isn't getting right. Please attend to the things, J. L. & B. for their letters. I got a question budget from them the other evening and I will not believe when I am a little settled at La Grange, I wonder when that will be, we are going to stay at the floors with walnut betaxin and I am sure they are no easy things. Please be strong and I have done a lot of there but a man and after being in Florida etc.
Please thank you and I will be glad to see you at all times and I will be glad to see you Monday.

Saturday, the heavy luggage is going by freight train tomorrow morning, we have just finished packing, and I'm what they call out here "real warm I guess" draw out the guess for a second or two and then you will have the accent to perfection.
The girls arrived quite safely, unspoiled, they are splendid, just what I wanted, they don't keep them in Ireland, or I would not have troubled you, thank you very much for giving them to me, two pieces with love to the boys out at Harpersville, and I expect we shall not move at all until Xmas time, perhaps not then. Minnie Daniel has been very kind to Herbert since he has been ill, I am sure he will be sorry to leave them. It is getting cooler every day, not that I object to the heat I rather prefer it, but of course the winter climate here is the thing to talk about, you should see an hotel being built here (all wood of course) with about three or four hundred rooms in it, all for the northerners to come and winter in and they say every room is engaged already.

and this is at present a most out of the way kind of place with just two stores and a station. What a pity Alec lost his skull, I was so excited to know if Bertha's boat had won, it was quite disappointing to both of us. The boys have ordered some beautiful orange trees for their grove, the man who puts them in (and is selling them) has promised to replace any that die, they will bear in about two years, instead of waiting, as many people do, for seven. We make a most lovely drink here, lemonade only instead of lemons we use limes, they have a most lovely flavour and are
