DR. PATTEE WILL GIVE ADDRESS AT COMMENCEMENT

Senator Fletcher Unable to Attend Due to Late Congress Session

EIGHTY TO GRADUATE

Pattee Celebrated as Critic and Educator

President Hamilton Holt of Rollins College announced today that Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee, professor of American literature, had accepted the invitation to give the Commencement Address on Wednesday, June 3, when a class of more than eighty will receive degrees.

Dr. Pattee will take the place of U. S. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida who wired Dr. Holt last week that he would have to cancel his engagement here because of the probability that Congress will remain in session after June 3.

Dr. Pattee, one of America's foremost men of letters, has had a distinguished career as an author, critic, and educator. He came to Rollins in 1928 after retiring as professor emeritus of Pennsylvania State College where he had taught for 34 years. Each summer for the past twelve years he has been visiting professor of American literature at the famous Breadloaf School of English at Middlebury College in Vermont.

Dr. Pattee's best books on American literature are used in hundreds of colleges and universities throughout the United States. Three of his books have been chosen for the "List of Books for College Libraries" by Charles B. Shaw, compiled for the Advisory (Continued on page 2, col. 4)

ROLLINS REUNION TO BE AUGUST 15

Will Meet at Dr. Holt's Home in Woodstock

ALUMNI ARE EXPECTED

If you are within five hundred miles of Woodstock, Conn., don't fail to attend the annual Rollins summer reunion Saturday, August 15, at the home of President Holt. You'll be amazed to see so many of your college buddies on deck. So-and-so, whom you thought was thousands of miles away, will turn up and a lot of your alumni friends whom you never expected to see again will be chasing around you-hoing to everybody. It's more fun than a picnic. By the way, the affair is a sort of picnic. You bring your own lunch if you want to. Otherwise you get it handed to you, usually for a consideration, from a committee at the shore of Lake Woodland.

Books and Leaflets Donated to Library By Dean Anderson

During the past week the library has received from Dean Anderson 789 periodicals and 700 leaflets on chemistry, 43 miscellaneous periodicals and pamphlets, and 19 books. Many of the periodicals are to be bound this summer, and will make a valuable and useful addition to the books on chemistry. We are very grateful to the Dean for this generous gift.

Mr. Gilt Blair recently sent to the library through the Macmillan Company two volumes "The Francis Preston Blair family in Politics" by William Ernest Smith. These volumes are of especial interest to Rollins College on account of frequent mention of James S. Rollins, familiarly known as the "Father of the University of Missouri".

Asserts Church is Suffering From Inferiority

"We are in the world as sheep in the midst of ravening wolves. But our religion is not so much in danger from the wolfishness of the wolves as from the sheepishness of the sheep." It was with this familiar quotation that the Reverend J. H. Hanger, 307, his last Sunday at Rollins.

The speaker, formerly affiliated with a Methodist Church in Miami, has recently arrived in Winter Park to fulfill his duties here. Invited to address the chapel congregation, he started to discuss "A Minority Opinion".

COMMENT ON THE WEEKS NEWS

By FRED LIBERMAN

The recent Goffey decision brings up a question which is of importance to the Constitution as it now stands effective. In order to answer this fairly we must throw aside party prejudice and look broadly and at both the present Administration and the Supreme Court.

The purpose of the Goffey Act was to prevent wage and price cutting, thereby aiding the war effort. Both sides and some persons want and need government regulation. The social conditions of the nation were miserable before the passage of the act and it is probable that they will be again because of the decision of the court.

The Administration has passed a number of bills similar to the Goffey Act in the last few years. They attempted to relieve the suffering of the life, suffering, the money left by the depression. These conditions must be righted and credit should be given the President and Congress for trying to do so; the trouble is that they are fighting with their hands in the wall.

The Supreme Court, on the other hand, has been faithfully doing its duty. It is not opposed to social reform as such, why should it be? It is merely safeguarding the most precious possession of the American people, the Constitution. It must prevent the Congress and the Chief Executive from taking powers not granted to them. In the Constitution, for once the legislators sweep their hands in the air.

Dr. Wright Favorably Impressed With Student Production of "Double Door"

By Dr. Bertha Wright

On Friday night, May 22, the Rollins Student Company presented at the Annie Russell Theatre as the last play of the season, "The Double Door" by Elizabeth McFadden, an exceptionally good melodrama.

Announcers are often tempted to over-stay in plays of this kind and it is the best tribute to the Student Company to say that there was no sign of the weakness in Friday's performance. Every one of the principals preserved a fine balance of passion and restraint in voice and gesture. The major role, of Victoria Van Brel, was played by Miss Ruth Dawson, who as Laura in "The Children of the Moon" and the mother in "The Goose Hangs High", contributed much to the success of the company earlier in the season. Other leading parts were those of Caroline Van Brel (played by Miss Marjorie Edgely), her half-brother Rip (played by Mr. Siley Varto), Anne Darrow, the heroine (Miss Catherine Bailey) Anne's friend, Dr. John Sully (Mr. Benar Collinson), and the family solicitor (Mr. William Pearce).

The play describes the efforts of Rip Van Brel assisted by his young wife Anne Darrow and his half-sister Caroline, to escape the dual necessity of Victoria, the eldest and the youngest over the whole household. The thrill is provided by the existence of a windowless, sandproof room, hidden behind a double door, and known only to Victoria and to Caroline who dares not tell. Anne is imprisoned in this room, and rescued at the crucial moment not by the feeble Rip, but by Mr. Chase and Dr. Sully.

Men may come and men may go, but good melodrama goes on forever. It is not the characters or situations but the ideas they turn upon that with as one age is passed and another come. Our grandchildren will date this play by its appeal to the modern sense of hygiene.

"The room is a gem-trap." "The windows are never open." "These drapes haven't been taken down in fifty years," cries Anne with a thrill as her young voice, and we tremble with sympathetic horror as our grandmothers at the violation of a sacrament. Freshness and fresh air, personified in Anne, with the day against secrecy and mysteries. Victoria, completely insane, is left fingering the symbol of her greedy nature.

Key Society Elects Jere Collinson As Newest President

Jere Collinson, Phi Delta Theta, succeeded Jean Parker, Chi Omega, as president of the Rollins Key Society at the organization's final meeting of the year.

The Key Society has had an active year, meeting once each month for dinner in the Monday Room, and having sponsored a lecture during the winter term by Professor F. C. Northrop of Yale who was a great success. The society has also been actively engaged in an attempt to change the present grading system at Rollins to a more simple form and one which would not require translation by the office staff before reaching the student. The society's recommendations have been made, but to date the administration has taken no action.

Predictions For Future of Rollins Offered by Senior Class Member

By a Staff Member

Four years at Rollins! The Chapel and Theatre spring into being on an empty easel, and now the WPA and five new dormitories. Yes, things have been happening. And things will continue to happen. Based on the past, here are the predictions of a member of the Senior Class makes for the future.

From a purely material standpoint—buildings and equipment—Rollins will grow in the next few years more than in the period just passed. In addition she will continue to give students a sound education as long as she follows her present policy of allowing the individual class to be taught according to the particular needs of that class. In spirit, she will remain progressive.

The future should see: (1) As many freshmen love affairs as usual. These are as inevitable as sunbeams in the fall and should not be tampered with. There is something beautiful and fresh about them. (2) The annual fall ball of the football candidates to Cleveland's lobby to look over the new crop as soon as they arrive and separate the wheat from the chaff. (3) The wailing cry of the pacifists and radicals will reach crescendo and the heated arguments in their meetings rage indefinitely.

(4) The organization, Fraternity Group or otherwise, winning out in Publications or Student elections will proclaim themselves an "organization for good". Their opponents will deny them as dirty politicians and start a movement to clean up the campus. (5) The fraternities will live like lambs in their new quarters and cease to war so violently against each other. (6) The sororities will hold incident at the loss of their homes and will refuse to reconcile themselves to "huddling up" in the dormitories.

(7) Landmark will be expatriated by another drug store at college hangout, if the Dow period is carrying over his cash-and-carry policy to next year. (8) Danes, the beach, and moonlight will be as popular as ever. These will maintain their ascendancy as long as young people enjoy swimming and love. (9) The Chapel will attract more college students to its services. It will make more of an effort to secure capable speakers, lay or ecclesiastical—men who have something to say rather than merely add platitudes.

(10) College will go on smoothly and efficiently, even without the aid and assistance of so valuable a class as 1936.

CARTER PRESENTS SENIOR RECITAL

Reviewer Pleased with Program of Pianist

ENTIRELY MEMORIZED

By Warren Goldsmith

Jack Carter gave his senior piano recital last Wednesday evening at the Woman's Club, and the best way to describe the concert in general, is to say that it was wonderful! Yes, everybody that has heard Jack Carter play the piano, must admit that he is a very excellent and sincere musician.

His program was composed of extremely difficult numbers, all of which he memorized and which he played with perfection of technique and expression.

His first number was the great "Toccata and Fugue" in D minor of Bach, and he rendered this composition with amazing dexterity and subtleties of expression.

Despite the large crowd present at the recital Mr. Carter showed absolutely no signs of nervousness, and he played with as much self assurance and ease as if he were practicing alone in his home.

Indeed the only criticism I could make concerning Mr. Carter's interpretation of the "Toccata and Fugue" is that in spots he played it a bit too slowly.

His second number was Chopin's "Serenade in B flat major"—the "Pearls; my pearls; all mine". Dr. Fleischman has every reason to be gratified at the results of many weeks of hard work. Good elocution and an easy bearing, acquired in the theatre, last long after the young players have quitted the college footlights for the shop and the exchange. A sense of beauty acquired in designing an antique setting or learning how to wear a picturesque frock without self-consciousness in this play the friends were both beautiful and well-groomed by Mrs. Elizabeth Warner, these are social assets. The producers and their assistants are no less to be congratulated than the actors for their share in this suitable piece of cooperative work.

third movement of which is the famous funeral march. I was thrilled by the wonderful brilliancy of technique, and the perfect phrasing and expression with which he performed the sonata. His playing showed not only a complete knowledge of the technical side of music, but also a thorough understanding of Chopin's ideas and how the composer intended his music to be played.

Mr. Carter's third group of compositions included Bachmann's "Prelude in G sharp minor", Beethoven's "Intermezzo" Opus 117, No. 2, and two pieces of Debussy, "Les Sons et les Parfums" and "Les Colours d'Aracuzzi".

Mr. Carter showed us in this group that his finished musicianship extended not only to very fast intricate and difficult compositions, for he played the Beethoven "Intermezzo" (which is a most romantic number) with exquisite feeling and precise flowing rhythm.

Mr. Carter ended his recital in a whirlwind of exuberance and brilliancy, by playing Strauss' waltz "Fladenmann" waltz.

virtues: selflessness in charity (the love) pugnacity to develop power; greed to circumvent justice. So beset with enemies and fraught with risk, they wandered, even though we have wandered through 1900 weary years in search of what we find there.

Two of the apices, however, a staunch minority, were willing to discount all evils in view of the advantages. And because they dared to say the land was well worth the prospective battle, they were stored. Stored by the very people who claimed most to desire and to cherish the fruits of the Promised Land. But one day the prophetic words to be heard and heeded. And one day they were to lead their people into the land of Canaan. And then the people knew.

So it is today, the Reverend Hangar said. "If we speak of purity, we are told we forget the Magdalene who walks the street, of unselfishness, we forget oppression; of justice, we forget corruption—even in the highest offices of the church; of peace, we forget the race in armaments. We are told we blaspheme when we liken men to gods." But Jesus believed implicitly in the goodness of humankind. And his followers likewise.

A Letter From Toots

Darling—

Well, now that the year is about to give us some laugh and disappointment, I thought I'd write and tell you all about it. It's really been the most perfectly ideal and roarsome fun of my life.

Starting from scratch, darling, here goes. Held your hats, we're off.

Of course you remember the infernal others—in order to fill the freshmen with the good old R. S. Following closely came the girl's rush parties which the freshmen slowly adore, but which we poor long suffering seniors get pretty fed to the teeth with—but never, never let on.

We hardly had time to recuperate from girl's rushing and pledging when the boys pitched in—and during the really three home runs. The Blue Landis. Now started the ball rolling with a splendid All-College dance at the Orange Court Hotel—the first one of the year. The freshmen showed they had gotten going of R. S., and everyone whooped around in the good old-fashioned way. Of course, in our rush parties we didn't keep the boys out until twelve each night dancing up a storm, but they certainly did us.

By the grace of God and a long handled tooth brush I managed to decorated each party with my ducky little white satin job-crank, cooek. The Theta Kappas New went up to my cotillions when they gave a stag affair and I slept. The K. A. started off their outside floor, got a few fish from the Chapel garden, the Florida Children and went to town. Really, we had the silliest time playing games and trying to win beautiful gold cigarette cases. The Phi Delta had a lovely affair at Delwood and sent all the members' ducky little white satin job-crank, cooek. They whopped back to Delwood the next night to see the X Club too as All-College Brew—what was left of the boys pitched next day, which was colossal by the way, but everyone was so soaked they didn't really care who won what.

The K. A. always brightens up the fall and spring terms with their wonderful backyard dances. You remember many's the night we would go and dance for the short space of six or eight hours with our footsore dancing.

Of course the darling football team just played all the time so we could have midnight shows. The dear Chase and Rollins Hall boys came down with an epidemic of spot houses about about this time too. Such fun!

The Phi Delta gave a couple of adorable house dances. The X Club received at Huxley's and the Theta Kappas New were at home at Chris' as probably thought their social obligations ended there.

Those darling freshmen gave the grandest Break-Training Dance—crash bang! Much food farrowling and stuff until after the Christmas holidays, you know.

After Christmas many high resolutions—no more fishery-grub. The Alpha Phi introduced Enquire into everything at the dance

ON AND OFF CAMPUS

Jane Sassenheimer, Betty Moore, Rudy Brown, and Bob McArthur visited Jane's parents in Daytona for the week-end.

June Burr of Miami University spent the week-end at the Gamma Phi Beta house last week.

Barbara Connor went home to New Smyrna for the week-end.

Sally Stearns left Friday with the Rollins crew to tour the East. Sally is co-captain of the crew.

Kay Jones spent the week-end at home in Orlando.

Marion Tubbs and Fred Smith spent the week-end at Marion's home in Melbourne.

burying said I. A worthwhile life for my last two terms—but you know how things will work up in the end. The K. A. Convention and Dance took care of those reserves in one mighty clap. And I'm still applauding. We had more fun at the County Fair to benefit the library fund. It finally degenerated into a rip roaring barn dance. Coverdale's Open House always is a having success but this year's beat them all.

Next came the biggest saga of All-College Dances ever known in the world. Gamma Phi, Psi Phi, and Kappa all outdid themselves, each other, and all the rest in outdoing things. They were perfectly wonderful I know, but I can't remember one from another. Only it was a blessing that Reokey's formula fit me. Darling, these were really high spots in everyone's careers.

The Phi Delta pulled out of their bag of tricks a Fancy Dress Ball at the Orlando Country Club—the first one in two or three years. It was more fun than a barrel of monkeys—and everyone looked pretty peculiar—more, pirates, Chinese landladies, Egyptian slave girls, and no end of odds and ends. "Whee-I said, tripping over my train and falling flat in front of the chaperones.

The Phi Delta had a house party at the Pullman the next week-end but didn't have the pleasure of my attendance, but Reokey said it was soles of fun.

The Theta Chi, Psi, and Delta Omicron Department have all had beach parties too. Everyone is collecting such tons they'll soon be calling Rollins the Hungerford Prep.

The X Club gave a gorgeous dance on Delwood's outside floor Saturday night a week ago. It was so lovely out there—once you arrived.

They gave at the Solarium last Saturday night. It was more fun. You were meant to dress like some one in Eogwre and some people were perfect screams!

Jay, oh boy, and whoops—Saturday night was the Student Council Dance at Delwood—last one of the year. They always lead on, say, saying they were having spiced punch—and they never do. It would be just too nice if they had only for the seniors, you know. Of course they gave us the most beautiful picnic at Coronado—yep, no idea. We really had such a jolly old time.

DANNY WINANT will be working in the pulp mill that practically the whole class is going to get their diplomas, right about face, and match straight back into the chapel chanting "I do!"

Well, of course, darling, I could go on like this for hours but I like you too well. If I've left anything out I'll be sure to remember it and tell you next time.

Love and kisses,
TOOTS.

ROLLINS COLLEGE

Winter Park, Fla.

Dear Rollins College Students:

College is almost finished and it is time for traveling home. Have you bought your summer clothes yet and have you the right suit for traveling home on the train?

DICKSON LIVES have just received a new shipment of NELLY-DON dresses for just this purpose. One I noticed especially had a brown Rayon skirt with white dots and a scarf to match, then the blouse or jacket was made of linen and had two very cute pockets in it. The shoulders of the jacket were split and there were three brown buttons holding them together, which made them stand straight out and gave a very good effect. These suits come in brown, navy blue, and black. The price is $7.95.

A ROLLINS COLLEGE SHOPPER

THE Inquiring Reporter

This Week's Question: "What do you think of the Senior Graduation Boards?"

Annasene Pendexter: Senior boards are valuable as long as they help the student correlate his major with other fields and don't degenerate into a hollow inquiry.

Jack Andrews: I believe the idea of the Senior Graduation Board is to be in strict keeping with the Rollins system.

Martha May Newby: I can't condone a rubber stamp. Neither do I excuse unfair questioning.

Norris Clark: I think they're all right, and very consistent with the rest of the Rollins plan.

Victoria Peters: Asking detailed questions is silly. The student would profit more if he were asked to give his outlook upon life and his future plans.

James Helges: The Senior Graduation Board is an unusual, interesting, and entirely unnecessary feature of college life.

Jane Thayer: I think that their importance is rather overrated. Yet I feel sorry for the poor students when the professors take pleasure in deriding their own satisfaction.

Paul Ney: The Senior Board should vary in its procedure with each student. Hard for the teacher and easy for the worker.

H. P. Abbott: I think that generally speaking the men and women who serve on the graduation boards should be selected more carefully as regards their fitness to fulfill such a duty.

Two Engagements of Alpha Phi Sorority Chaperones Revealed At Seniors Banquet

Two engagements of interest to everyone in Rollins were announced at the Senior dinner last Friday night.

Mrs. Corvella Menden, Lakeside house mother, is being married to Mr. H. P. Bussies of Winter Park on June 3.

Mr. Fleetwood Peoples, who graduated from Rollins in 1932 and is now swimming instructor at the college, and Miss Dorothy Nichols of the class of 1933 will be married June 4, in the Knowles Memorial Chapel.

The Alpha Phi sorority entertained at an Enquire dance last Saturday night at the Solarium. A few unusual costumes carrying out the idea of the dance were worn but most of the guests wore formal evening clothes.

The Stetson Hatters played for dancing from nine to one.

Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Kinser, Mr. and Mrs. Saberson, Mrs. Trevor, and Mrs. Twindman.

Dinner is held for Mrs. Norma Stemm

The girls of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority gave a dinner party last week in honor of Mrs. Norma Stemm, their house mother, who is not returning next year.

Before dinner Mrs. Stemm received flowers and at the dinner a watch was presented to her.

Only members of the sorority attended the dinner, which was at the Whistling Kettle.
