Baen Chu, Chinese YMCA Secretary, Addresses IRC Here

Speaker Outlines Cultural, Religious, Economic Past Of Native Country

Of vast interest was the International Relations Club meeting on April 22, at which the speaker was Mr. Baen Chu, a Chinese Y.M.C.A. secretary now touring in the States for that organization.

Mr. Chu, giving a brief sketch of China, stated that she has five thousand years of written history, three thousand years of schooling, and a population of 450,000,000 people, one-fourth of the whole population of the world. In the same latitude as the United States, China is rich in agricultural soil and in minerals and coal, though many of these mines have not yet been put into operation.

"Christianity came to China as early as 638 A.D. However, because missionaries stopped coming to China, it died out," Mr. Chu remarked. Later, about one hundred years ago, missionaries again started to spread the gospel in China, but within this hundred years, only two million out of the whole Chinese population were converted to Christianity.

Following a discussion in which he traced the history of Christianity in China, Mr. Chu reminded the group that in the reconstruction work of the postwar world, two points must be remembered: First, that we must be big enough to consider international affairs as the most important. Second, that we must win the peace. He said, "like China, who with practically no fighting weapon has stretched her war with Japan for the past six years because she feels that she's just got to fight, we must possess the same feeling that we just have to fight for the peace after this war. Otherwise, all the effort we put into this war will be lost."

Rushing To Remain On This Year's Basis

A definite conclusion has at last been reached in connection with future rushing rules. The situation in brief has been thus far: the faculty voted to defer rushing for one year; decision at once was contested by the students. After various meetings of committees and the student council in which the pros and cons of the matter were presented, it was decided that the faculty should take another vote. It has now been announced that they have decided to rescind their former vote and that rushing will continue the same as is accustomed with rules the same as this year.

Campus Deserted as Freshmen Exercise Traditional Right

In a press conference last week with Mr. Edward Felder, president of the freshman class, we courageously put it to him: "What happened down to flick a cockroach from this week?" We waited nervously while Mr. Felder dexterously reached down to flick a cockroach from his big toe with one finger and to pick up a tooth which had slipped unnoticed from his mouth with two other appendages.

Finally Mr. Felder opened his mouth and said, quote, "I am a man of a few thousand words," unquote. To go on, quote, "What goes on in the freshman class meetings is none of your business! See?" unquote. We saw little of Mr. Felder after that.

Monday the results of those two meetings were known all over the campus. The freshmen had pulled a secret sneak, a ditch, a powder, a walkout! In last week's meeting the freshmen swore themselves to secrecy (lot of cussin', weren't there?) and planned a strategic retreat from ye olde Rolly Colly for Monday. When the time finally came, no one on campus knew about the walkout except the dean and a few professors and only two or three hundred upperclassmen. Marvelous thing, the F.B.I.

Well, anyhow, Monday came as per calendar schedule and found Rollins freshmen scattered all over the state. Parties were organized, dates were made and broken, and homework was finished as the freshmen took advantage of their illegal holiday. They burned their faces, backs, fronts, tops, bottoms, and fingers in the sun. Did they have fun! Meanwhile the professors were gnashing their teeth and tearing out their hair (those without much hair tore around the dotted line) as their class rooms lost the brilliant intellect of the freshman class for one day. They promised revenge for the uncalled-for disappearance, but the class had Mr. Felder behind them and professors settled with him for discrepancies.

Grace Seebree to Give Voice Recital Friday

Grace Seebree, coloratura soprano, will be presented in a recital this Friday evening, April 30 in the Annie Russell Theatre. Grace, a sophomore student of the Rollins Conservatory has appeared in concerts at the Dyer afternoon recitals, and has made appearances throughout the state. Her gift is one of unusual musical ability combined with a voice of purity and tonal beauty. She is a member of Phi Beta, National Music fraternity. She will be assisted by Kenneth Newbern, pianist, and Georgia Tainter, violinist, and will be accompanied by Mary Elizabeth Upchurch.

Her program will include numbers by Schubert, Handel, Brahms and others.

Qualified Candidates Enter Race For Council Positions

Annual Voting To Be Held May 7 at Rollins Center; Girls Seek Election To All Press, Government Offices

Not since the misty mythic times of world's greatest politician Theophilus P. U. Jenks and the mighty military hero General Roderick McArthur has the Rollins student government seen such a renaissance of vitality, energy, and force in the annual first of May elections. But this year of war 1943 finds a newly awakened interest in the who's who of power politics as the women swing into nomination for every office in the press and government realms and seek election a week from Friday.

Three More Groups Enter Song Contest

Faculty Quartet to Present First Public Appearance

Arrangements for the long-awaited Campus Sing, sponsored by the Independents, have finally been completed with the addition of three more hopeful entries to the original list of eight competitors.

A tentative program has been thrown together by the committee in charge, but because of possible withdrawals it is subject to abrupt change. However, the following list of organizations with their directors is the probable order of competition. Pi Beta Phi, Smokey Sholley; Independent Men, Jack Duffy; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gail DeForest; Lambda Chi, Gene Sturchio; Phi Mu, Alice Bane Shearouse; Kappa Alpha Theta, Sarah Coleman; Kappa Alpha, Bill Nobles; Gamma Phi Beta, Flora Harris; Delta Chi, Lamarr Simmons; Independent Women, Mary Elizabeth Upchurch. The climax of the program will be the initial appearance of a four-star quartet consisting of Srs. Enyart, Starr, Trowbridge, and Dougherty.

It's specially important that everyone attend the big shindig at the Center following the Sing, for not only will the winners of the Sing be announced, but rumor has it that this will be the last official dance of the year, and the Independents insist that it'll be the best.

Senior Drive Accrues $250 In Cash, Pledges

The Senior Loan Fund drive ended this week with the total of $250, made up of contributions ranging from $2 to $50 in cash or part or all of the student's contingency fee.

It has been decided by the Senior class of 1943 to use $60 of the money raised from this year's Loan Fund for the purpose of establishing an honor roll to perpetuate the names of all Rollins students, alumni, and faculty who have entered any branch of the armed forces of the United States. $190 will be added to the total amount of the current fund, raising the total to $1,448.

Not since the misty mythic times of world's greatest politician Theophilus P. U. Jenks and the mighty military hero General Roderick McArthur has the Rollins student government seen such a renaissance of vitality, energy, and force in the annual first of May elections. But this year of war 1943 finds a newly awakened interest in the who's who of power politics as the women swing into nomination for every office in the press and government realms and seek election a week from Friday.

On May 7 voting will be conducted by the retiring officers of the Student Council in the Rollins Center precinct. Sun-up to sun-down officially constituting the hours between 8:15 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Nominations were made by sororities and fraternities to the Student Council last Monday night, and more than a few reached President Meredith's hands with but minutes to go.

On the ballot are the following:

President: Sarah Ann MacFarland, Kappa Alpha Theta; Reedy Talton, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Vice President: Marjorie Hansen, Gamma Phi Beta; Ina Mae Heath, Chi Omega.

Secretary: Marie Rogers, Phi Mu; Tryntje Van Duzer, Pi Beta Phi; Pat Wing, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Editor of the Sandspur: Jean Hamaker, uncontested.

Comptroller of the Student Association: Sammie MacFarland, uncontested.

Candidates Submit Qualifications

Sammie MacFarland is the present comptroller of the student association funds, having been elected by the council to fulfill the post vacated at the end of last term by Alden Manchester. She is vice president of Theta and served last year as treasurer. She is the president of Pi Gamma Mu, and a member of the War and Peace Policies Committee, the Sandspur staff, the International Relations Club. She has read in chapel and serves as a regular chapel usher. She has been active in intramural sports.

Reedy Talton, who opposes Sammie for the presidency, is president of Lambda Chi Alpha and recently served as rush chairman. He is the co-founder and vice-president of Sigma Epsilon Chi, a member of the International Relations and the Interracial Clubs. He has served as a chapel reader and usher. He is photography editor

Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the Sandspur.

Elections

For so long now that it is hard to recall when it all began, this paper as representing the student body has butted its editorial head against the stone wall of change. Our copy has been cut down in proportion to the activities that have been scrapped as a wartime measure. Our staff has been whittled from issue to issue. We have done our level best to give you a good paper, and we have been subject to the worst killjoy of all—a letdown in interest in general.

But we are not alone in this. All organizations on campus have been similarly affected and their leaders have been criticized. Now the largest organization of all is holding elections—the annual Student Association campaign has begun. At the polls next week you will choose your three governing officers. This paper is neutral as usual, yet we urge that now more than ever before you all vote to elect students who will be equal to the responsibilities that next year is sure to bring. In the past, it has been safe to forecast the duties of the officers; next year will undoubtedly see numerous unexpected crises which will demand capable leadership.

Our suggestion this year in particular is that when you vote, you forget politics, influencing friends and circumstantial evidence, and that you study carefully the qualifications of the candidates which we have printed for you in this issue. Then vote for the persons whom you believe will conscientiously endeavor to govern wisely and constructively. Vote for them as individuals, not as members of XYZ or ABC. The days when a sorority or fraternity held political power on this campus are in eclipse anyway, so as long as you're doing the voting, you might as well do a good job of it.

Two Professors Are Leaving

Two more stars may be added to the Rollins Family Service Flag as members of the college circle prepare to bid a fond farewell to two of its most prominent and beloved professors, Dr. Nathan C. Starr, Chairman of the Division of English and Associate Professor of English, and Professor A. Buel Trowbridge, Jr., Professor of Religion and Ethics.

Dr. Starr plans to entrain for Washington, D. C., on May 8, where he will proceed to the Division of World Trade Intelligence in the State Department. As yet, he has been assign-

Pvt. Pugh Tells More About Rollins Boys at Keesler Field; Relays Requests For Mail

(Pvt. Pugh, Keesler correspondent, continues:)

"As for equipment, the government issues you 67 articles of apparel which includes everything from long handled underwear to tooth brushes and razors. Our G.I. (government issue) shoes are the high typed heavy things, but after wearing them for a week marching and taking two hours of calisthenics a day, you almost dislike the low-topped civilian shoes. The G.I.'s seem to grow on you.

"Maybe, you have had enough of this chatter about our surroundings. I will let you know how the boys are making out.

"Smith Lett and Ernie Walker are in Squadron 32, 58th Training Group, Hut No. 8. We see them very seldom, but occasionally run into them. Ernie has as yet to cut his "conservatory" hair and has also met a disaster in a crap game. Zeke is still lonesome for his plow. Smith spends his free time writing Helen.

"Freeland Babcock is in a separate training group, the 59th. He came a week before us and has been assigned the duties of a corporal. We often run into him going through the chow line for the second time.

"Harvard Cox is in our training group, the 58th, but is the only Rollins boy in the 33rd Squadron. He is the only Rebel in a cabin of Yankees, and leads a tough life trying to get along. His face has been sunburned and peeled three times.

"The boys in Squadron 34 are Jim Gunn, Al Nassi, Ronnie Green, Ralph Chisholm, John Twachtman, Jack McCall, Ira Yopp, Eddie Weinberg, S. G. Dolive, Ivor Groves, Stan Krall, Jimmie Conklin, Bob Rutledge, and Sammy Pugh. Gunn, Green, and Groves are in Hut 32.

Jim is lonesome without his violin; Green has made almost enough money at 'tiddle-winks' to get married; Groves hits the bunk every night at 7:30. Nassi is next door to Twachtman, Chisholm, and McCall. Twachtman is suffering at present from sun burned ears and a severe case of blisters. Chisholm has finally started to talk. Maybe it was the cow he saw the other day. McCall is about to learn the difference between right and left face.

"Yopp and Weinberg are in Hut 48 which is right across from Conklin and Pugh. Yopp makes his nightly report to Sammie without fail. Weinberg, without the long hair, has survived the first twelve days without going AWOL for his little Babs. Conklin's animal-like head of hair has begun to sprout a heavy growth; it is at least three-eighths of an inch long now. As for me, all I want is something that is still at school.

"Krall and Rutledge are becoming more and more alike each day. Rutledge holds the record for letters received in one day—eleven. Krall has been instructing the less-informed potential aviation cadets in the finer arts of diving. He put on an excellent demonstration in Hut 37 the other night before an enthralled crowd. All we can say about Dolive is that he misses the Governor.

"There is one thing for you students to remember. A soldier practically lives on his mail so if you can spare the time, drop your pal a line. He will appreciate it far more than you realize. If it's nothing more than a card, try to send it.

"Hoping you have enjoyed this brief account of our army life, I remain,

"Sincerely yours,

SAMMY PUGH"

Your Chapel Tower

By DEAN HENRY M. EDMONDS

An interesting and appropriate service is scheduled for next Sunday in the Chapel. The Program Committee planned it throughout. Members of the faculty and administration will have all the parts, including the sermon. It is the more fitting inasmuch as two of the faculty members will not be here next year. Let us all do them honor.

ed no definite position, but he expects to be connected in some capacity in dealing with Latin American Commerce.

Mr. Trowbridge, better known as "Trow", will be on hand to participate in the Commencement exercises, but immediately afterward, on June 7, will also head north to the nation's capitol where he will serve on the civilian feeding program of the Red Cross. However, Trow expects Washington to be only the first lap of his journey as he has great hopes of extending his work overseas to England, Africa, or wherever the war may be, if he can catch up with it.

The departures of Dr. Starr and Professor Trowbridge will be felt deeply not only by their families and colleagues, but also by the students who have thoroughly enjoyed their wonderful spirit of loyalty and friendship. The entire college joins in wishing them both the best of luck and God's speed on their separate paths. May they also have a very speedy return.

General Delivery

Displaying much the same spirit they evidenced in their mass protest against Rattling, the freshman class pulled a smooth walk-out this Monday. Last fall we tore down the entire front page for their antics, and one of our favorite S. spur memories concerns the dripping wet freshman who sloshed out one of the best feature stories of the year—the Rat Revolt. This term the class did such a good job of keeping their plot quiet that it wasn't until copy failed to come in that we once again "smelled Rats." Look over the list of freshmen on the masthead and you'll understand why your paper is LATE. The French have a word for it, "Tout comprends, tout pardonne," even if the linotype doesn't provide for an accent.

Conservatory head Christopher O. Honaas announced yesterday that contrary to rumor, the music department will continue unchanged next year. Bachelor of Music degrees and Bachelor of Art degrees with a music major will again be granted.

On campus today is Lieutenant Slaughter of the women's branch of the United States Marines, first representative of her branch of the service to visit here. A college woman herself, Lieutenant Slaughter is ready to provide you with the information you seek. Incidentally, she is a Phi Mu. (Obviously a plug.)

Also on campus tomorrow and Saturday are about forty delegates to the annual state press and government conference of Florida colleges and universities. To them we extend a hearty welcome and a wish that they will be able in their brief stay to imbibe of ye olde Rollins spirit.

Those who have "just missed" that masterpiece of filmdom and Americana "Gone With the Wind" or who would like to see it again (as so many people do), will have that opportunity next week because it will be at The Colony Tuesday and Wednesday.

But this will be the last opportunity to see it for a long time because it is being withdrawn from the film market on June 1 by its producers. It is said that nothing else has ever been able to wipe out the sectional bitterness engendered by the War Between the States as this has done. And few pictures in all the history of entertainment have been as faithful to a great literary classic as this one has. If you want to see it before it's gone, this is your last chance. There will be just a slight advance in admission prices and the picture starts at 2:30 and 7:30 both days.

The report comes in that since September, the Rollins Unit of Bundles for America has shipped a total of 127 garments for distribution. Among the articles knitted are 63 helmets, 23 sweaters, 15 pairs of socks, 10 watch caps and many gloves, mittens, chest protectors and scarves. For busy college women, that is good going.

Rollins Again Downs Orlando Air Base

The Rollins boys did it again Saturday afternoon when they downed the Bombardment Department of the Orlando Air Base to the tune of 10 to 9.

After three innings of play, the two teams were tied at four runs apiece, and then the ice broke. In the fourth, Rollins put across three runs on a double, two singles and an error were made by the base, and no further scoring was seen until the sixth, when Thomas walked and Mandt doubled him home. In the seventh, Red Harris gave Rollins a wide margin of lead when he banged out a home run with Meredith on base. The air base boys tried hard to tie it up in the eighth by tallying five times on as many hits, but they fell one short of the Rollins score. With that the game ended.

For the base, Polk, Newly and Patterson hit homers, while Polk had four hits in five times at bat, to lead the base. On the other side of the ledger, Harris was the only four-base hitter for Rollins, and

Kappas, Thetas Are Only Unbeaten Teams

In the second week of the spirited volleyball tournament, the Kappas and the Thetas are the only remaining unbeaten teams.

The Independents spoiled the Chi O's record by handing them a 33 to 21 defeat. In their only game, the Kappas downed the Gamma Phis in the tightest game to date by a score of 26 to 24.

This Tuesday, the Gamma Phis, defeating the Pi Phis 42 to 38, brought their average up to two games won and one lost. They lead at the half by twenty points, but the Pi Phis began to click and came to within four points of the victors as the game ended.

The Thetas rolled up the score of 38 to 19 against the Chi O's. In the last half the Chi O's were within ten points of the Thetas, but the serving of Sammie McFarland spelled defeat for the other team.

Big Fred Mandt slammed out four hits in five attempts to head the Rollins attack.

Horseshow, Swimming Meet To Be Held Here

Women's Intramural Events Offer Further Points

At 2:30 on May 8, the women's intramural swimming meet will be held on Lake Virginia. The events include the 50 yard free style, 25 yard free style, 25 yard breast stroke and the 25 yard back stroke. One group may enter only two girls in each of these.

The 50 yard relay consisting of four girls per entering group will be perhaps the hardest contested race. These events will be followed by diving from the ten foot board. The required dives are the front, back and front jack, concluded by an optional dive by each entrant. In this, the best of two dives will be chosen.

A girl may enter a minimum of one event or a maximum of two events, the relay, and diving if she has had six practices.

The annual women's intramural horseshow postponed from last week will be held this Saturday at 2:30 at the Dubsread Stables.

Along The Sidelines

In this world of war many accepted customs and practices are sometimes forgotten. A man's whole life, personality, ambition, ideals and morals might do an about-face, never to be the same again. This fact is accepted and stressed by sociologists, who claim that this is one of the greatest evils of war.

This being the case, it is easy to see that some things must be held prominent in our attitudes and actions. Sportsmanship, or fair-play seems one of the greatest boons of society. Practically everyone has these qualities, for they are started in the home, and should be practiced throughout life. I say practiced, for some people have had to venture efforts to show this quality.

Just stop and think of the values in good sportsmanship. It means cooperation, rationality, interest, sympathy, aggression, and endeavor. Perhaps you will say, "How do sympathy, aggression, or endeavor enter into the characteristics of sportsmanship?"

Without sympathy a person would never have even the slightest desire to help others or even concede them anything; sympathy is a direct result of interest; therefore when we are interested in people and events, we show sympathy in our decisions.

It is necessary, in order to have a correct attitude toward a game or a goal, that we have a feeling sufficient to test our decisions in relation to ethics. Aggression, or hard work will develop a strong enough feeling in one's self to test those decisions. This is also true for endeavor, since aggression is merely one form of endeavor.

When Germany declared war on the little people, was she interested in or sympathetic towards them? When Japan bombed helpless civilians was she giving them a fair chance? When Mussolini invaded Greece, could she defend herself? These are meager examples of the types of fair play and courtesy which we and our allies are facing now. In order to make virtue triumph over evil, it is necessary for us each to try to maintain these qualities, so that they will triumph in the finale.

My thanks to Reedy Talton for writing this week's column.

Each group may enter one or more riders in the show providing each has had two practices.

The beginning, intermediate and advanced classes are well filled, with each sorority entering several girls in each event. One of the most interesting classes will be the jumping, and though it is uncrowded, the competition will be stiff. The remaining event is the pair class, in which each group may enter as many pairs as desired.

This year's show will see keen rivalry, since the Pi Phis retain the cup if they repeat their win.
