New scholarship

Civil engineering students will be recipients of a scholarship provided by Greiner Inc., an Orlando firm. Greiner employs several UCF alumni. It established the $1,000 annual award for juniors and seniors. Greiner vice president Jimmy Allison said, "We hope to enjoy a good relationship with the university in coming years and would like to help our staff with more... graduates."

Generous gift

Image Resources Inc. presented a package of ALIAS "Studio" high-resolution computer-aided animation software, worth $250,000, to UCF in May. ALIAS is a leading tool for 3-D design and visualization artists, engineers, marketing and manufacturing managers.

Stores close

The bookstore and office supply store will be closed for inventory Friday, June 28. They will resume normal operating hours Monday, July 1.

USPS banquet

The 19th annual USPS awards banquet is July 12 at Holiday Inn/UCF, at 7 p.m. Tickets are $33.50. They can be purchased Monday, July 1-July 5. Information: Lois Engley, x2787, or Linda Vail, x5903.

Oops, sorry ...

Several mistakes were printed in the May 29 issue of The UCF Report. "Book thieves" rubbed thanks to professors! It was incorrectly reported that Guy Mathson was one of the faculty members who helped catch two thieves. Brooks Madsen was actually the professor involved.

In a photograph on page 6, professor Behshid Farsad was misidentified as the man in the picture. Another picture will appear in the next issue.

In the story on The Arboretum, it was incorrectly printed, due to an editing error, that two student assistants are not paid. They are, but also volunteers.

Chancellor: UCF in good hands

Retired UF provost brings experience to interim job

Robert Bryan agreed last week to put his retirement on hold to serve as interim president for the University of Central Florida.

Chancellor Charles Reed announced the selection of Bryan, retired University of Florida provost, during a conference call with regents and UCF provost Richard Astro, June 19. The Board of Regents unanimously supported the appointment. A handful of UCF vice presidents, deans, alumni and local reporters joined Astro and student regent Ross Wolf in the president's office during the conference call.

Bryan, 65, officially assumed duties of interim president Monday.

Reed promised to begin the search for Steven Altman's replacement when the Board of Regents meets on June 27. He said the regents would try to complete the search by January. Bryan will not be considered a candidate for that job.

Until the new president is named, Bryan will serve all the functions of president. Bryan also served as interim president at the University of Alabama.

It's on time:

Arena open for business

All indications are that the UCF arena and track facility will be completed on schedule, and school officials will be able to open its doors for business as early as Sunday.

The $10.5 million facility is the first on a list of construction projects under way on campus to be completed. Finishing touches on the arts complex should be completed by August. The Student Union is almost six months into construction. Work on the chemistry building is expected to taper off in September. Several smaller projects are also under way, and many more are planned.

The fieldhouse is one of the university's most ambitious undertakings. The 84,000-square foot facility is expected to serve a number of purposes, including indoor space for graduation exercises (the first to be Aug. 8), athletic events, concerts and cultural performances, general recreation activities and offices of some of the athletic department.

It will give UCF "particular advantages in attracting major sporting events," according to a facility description sheet.

 Medieval Effective Monday, July 1, the College of Health and Professional Studies will be officially renamed. The new designation, Health and Public Affairs, reflects the policy and public service orientation of its non-health programs. “Public Affairs” is the term applied to the grouping of such academic departments on most university campuses, including those in the SU (such as ITU). Please take appropriate steps to ensure that the College of Health and Public Affairs (COHPA) is correctly identified in all university correspondence, publications and other materials.

Employee of the month

Christine Huffman is the first of her five sisters to graduate with a four-year degree. She admires her parents in her eyes when she moved her tassel over from the right side of her cap to the left on graduation day. Huffman's degree in liberal studies took nine years, but it was something she'd always wanted to do. When she graduated this spring, the front row of the gym was full of friends and former co-workers from the College of Business.

"I took two classes a semester until the last three semesters. I was getting so close, so I took three classes, and ended up making the president's roll twice," said the June employee of the month.

Her first class was Oral Communication. She wasn't sure she could handle it, but realized halfway through she was hooked.

Huffman, who has been at UCF for 10 years, likes her job in undergraduate studies. But the satisfaction she feels there didn't delay her pursuit of education. And it won't keep her from trying to find a teaching job. Paul McQuillin, associate dean of undergraduate studies, enjoys the benefit of her talents as an administrative assistant, but perhaps not for much longer. Huffman hopes to teach this fall. She's also been accepted into the graduate English program. She's worked in an office for 15 years, and now looks forward to being in the classroom again, this time on the other side of the podium.

"I love being in the classroom," she said with a smile.

Three boys to raise and a full-time job would seem like enough for most, but Huffman's dedication to education seems to have paid off.

"My boys think of it as a foregone conclusion, but it was fun," she said.

Newcomers

JoEllen Borum, assistant director of human resources, will manage payroll and personnel records. She comes to UCF from Philip Crosby Associates in Winter Park, where she was credit and collection manager. Borum received a B.A. in organizational communication from Rollins College, and is currently working on her MBA at ELIT. The mother of a toddler enjoys softball and aerobics.

Nicole Cadet, senior registration clerk, comes to UCF from Miami Dade Community College, where she was a clerk typist III. She also graduated from that school. Cadet has three children, and her hobbies are reading, cooking, watching movies and attending concerts.

Samantha Gates Eddy, news producer, comes from The Orlando Times, where she was managing editor. Eddy has also worked at The Miami Times, WPEC-TV in West Palm Beach, WRBL-TV in Columbus, Ga., and the Tennessee Valley Authority. Her primary duty at UCF will be serving as a liaison to the media. She is a graduate of Florida Atlantic University.

Donna Farley, coordinator of administrative services, comes to UCF from the city of San Marcos in Texas, where she was director of finance. Farley has an MBA and B.S. from Southwest Texas State University and McNeese State University.

Brad Gunn, audio visual specialist at instructional media, is producing internal video programs. He was production manager at Video Production Center in Casselberry. Gunn, a graduate of Eastern Connecticut State University, and his wife are expecting their first child.

Eleanor Harrast, clerk typist in the Counseling and Testing Center, comes to the university from SCSEP, where she worked in clerical support. Harrast, a mother of seven, enjoys family activities, computers, reading and writing. She has a degree in business.

Sheryl Mowry, office manager for the department of foreign languages and literature, comes to UCF from Pinnacle Realty Services, where she was a secretary. She graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a degree in business.

People

Wish to be a teacher kept her focused 9 years

Her arrival in Florida in 1979 began the longest residence in one place she's experienced. Although the mobility provided her with a lot of experiences, she's glad to be settled.

"Do everything and anything anybody asks me to do. I work on personnel and budget paperwork, and do all the work down to the Xerox is broken," so I go back there with a paper clip and fix it," she said, laughing.

She interacts with various programs associated with undergraduate studies, including BOTE, the McKnight center, community college relations and the honors program.

"Their payrolls are my responsibility. I try to have a can-do attitude, I hate the word can't," said Huffman.
