Graduation and a Job
Henry Ford's Idea
The P. E. P. Plan
One-Sided Opinion
A. A. A. Consequences

Of interest to almost every undergraduate in the country, and especially to those who expect to go out and "look for a job" within the next two or three years, are the speeches on unemployment by President Roosevelt and by his Secretary of Labor, Miss Frances Perkins.

President Roosevelt hits at a pernicious and huge army of unemployed in the United States. Only 50% of the people working in 1929 would find jobs, he stated, if production were increased in the 1928 volume. The cause given is industrial improvement.

Miss Perkins came right back at this with the optimistic statement, founded on some truth, that new jobs are being created daily by new enterprises.

Both speeches, of course, are only half relevant to the unemployment situation in the United States. Population is increasing despite the harsh immigration laws, and production will not and cannot return to 1929-30 levels overnight. Not until the labor cry for shorter hours with higher wages is heard will the U. S. be able to do away with unemployment, raise its standard of living from its present state of debasement and maintain effective in its manufacturing methods.

Henry Ford is quite right—a well paid worker with leisure time will use his money to buy a Ford car and his time to use up gasoline, thus creating prosperity and a high standard of living.

Judge William C. Coleman's opinion is the case between the American States Public Service Company and Bureau, Inc. is so evasive as to appear almost self-contradictory.

Bureau, Inc., in a subsidiary circular of the A. S. P. S. C. The case was between these two public utility companies with neither the federal government nor the S. E. C. represented.

When John J. Burns, former Justice in Court Judge in Massachusetts and now chief counsel for the S. E. C. filed a brief to have the Public Utility Law outlawed by the courts, Judge Coleman wasted sarcasm and inferred that he would ignore the warning.

It's interesting to note that Corporations have often used the courts to further their own selfish ends, but just because it has been done with more force in the past is no excuse for it today. This is a public opinion, and the public should stand for too much.

It's interesting to note that for the elections of '24, '28, and '32 public utility officials contributed $400,000 to the Republican National Committee as against only $120,000 to the Democrats. $120,000 went to the Senate campaign funds.

Companies usually contribute to all likely candidates and so are "neutral" no matter who wins. The preferred candidate naturally gets more than those whom they would like to see defeated.

It may sound expensive, but Calumet Mines of Credit Mobilier authority found that it paid. It was about 1871 when he presented some 342 shares of stock "where it would do the most good" in Congress and the houses of cards collapsed and there was an investigation.

When the Supreme Court killed the Blue Eagle it was said that the New Deal had suffered a terrible set-back. The political consequences were discussed. But the N. R. A. decision never could have been so important to the politicians as the House Mills decision which is to be handed down this winter.

Mr. Roosevelt has bought hundreds of thousands of votes with his crop-reduction checks. Secretary Wallace's frequent references to the 300,000 and more farm community leaders serving on crop-reduction committees throughout the Middle West have given the farmers the flattering idea that they are running the A. A. A.

If the A. A. A. is wiped out as was the N. R. A., the biggest potential political machine in the country will have been destroyed.

DOROTHY SANDS TO RETURN ON ARTIST SERIES

Zimbalist, Martha Graham and Rose Bampton to Be Featured

Edwin Zimbalist, the violinist, Martha Graham, the dancer, Dorothy Sands, the actress, and Rose Bampton, young Metropolitan contralto, will be featured on the professional artist series to be presented under the auspices of Miss Annie Russell at Rollins College this season. It was announced today.

Miss Russell, who is at her home here recovering from an attack of pneumonia, announced the labor cry for shorter hours with higher wages is heard will the U. S. be able to do away with unemployment, raise its standard of living from its present state of debasement and maintain effective in its manufacturing methods.

ROLLINS SUPPORTS CONTRACTORS BID PEACE PLEBISCITE ON NEW BUILDINGS

Campus Opinion Favors League and Kellogg Pact

Under the auspices of "The Council for Social Action" of the Congressional and Christian Churches, a plebiscite was made of the students and faculty on the question of war and peace. The voting and tabulation was done under the supervision of Professor Clark.

A total vote of two hundred and forty-nine was cast and in most cases the majority of both groups were in accord. The ballot was divided into two sections, the first dealing with the possibilities which might justify war in the mind of the voter and the second, seeking to determine what peace agencies or actions seemed most effective.

In the first section the largest absolute vote was cast against war except in the event of invasion by another nation. The greatest faculty vote was cast opposing war except when every effort to preserve peace had been made. Those in both groups who would take part in any war which the United States might initiate were few.

CONTRACTORS BID ON NEW BUILDINGS

Three Firms Submit Estimates on new Dormitories

Having received bids from three contractors Friday, the executive committee of the Rollins board of trustees deferred action on the contract award for the building of five new dormitories with a PWA loan of $275,000.

A meeting in the Carnegie Hall library was attended by sixty contractors and sales representatives of supply houses. Sealed bids for $248,300, $234,500, and $231,000 were submitted respectively from the Frank A. O'Hare Co., Inc., of New York City; G. W. Housler, Inc., of Jacksonville, Florida; and Harry Coe of Winter Park.

The bids were made in two parts as well as in aggregate, one for the construction of units two, three and four of the men's dormitories, and the other for the two women's, units three and four.

The offers by units for the men's dormitories were as follows: Frank A. O'Hare, Inc., $241,200; G. W. Housler, Inc., $133,125; Harry Coe, $133,094.

For the women's dormitories: Frank A. O'Hare, Inc., $128,200; G. W. Housler, Inc., $107,130; Harry Coe, $107,241.

G. W. Housler, Inc., were the contractors for the erection of Pegasus and Mayflower Halls, the Knowles Memorial Chapel and the Annie Russell Theatre.

Dr. Burton Leading A Busy Existence In Cinematic Art

Dr. Richard Burton, professor of English at Rollins College, poet, dramatist, author, critic, and lecturer, has been leading a busy life this Fall in the interest of cinematic art.

During the past month, Dr. Burton has lectured in many cities in connection with the Warner Brothers' production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," under the direction of Max Reinhardt.

He has lectured, during the past month, in Philadelphia, New York City, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Dallas, Hartford, Stamford and Boston, and is due later in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Dr. Burton is on leave of absence from Rollins for the Fall term and will return to the campus for the winter term.

Applications for Upper Division Must Be Filed

All students wishing to be considered for the Upper Division at the beginning of the Winter Term must have all their papers filed 30 days before the end of this Fall Term.

It is absolutely necessary that such papers be in at least 10 days before the student is called upon by the Board of Admissions to the Upper Division, in order that the Board may have time to inspect and discuss them.

Dr. Miles Krumbine Scheduled to Speak In Chapel Service

The guest speaker in the Knowles Memorial Chapel Sunday morning, November 17, will be Dr. Miles H. Krumbine, D.D., pastor of Plymouth Church, Shaker Heights, Cleveland, Ohio.

The subject for the sermon has not been determined, however it is certain to be of great interest and value.

Dr. Krumbine has traveled extensively in this country and abroad, preaching and studying. He has also made several good-will missions in Mexico and to various countries of Europe.

Dr. Krumbine has an extraordinary knowledge and understanding of young people. He is the founder, and for years the conductor, of the Summer School of Religion connected with his church. He has also been the university preacher for several of the largest universities and colleges in the United States.

In addition to his career in the ministry Dr. Krumbine is the author of various well known books on religious subjects.

For a anthem the a cappella choir will sing "Lord in the Night" by Christians, a number requested last year and recently added. This will be its first performance by the choir.

The choral interlude will be "God Be In My Road" by Walcott Davis, a contemporary English writer, who had composed this music on an old folk tune.

A ROLLINS STUDENT UNION

By a Member of O. D. K.

Believing that the constructive employment of leisure time is one of Rollins' greatest needs, the members of Omicron Delta Kappa are sponsoring an all-college assembly Friday morning at 10:10 in the Annie Russell Theatre.

This meeting will discuss the proposed installation of an oak dance floor and an amplifier system in Recreation Hall.

There is no dance floor in Winter Park which can accommodate a sizeable fraction of our total enrollment. Heretofore all-college dances have been held four times a year. Under the new plan they will be held once a week if desired.

Dancing has been a privilege carried on at the expense of the fraternities. A successful all-college dance means a considerable outlay of money for a good orchestra and a suitable location. The smaller Greek letter organizations are hard-pressed to keep step with others in this respect.

No fraternity has one room large enough to hold an all-college function, nor is there sufficient accommodation elsewhere. Non-fraternity men and women often feel like outsiders at a strictly fraternity dance.

The new dance floor will be made available each week night to any group, large or small, who may desire it.

Believing that this project may well result in the start of a Student Union movement at Rollins or at the least force Recreation Hall to live up to its name, the members of O. D. K. invite you to Assembly Friday at 10:10 a. m. to hear further discussion.

SENIOR GROUP TO PROPOSE PLANS AT COLLEGE ASSEMBLY

O. D. K. Hopes to Raise Funds for Improvement of Recreation Hall, Making It Suitable for College Social Events

The establishment of a student union at Rollins was discussed last week at a meeting of Omicron Delta Kappa, senior honorary society. The members voted to call an all-college assembly for the purpose of further debate on the subject.

DR. HOLT GIVES CHAPEL ADDRESS

"Seventeen Years After" Topic Last Sunday

President Hamilton Holt gave the main address at the Chapel service last Sunday. His speech, entitled "Seventeen Years After," was in commemoration of Armistice Day.

He first reviewed America's entrance into the war, not only in war, munitions, and equipment, but also in money cost. One result of our entrance was that we reached senior leadership in 1918.

"The results of the World War were both good and evil. The evil results are that the United States has withdrawn from the League of Nations, Europe is still engaged in making armaments, economic readjustment is threatening the peace of the world while preparation for war and actual war is now going on."

"The good results of the War are that the League of Nations still exists and functions. In the past seventeen years it has accomplished a great deal but it is now facing a crisis. The entrance of the United States into the League of Nations would be a definite step in the promotion of World Peace and it is necessary that the United States take a firm stand in the international controversy that is now going on."

President Holt concluded his speech with the sincere hope that the senate of the United States cooperate with the President in his policy of promoting International Peace.

FLAMINGO SLATED TO APPEAR SOON

With the publication of the November issue of the 1933-34 Flamingo the magazine will appear under its new form for the first time.

It is now from the Flamingo will be able to carry a larger number of advertisements, and more illustrations to enhance the printed matter.

The selection of copy for the first issue has been difficult, due to the great number of fine manuscripts turned in. Many of these are being saved for future publication and will appear at a later date.

Of special interest will be the short story by Miss Frances Perkins, winner of the Golden Book Short Story Contest, last year. Her latest work, "The Flood," shows the same firm touch that was shown in "The Key". Showing her ability in poetry as well as in prose, Miss Perkins will be represented by a novel, "Protest against Poetry."

Molly Marguerite has contributed a sketch of a young girl, a native New Yorker, though not of the city.

Gen. Johnson Says "No Dictatorships For United States" In Orlando Address

"The fact of the matter is that there isn't going to be no dictatorship either of fascism or the proletariat in this country. If you look across the world you will find dictatorships only among people who never knew or practiced free institutions." General Hugh R. Johnson, former NRA administrator, in three weeks last Monday expressed confidence that this country's free institutions would never die.

Johnson went on to say "Imagine one of these steam-heated speeches of Mussolini to a bunch of you rough-necks—you'd laugh him to death by the end of the first paragraph. The only place dictatorship was ever tried in this country was over in Louisiana—and look what happened to that guy."

The former Blue Eagle leader spoke before the American Legion in an Armistice day program in Esola park and gave his listeners just what they wanted. Outspoken, emotional, criticizing, he did not mince words about "red scares" or about the "bogie traders" of the present administration.

"All this communist-baiting and red-baiting is silly, senseless and unmeaning—silly because these poor arguments can never do any harm (communist won't bear argument)—senseless because it advances and dignifies and encourages them—meaning because that is not where the harm to our system is being done. ## THE Inquiring Reporter

(Each week the Inquiring Reporter will ask representative students their opinions on pertinent questions.)

This week's question: What is your honest opinion of the "rat" court?

After skimping around the week-end the Inquiring Reporter discovered that Margaret Hind was afraid to answer the question, Bill Twitchell left it in his other shirt, Jack Strabert, shamelessly, didn't know just what to write, and an unknown freshman girl didn't understand the meaning of honest.

Warren Goldsmith, evading troublemaker, promised to have his answer but confused it with the "Moonlight Sonata" and presented a page of de-co-no-no-to's.

The only student with the intelligence to answer was the columnist, Toy Dear.

Dear had this to say: "Rollins is the first place I ever saw a 'Rat Court'. By the way, Rollins is also the first place I ever saw a lot of things.

But all in all, I like the 'Rat Court', especially the Week Hall kind with the informality of 'rats' pecking like eggs and opening like an umbrella.

Undaunted, the Inquiring Reporter asks this question for next week: What do you think of the Sandspur? (For those readers of the Sandspur that may be asked the question the Inquiring Reporter will make the following notes: Dick Lee writes a column, Toy Dear writes a column, Reg Clough is the Editor, Bill Whalen is in charge of the advertising and Clough only knows where the stories come from.)

No Telegrams Delivered During Class Periods

The administration wishes to call the attention of the students to the fact that telegrams will not be delivered to the students during class periods. Instead they will be left at the Residences or the College Post Office.

Only telegrams of a very urgent and important nature will be brought to the class rooms. And the administration since more advises these students who live off-campus that their college mail will be posted at the college post office and they should call there at least once a day for it.

It is the student's fault if he does not receive official notices as they are always put up in the waiting of the post office window at regular mail hours.

Folk Dancing Class For Children Begins Under Mrs. John Rae

The first folk-dancing class of the year for children was held Saturday afternoon in Recreation Hall. This class is open to children of the Rollins faculty and staff and also to town children.

Mrs. Rae has taught children's dances in the north for some time. Last summer some of her classes were dancing at Connecticut's Taconnet, and last May several of them danced at the Annual Folk Dances Festival in New York.

The dances and games that Mrs. Rae will use for this class at Rollins will be those collected by Cecil Sharp, from whose collection of Morris dances the folk dancing already exhibited was taken. The children will have English singing games.

Sophomores at Haverford take a comprehensive examination containing 2725 questions. It requires 12 hours to complete.

Spanish followed by a short talk in which Mrs. Lamb, head of the Spanish department, explained the workings of that department.

Rollins Revolts On Old Academic Gown Custom

By a Staff Member

Because Rollins has developed an ancient and respected academic custom and substituted one of its own, the college has occasioned much discussion among both faculty and students as to just what is the correct attire for academic gowns.

In July, 1935, an article appeared in The Educational Record under the subject of "An Academic Costume Code." In the report of the Committee on Academic Costume of the American Council on Education, this article offers the final authority for American College and academic costume.

Of special interest to Rollins is the stipulation that gowns should in all cases, be black. For the past year the Rollins academic gowns have shown with the splendor of brilliant blue and gold costumes, thereby breaking precedents that were set before America was discovered.

Blue gowns are mentioned only once in the report of the Council on Education, permissible exceptions to the Code are cited. It was decided by the Committee that graduating classes in secondary schools, academies, normal schools and junior colleges should not wear black, the sign of a college senior, but should be confined to gray or blue.

With the gown black, it is natural that the cap, or mortar-board should also be black. A question which has long been argued was settled by the committee when they announced that the tassels of the caps should be allowed to fall where they would and that they should be worn either in precedent or in custom, as far as moving the tassels as a feature of the enforcement of the faculty's degree.

Further ruling of the committee stated that as the cap is an essential part of the academic costume it should be kept on the head throughout all exercises except during prayer.

It must be realized that the rulings of the American Council on Education have no authoritative backing and that Rollins is not, by its violation of precedent, violating any letter of the law. But with such a side-step from custom it is surprising that Rollins has not gone all the way and abolished academic costume completely.

However, for this seeming lack of originality include the variety of dress that would appear if there were no prescribed costume.

Chase Hall held its annual open house last Saturday from 8:30 P. M. to 11:30 P. M. The hall was decorated in tropical style.

The entertainment consisted of music and dancing. Miss Anna Ruiz sang a Hawaiian folk song and Mr. Walter Royall sang "Deep in My Heart". Mr. Fleetswood Peoples gave a demonstration of the technique of handling rattlesnakes.

Dean Sprague and Mr. Fleetswood Peoples were the chaperones for the party.

There were so many bicycle riders at Yassar that the faculty had to devise a set of traffic rules, and each class has a license plate of a different color.

The Issue

It's been intimated freely by a certain Rollins student that the dean is kept aware of those who are a bit imprudent. That by clever guiles and weighty plots and subtle underpings there has finally been organized a group of "College Stogies"; That these sinister characters do stily look around whenever naughty boys and girls are usually found; That these stogies are becoming such a horrible nuisance that most everyone dith fear to make a comforting confession. In conclusion, this news makes an universal plea. To the students and alumni and the Rollins faculty: To expose and to abolish this unhealthy atmosphere. So that all may live unharmed the remainder of the year.

The Decision

In response to those superstitions we find every indication pointing to the righteousness of this administration. We do fail to find a reason why the dean should really care if we fine tonight at Sharky's or a place not quite so fair. If we must come to the conclusion that the late climatic heat has seriously affected our objector's self-control, or else he has mistaken in his deep hallucination. Other peeping-tomnies now awaiting grim retribution. In conclusion we shall sum up and courageously shall state, To all those who are delusive and quite discomfited, that we'll stand by Rollins College, so bravely offended, Until the day when we ourselves are fully apprehended!

In a freshman English class last week the lecture was asked to give a definition for coquetry. Result of one effort: "A coquetry is when a man runs around after a woman until she catches him."

LAKESIDE GIVES UNIQUE PROGRAM

"International House" Appears on Rollins Campus

Lakeside emerged from a period of inactivity with a gathering last Thursday, November 7, to witness the first "International House" at Rollins. Invited to share the entertainment were about twenty-five or thirty members of the faculty and staff interested in languages and world affairs.

Opening the program, Grace Torry, chairman for the evening, spoke of music as the one unopposed international language and presented Eleanor Green, who played Danse by Debussy.

Wu-Kou Lin had with her two large books of drawings, small copies of the originals which were sold by the artist, Mrs. Lin Tsun Kai, to raise money for volunteers fighting against Japan. Mrs. Lin Tsun Kai had asked Wu-Kou's father to contribute a preface to each. This he did in poetry for one, prose for the other. Applauding for the fact that she did not know perfectly the Old Chinese in which these were written, Wu-Kou read these selections. Later in the evening she presented these books to Dr. Hall.

Elise Barash gave a short greeting in German; then Lee Ruth spoke in Czechoslovakian (Henry afterwards assured the gathering that his brother had really given a very respectable greeting). Daria Bergant, though even less a newcomer to the campus than the Swish, spoke in Italian, thus giving, with Lo's Blush' Greek welcome, representation from the Mediterranean countries. Lo's went on to describe (in English) one of the sports of Greece unknown in America—that of ectopous fishing.

Then Patricia Guppy, dressed in a West Indian costume, gave a brief history of her island home,

NEWS AND VIEWS OF SPORTS

By JACK MACGAPPIN

On Armistice Day the Tars balanced their record by defeating Alabama State Teachers 18-6 in the last game of the year.

Outside of the first quarter, when the Teachers made their only tally on a blocked punt, Rollins played good ball and had the situation well in hand.

The need for some one to take the brunt of the offensive from George Miller's shoulders was answered by Don Murray and Chick Pennington. Don has been developing fast as a ball carrier and Pennington crashed through with some beautiful passes. If he can keep it up, it should improve the Tar offensive materially. With two good ends like Powell and Levy, Rollins may still have some surprises.

Because of the Tampa game Rollins will be the underdog when it meets Miami, but if the Tars are not hampered by injuries, they should be able to take Miami as they did last year.

The first week of touch-football went by without giving much indication of the strength of the various teams, except that the K. A.'s appear to have their usual strong outfit. Their chances of their coming out on top again this year should be good.

Seeing Al Stoddard on the field again reminds one of the Stoddard-Wetherell combination which in past years managed to talk the Theta Kappa Nu into numerous victories. Their last week's win over the Phi Delta makes it look as though Stoddard was carrying on the good work this year alone.

The "X" Club, with its usual policy of preparedness, was saved from a possible defeat at the hands of the Rho Lambda Nu when darkness stopped the game at the end of the third quarter. The Champions scored on an intercepted pass on the first play of the game, but were being badly out-played in the third quarter. The score stands, 6-0, at the last quarter will be played at a later date.

Local sports editors had a little trouble last week in determining exactly who would be the Tar's opponents on Armistice Day. After much had been written in the various publications about each Elmore and his younger brother it was discovered that this was not the team which the Tars were to meet. Life would be much less complicated for newspaper men if two colleges were not allowed to operate under the same name.

FRESHMEN TOP MIAMI B TEAM BY 13-6 SCORE

Kirby, Cetrulo, and Damsis Star in Baby Tars' First Win of Season

The Rollins College "B" team crashed through to a hard-fought victory in their second game of the current season by trouncing the University of Miami junior varsity eleven last Monday night in Coral Gables. The score of the game was 13-6.

The baby Tars started a 10-yard drive in the opening quarter of the clash which resulted in their first score. A pass from Kirby to Damsis settled thirty yards, and proved to be the outstanding feature in the touchdowns parade.

The freshmen proved their excellence at defensive play in the second period when Miami threatened but were successful. Mainly by the aid of a long penalty for holding against Rollins, the junior Hurricanes of Coral Gables brought the paganka to the Tar's second line.

Here the Freshmen held on four plays and pushed successfully out of danger. This wall kept Miami from scoring during the opening half of the game, and the count at half-time stood Rollins 6, Miami 0.

The Hurricanes' single score came shortly after the kickoff in the second period. Penalties again proved to be the main aid in the Miami march. With Miami in possession of the ball on the Tar's 22-yard line, Rollins was penalized 15 yards for holding. Taking the break Miami pushed the ball across in three successive plays. The attempt at conversion was spoiled.

Several Rollins men were injured during the third quarter, but the baby Tars went into the last period trying harder than ever. Again going into the air to gain the ground, the two teams fought back and forth without much gain for either side.

The climax of the contest came late in the final quarter, when a 20-yard pass from Cetrulo to Damsis settled the Tars' second tally.

Kirby, Cetrulo, and Damsis were outstanding on offense for the visitors. The Tars' drive and spirit tried their aerial attack, which worked far better than it has earlier this season. Damsis caught both passes which led the way to the Tars' scores.

COACHING STAFF UNIQUE AT ROLLINS

Undergraduates Aid Mentors in Shaping Eleven

The Rollins College coaching staff presents a unique set-up in having a pair of undergraduates as assistants.

Cleveland McElroy of Palmetto, Fla., and Doc Chakales of Asheville, N. C., are undergraduates assisting Head Coach McDowell with the Rollins Tars. Will Rogers, former great Rollins back, is in charge of the freshman team.

McDowell, still a legendary figure among North Carolina football fans, began to talk about graduation from North Carolina State College in 1929 after making the greatest athletic record in the Tar Heel school's history. The bespectacled Tar mentor is still regarded as one of the best all-around athletes ever produced in North Carolina. He was letters in football, basketball, baseball and track.

McElroy, an under graduate, prepared at Palmetto, Fla., and played one year as guard for the Tars in 1930. Dropping out of school for and ever half of last season before being declared ineligible. This season he has taken over the Rollins line and is doing a good job.

Chakales, also an undergraduate, assists McDowell with the

TOUCH FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT OPENS

Kappa Alpha and Theta Kappa Nu Show Must Promise

Opening the intramural season after the Rollins Hall team passed out of the picture, on Tuesday, the K. A.'s led by Jim Tully soundly trounced the Rho Lambda Nu team by a 14-0 score in the first touch-football game of the year.

On Thursday a strong Theta Kappa Nu team met and defeated the Phi Delta Theta to the tune of 8-0 in the afternoon's first contest. In the late period the X Club battled the Rho Lambda Nu to a 6-0 tie before the game was called on account of darkness at the end of the third quarter.

Yesterday the two most promising teams of the league met at four o'clock when K. A. and the Theta Kappa Nu led by Hank Lauterbach clashed on the intramural field across from Carnegie Hall. The second game saw Chase, playing for the first time in two years, meet the Phi Delta. Neither game was finished as this story went to press.

Class entered the arena late, waiting until after Fraternity pledging to call together its team. Rollins Hall, which had originally entered a team, dropped out on the first day when it was discovered that there would not be enough players.

Chase will play the Rollins schedule, postponing the originally scheduled game with the X Club which was to open the tournament until Nov. 28 in order to eliminate the necessity of taking Rollins' forfeit.

With the opening of the current season a new system was inaugurated when Bill Whalen was appointed the first undergraduate manager for men's intramurals.

This action places the play of the touch-football tournament under Whalen's direction allowing Will Rogers, Freshman football coach to concentrate more time on the Baby Tar eleven.

TARS TOP ALABAMA TEACHERS IN LAST HOME GAME MONDAY

Young, Howe, Levy, and Mobley Play Stellar Game For Rollins in Armistice Day Clash At Tinker Field

After allowing the Alabama State Teachers to score on a blocked punt when the entire visiting team walked through the line in the first period, the Rollins football team came back to win its last home game Monday afternoon by defeating the Alabama eleven to the tune of 18-6 in a sloppy game that should have given the Tars a top-heavy score.

The turning point of the game came at the end of the first quarter when Coach McDowell sent George Miller into the fray with a supporting backfield of Carmody and Howe. This combination managed to resurrect the slipping spirits of the Tars and enabled them to tie up the score at six to six in the second period so that they could start the half even with their opponents.

In the third quarter, Bubank Young started to clock behind a line opening up wide holes. He carried the ball, almost single-handed, down to scoring position in a series of drives through the line to score the winning touchdown, leaving the Tars on the top side of 13-6 score at the close of the drive.

Throughout the game, Young performed in stellar fashion, following through the holes opened by Jim Mobley and the rest of the Blue and Gold line and on the defense with a vengeance that upset more than one attempt of the Alabama Teachers to reverse the lead on the Rollins eleven.

The third score by the home team was the culmination of a drive from their twenty-yard marker after one of the visitor's kicks had passed the goal line. With Young carrying the ball and Murray passing to Powell for yardage, the team carried the ball down to the five-yard line where the pigskin roiled with first down and goal to go.

Outstanding in the play for the visitors were Hudson at left end and, until he was injured, Harris at right tackle. Wallace, who substituted for Harris also played a good game for the visitors. In the backfield, York and Hunter were the stars.

Stellar players for the Tars were Bubank Young in the backfield with Bob Howe, as usual, assisting himself well on defense. Pennington's passing and Carmody's blocking each deserve mention in the backfield positions. In the line, Elliott Baker, Tom Powell, and Ed Levy played the best games, along with the steady performance of Jim Mobley.

Twohousand, a sophomore this year, comes from Cincinnati, Ohio. Last spring he was co-manager of the baseball team with Chapin. He is a pledge of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Football Managerial Change is Announced

Announcement came last week from the athletic department that Walter Chapin had resigned his position as assistant manager of the Tar football team. Paul Twohousand has been appointed to fill the vacancy.
