President Holt Dedicates Peace Monument on Campus

Andrews Tells of Celebration
Of False Armistice

Climaxing the impressive Armistice Day services held Friday in Knoxville Memorial Chapel, which were attended by the entire student and faculty bodies, as well as by numerous local residents, President Hamilton Holt dedicated an unusual and effective peace monument, which occupies a commanding position on the Rollins campus in front of the new Lyman Hall.

The monument, with its huge German shell mounted on a massive triangular stone pedestal, is decidedly imposing, both in its artistic beauty and in its peace message, of which is dedicating the monument Holt said it was probably the first attempt made to carry out Victor Hugo's famous prophecy, which is engraved on one side of the stone pedestal, that "A day will come when a nation will be exhibited to public view as an instrument of torture to men, and people will be astonished that such a thing could have been."

Engraved on the front of the pedestal is the startling command "Peace, peace-by, and bring your hand in shame," followed by the inscription "This engine of destruction, torture and death symbolizes the prostitution of the inventor, the avenger of the manufacturer, the blood-guilt of the statesman, the serenity of the soldier, the perverted patriotism of the citizen, the debasement of the human race; that it can be employed as an instrument in defense of liberty, justice and right in no wise invalidates the truth of the words here engraved."

Holt Writes Inscription
The inscription was written by Dr. Holt, who was one of the organizers of the League of Nations idea and who, for a generation, has stood before the public as one of the chief American advocates of peace through justice.

Dr. Holt secured the German shell last summer from Pauline Bigelow, author, journalist, explorer, and intimate friend of Kaiser Wilhelm. Mr. Bigelow had obtained several similar shells from the United States Government at the conclusion of the World War, after Germany, under the terms of

Dr. Hutchings Speaks Before Astronomical Club On "Meteors"

Dr. Phyllis H. Hutchings, instructor in astronomy at Rollins College, spoke before a meeting of the Amateur Astronomical Club of the Orlando Senior High School Monday afternoon. Dr. Hutchings chose as her subject, "Shooting Stars," or Meteors, a timely subject since two "showers" of meteors are scheduled to occur during the month of November. The first shower will occur between the 15th and 16th of this month, and the second from the 17th to the 18th. According to Dr. Hutchings, the meteors are best seen between midnight and dawn, when the observer is on the forward side of the earth in its trip around the sun.

Business Managers Of Florida Schools Hold Meeting Here

A meeting of the business managers of Florida schools and colleges will be held at Rollins on Wednesday, November 16th. Harold M. Mott, president of the association, is chairman of the meeting at which these purchasing agents will meet. The speakers include two from Rollins, Dr. Edwin Clarke and Treasurer E. T. Brown. The other two speakers will be K. H. Graham, business manager of the University of Florida, and J. G. Kellum, business manager of the Florida State College for Women.

ROLLINS CHOIR PARTICIPATES IN BROADCAST

Entire Group To Sing November 23 On Radio Hour

PREPARE FOR FESTIVAL

Back Festival Will Be Given March 2 and 3

The Rollins College A Cappella Choir under the direction of Christopher Homan, Director of the Conservatory of Music, is preparing for one of the busiest seasons it has known. The choir is rehearsing several important programs to be given before Christmas as well as rehearsing the music for the Back Festival.

On November 23, the choir will participate in a special Thanksgiving service to be broadcast over the Rollins radio hour from eight to eight-thirty in the evening. The music is completely appropriate for the season and includes the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Judas Macbeth" of Handel, "Praise to the Lord" by Christians, and a Bach Chorale, "Thank We All Our God." This entire program will be given for the college on the Wednesday morning before Thanksgiving.

The annual Christmas service will be held the evening of December 18. This service will include special Christmas anthems and music provided as a background for the Nativity Tableau. In connection with the Christmas program there will be a broadcast from the Chapel from eight to eight-thirty of the first part of the service. This will be the first time that a description of this impressive and beautiful service will have been given over the air.

The Thursday afternoon carol service on the 15th of December will include carols from various countries. The congregation will join in the singing of a group of familiar carols.

The present Back choir, with the chapel choir as a nucleus, includes singers from Winter Park, Orlando, Pinemonte, Orlando, Apopka, Maitland, and Lake Alfred. This choir meets every Monday evening for rehearsal in the Knoxville Memorial Chapel. This year, as in previous years, outside units from Gainesville, Tampa, and Daytona Beach will also sing with the Back choir. These groups are under the constant supervision of Professor Homan although he cannot be present at all rehearsals.

The Back Festival, which will be given March 2 and 3, will include the "St. Matthew Passion" to be sung in its entirety, Cantata 140—"Sleepers, Wake," and Cantata 50—"Now Shall the Grace." The schedule will be announced soon.

Dr. Hamilton Holt is pictured above with General Avery D. Andrews and members of the Orlando post of the American Legion as he dedicated the monument to "eternal peace" following the Armistice Day Convocation ceremonies held in Knoxville Memorial Chapel.

Bob McFall Elected Head Of Committee

Bob McFall was elected chairman of the Freshman Dance committee, which is composed of one representative from each of the fraternities and societies, and two representatives from the Independent. He in turn appointed committees to make arrangements for necessary plans for the coming date.

Jeff Kennedy and Bob McFall were appointed as a committee to secure an orchestra; George Ehrlich, Evelyn Boland, Roberta McCormick, and Dick Kelly will make arrangements for a place for the dance to be held. Lillian Ryan will take care of the necessary publicity. The decorations committee, Bob McFall, Bruno Fedrizzi, Lillian Ryan, and Gwen Griffiths will be aided by other members of the Freshman class appointed by this committee.

LOOK TO ENTERTAIN WESLEYAN SQUAD

Fuller Announces Extensive
Plans for Team's Stay

TEAM ARRIVES FRIDAY

Plans for an extensive reception and entertainment program for the members of the Ohio Wesleyan football party during their brief sojourn in central Florida this weekend, arranged by Omicron Delta Kappa, official hosts to the visiting Ohio gridgers, were announced today by George Fuller, president of the Rollins College chapter of the honorary national men's activities fraternity.

Dean Arthur D. Fayart, faculty advisor to the local ODK chapter and an alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan University, will greet the Battling Bishops in Jacksonville when they arrive there Thursday morning. After spending the night in Jacksonville with the squad, Dean Fayart will accompany the party to Winter Park Friday, where they are scheduled to arrive at noon.

Fuller revealed that the ODK's would be on hand in a body to greet the visiting Ohio Wesleyan gridgers along with an expected large turnout of students and the newly-uniformed, forty-piece Rollins band. After packing the members of the Buckeye state football party into cars, the ODK's will show the visitors about the campus and then take them on over to their hotel in Orlando.

Although the Battling Bishops will be scheduled during the afternoon and up until time for their homecoming day battle with the Rollins Tars Friday night, each member of the team will be presented with a bag of Florida oranges, the gift of the local Gen. H. Brothers fruit packing firm, and an attractive homecoming football program as souvenirs of their visit when they step into their hotel rooms.

The honorary men's fraternity will also maintain an information desk in the lobby of their hotel during their stay and will have a number of cars placed at the party's convenience.

Saturday morning, the Ohio gridgers will have their choice of three trips to points of interest in Central Florida. They may either make a trip up the Wakulla River to the

Many Exhibits Will Be Open To The Public

Scientists from all sections of the state of Florida will gather at Rollins College on November 17, 18, and 19, to participate in the third annual meeting of the Florida Academy of Sciences.

These professors and teachers of biology, chemistry, physics and astronomy will present to the assembled group new discoveries and discuss new developments and perplexing problems in this field. Many exhibits will be shown to the public, but due to the small class room only members of the Academy and students especially interested in science will be permitted to participate in these discussions. All interested persons may attend the discussions in the Annie Russell Theatre.

Scientific instruments will be exhibited by Philip and Mrs. Inc. of Richmond, Va., and by Spencer Less Co., of Buffalo, New York. Scientific books in many fields will be displayed by the Florida Book Co., of Gainesville.

Dr. Gay Washington, associate professor of Chemistry at Rollins, is the chairman of the local committee making arrangements for this state science meeting. Members of the Academy and guests are requested to register at the Annie Russell Theatre as soon as possible after arriving. Special rates available by making reference to the meeting of the Florida Academy of Sciences have been arranged at the Hamilton Hotel in Winter Park, and the Fort Gallin and Argyle Hotel in Orlando.

Special field trips have been planned for Thursday afternoon, November 18, to Wakulla Springs and Nature's Mystery, Gentle Brothers Packing House, the Orlando Municipal Airport, and an inspection of the Winter Park lakes. Full information on these trips will be available at the registration desk at the Annie Russell Theatre.

On Friday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. a general session will be held at the Annie Russell Theatre with President R. L. Allen presiding at which the scientists will present papers they have written. Dean Enyart, Wesleyan Alum,
Will Greet Players

By Wendy Davis
Sandspur Sports Editor

Dean Arthur D. Enyart's "dream" of a football game between his alma mater, Ohio Wesleyan, and his present college affiliate, Rollins, again becomes real Friday night when the Battling Bishops invade Orlando's Tinker Field terrain for the second of a two game home and home series Friday night in a contest that will find two friendly rivals meeting in offensive warfare of the keenest description.

The battle Friday night, intentionally prominent, will be witnessed by a crowd expected to tax the seating and standing capacity of the small stadium to its greatest extent, and will be a homecoming game for Ohio Wesleyan and Rollins alumni alike.

Probably never before in the history of Rollins football has such an important game been staged in this section. For Rollins, although administrative and athletic departments both discount the theory that Rollins would like to go "big time" in football, nevertheless the winning of this encounter, especially after the loss to the same class a year ago, would gain national recognition, something which both Rollins, the administration and the athletic department, would not discount.

For Ohio Wesleyan, the last of this forthcoming contest would be a blow to their hopes of national football prestige, which in recent years they have attempted to reach through the scheduling of such teams as Pittsburgh, Michigan, Syracuse, Army and others.

And so, as the fathers of publicity, proposed entertainment, and homecoming reaches its maximum height for the season of 1938, the dream of Dean Enyart materializes into something ever greater than the lovely Rollins "number one fan" ever could hope for.

With Dean Enyart at its head, ODK, men's national honorary leadership fraternity, will welcome Ohio Wesleyan's squad into Winter Park Friday night to the tune of the Rollins band and then battle the Battling Bishops over to their Orlando hotel headquarters where they will rest previous to the night's engagement. The Bishops arrive in Jacksonville Thursday, where they play a short and light weekend to shake out the kinks from their long journey.

Friday begins a week-end of athletic and social entertainment for many alumni and undergraduates of Rollins and Ohio Wesleyan. Ten dances, fraternity house dances, a President Hamilton Holt reception, (Continued on page 6)

Dr. Hamilton Holt will give the welcoming address and Robert L. Allen, President of the Academy, will give the retiring address. Presentation of the Achievement Medal for 1937 will be made by W. S. Phillips, chairman of the committee for 1937. On Saturday from 9:30 to 10:30 the biologists will again meet in room 523 Knowles Hall with L. Y. Dyrebeck will have charge of, to continue presentation of papers. At the same time the physical sciences section will gather in room 529 Knowles Hall with Chairman R. P. Reinisch to further the discussion on the physical sciences.

The general session will be held in the Annie Russell Theatre from 10:30 to 11:45 with President Allen presiding, to discuss any unfinished topics in the science field, after which a short business session from 11:45 to 12:15 will be held in the Theatre. At 12:15 a General meeting will be held at which time both new and retiring members are asked to attend.

Heils Hitler; Wears Six Different Uniforms A Day In German Prep School

"German students feel that Hitler has done many great things for their country," disclosed John Hagaman, freshman from Long Island, N. Y. And John should know, for in 1934 he was the only American student enrolled at Osterstein, in Dietz, Germany. Osterstein is one of the eight political military schools established in Germany, and is similar to America's West Point.

As an exchange student from Taylor Academy in Marion, Massachusetts, John went immediately into the home of a German family whose son, in turn, came to the U.S.A. Here he obtained first-hand knowledge of the country and people about whom we have read so much lately.

"There were four hundred boys in school with me," John went on to say. Every young man who possesses ambition, strength of character, loyalty, and who is physically fit is "enlisted" in these preparatory schools. Tuition is paid according to the income of their parents; thus it is not a question of finances. Each boy is made to believe that he will become an officer in the army, which, as John says, is ridiculous, for no one would want to be a soldier.

Nevertheless, every German reveres and respects Hitler. In school, students kiss their heels together and give the Nazi salute before and after each class. Hitler is the man of the hour to all his countrymen. When John Hagaman attended the Olympics he caught a glimpse of Germany's mighty dictator across the stadium.

As Osterstein is a military school, John had to spend several hours every day drilling. His day began at 6:15 A. M. when Reveille blew on the bugle. Thirty-six boys slept in a room with him—with all windows closed. "The Germans seemed afraid of fresh air," commented John. Quickly donning one of his six uniforms, he hastened into the courtyard of the "once-upon-a-time" castle. Here assembly and inspection were held before breakfast. After breakfast, classes. The academic periods lasted from eight until twelve-thirty noon. Each course was required by all students; hence there were no electives as we have at Rollins. Several army officers alternated in teaching a class in order to allow one or more to remain on duty or to take charge of drill.

These military exercises came in the afternoon and were followed by participation in two sports daily—swimming and crew, track and football, or boxing and fencing. Students had the evenings free to themselves, with few restrictions. Usually they gathered together and joked over a glass of beer or walked along the banks of the Lahn River. Germans spend very little for amusements. Most of their movies are German translations of American films. When John was there he saw Jean Harlow in "China Seas" and heard her lines spoken in German.

"As for girls," ventured John, "well, a German boy doesn't think of going out with a girl as we do here in America unless he intends to marry her."

DR. NEWMAN WAS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Talks on English Tradition
Of Ancient Times

APPLIES TO PRESENT

Dr. Evelyn Newman was the speaker in the Knoxville Memorial Chapel last Sunday. Her address was entitled "Christ and the Table Round." The entire service was linked together as that her talk threaded itself with the lyrics and poems which were read in place of the New Testament and the Responsive Reading. The hymn that was sung directly before the service was "William Miller's 'Jerusalem' and it was the background and theme of Dr. Newman's talk.

In England there is no one legend that Christ lived there, that he worked in the tin and iron mills, and they have even uncovered a casket such as he might have traveled in. There are many ancient ruins of monuments which have become sacred through the years' linkage of them with this legend. This first great life was destroyed by the death of Christ on Calvary, but the ideals have lived on after the event and caused an advancement in the world, even though the end was tragic for the individual. This seeming defeat was followed by another unauthenticated legend, that of King Arthur and his Round Table. This glorious group also had a tragic end, but it too left civilization a step higher after its legendary end. Through the generations that have passed since the beginnings of these legends there have been many rock Table-Round circumstances, ending in defeat but leaving higher ideals. In our generation we have seen yet another — the League of Nations at Geneva. This last Table has been defeated by the nations' dividedly. But just as every Calvary has been survived by an ideal that progressed with each fall, so will it be even with the fall of the League. Dr. Newman ended this talk with the quotation of the hymn previously sung.

The students who participated in this service were Robert Ladd, Elsie Moore, Walter Royall and Blanche G. Fiebach, '35.

Appearing Now at the Baby Grand

Mickey Rooney and Wallace Beery in "Stablemates"

REVIEWS and PREVIEW

By Bill Webb

Bette Davis did a beautiful piece of work in "The Sisters." Her portrayal as the wife of a weak and habitual drunkard was exciting to see. The whole picture was beautifully directed. We followed the marital life of three sisters for four years. We saw the difficulties that each encountered and the manner in which they surmounted these difficulties. Errol Flynn was perfectly capable in his part. Anita Louise was as lovely as ever and managed to act better than we have ever seen her before. Warner Brothers is to be congratulated on their production of "The Sisters" and also they should be thankful for having in their ranks the very, very accomplished Miss Davis.

"Stablemates" flows into the vicinity some time this week. If you are a fan of either Wallace Beery or Mickey Rooney this picture should be right up your alley. Presumably we like the picture that these two actors have appeared in separately rather than in their combined efforts. Anyway, "Stablemates" is the story of a broken down veterinarian and a boy that is very fond of a sick horse. Pat two and two together and you have "Stablemates." This picture is more or less on the order of "The Champ." For those who are the weeping type we advise a good supply of handkerchiefs.

The Baby Grand is showing "Garden of the Moon" Thursday and Friday. This is a Warner musical and deals with a feud between the manager and the band leader. Pat O'Brien is the manager and a new actor, John Payne, is the band leader. The latter has been receiving good notices and several critics think he is quite promising. See what you think. Johnnie Davis is in this also. Keep your eyes open for "A Man to Remember" and "The Citadel." Both of these pictures deal with the medical profession and are rated high. "The Citadel" was taken from the book of the same name and stars Robert Donat and Russell Russell. It was made in England and was directed by King Vidor. "A Man to Remember" was more or less turned out as a B picture costing around $111,000 to produce. It was an instant hit, much to the surprise of DKO, and Edward G. Robinson, as the doctor, it is said, is excellent.

the Armistice, had surrendered a vast quantity of guns and ammunition to the Allies.

In a brief address after the unveiling of the shell, Dr. Holt discussed the subject closest to his heart, that of international peace and good-will among nations.

Wants International Police
Advocating an international police force as an insurance of world peace instead of aggressive armed forces between the nations, he declared that the problem of armistice is how to reduce the force of aggression to international police and keep it there, "for defense will automatically cease when the danger of aggression has passed."

"Until the nations establish an international police, armistice must ever symbolize the debasement of the human race," Dr. Holt said, "for how can man be justified in acting like the brute when he has been endowed by his Creator with the God-like attributes of reason."

"Should the three cease, however, when nations shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks, and there shall be no more war, then it will be in order to put this monument in a historical museum and set up another monument, glorifying it, as well as a symbol of police power sanctioning law, order and justice."

"But as long as it is used for aggression and not for the maintenance of law," he declared, "it must be something the contemplation of which will cause every right thinking man and woman to hang their heads in shame."

Gen. Andrews Speaks

Speaking before the assembled students, faculty and townspeople at the Armistice memorial service in Knoxville Memorial Chapel, Brigadier General Avery D. Andrews, one of the country's highest ranking army officers, spoke of the deep significance of the Armistice and the great changes in the history of the world which have followed it.

"Perhaps the most outstanding result so far of the World War," said General Andrews, "is the almost universal fear and dread of war caused by it among the peoples of the earth."

"Formerly war was a matter which directly and chiefly concerned the soldiers at the front. The civil population at home, except when invaded by the enemy, carried on their usual occupations and were immune from shot and shell. Now not only must every working man and woman be mobilized in a supreme effort to supply the huge quantities of munitions required by a modern army, but today so man, woman or child, young or old, rich or poor, can be wholly immune from injury or destruction by air."

Undoubtedly this fact has greatly increased the dread of war, declared General Andrews, and has produced important psychological developments throughout the world.

Germany Not Defeated

In considering the present attitude of the German people, he said, much of the emotional appeal and partisan propaganda by means of which Hitler became dictator, was based upon the claim that Germany was not really defeated in the World War.

mand an unconditional surrender, thus continuing the historic precedents established by Washington at Yorktown and by Grant at Appomattox. His suggestion was based largely upon the moral effect upon the minds of the German people of an unconditional surrender, compared with that of a negotiated armistice. His recommendation was rejected largely upon the ground that such terms would not be accepted by Germany, and that the war would then continue. We

FRANCE STARTED

Dr. Feuerstein, Head of Modern Languages, is Chairman

OPEN TO MEN STUDENTS

Dr. Richard Feuerstein, Professor of Modern Languages at Rollins College and Chairman of the American Field Service Fellowships for French Universities has released the following information concerning the fellowships to be awarded under the auspices of the Institute of International Education:

Shortly after the World War an organization known as the American Field Service Fellowships for French Universities was established "to provide an enduring memorial to the one hundred and twenty-seven Field Service men who gave their lives to the cause."

Each year a limited number of awards are made under the auspices of the Institute of International Education to candidates selected from among the graduates of American colleges and universities, carrying a stipend of $1,400 and tenure for one year. A candidate may choose his field and place of study but usually the fellowships will be granted only for the pursuit of advanced study in the field in which the candidate has already shown proficiency.

Men graduates of Rollins College who can meet the requirements and who are interested in the American Field Service Fellowships should apply for nomination to the Committee for Foreign Fellowships at Rollins College, not later than December 3.

Chapel Choir, President Holt presided at the service.

Also attending in a body were the members of the Orlando Post of the American Legion as special guests of the College.

MEET ROLLINS

and language, are all part and parcel in the frivolous setting.

But the highlight of it all is the battle of Tars vs. Rollins. It is not fitting to say merely that the boys of Jack McDowell and George Daugherty are ready. Rollins has awaited the invasion of the highly respected Wesleyans all year, in fact since their 24-13 trouncing in the third Tar game of last year. The Wesleyans have started slow, but lately have shifted into high gear. The reason for their slow inception has been inexperience due to the loss of star seniors last year.

Injuries may hamper the part strength of Rollins, but the determination and ability of remaining well members of the small squad will more than make up for the boys on the sidelines. Dick Turk, Little Giants center of last season and an Ohio product himself, will be forced to give way to John Giambrino, an Ohioan in his own right, and Paul Bouton, reserve pivotman, because of a broken bone in his right foot contracted in the Newberry contest. Karl Brunkert, plucky blackback and place-kicker extraordinaire, will also be out of action due to a shoulder separation. Sprained ankles, charity horses and other less serious hurts are spread throughout the squad, but will not cause any other forced benching.

McDowell's 1938 edition hit the high roads in their very first game against Stetson University, a convincing 34-0 victory. The team continued its galloping gait the following week in a 54-0 walkway over Little South Georgia State.

The two previous spectacular successes were washed away in the next engagement when Oglethorpe's Fighting Stormy Petrels upset the McDowell team, 19-6, in an away game which found the Tars napping.

Rollins, then, despite some contrary criticism, played gallantly against Miami University, and although later in the time of 1934, began an upward march which it is hoped by Tar supporters will reach its height this week-end against Ohio Wesleyans. Rollins two weeks ago beat a strong Newberry outfit, 36-0, and last Saturday night held a highly geared offensive Havana aggregation with several stringers to win, 7-4.

Although Rollins will probably open the Ohio game on the short end of the odds, the team will be in better shape than when it met the Bishops a year ago for the first time. Aided by a small but brilliant group of sophomores, namely, Jack Lingerfelt, and Mel Clanton and Charlie Lawton, tackles, Giambrino, center, Sammy Hardman, Los Boches, and Clyde Jones, backs, the team has been improved materially. The loss of few seniors last year plus the added experience of juniors and seniors of a year ago must also be taken into pre-game consideration.

Ohio Wesleyan, on the other hand, last year seniors, and although, too, abetted by a large and powerful bunch of first year grad-students, have been handicapped until recently by the team as a whole being inexperienced. This, however, has been the visitors' handicap in "big time" competition.

The Wesleyans have in Pat Brooks, hefty fullback, one of the hardest running backs, as well as an expert passer, in Ohio football circles. Leading its heavy line forces is Vic Mallesovsky, center, whose prowess on the gridiron has earned him the title of being Ohio's most highly regarded pivotman. Brooks is not alone in backfield support, for in Mallesovsky in line backing, as the squad of 34 men will surely attest Friday night. That Ohio Wesleyans will prove the strongest Rollins contender this season, with the possible exception of Miami, will undoubtedly be verified when the two aggregations meet.

McDowell plans to send his strongest eleven into the fray at the outset. Marring possible last minute changes, this will find Lingerfelt and Bill Daugherty, ends, Warren Hulse and Mel Clanton, tackles, Don Ogilvie and Soc Solanti, guards, Giambrino, center, Joe Justice, Ogle Daugherty, Rick Gillespie and Buck Johnson, backs.

Lingerfelt and Daugherty will be asked to stand 60 minute service if possible, while Hulse will be spared at the tackle in case either of the two flankers need relief. Carl Thompson will once again resume action as his favorite tackle spot, along with Charlie Lawton. Bob Hayes, Jack Justice, Al Swen and Wes Dennis await their turn at the guards, while Bouton will split the minutes with Giambrino at center.

After another brilliant performance, Hardman, speedy climax runner, will undoubtedly see plenty of

Although Rollins outtroubled and outscored for one more first down than their rivals, they were unable to penetrate the scoring zone when in Stetson territory. Daugherty held the edge in the first period and forced Stetson into a kicking duel, with Kennedy and Mel Mitchell outpacing Harvath.

As the second stanza opened, Kille of Stetson fumbled on Tar 45, and John Giambrino covered for the Tarlets. Mink made five on a single reverse to the right, and Kennedy picked up two into the center of the line. Billy Middlebrooks, on a double reverse, madd for 18 yards and a first down, the Tars seemingly on the march. However, on the next play Stetson's forwards were in fact, and aided by poor lining in the backfield, pounced on Middlebrooks on the 35. From that point on, Stetson took command.

The Rollins line outstruck the Baby Matter frontier, but poor handling in the Tarlet backfield stopped the Tarlet attack. Stetson pass defensive work on the part of Rollins was costly as Harvath found receivers uncovered through out the game. On both scoring plays, Hughes and Shadrows, however, were covered, but managed to stretch the ball out of the hands of the Rollins secondary.

The Tarlet center trio of Giambrino, Doyle Darnold and Frank Grunfelder once again were grand defensively, and on many occasions opened large holes in the middle of the Stetson line. Bob McCord and Ed Neist, tackles, were especially strong on defense.

action, with Stetson Melson, equal to a climax runner, pairing with the "mighty nine." Hal Brady will break in at the blocking back role while Jones will test his skill as the spinner.
