Hitt will select provost from list of 3

Search committee makes final recommendations to president after 7-month process

What started as a massive search for UCF's next provost has turned into a three-candidate race.

The provost search committee, which began collecting resumes and nominations in early fall, recommended four candidates from its pool of eight finalists to President John Hitt late last month. One of those recommended later withdrew.

Hitt now has the task of selecting one to be the university's provost. The president will choose either Janice McKenna

Reynolds, vice chancellor of academic affairs at the University of Alaska, Dalmas Taylor, provost of the University of Vermont, or Gary Whitehouse, dean of the College of Engineering at the University of Central Florida. Nancy Smith Barrett, provost and vice president for academic affairs at Western Michigan University, was the fourth candidate recommended. Overwhelming support for her from colleagues and students at her campus convinced Barrett to withdraw from the search, however.

Hitt is expected to announce his selection soon.

"I think UCF is going to have a very good provost," said Ronnie Clayton, chair of the search committee. "All eight of the (final) candidates were real strong. We would have done well with any of them as our provost."

Search committee members reviewed information on the eight finalists before deciding on their recommendations to the president, he said. Reynolds and Barrett were late entries in the search, which began in October with about 150 candidates.

Once named, the provost is expected to take office in the fall, replacing Richard Astro, who resigned last summer but has maintained his duties during the search.

University joins oldest education association

The University of Central Florida was one of six public universities elected recently to full membership in the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, the nation's oldest higher education association.

The century-old NASULGC is dedicated to supporting excellence in teaching, research and public service and has been in the forefront of educational leadership nationally for more than a century. With the addition of the six new members, NASULGC now encompasses 167 members — 79 public universities; 72 land-grant institutions, including 178 historically black institutions created by the 1890 Second Land-Grant Act; and 27 public higher education systems.

NASULGC was founded in 1887, and its member campuses are located in all 50 states and U.S. territories and enroll more than 2.6 million students.

The association has adopted four basic goals:

- To show the central linkages between higher education and the nation's economic and societal interests;
- To affirm that the nation must provide access and opportunity for a

USPS banquet to honor employees

The 21st annual USPS awards banquet will be held at the Holiday Inn-UCF on July 16.

This year's theme is "Island Fiesta," and there will be entertainment (dancers and music) representing the many Caribbean islands.

The evening activities will include the announcing of the UCF employee of the year and the recognition of employees with 25, 20, 15, 10 and five years of service to the university. Honorees will receive reservation cards by mail to obtain two complimentary tickets. General public tickets are $13.50, and can be purchased June 28-July 6 by contacting Lois Engley, x2787, or at the Kiosk.

For information, call Engley or banquet chair Kathy Winstead, x5228.

Celebrating 25 years at UCF is Letha Irene Pfof.

Those celebrating 20 years are: Edward Call, Sonia Cirocco, Herman Condee, Patricia Dewoody, Carrie Hill, Sandra Johnson, Aurelia Jones, Walter Mitchell, John Thompson, Patricia Warden, Joyce Waring and Peggy Wunder.

Those celebrating 15 years are: Carolyn Brancart, Lloyd Cunningham, Ophelia Daniel, Audrey Demers, William Eller, William Fidler, Karen Gauvin, Alice Judah, Rose Kaplan, Aivars Matiss, Linda McCloe, Mattie McKenzie, Robert Moss, Barbara Pope and Carah Sweet.

MEMORANDUM

To: University community
From: USPS Staff Council
Subject: Contests for design of USPS Staff Council logo and staff T-shirt

The USPS Staff Council is sponsoring two contests for the design of a USPS Staff Council logo and for a staff T-shirt. There will be a $50 cash prize plus other prizes for the winner of each contest. One person may win both, or there may be two separate winners.

The contests are open to everyone, not just USPS members, so get your creative juices flowing. The objective is to promote visibility, spirit and pride on behalf of the UCF staff.

Please submit camera-ready art work to Marty Rouse, ADM 375, no later than June 18. The entries will be judged on originality, suitability and good taste. The T-shirt design can be humorous. The winner(s) will be announced at the July 16 USPS Awards Banquet.

For information, call one of the following: Marty Rouse, x2624; Susan Devor, x2608; Sandy Hill, x3213; Joanne Piersall, x2033; Linda Vail, x5903; or Kathy Winstead, x5228.

PEOPLE

Employee of the month

Wollitz all business when it comes to job

When Loretta Wollitz "recepts," you really feel welcomed.

Hers is the first face you see in the office of undergraduate records, in the College of Business Administration.

Her title, receptionist, is one she takes seriously. That's probably why she's May's employee of the month.

A goldfish bowl kept filled with pretzels and candy and other goodies helps. "That's Fran Percival's doings," Wollitz said. "Some students don't come in for help, just for a quick snack."

There's an old, slightly dented card file on her desk, and a divider with folders marked "information" and "things to do." Final exam schedules are ready in case of questions. There are piles of transient student forms on her desk.

A typical summer semester starts for Wollitz.

It's a good thing Wollitz has her pint-sized bottle of liquid paper, just in case. "Peter Grierson gave it to Sybil Haveard. When Sybil retired several years ago, she passed it on to me," Wollitz said.

Wollitz has been with the College of Business Administration for almost nine years. She will soon settle into a new U-shaped cubicle at the same location, where pictures of her grandchildren and a golden retriever named Princess will have more room to share with administrative ingredients.

"Every time we have registration, that's a total challenge. It happens three times a year. Fall and spring are the heaviest," Wollitz said.

Still, she has her 22 years as a purchasing agent to reflect on, and finds that "this is such a delight in comparison."

"The people I work with really extend themselves to help students," Wollitz said.

Helen Hill, coordinator of undergraduate programs, said, "Loretta is top of the line."

"When she left the accounting department to come here, her students came here too. She didn't lose her following," Hill said.

"She's caring and helpful. She had to learn lots about the college for her job here. She just walked to the front line, and got down to it."

Rhonda Ingraham, a peer advisor who helps students choose classes, said, "When we're busy, she'll try to help students. She's very nice to work with."

"Our students are very fond of Loretta," Hill

They are friendly and they all try to do their jobs successfully."

"When can I register? Am I OK to graduate? How do I see about a grade change?" is just a sampling of the questions Wollitz receives. She finds the information, or the right person to help, and gives it to her "customers."

"The only phone calls I really hate are the bomb threats," Wollitz said. "It's happened twice. You have to fill out a lot of police reports." She appreciates the courteous attitudes of the police officers, but would rather not inconvenience so many people.

The versatility and flexibility she demonstrates on the job is just as useful at home, where she and her husband, Lee, care for 5-year-old Princess. Before that, it was their son, David, and now occasionally their grandchildren, Joshua, 6, and Jessica, 10.

The grandchildren live in Kissimmee, which is quite convenient, since Grampa works at Disney World after retiring from United Telephone. When the Wollitz family is not enjoying the theme park, they sneak off to their own nature park in North Carolina.

There they have three and a half acres of woods, with deer and groundhogs and squirrels and lots of birds to enjoy. Their nest is an RV, which is covered with a roof and a porch on three sides, so they can take advantage of the pleasant view. "Princess especially likes to go there," explained Wollitz.

"We used to go camping at different campgrounds, but now we have our own," said Wollitz. "We pump our water from a spring nearby."

When she needs some recreation at work, Wollitz pulls out a crossword puzzle at lunch.

"I do the puzzles in the Sentinel, and sometimes from books I buy," she said.

During that break she gets food for the mind and food for the body. At her weekend retreat she gets food for her spirit. Wollitz knows she'll need those reserves later, when she's "all business."

By Irene Chandler

said. "Dean Huseman was so impressed with her helpful attitude when he called here that he awarded her some gift certificates."

"We're here to help students with their goal of graduating," said Wollitz.

"The people I work with have good attitudes.

Pi Sigma Epsilon glows in Saturn competition

Pi Sigma Epsilon — Delta Delta Chapter recently was named the 1993 Saturn Award winner at UCF. The award, co-sponsored by the university and Saturn Corp., salutes outstanding community service accomplishments by student teams.

The 64-member team Pi Sigma Epsilon — Delta Delta received $1,000 and a plaque for capturing the top honor with Hurricane A.I.D. (Active Intervention in Disaster).

The chapter will now compete with students from 15 other colleges and universities for a national $5,000 award.

Gemini Road closed temporarily near arena

Gemini Road north will be closed at Greek Park Drive to the arena until Wednesday, May 26. Peter Newman, director of facilities planning, said a contractor will be installing a drainage system for the student apartment facility project.

'Dump Your Plump' contest launched

The student affairs development committee is launching a wellness program for its employees. The kickoff is a contest called 'Dump Your Plump.' The 10-week contest involves weight loss, good nutrition and regular fitness activities.

Staff and faculty may enter by forming teams of five to 10 members. "The program is successful because team members see each other almost daily," said Terri Langford, contest director. "They encourage and support one another in forming new eating habits, learning new ways to manage stress, and many teams exercise together. Also, they enjoy competing, good naturedly, with teams from other departments."

The program, which emphasizes exercise and behavior modification rather than dieting, is open to anyone wishing to lose up to 20 pounds in 10 weeks.

college education to all who can benefit from the experience;

- To help to strengthen the credibility of public higher education where its credibility has been threatened; and

- To make the case that the nation must make investment in public higher education a top priority at the national as well as state level.

Joining UCF as recent NASULGC members were Florida Atlantic

University; the University of Massachusetts, Boston; Oakland University in Rochester, Mich.; East Carolina University in Greenville, N.C.; and the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. The new members were elected by the NASULGC board of directors on April 27. Each new member also holds membership in the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

"We are delighted to welcome as the most recent members of the NASULGC such an excellent and diverse group of public universities," said Peter Magrath, president.

"America's great state universities such as these are essential to the health and well-being of our nation and its citizens, and we are proud to add to our already distinguished roster of members each of these fine public institutions."

Other Florida schools holding NASULGC membership are Florida A&M University, Florida International University, Florida State University, University of Florida and University of South Florida, as well as the State University System of Florida.

Faculty representatives, administrators hash out concerns during consultation

Editor's note: The following is the UFF/UCF Chapter consultation with the president report. Representing UFF and the administration were Ida Cook, Bill Byers, Charles Harpole, Phyllis Hudson, David Hernandez, Frank Kujawa, Carole Hinshaw, Janet Balanoff, John Hitt, Frank Juge and Mark Roberts. The consultation took place on April 14.

- Status and conditions of grievance procedures

This item was discussed at a meeting immediately preceding this consultation.

- Salary compensation, equity and compression

David Hernandez requested that the administration use discretionary salary funds to address compression issues and improve salaries of long-time faculty as a reward for commitment to the university.

Frank Juge agreed that salary compression should be corrected. He added that UFF should bargain for this issue at contract discussions. He does not agree that the small amount of money, approximately 1 percent, should be used to solve salary inequities. Juge added that promotion funds will be taken off the top of the discretionary money.

Phyllis Hudson requested that some means should be found to correct last year's promotion shortfall.

Hernandez praised the administration in protecting the health insurance provisions without additional employee deductions.

- Request publication of proposed "Pegasus Model"

Juge reported that this mathematical model, which will be the basis for a fair distribution of funds to the colleges, is near completion. It is a public document and open for inspection. It should be finished and ready for implementation in fall 1993.

- Listing of criteria for, and fair and equitable assignment of summer and overload employment

Hudson referred to the contract, page 13, concerning the posting of criteria. In many instances, criteria have not been posted. Juge will remind all concerned that posting of criteria be done. All agreed that all faculty have input into what criteria are accepted.

Ida Cook asked that classroom allocation be managed properly. Special attention should be given to matching class size to classroom capacity, as well as placing caps on certain types of classes. Juge agreed this issue should be studied and managed more carefully.

- Adherence to licensure requirements in promotion, tenure and administrative appointments

Frank Kujawa and Bill Byers stated that licensure requirements for faculty is Florida state law. They added that UCF has not been adhering to this requirement. Byers requested that the administration enforce this requirement and asked for a position statement.

Juge stated that this should be enforced by the dean of engineering. John Hitt will consult with Dean Gary Whitehouse on this issue to be sure UCF is in compliance with Florida law. There will be a report at the next consultation.

- Problems concerning academic freedom and freedom of speech

Charles Harpole voiced concerns about the student newspaper The UCF Future. Juge stated that since UFF does not represent the student newspaper this should not be an issue to be discussed at consultation. He added that the newspaper has been independent for more than a year.

Hitt stated that the newspaper should be an independent publication. He added that the administration has in no way hindered right of freedom of speech of the newspaper. He expressed his belief in freedom of speech and academic freedom.

- Additional comments were made concerning procedures for granting sabbaticals.
