Chapel Choir Plans Intensive Program of Choral Works

First Off-Campus Concert to Be at St. Petersburg; Prepare Christmas Music

Plans for the first term's work of the Rollins Chapel Choir have been made by Christopher O. Homan, chairman. An intensive schedule has been outlined. The choir has already started working on the music for the Armistice Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas programs.

For the Armistice Day program, November 12, the choir will sing E. N. Dea's "Listen to the Lament". On Wednesday, November 23, for the Thanksgiving program, the choir will sing "Psalms 130" and Haydn's "The Heavens are Telling".

Vaughn Williams' "Fantasia on Christmas Carols" will be performed for the first time by the Chapel Choir at the Christmas Service, Wednesday evening, December 13. This work was given last year by the New York Philharmonic and Chorus under the direction of John Barakoff. The choir will be accompanied by a string orchestra with harp, cellos, and organ. The special Christmas music will also include carols of Catalanian, French, Portuguese, German, English, and Norwegian origin.

The annual Christmas Carol Service will be held Thursday afternoon, December 14. Professor Homan announced that the first off-campus concert of the year will be at St. Petersburg, January 28.

International Club Holds First Meeting

Holden Elected President;
Dexter is First Speaker

Off to a flying start went Rollins International Relations Club, which held its initial meeting of the current year last Tuesday evening in Strong Hall. Over sixty students turned out, indicating that this always-popular group seems destined once again to claim leadership in undergraduate clubs.

Following an introductory talk by Professor Trowbridge, elections were held and Jenn Holden was elected President of the Club for this year, with Frances Montgomery holding down the Secretarial post. Most of the evening was given over to a discussion of future programs, but those present were fortunate in being able to hear Rollins' new Professor Dexter speak on "Union Now".

Professor Dexter is one of the leading national figures in this movement, and he called for the formation of a "Union Now" group on this campus.

The next meeting of this group is scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the Phi Psi house. A buffet supper will be served and Rudolph Toch, Refugee-Scholarship student from Vienna, will speak on his experiences under the Hitler regime.

With troubled conditions that now prevail in the world demanding more and more serious consideration, the Rollins International Relations Club fills a definite need on this campus for clarification and discussion of the issues so vital to all.

Debaters to Discuss Dating

An Open House of the Oratorical Association was held at the Speech Studio, Tuesday evening, November 7, at 7:30. There were several students put on by various members of the Speech classes, as well as those put on by various visitors who wished to publicize their abilities along these lines.

Next Tuesday evening, November 14, at 7:30 in the Speech Studio, the Oratorical Association will sponsor a debate on the following question:

New Theatre To Be Finished On January First

Luxurious Building to Be Modeled After "Colony" and
"Lincoln" in Miami

A new theatre will be built in Winter Park, it was announced last week. The property has been purchased, the contract has been let, and its construction has been started. The theatre is being built on East Park Avenue, South of the Hamilton Hotel building, and is expected to be finished by January 1.

The architect is Roy A. Benjamin, who designed the recently constructed Roxy Theatre and did remodeling work on the Beacham, Grand and Elks theatres.

The theatre will be called the "Colony", and will be built on the style of the two Miami Beach theatres, "The Lincoln" and "The Colony", by S. S. Jacobs, a contractor from Jacksonville. The theatre will cost about forty thousand dollars to build. This will not include the cost of the modern R.C.A. sound equipment, the projection unit, air-conditioning system, or the furnishings.

The theatre will hold about eight hundred people, six hundred and fifty downstairs and one hundred fifty upstairs. There will be a spacious lobby with up-to-date decorations, this to be an outstanding feature. The seats will be covered with cloth instead of the more commonplace leather.

It has been said that the theatre, when completed, will be the finest in Central Florida.

Art Studio Exhibits Japanese Collection

Landscapes, Marine Scenes
And Many Prints Included

Don't do your Christmas shopping until you have seen the exhibition of Japanese Blackprints, now on sale at the Art Studio. The collection includes colorful and unusual reproductions of landscapes, birds and flowers, marine scenes, and other assorted subjects. Some of the smaller prints may be purchased for as little as 15c and are particularly suitable as Christmas cards. Larger prints range up to $7.50 and will make attractive gifts.

These prints date over a period of one hundred fifty years—from the late 17th century, to the early 19th century. Blocks for the prints have been made from cherry wood and are printed on mulberry paper and rice paper. Many of the prints are reproductions of Japanese prints in the collections of some of the great American museums. Famous masterpieces of Hokusai, Utamaro, Hiroshige, and Katsushika are represented as well as those designed by leading contemporary artists of present-day Tokyo and Kyoto.

The Art Studio will be open to those who wish to see this collection between four and five o'clock every afternoon, both Saturday and Sunday. Rollins students are welcome any time during the day. It will be worth your while to see this unusual display.

Lockhart Series Opens on Annie Russell's Birthday

Special Subscription Rate for Season Offered to Rollins at Box-Office

The Annie Russell Series will open this year for the first time on January 12, the birthday of Annie Russell, famous actress and founder of the Series. Dorothy Lockhart, director of the series has planned an especially outstanding program to celebrate the seventh birthday of Miss Russell.

Intentionally known celebrities have been contracted for by the Series this season and the largest year of season subscriptions is indicated by the many reservations which were made as far back as last April.

Miss Lockhart is most anxious that the faculty, students and members of the staff of Rollins College have the same opportunity of enjoying the best available seats for the Annie Russell Series as do those who pay the full subscription price and so urges those who are interested in making reservations to do so at their earliest opportunity.

By purchasing an evening season ticket at the special Rollins price, there is a saving of $2.50. There is also an $1.00 saving on a Matinee Series ticket. This is absolutely the only reduction in price that will be made for the Annie Russell Series. Although reservations should be made now they do not have to be paid for until January 1, 1940. The advantage of sending in your order for a season ticket now is that all reservations are filed in the order received by Dorothy Lockhart. Former subscribers to the Annie Russell Series have until December 1 to re-order their season seats. After that date, the new subscribers will be seated. Tickets will be put on sale to the general public December 4.

The Annie Russell Theatre Green Room will be open daily and any further information concerning the Series may be had by consulting either Dorothy Lockhart, director, or Peggy Knibbs, student assistant, at the following hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 4 to 6 P. M. Friday 10:45 to 12:45 and Saturday 2 to 5.

Burton Returns to Campus

Dr. Richard Burton, Professor of English, is returning to Rollins tomorrow during the evening week, after recovering from an extended illness. Now that he has nearly recovered, however, and his convalescence is almost at an end, he is returning to the campus to resume his duties in the English Department.

Sadie Hawkins Day Celebrated by Ardent Co-eds at X Club Dance Saturday

Although plans for a Sadie Hawkins Day celebration worthy of Dogpatch itself failed to materialize last Saturday, there was no small amount of activity at Rollins. For the two boys on campus who don't know what this day is, the boys are given a head start over the girls, and every boy must marry a girl who will let him.

The movement started in Dogpatch, Ky., and through the medium of the most ardent opponent, Lili Abner, the gospel has been spread so rapidly that in two years it will probably displace Thanksgiving as our national November holiday. Luckiest boy on campus was the one who escaped the torpedo-like pursuit of that stick of dynamite, Con Carey, as he slipped through the doorway door Saturday noon. The only official celebration at Rollins this year was at the X Club dance; twice the boys were lined up and had the girls turned loose on them. We are still awaiting official reports from the Infantry

Boy Shortage Finally Settled For Coeds

Rollins Girls Are Now Well
Supplied With Dates

For the first time in many years Rollins College has the same number of men and women students. This was revealed in the enrollment report just released by Miss Trout, the Registrar. For many years Rollins has been handicapped with a preponderance of women students. This led to many unusual situations and was entirely unsatisfactory. This problem has finally been solved, and it is to be hoped that hereafter the administration will be able to maintain a balance.

The statistics of the report are as follows:
Upper Division—77
Seniors—36
Lower Division—310
Returning students—144
Entering students—184
Total students—392

While there is a seemingly great discrepancy between the two divisions, this will soon be made even by the number of third year students who will enter the Upper Division at the end of this term.

Again we had the final equality of the sexes, numerically at least, in the college. Now, theoretically, every girl can have a date at the same time. All she has to do is to catch a man—there is one for her some place.

Players Initiate New Members at Meeting

Impromptu Plays Written and Presented at Ceremony

The Rollins Student Players initiated their new members last week in a very novel ceremony.

The initiation was interesting, as it brought out the originality and talent of these newcomers. Each new member was given a slip of paper with some type of character, a bank check who spoke Pig Latin, for instance, named as it. The initiates then collaborated in groups of two or three and, in the eight minutes allotted them, wrote plays using these characters.

Following the presentation of the plays a short business meeting was held.

Student Publications Will Meet Thursday

Louis Bills, New Chairman,
Will Preside Over Group

A Students Publications meeting is to be held Thursday night at seven-thirty in Professor Wattle's room in Pinchurst.

Many subjects of importance to the campus publications are going to be brought up. In the last meeting on October the twenty-sixth it was suggested that some major changes be made in the Planning, the campus literary magazine. The dropping of the use of slick paper, national advertising, such as cigarettes, and cuts were proposed. The budget for all campus publications is to be brought up upon the presentation of advertising estimates by the advertising commission and his assistants.

Louis Bills, the new chairman, is to preside at this meeting.

O.D.K. Holds Initiation

This special initiation was held for Professor Alvin Wolfe and Joe Justice, who were away last year at the time of initiation.

Sociology Professor Has Unusual Record

Dexter Receives Degree in Five Terms From University

A new member of the Rollins faculty this year is Lewis Dexter, professor of sociology. Prof. Dexter is a man of great ability and versatility. In 1935 he enjoyed nationwide publicity for graduating from the University of Chicago and receiving his A. B. in five terms, 17 months. In 1936-37, he attended Harvard as a graduate student. From there he received his M. A. In addition, he was a University Fellow of the U. of Columbia.

Prof. Dexter has also been active in many international societies of importance. In 1937-38, he was secretary of The New Commonwealth, an international society for the establishment of an international police force. The following year, he was a member of the National Organizing Committee of the International Federal Union. The purpose of this was to spread the ideas of "UNION OF DEMOCRACIES NOW". Previous to this in 1933, he was secretary of the Mass League for Peace Action. In the same year, he was peace campaigner for the American Friends Service Committee.

Prof. Dexter was the only American delegate to the World Conference of Christian Youth Leaders in 1938. He traveled in Holland, France, England, and Norway; besides this he also attended the session of the League of Nations in 1930-31.

It finds its particular interest in undertaking to better the conditions of the negroes in Winter Park and vicinity.

Dick Kelly was elected chairman to succeed Sam Terry. Helen Fluno was elected secretary.

The club is divided into committees, which undertake different projects working for the general betterment of the negro population. Play Series to Start With "The Fool" in December; "Stop Thief" in Second

Association Tickets Will Admit Students

Rehearsals for the first play of the 1939-40 season of the Rollins Student Players will start this week under the direction of Howard Bailey. A varied and interesting group of five plays will be presented by the dramatic group in the Annie Russell Theatre.

Channing Pollock's "The Fool" will be given the evenings of December 8 and 9. The final cast will be announced this week and intensive rehearsals will begin. This play is one of the finest of its kind yet written. It is the story of the obstacles which confront a young actor in his attempt to follow in the footsteps of Christ. It is especially appropriate for the Christmas season.

Donald S. Allen will direct the Student Players in "Stop Thief" by Carlyle Moore. This play is a farce of swift action, snappy dialogue, and climactic surprises. An evening of good, clean fun, is provided as the ingenious plot unfolds with a rapid succession of humorous situations. It will be given at an evening performance, January 28, and matinee and evening performances, January 29.

The Founders Week play will be George Kaufman and Moss Hart's Pulitzer Prize winning comedy, "You Can't Take It With You." This play has run for two years on Broadway. As every theatre-goer is already familiar with the many characters (led by Graptha Symonore) and human problems of the Symonore family, an understanding of this play is sufficient to arouse widespread interest. It will be presented February 22, 23, and 24, with a matinee performance on February 24. Howard Bailey will direct.

One of the great American folk-plays, Luis Vollmer's "Sun-Up," will be the fourth play of the season. Donald S. Allen will direct the drama which enjoyed long and successful runs on Broadway and abroad. Its universal appeal lies in the vividly drawn pictures of native mountaineers. The characters are developed by dialogue of rare power. It will be presented April 5 and 6.

Howard Bailey will direct the members of the Rollins' 1940 graduating class in "What a Life!" Clifford Goldsmith, the author, introduces in this play one Henry Aldrich who bids fair to become a long-lived figure in American drama. Henry's activities on a day at school symbolize the problems and confused difficulties of the average American youth. The comedy will be given May 30 and 31.

Students will again be admitted to all productions of the Rollins Student Players on their Student Association cards.

English, Dramatics, Speech Majors Meet

Darling, Chindahl Tell of Scandinavian Travels

The English, Dramatics and Speech major met in the Woolson House for an informal discussion last night. Marge Chindahl and Duol Darling spoke on their experiences this past summer while traveling the Scandinavian countries. Their talks especially concerned the young people with whom they came in contact.

The group discussed their plans for meetings for this year and decided to follow about the same plan that they carried out successfully last year. They are going to have about two meetings a month. All of their meetings will be informal, and it is planned to have students, faculty, and outsiders alternate in the speaking.

The Inquiring Reporter

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE "NIFTY" COLUMN, ROLLINS CO-EDS?

Gracie Tuttle: I don't think it has any place in a college newspaper. Virginia Lagomies: It isn't worth the space since it doesn't give us any information we don't already know. If some clever, original styles were mentioned it would be better.

Anne Clarke: The "Nifty" column seems to be a definite asset to us college conscious girls. What is being worn is always of interest to the feminine population.

Ethel Petree: Not enough information—Too much space. Ann Kruse: It would be better if the prices were left out; otherwise it's O. K.

Marcia Stoddard: It has no place in a student paper. The space could be used for something of more interest to the students.

Rhonda's Note: Seems kinda strange, but the other people I asked didn't even know the column—so draw your conclusions.

Phi Delt Wins Over X Club in Football

Independents Defeat Sigma
Nu in Surprise Victory

By JOHN WILLIS

Usually it's the backfield that gets all the glory and the line, unsmiling, merely gets all gory, but when Phi Delt met X Club Friday afternoon, collectively speaking, the backfield looked pretty chagrined about the whole thing. Aside from one short, vicious pass from Davis to Flegler for the lone touchdown of the game, Phi Delt and X Club spent themselves in a head-butted contest that has yet to be equalled this year. Four distinct times Wendy Davis was trapped yards behind his own line of scrimmage, desperately trying to toss that ball to a receiver. Twice X Club had four downs to make five yards or less to score, and could hardly pass their own line of scrimmage. As surprising as it was powerful, this battle of lines was overed and broke only under mass blocking plays, in which Phi Delt's Theta managed to garner a first down to X Club's 2. In a quick analysis, Phi Delt had a quicker, shifter, backfield and superior goal line defense. X Club's end, Whitehead and center, McElroy, out-matched and out-fought anything Phi Delt could offer. Phi Delt's end runs functioned only when Kilmorris was taken out of the play: Reids could get loose for the Clubbers as long as his blockers could bottle up Bond, Kruse and Hicks. This Blacklock boy, when he takes a notion, can be a mighty anxiously piece obstacle to shove around. Most successful were Phi Delt's quick, sharp subduers, starting as a wide end-awake and suddenly penetrating deep into X Club territory via an off-tackle course. Most easily teased-up were the complicated spinner plays that allowed X Clubbers time to come pounding in. X Club had an exceptionally well informed defense and repeatedly snared a play before it could gather speed and deception. Possibly the deciding factor in a choice between the two teams was the Clubbers' apparent inability to serve when within yards of the goal line, with four downs to spend doing it. This opportunity occurred twice, due to their own aberration in catching a passer before he could get rid of a fourth down pass and to a Phi Delt fumble. This is possibly the only conceded edge Phi Delt now holds over the Clubbers. This and their better timed

Tarlettes Defeat Daytona Hatters

necessary changes, Phi Beta piled in — exit Beta and a very angry "Hatter".

Although the Tarlettes were up against what appeared to be a miserable competition, they showed evidence of being a grand and very scrappy team. A team which had good and clever running backs as well as a pair of excellent blockers in Meredith and Esau. The line has great possibilities with Leson playing a head-up defensive game at center and the Tarlettes Two-Ten tackles, Chordigan and Nisan being imprugable. However, the work of this team will remain somewhat hidden by a dark cloud until they meet the baby "Hatters" of Stetson this week.

running attack. Final score: Phi Beta 4, X Club 0.

Like the Irishman who couldn't be whipped, a highly spirited and colorful Independent team put the odds to Sigma Nu in a game that had to be played overtime to break the 7 to 7 deadlock. Each team scoring by short thrusts through the center of the line, they there-after saw-sawed back and forth, until a long, long pass to coffin corner was scooped up by Wagner, who never slackened his pace and crossed the goal line unchallenged. The catch was remarkable inasmuch as it was almost dark when Liberman pantingly dropped back in his own 33 and sent the touchdown pass on his way. The pass was caught after having its way through some tree branches. In repeated attempts to score, punctuated by long end sweeps, Haggan and Coates passed and plumped down the field, only to have the attack wilt and stop dead against a lighter and less experienced Independent club. Green of the Independents on three occasions intercepted Sigma Nu passes and gave the spectators a thrill and a laugh with his erratic, swaying broken-field running. For Sigma Nu Farmerworth and Miller played hard ball, and Cobb several times shook loose for substantial runs. The Independents are all so surprising and versatile that they performed equally well, especially Bae in the last quarter, when he caught Sigma Nu backfield men deep in their own territory three times in succession. They looked pretty embarrassed about the whole thing. Final score: Independents 13, Sigma Nu 7.

Faculty to Have Recreation Period Every Wednesday

Teachers and Students Will Compete in Baseball, Tennis
And Volleyball

A recreation period has been set aside for the faculty on Wednesday afternoon, between four and six o'clock.

The tennis courts will be especially reserved during this period for the use of the faculty members. Riffery, having been added to the college physical education program this year, will be open to faculty members between four and five o'clock on Wednesdays.

Dr. Adams hopes that the faculty will be willing to organize teams in the different sports to compete with the students. The baseball, tennis, and volleyball games met with such success last year that he is anxious for them to reorganize this season. A faculty refectory team would be a great addition.

Expert instruction will be given to any number of the faculty who would like to learn to shoot. The period set aside for this will coincide with the period arranged for practice on Wednesday afternoons.

It is hoped that the faculty this year will give the students competition as good as, if not better than, that displayed last year.

Astronomy Classes Hold Night Meetings

Gatherings for School Year
Have Interesting Program

Mrs. Hutchings has announced that definite dates for her series of astronomical open houses have been decided upon. Students, faculty and the staff are invited.

During these meetings the heavens are studied through a telescope, questions are answered and various points of interest regarding the constellations are explained by Mrs. Hutchings.

The next meeting which will be held November 18 promises to be of special interest as three planets will be seen — an unusual occurrence. At other dates the moon and winter constellations will be studied.

Fordham University this year has a special seminar in play writing.

FENCING NOTES

that they can. On the other hand the fencer, no matter how poor, must spend from one to six months in hard work before he even gets to handling a weapon. The time varies depending upon the attitude of the candidate himself. If he is ambitious, with an eye on the Olympic team or national titles, he will spend much more time learning fundamentals than if he is the average boy or girl, who wishes to use his knowledge as soon as possible. A fencer of this last type, trained to fight, can be produced in six months, but his skill is limited, his form and future development have been sacrificed to enable him to engage in competition as soon. This is the typical high school swimmer who must be rushed to fill gaps in the varsity teams left by graduating men. Temporarily this type will usually be able to defeat the man who is learning his groundwork slowly and thoroughly, and who is paying more attention to form than fighting, but only temporarily. By the end of his second year, the thorough fencer, the real fencer, need no longer fear the wild attacks and ferocious rigidity of the fighter. His superior sense of timing, his smooth parries and accurate returns, which are efficient and effortless, will bring him easy victory.

Glossary

PARRY — The warding off of a thrust or cut.

RIGIDE — An immediate counter thrust or cut made by a fencer following his parry of his opponent's attack.

ATTACK — The initial movement made by one fencer with the purpose of hitting the other.

Next week: Fencing and the Spectator.

32 Win Membership In Freshman Players

Tryout Scenes Directed By Students Prove Success

The Freshman Players are very happy to announce the following elections to membership: James Miller, Douglas Ellis, Jane Anna Miller, Jane McGrath, Gertrude M. Melville, Lynn Goldman, Joanne Oak, James Dean, James G. Charlotte Chapman, Eugene Vander Water, David Gilbert, Paul Hargis, Allen Manchester, Peggy Ann Conklin, Allen Newcomer, Patricia, Grace Raymond, Don W. Dell, Edwin Walte, Phillips, man, Blanche Johnson, Alma, Dor, Valde, Rod McArthur, L. Moore, Jr., Fanny Clark, Fannie Harris, Helen Lamb, Harter Hargis, Virginia Cook, John Parnell, and Philip Bitts.

Tryouts were held Saturday evening, November 4, in the Laboratory Theatre. Scenes were prepared under the direction of members of the Advanced Directing Class, Virginia Kingsbury, Gay Davis, Alice Elliott, Robin Rae, and Jack Backwater.

It was felt that this method of giving scenes for tryouts, instead of merely having aspirants read poetry or a famous speech of drama, would aid the judges in making their decisions. The experiment was very successful and will quite possibly be followed in future years.

Dean Nance Speaks At Sunday Meditation

Choir Sings "The Cherish
Hymn" by Gretcheninoff

Dean E. C. Nance spoke on "Beyond Conclusions to Solutions" at the Morning Meditation Service last Sunday. First, he explained that this age of science has brought about by such men as Edison and Ford, who had the initiative and courage to seek beyond conclusions to solutions. Then Dean pointed out how we, outside this realm of science, can use the same principle in our lives.

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Christopher O. Roman sang "The Cherish Hymn" by Gretcheninoff, and Schubert's "Erlösungstänze." The student readings were given by Rich and Rodda, Ailene Baker, Job Backwater, and Helen Darling.

Next Sunday morning, the subject of Dean Nance's sermon will be "The Intelligent Use of the Emotions."
