Rollers in the class of hopeless fanatics and let that suffice.

Both, in our opinion, are execrably narrow-minded. We prefer an unbiased viewpoint which will allow full respect of the right of any creed to practice its ceremonies as its customs prescribe. To inhibit or disparage the religious fervor and rhythmic outbursts inherent in the Negro is not far short of criminal, and to shun or deride the words of a minister merely because they are uttered by one of another race and sect is pure moral intolerance.

If we must find amusement in religion, let it arise as a smiling admiration of sincerity rather than as a derogatory and critical attitude toward other modes of worship than our own.

A Girls' Honorary

Despite the number of honorary fraternities on the Rollins campus the need has been felt and expressed for another.

To have the two leading honor groups on campus open solely to men leaves approximately half the student body unrepresented in this field. For the women students there is no organization through which their achievements may be recognized. If a group were formed here, with the purpose of such recognition, its worth would soon be realized.

In addition to recognition of merit, a women's honorary would serve to concentrate the leading co-ed opinions. It would run a course parallel to that of O. D. K., having approximately the same requirements for membership. To be eligible a girl should be in the Upper Division, and take part in several fields of activities, among them athletics, publications, student government, music and dramatics.

This year, marking the fiftieth anniversary of Rollins, will see many innovations on the campus. Let us hope that the founding of a women's honorary fraternity may be one of the more outstanding.

Do College Girls Make Bad Wives?

That "a college woman when she becomes a wife makes more trouble than all the other classes of wives put together," is the belief of Dr. D. P. Wilson of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations, as quoted in the Golden Book.

With all due respect to the erudition of such an eminent sociologist and pessimist as Dr. Wilson, we are forced to observe that he has not substantiated his statement with the facts for which his "science" professes so much devotion. It would be most difficult to accumulate statistical data to prove a relationship between marital troubles and college training. Divorces, like education, are more prevalent in the upper economic levels of society, but so are automobile accidents and snafus.

A specialist in a clinic such as the Los Angeles institute is in a poor position to make conjectures in such a comparison. It is reasonable to suppose that when a college woman got into a marital tangle she would be more cognizant of the possibility of help from a scientific source, while her uneducated sister would rush to a divorce court. Also there is the legion of women whom the fear of economic insecurity holds in subordination to unhappy home life. For these two reasons it is quite possible that the large proportion of institute clients may be college women.

It is not assumed today that the college girl is a "blue stocking," an intellectual, or in any way diverted from normal womanhood. She should be more, not less adaptable to difficult situations. College training should help her to deal with family life in an impersonal and objective manner rather than to prey on emotional impulses.

While making no unequivocal statement, we would venture a guess that the beautiful, but dumb girl, is more likely to cause marital friction than the college graduate and to suggest that Dr. Wilson support his ecclesiastical enunciations with statistical data before venturing to damage the reputation of feminine education. —Florida Flambeau.

Men who do nothing and say nothing are never ridiculous. Those who hope much, believe much, and love much, make mistakes. The running brook has more struggle and joy than the stagnant pool.

The world is a looking glass, and it gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Proven at it and it will turn and look sourly at you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion.—Thackeray.

Ben Franklin was never wiser than the hour in which he wrote: "Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it."

Keeping Faith With the World

Many people are convinced that the race is steadily losing ground, socially and morally; that our boasted civilization is altogether materialistic with but a thin veneer over a framework of sheer barbarism and that we are traveling at ever-increasing speed to perdition. Older people are especially susceptible to pessimism and cynicism. In confirmation of this attitude are adduced deliberately chosen facts, and superficially, one suspects the prophecy of ultimate chaos may be correct.

Now, it is instinctive in some to defend their own age, and every era has been described as worse than all preceding eras by men of distorted vision. The world is always disappointing to a disappointed man. But it is expedient, it is not, to look for the best as well as for the worst in life? Even the cat looks for the sunny spot in the kitchen floor!

Of course, no one is fully aware of his own time can be blamed for its failures and transgressions. Anyone who scans the daily papers has thrust upon him a sad array of violence and crime, but what intelligent man knowing the current meaning of "news" thinks our flaming headlines furnish us with a fair transcript of life?

The really fine things—the quiet heroisms, the persistent nobilities—the quiet ministries, the thrilling adventures of souls on the quest for more abundant experience with reality, the steady onward going of brave men and women toward moral grandeur—are not "news" and are not featured in the day's events, but they are more the less an integral part of the fabric of our common life.

A pessimist is a man who strolls through an orange grove eating unripe or half-decayed fruit that has fallen upon the ground. No wonder his teeth are set on edge! Let him wait until the sun and rain have done their work, then he can judge more accurately as to the value and the virtue of the trees whose immature fruit he ungrudgingly condemns. No man can render just judgment until he has all the facts in the case.

We are living in an unfinished world; that is one of the facts we must somehow incorporate into our thinking. We are here to do what we may to bring perfection out of imperfection and to play our parts in the unfolding drama whose final scene is universal peace and good will.

We are only at the beginning of an age-long process of struggle, suffering and advance. The "far-off interest of tears" belongs to those who keep faith with God, and the world, and who add their bit of radiance to the surpassing glory when all things are as they ought to be.

God has too great an investment in this earth of ours to stand by like a curious spectator and watch its gradual disintegration and collapse, and every man who holds the future as the passion of his heart will add his service to the fullness of that "divine event to which the whole creation moves."

ROLLINSANIA

By M. J. Davis

"Numb's the word" these days as the first chilly breezes start sneaking up behind you in the bleachers, freezing your legs and other tender portions of the anatomy, and making you wish you'd brought that blanket along, after all. The Southern game this week ought to be the best of the season if the weather stays cold.

The Kappa Alpha's are tearing down their leafy tunnel this morning, so we suppose rushing season is officially closed. . . . Though there'll be plenty of punching all the rest of the year. The story goes that the K. A.'s had planned to put the confederates along the front of the house, but they got set. . . . of mixed up, working out there in the dark. The two dusty partners who guarded the sacred portals during the dance were not regular members. It was learned, but were merely hired for the evening. A member of the new pledges were somewhat disgruntled at discovering this, we understand. . . . but then, they'll get over it. Anyhow, they got a lovely bunch of boys.

According to Fran "Rusty" Smith and Corale Righter, the X Club owes everything to them, as it was they who warned them that they'd better start rushing before Saturday noon. Whereupon the Yeggs, moved by this touching feminine appeal, threw a soup and fish affair at Dinsford, and managed to hide both the girls long enough to hook several lively lads. The girls did their best, but the Club got a lovely bunch of boys, too!

The Rhe Lambda Nu's countered with a house dance and scored with a number of new men, themselves. Despite the presence of Bob Marrow, the Miracle Boy from Lake World, the Rhe Lambdas got some lovely boys, too.

A score of Fresh males got lost going to Seamen Sunday noon and wandered into the Theta Kappa Nu house by mistake, where rabid members, lurking behind arm chairs and under the rug, seized them and put pledge buttons on their nearly heads. They got some lovely boys, too!

The rest of the Freshman class went Kappa Phi Sigma! It was all too lovely for words! Definite indication that Wheeler last at last set; seven P's. Phi's shambled the red steps of Carnegie Hall on Tuesday morning to meet in the sunshine on the cooling of the opposite sidewalk.

We note with pleasure the new interior decorations on the walls of the Commensal's kitchen, consisting of assorted signs bearing typical warnings, such as "Please do not drop sugar butter in the Chop Suey" and "Your Omelet will add flavor to the Soup if you keep it in long enough" etc. This work is being done by none other than the head chef, who claims that in his spare time, when he's not cooking, he likes to try to paint signs. We had an idea it was just the other way around. Sunday he served a mixture of dumplings and chilies in the broth bowls and painted a charming mural with the chicken soup. . . . but he was the only one who noticed the difference.

Seriously, though, who put the nuts in the chocolate ice cream? . . . and why????

What the well-dressed man will be wearing on and off the Avenue this Fall, as exemplified by Prof. Bower, whom we met this afternoon going to Faculty meeting, all lugged out in a smart blue coat buttoned tightly across his leather fencing jacket, and a light gray hat set at a rakish angle on the side of his head. He wore colored hip boots may also be worn with this gay Autumn ensemble, but make one appear not so much "on the Avenue" . . . but rather, a little off!

A message to Kappa Kappa Gamma for the prettiest pink top of the season this fall. They are the only group on the campus, we believe, who do not serve orange punch, lime sherbet, or some other noxious disinfectant when it is announced that they will serve tea. The House looks mighty fine, but it was so cluttered up with Leaning Elms and Tree House, sitting lower and nibbling on these hair-chain, paper-mache sandwiches, that we only stayed for two hours and then left. . . . very hungry.

Incidentally we drove Janie Iry's new LaSalle roadster home and are quite willing to give away our own mechanical miscreant to anyone who wants to take the trouble to haul it away. The Iry yard is all fixed up with numerous sodas, buttons, dials, horns, and cold running water and a central lighting system, and looks like a miniature of Radio City of wheels. The only thing we missed was the swimming pool and bridge paths, but then we didn't get to see the rumsale stuff.

This may seem like All-Phi Week or something, but we are somewhat curious to know why all the secrecy about that telephone call from upstate last Friday night, Fogg????

At the present writing there is quite a muller group of students and faculty members gathered in the President's office, mulling around and stomping on each other's feet. It seems they're staging some sort of a protest concerning some lynching somewhere. There's a lot of noise and cheering going on, so we're not quite sure whether they're lynching President Helt. . . . or trying to prevent him being lynched. . . . or protesting his proposed lynching. . . . or maybe the word is "lynching." Anyhow, it shows the good old Rollins spirit of Burgeoning Individualism as What-Have-You!

Oh's! Esder: Sally Hammond in an ice-blue gown at the X Club dance. . . . this building something or other between Sarah Harbottle and Robert Wise. . . . Dan Bond's Asot shirt and collar. . . . Hildegarde Reed, teasing about the campus like the Twentieth Century Limited. . . . Jean Parker's Schiaparelli gown. . . . Bill Whalen looking a malar while singing "Lush." "Confidential" Connor's picture in the Sunday Express paper. . . . Virginia Holmes, the Vanille Yaker, and Nan Puffer taking private fencing lessons. . . .

TARS OPPOSE SOUTHERN MOCCASINS THIS WEEK

Rollins Freshmen Trounce Winter Garden High School 26-0

CLOSE BATTLE PREDICTED

Squad In Improved Condition After Two Weeks Of Complete Rest

When the Rollins College football team takes the field against the Moccasins of Southern next Friday night at Tinker Field, the home team will be striving to gain its first victory over the Lakeland outfit since 1923. Seven times since the Tars earned a 7-0 victory eleven years ago the two teams have met, with Southern coming out on top six times and getting a deadlock on the last, four years ago.

Rollins expected to find this game a "breather" in the midst of a schedule by no means light; but since the removal of four members of the squad, which now numbers twenty-two, aspects for Friday seem to have taken a different light. Despite set-backs and injuries, however, the Tar eleven will take the field on Friday with in squad in better shape than at any time previously this year, determined to even the score with the Moccasins.

Southern has shown sports followers in this district that its present team is far improved over its usual eleven, and although the Lakeland outfit has won only two out of three games played, the team have all been quite close and sure that the Tars will be facing a group of aggressive, powerful players on Friday.

Southern opened its 1934 season with a victory over Bowdoin (Georgia) College to the tune of 24-0. Their second contest was a hard-fought battle with the Hurricanes of Miami, in which the latter emerged victorious by the score of 14-6. Last week Southern held the powerful Tampa aggregation to the tune of 13-2; both Tampa and Miami are reputed to have unusually strong teams this year, and if any deviations can be made from comparative scores this week's contest will be no set-up for the Tars.

The Tars have had two weeks of rest broken only by occasional scrimmages, and the entire squad should be in prime condition by the end of this week. Joe Jardine, who has been kept out of action thus far this year, has completely recovered from his injuries and will

NEWS AND VIEWS OF SPORTS

By Reg. Clough

We can't think of any particularly outstanding sports last Saturday to tell our two friends and Soc Chakales and one member of the Rollins Faculty, who, so far as we can ascertain at the present period of writing, compose our periodical readers. It's our guess that the ticket purchasers didn't get very rich, nor did the sellers, but about that we are quite unformed. Every team lost that we wanted to win, and quite naturally, all those that we overlooked, won. The only thing that this writer lost was a sure fire bet against Buck Anderson's North Carolina State team. It still puzzles us how the Raleigh gridmen managed to get out of that with a tie.

We had this column all composed when we heard the radio report that Michigan had beaten Illinois, but since we discovered the mistake, it has been necessary to start all over again with nothing, this time, to say. The Army-Yale game seemed good, coming second hand, from the first hand line of Ted Husing, but if it had to be won on breaks, it seems unfortunate that the back couldn't have fallen the other way. But it isn't now for four years, and year by year hope for Eli's success is fast slipping away.

The Duke-Tennessee game was a battle royal, especially with the contest of wits between two of the country's greatest coaches. This is the first time in about a year and a half that Coach Wallace Wade's eleven from Durham has been trimmed and although it is fine to see a team stay at the top for a while, most sports writers hit the mark when they picked the Tennessee gridmen to trounce the outfit from North Carolina.

Notre Dame again succeeded in winning last week, beating a Wisconsin powerhouse in a game that was another of the country's leading. Coach Elmer Layden should be winning renown by this time after South Bend's three years of mediocre success. We watched Layden's Duquesne bunch trim the Miami Hurricanes last New Year's Day, and despite everything our Florida friends could say, we still thought the Northern invaders looked as if they knew football through and through. It should be especially gratifying to followers of Midwestern gridiron to have one of Rockne's pupils crash through with a winning eleven.

Interest in these parts naturally centers about the Friday Orlando game between Rollins and the Southern Moccasins of Lakeland. Nearly everyone except the Rollins coach expects the Tars to come out on top, and we certainly hope that he's wrong. A 7-0 victory in 1923 was the last that the Tars fired and since then Rollins has been trimmed six times and tied once. This week may tell a different story, however, but just the same Southern has shown some power in its early season starts.

At least, regardless of the fact that the home squad has been diminished to a slight extent, just the same McDowell should be able to put forth his very best because almost all the injured are back on their feet again. Bob Howe is still troubled a bit by a bad shoulder but even he may be used for some time in a backfield position. All the others at the present moment are in unusually good condition. Unless something happens between now and the opening whistle Friday night, Southern will be opposing the best that Rollins has to offer.

TOUCH FOOTBALL SEASON TO START NEXT WEEK

We're off!

A meeting of the representatives of the various intra-mural groups on the campus was held last Tuesday evening in Lyman Hall. All plans for the coming football season were completed and started events going with a bang.

Seven ambitious contenders were represented at the meeting: Kappa Alpha, X Club, Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Nu, Rho Lambda Nu, Chi Phi and Rollins Hall. From the determination which has manifested itself around the campus whenever Touch-football is mentioned, would say that no disaster could predict the outcome with any accuracy.

A review of last year's games, which were divided into two parts, showed Theta Kappa Nu and X Club each having won one half, fighting a close battle for supremacy, with the X Club capturing two out of three games in the final play-off.

This year we all have an even chance when play begins next week.

and as Adam or someone said, "Time will tell."

Managers from the various groups will be responsible for letting their teams know the time and place of the contest and for getting their teams on the field. Failure to do this penalizes the following team ten points. The manager should see that all members of the teams understand the rules, which may be found in the intra-mural booklet, obtained at 30 Lyman Hall.

Get your liniment ready "gentlemen, and let's waste no time."

Lack of Ample Vocabulary Causes Many Flunks

ATHENS, Ga., (UP)—Lack of knowledge of English words and their meanings is one of the most serious causes of student failures at the University of Georgia. It has been announced here by the department of psychology.

Freshmen of the University of Georgia were compared with the freshmen of many other colleges by means of psychological tests given the first year students. While in ability to use English the Georgia college beginners did not show up as well, they did better than those of other colleges in tests that required thought and judgment, such as in the arithmetic and artificial language tests.

Better Service At Ticket Windows Is Assured

Football fans who attended the Rollins-Newberry game on Oct. 12 and found occasion, with justification, to complain about the lack of efficiency in selling tickets, are assured of a better deal at the Rollins-Southern game Friday night of this week.

To speed up the process of selling the tickets, change-making machines will be installed in the ticket booths, investigation having revealed that most of the time consumed in the sale of tickets is due to the process of making change.

It is expected that a large crowd of voters will come to the game from Lakeland and vicinity as followers of the Southern team are confident that the Mocs can down the Tars this season.

The kick-off comes at 8 p. m.

JORDAN SCORES TWO TOUCHDOWNS

Tars Win First Game By Easy Margin; Strong Team In Prospect

The Rollins Freshman Football team proved yesterday that reports to the effect that the 1934 eleven is one of the strongest in recent years were not unfounded by completely outplaying the Winter Garden High School to the tune of 26 to 0.

Jordan, Tar quarterback, scored twice in a game that was especially marked by somewhat loose football on the part of the Winter Garden outfit, but on clean, hard running by the visiting outfit. Twitchell, Rollins fullback also succeeded in making one touchdown.

and Johnson, substitute back, crossed the line with the fourth score of the game. Two of the tries were converted by the seemingly well educated toe of St. Vario, who did most of the kicking for the freshmen.

This was the first game of the Baby Tars and is excellent evidence for future varsity material. It also points the way toward a further winning season, especially considering the fact that the home team has won four straight games and until yesterday was undefeated on its own field for nearly a season and a half.

In the Tar line Jordan, Graves, MacArthur, and Rainwater were outstanding, while Vario, who intercepted a pass which led to a touchdown, and Beach were particularly brilliant. The latter was especially noticeable for his fine blocking and defensive work. Vario accounted for several long runs and proved himself to be an able ball carrier and kicking threat.

The Winter Garden team, which was handicapped by a somewhat light line, offered a strong, hard-hitting set of backs which proved to be a threat in the side of Coach Rogers' men on more than one occasion.

Colo. College Frosh Have Strict Rules

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—UP—The Red Lantern Club, organization of upperclassmen at the Colorado College campus, has promulgated a set of rules of conduct for Freshmen that promises to make the yearlings the most regimented group in the country.

The club after profound deliberation, decided that:

1. First year men must wear an "official" uniform on the campus at all times. The uniform consists of a black crew neck sweater, corduroy trousers, freshman cap and black shoes.

2. Freshmen may not smoke anything on the campus, except Missouri cigarettes (even cob pipes).

3. Freshmen will double time on the campus on Fridays before football games. When an upper-classman shops a freshman, raises a thumb and asks, "What say, freshman?" the freshman must answer "Boss" (Name of school to be played following day.)

The University of Michigan (Ann Arbor) and the University of California (Berkeley) will meet in an inter-sectional track meet next spring. This will be the first time in seven years that the latter institution has gone outside of its own league for track contests.

ALUMNI NOTES

During the past week the Rollins alumni seem to have been taking a rest. That was rather inconsiderate of them as it makes this column much shorter than usual, thereby leaving space for the post, unknown, ungratified reporter to fill. However, a few kind-hearted graduates have been active enough to be mentioned here.

Elizabeth Chapman, of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Mr. Edward Rollins, grandson of E. W. Rollins, prominent Boston banker, were married several days ago on the summer estate of Ashton Rollins. Both Rollins and his bride attended Rollins College. They will make their home at the Three River farm estate in Dover, N. H.

The Rollins Club of Boston will have a meeting on the evening of December 11th. Dr. Holt will be the guest of honor. Arrangements are in charge of Margaret Chapman, '26, president of the Club.

Fred Burns, an honorary alumnus of Rollins, is a member of the cast of the new play "Jagawhar," which opened early in the fall in Washington.

Announcement was made during the week by Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Bantella of New York and Tampa of the engagement of their daughter, Cornelia, to Mr. Curtis Barrett Canaan, son of Mrs. Geo. H. Canaan. The wedding will take place in New York some time in November.

Let's find out why Turkish tobacco is so important to a good cigarette

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . along the shores of the Black Sea . . . grows a kind of tobacco that is different from any other tobacco in the world.

THESE Turkish tobaccos are the only tobaccos of foreign cultivation that are used to any great extent in making American cigarettes. Turkish tobaccos are famous for their spicy aroma, and a blend of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco with our own home-grown tobaccos is better than any one kind used alone.

In Chesterfield we balance mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country with just the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish.

It is by blending and cross-blending these different tobaccos that we make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
