AAFTAC, Rollins Join Forces For Radio Program

Something new was added last Wednesday night at 7:30 when the newly converted speech house saw its first broadcast of an AAFTAC program from the Rollins campus. Girls from the Rollins radio classes participate in these weekly broadcasts, which makes a happy arrangement—we have the girls, AAFTAC the men.

The Rollins broadcasting studio affords the advantage of more room and available rehearsal time, with the added convenience of nearness for Rollins students. These programs were previously broadcast from WDBO in Orlando.

Chapel Fund Total Far Below Goal As Drive Closes

To date, the Chapel Fund Drive, which opened two weeks ago today, has been only half successful. Of the $1,000 goal, only $455 has been collected. The drive ends this Friday, and the cooperation of every Rollins student is necessary to bring the drive to a satisfactory conclusion.

Not all of the collectors for the drive have reported; but of those who have, Jean Woodfill, Betty Semmes, Betty Winther, Dandy Sullivan, and Nick Morrissey have filled their quotas one hundred percent. Nick, in fact, deserves special commendation for his collections in Hooker, Rollins, and Chase Halls.

Dr. Holt Among Those Representing Florida In New Dietz Book

Florida is represented by Vivian Yeiser Laramore, poet laureate, Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, and Majorie Kinnan Rawlings of "The Yearling" and "Cross Creek" fame, in the first Engagement Calendar of the South, launched this week by The Dietz Press, Inc., of Richmond, Va., official publishers for Colonial Williamsburg in Virginia.

Printed in "Confederate grey" with a dash of Christmas green on its pictorial book and box covers, this book represents thirteen Southern States in photographs and quotations of its favorite sons and daughters. A full page photograph of the Governor's Mansion in Tallahassee was contributed by the Governor's wife. The birthplace of General Douglas MacArthur, the Old Arsenal in MacArthur, Ark., contrasts among the pictures with the Jesse James Cabin in Missouri. There are other historic governors' mansions and several of the picturesque Southern plantations and their gardens.

Vivian Yeiser Laramore's quotation is a humorous excerpt from her poem "The American Scene." Mrs. Laramore lives in Miami. President Hamilton Holt contributes a sage admonition to Age in favor of Youth from his Winter Park home; and Majorie Kinnan Rawlings' philosophy is from her Cross Creek Cookery, with the atmosphere of her home at Hawthorn.

Other famous Southern authors representing the thirteen Southern States include Margaret Mitchell, Allen Glasgow, Archibald Rutledge, Paul Green, Jesse Stuart, Grace Moore of the Metropolitan Opera, Erskine Caldwell and others.

Christmas Party

The Chapel committees are sponsoring something new in Christmas festivities this year with the Christmas party in the Rollins Center, which will take place Monday evening, December 11, from 8:00 to 10:00, following the Christmas banquet at Beanery.

The party, to which an open invitation to all Rollins faculty, staff, and students has been extended, will feature the reading of Dickens' Christmas Carol by Dean Enyart, singing of popular and seasonal songs, and serving of light refreshments by Mr. Tietjens, Center manager.

Interfraternity Meet Passes Resolutions To Govern Hazing

All forms of hazing involving mental or physical torture, including paddling, will be banned officially and absolutely by all colleges and universities throughout the country, and offenders, both individuals and organizations, disciplined if the request of the National Interfraternity Conference is followed. A resolution declaring such forms of hazing a menace to the welfare of educational institutions and the various organizations which are a part of the institutions, as well as to individual students, was passed unanimously at the 36th annual meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference, held at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, November 24-25. While such forms of hazing have been condemned in earlier sessions, this is the first definite request made for action by the administrative officers of educational institutions. For years the National Interfraternity Conference and its 60 member fraternities have tried through educational means to eliminate questionable hazing practices among the 2,422 undergraduate chapters of the 200 fraternity campuses in this country. In placing the responsibility for prohibition and enforcement upon the local administrative officers, fraternity leaders hope that the problem will be solved.

The resolution was proposed by George Starr Lasher, director of the School of Journalism at Ohio University, Athens, and a former national president of Theta Chi Fraternity. Recently the University of Wisconsin chapter of that fraternity was disciplined for paddling its pledges in violation of a Series of Monologues By Chinese Dramatist Set for Dec. 7 and 8

There is a delightful treat in store for the audiences of the Annie Russell theatre on Thursday and Friday evenings, December 7 and 8. They will have the opportunity of seeing the celebrated Chinese actress and monodramist, Soo Yong, in her series of original monologues.

The program is being presented by the Rollins Players as an added attraction on the theatre series and is not included in the season subscription for dramatic productions. Students, however, will be admitted with their student association cards, plus the federal tax.

One of Winter Park's most distinguished residents, Soo Yong is the wife of C. K. Huang, well known art dealer of Winter Park. She has had an exceedingly brilliant career on the stage and screen.

In a prologue depicting the Empress Dowager of China, Soo Yong will wear an exquisite tapestry court robe which originally belonged to the Empress Dowager. The program will also include her dramatic sketch "Out from the Inner Apartments", which was presented with such success last season.

President Holt to Hold Closed Service at His Home

The five Rollins fall term graduates this year are going to graduate in special and exclusive glory at Dr. Holt's home, on Wednesday, December 13, at 8:30 p. m. By exclusive we mean that attendance is by invitation only, and invitations are extended only to members of the senior class; parents of graduates; major professors and a few other faculty members invited by the graduates; Dr. Holt, and the Deans.

The ceremony will be informal, by choice of the graduates. The five getting their bachelor of arts degrees are: Faith Cornwall, Ann Everson, Carolyn Kent, Virginia Trovillion, and Dorothy Wilson. All of these girls are day students, and all but Ann Everson have accelerated in their work. Both Virginia and Dorothy majored in English. Faith, a Winter Park resident, majored in human relations, Carolyn in psychology, and Ann in business administration.

Dr. Le Comte Du Nuoy Relates Incidents of Occupied Paris

On Thanksgiving evening at the Women's Club the eminent French scientist and philosopher, Dr. Le-comte du Nuoy, told of his experiences in Paris during the German occupation. Although the German people have developed a great culture, they have not, he said, developed the science of human relations, to put it mildly. He went on to tell of the desperate defense by the French in the north, in spite of a great scarcity of weapons, and of their final two-weeks' march to the south, when many of them were slaughtered on the way by the Nazis. He described the conditions in Paris following the German occupation—the terrible hunger which was worse than starvation, and the rather unpleasant activities of the Gestapo. When the British began to bomb the city, the Nazis, who hadn't expected it, were thrown into confusion, which delighted the French considerably. He also told of the democratic feeling that had grown between the nobility and the common people during the German occupation.

Dr. Lecomte du Nuoy concluded his talk with the story of a little seventy-six-year-old countess who felt very badly, as she wasn't able to do much against the Nazis. Then she had an inspiration. Every day she would travel in the subways, first-class, as did the German officers. She would sit next to the door, her two walking-sticks stuck out in front of her. Whenever an

Unfinished Business—

From the Sandspur's point of view, one-third of the current Rollins year ends this week. Such goings-on as those manifest this term the old wheel has never seen before, and at mention of the Rollins rule that the winter term is always more hectic in number and variety of activities, both curricular and otherwise, than either fall or spring sessions, the Sandspur shudders.

We might review the rushing period with its resulting faculty-Greek problem, as yet unsettled; the question of ratting—to rat or not to rat—future freshmen, as yet unsettled; the question of Beanery's so-called inferiority, as yet unsettled. We have a formidable list of unfinished business to greet us when we return from our Christmas vacation.

One Year After Tarawa—

November 20 marked both the opening of the Sixth War Loan Drive and the first anniversary of the bloody battle for Tarawa, a battle that cost the lives of more than a thousand U. S. Marines and disabled thousands more.

On the morning of November 20, 1943, reveille awoke Marines aboard transports at 2 A.M. The first wave was scheduled to go ashore at 8:30 but the Japanese succeeded in holding the landing until past 9 o'clock.

Under a steady barrage of Japanese fire which felled many of the invaders, the first Marines landed on the island. Then ensued four days of what was described by a newspaper correspondent landing with the troops, as "the bitterest, costliest fighting ever sustained on any front."

"Never before in the world," wrote London Daily Express correspondent Henry Keys, "has the world seen, or human beings experienced such appalling punishment as has been meted out."

Torn and shattered by all types of projectiles, bleeding from the jagged coral reefs, the Marines fought on with superhuman courage.

A pillbox was converted into a hospital where more than 100 men were treated by a Marine surgeon in less than 36 hours. Other men were given treatment on the beaches in full sight of the enemy.

Tarawa was a holocaust, where sleep was forgotten and courage, pain and death were commonplaces.

The twelve months following our costly Tarawa victory has seen tremendous advances in the Pacific war.

Today our armies stand again on the soil of the Philippines, poised to liberate the islands.

Your money invested in War Bonds during the Sixth War Loan will go to avenge the deaths of the Marines on Tarawa, as well as of the soldiers on Bataan and Corregidor by carrying forward our Pacific war until Japan is beaten to her knees.

Northwestern Psychology Professor Evolves Theory of Eleven Senses Instead of Five

EVANSTON, ILL. — (ACP)—human beings have only five senses, they are known to have at least 11 and possibly 13, Dr. Robert H. Seashore, professor of psychology at Northwestern University, said recently.

Addressing the Northwestern chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific research organization, on "Experimental Analysis of Human Abilities", Seashore said that there is no single sense of touch, but rather there are four such senses.

"There are senses of pressure, cold, warmth and pain, each of which is distinctly separate and incapable of producing one of the other three sensations," he said. "In addition to these are the senses of vision, hearing, smell, taste, kinesthesia or muscular sense, equilibrium, and the internal organic sense, which transmits sensations such as hunger, thirst, and sex."

Discussing human abilities involving these senses, Seashore said that recent experiments indicate that many abilities hitherto commonly believed to be solely inherited, can be developed.

"In the field of music, for example, it has been discovered that in tests of pitch discrimination, individuals in the lowest 25 per cent of a group usually can be trained until they are in the highest 25 per cent," he said. He added, however, that training often must be individualized, and added that experiments have yet to be conducted with many of the human abilities.

"Recent experiments indicate that some abilities can be developed faster and to a larger extent than others," he said. "For example, some abilities, such as reading comprehension, usually require months before improvement is significant, whereas others, such as pitch discrimination, might require only five to ten hours."

Results of this type of experiments will enable vocational counselors to tell an individual more accurately which vocational abilities he can develop most easily and how much time and expense will probably be required, he said.

Analyzing tests for vocational guidance, Seashore said that the most useful yet discovered are tests of vocational interests and intelligence. Tests do not indicate which vocation is most suitable of these requiring equal degrees of intelligence.

"No group of vocational aptitude tests has yet been discovered that can be used successfully for all individuals, nor is there much evidence that individuals must always have certain characteristics in order to succeed in any given vocation. Instead there are many different ways of succeeding in most occupations, and training in these alternative work methods can compensate for apparent deficiencies."

What They Think—

This week your Inquiring Reporter did a little secret snooping and looked over the shoulders of some of the Rollins lads and lassies as they were writing to Santa Claus. We found out what they wanted for Christmas and, being in a musical mood, here they are—

Ken Rosewell—"My Wild Irish Rose."

Mary Katharine Gassford—"Oh, Johnny, Oh, Johnny, How You Can Love."

Patsy Jones—"He's a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech."

Joe Dittrich—"I've Got a Gal in Kalamazoo."

Bickley Hillyard—"My Man."

Bob Hagnauer—"St. Louie Woman With All Her Diamond Rings."

Katty Betterton—"A Fellow On a Furlough."

LA TRIVIA

Last night, while sitting in Harper's looking for some gossip, we got a red hot tip from a Mr. J. Robinson that we were in the wrong place. Said Mr. R. "Hooker is the beginning and end of all campus dirt". Well being naive people we forgot that this was probably just a dirty piece of Rollins Hall propaganda and beat it over to Hooker.

We came in just in time to kibitz for a red hot game of solitaire, Bob Hagnauer vs. Bob Hagnauer; only to have him leave ten minutes later in a blaze of triumph whistling "I Walk Alone" (which we already know). Still game, we tried the second floor and had a thrilling time listening to the bathtub baritone, Weisman and Waller, butcher the Saint Louis Blues. This didn't last very long because Joe Diedrich had graciously consented to do his famous bubble dance by special request. After all who's going to listen to the blues when they can watch Diedrich, besides we've always been fond of purple. We were having a wonderful time, I mean really a wonderful time (Continued on page six)

Thanks to Beanery

Last week Thursday we were treated with a grand Thanksgiving dinner at the Beanery. The food was delicious, the tables were appealingly set, and everything from fruit to candy was put before us. This was not accomplished without a great deal of planning and hard work on the part of Miss Macfarlane and the Beanery staff.

They worked almost without let-up for two days.

On this coming Monday they are serving us a Christmas meal of the same proportions, preparation, and delicious food. We all enjoyed the last one and will undoubtedly get as much pleasure out of the next, so let's thank Miss Macfarlane and her staff for a job well done.

A Creed

There is a Destiny that makes us brothers;
None goes his way alone:
All that we send into the lives of others
Comes back into our own.

I care not what his temples or his creeds,
One thing holds fast and firm—
That into his fateful heap of days and deeds
The soul of man is cast.

About Ben Adhem

About Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase!)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw, within the moonlight in his room,
Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom,
An Angel writing in a book of gold:
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,
And to the Presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The Vision raised its head,
And with a look made of all sweet accord
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said About.
"Nay, not so,"
Replied the Angel. About spoke more low,
But cheerily still; and said, "I pray thee, then,
Write me as one who loves his fellow men."

And the Angel wrote, and vanished.
The next night
It came again with a great wakening light,
And showed the names whom love of God had blessed,
And, lo! Ben Adhem's name lead all the rest!

Women's Association Holds Tea on Monday In Alumni House

The Rollins Women's Association, which is composed of all the women of the Rollins faculty and staff and the wives of professors, held their first meeting at the Alumni House in the form of a tea Monday, December 4th, at 4:30. This organization also includes members who though no longer associated with the college are still in the community and maintain an interest in it. This meeting was a general get-together to discuss their plans for the remainder of the year. The purpose of the organization is to help the college in every way possible. In the past years they have furnished the day students' lounge, helped in the sale of war bonds, and volunteered at the A. W. V. S. on Rollins Day.

Minor, Golding Win Blue Ribbons in Show At Orange Blossom Stables December 3

Sally Minor and Bobbie Golding took top honors in the two classes devoted to Rollins riders in the Elys' benefit horse show, Sunday, December 3, at the Orange Blossom Stables. In the Rollins horsemanship class, Sally and Bobbie both won blue ribbons, the latter being judged on the jumping seat rather than the standard one used by the majority of the nine riders. Barbara Stanley took second, Martha Timberlake, third, and Joan Sherriek, fourth, while Joanne Wright, also using the jumping seat, placed second in that division. In the jumping class Bobbie Golding again won first place, with Anselie Embry finishing second, and Barbara Stanley, third.

The other events included both ladies' and young girls' horsemanship classes, three-gaited and five-gaited classes, featuring the horses of Mrs. Anna Wheeler, Miss Mary Anderson, and Mr. Keene, a cowgirls' flag race, and a cowboy class. Mrs. Virginia Robinson from Tampa served as judge with the exception of the cowboy and cowgirl classes which were judged by Red Simpson.

Between the competitive events the crowd was entertained by the champion five-gaiter, Golden Pheasant, a three-gaiter, Royal Entertainer, a walking horse, and several trick horses, including a colt eight months old.

Independents, Thetas, Gamma Phis Emerge As Winners in Games

Five intra-mural basketball games were played off last week. Thursday night the Thetas piled up 62 points against the Kappas' 3, with Welsh making high score of the tournament so far—49 points. Le Due got quite a bump on the head during the first quarter but recovered enough to re-enter the game the second half.

Some excitement was caused by the fact that the Theta pledges paid a friendly visit to the Pi Phi house while the game was going on. On the discovery of this, the Pi Phis and Hagnauer, who were noting en masse for the Thetas, took a ten minute intermission to return the visit. A minimum of damage on both sides we hear.

The Gamma Phis in a second game Thursday night defeated the Phi Mus 48-13. Clifton was high scorer for Gamma Phi with 24 points, while Ann Powell made all 11 of the loser's points.

Friday afternoon the Independents, handicapped by the absence of Bundy and Fisher, still managed to finish with a slight margin of 21-19 over the Phi Mus. Mary Jo Hill accounted for 16 of the Independent points and Powell again was sole scorer for the Phi Mus.

Earlier last week the Independents defeated Alpha Phi 26-22 with Fisher and Sue Kirkpatrick in the top score column with 14 and 12 points respectively.

The fifth game was the play-off of the postponed Theta-Chi Omega game. The Thetas ran true to form and piled up 61 points to the Chi O's 9. Depperman led the onslaught with 32 points.

Alpha Phi Wins From Chi Omegas 20-16; Thetas Topple Pi Phis

In a double header Monday night, the Alpha Phis took the first game from the Chi Omegas 20-16. It was a close contest all the way with the Alpha Phis forging ahead in the last few minutes. The Kirkpatricks took scoring honors for both teams. Sue of Alpha Phi was high scorer with ten points and Doris of Chi O was second with eight points.

In the second game the Thetas allowed the Pi Phis to score 25 points to their 60. This is the highest score that has been made against the Thetas this year.

Peg Welsh continued to stack up points in her usual form with 32, which brings her total for the year up to 144 for five games. Pat Bastian was high scorer for the losers with 12 points.

Friday afternoon the Kappas lost to the Gamma Phis 32-29. Culpepper and Clifton, both Gamma Phis, tied for top score with 14 points apiece, while Wright of Kappa ran a close second with 12 points.

Rollins Takes Over At A.W.V.S. Sunday

Sunday, December 3, was Rollins Day at the Winter Park branch of the American Women's Voluntary Services. The Rollins Women's Association presided at the recreation room, preparing and serving supper for all servicemen present. Among the voluntary cooks, waitresses, and dishwashers were Mrs. Ruby Marshall, Miss Daphne Takach, Misses Leona and Chloe Lyle, Mrs. Howard Bailey, Mrs. Fleetwood Peeples, Miss Ruth Fairchild, Miss Gladys Henderson, Miss Cynthia Eastwood, and Miss Ellen Apperson. Miss Laura Neville served as chairman for the evening.

Mrs. Florence Wilde, Rollins' new commercial art instructor, revealed a hitherto undiscovered talent and, at the same time, kept everyone present amused by telling fortunes.

The Rollins student body was well represented too, a group of student hostesses taking over the recreational duties immediately after supper. Serving in this capacity were Muriel Fox, Priscilla Woodward, Betsy Smith, Ann Steinhart, Constance Love, Betty McCauslin, and Mary Elizabeth Campbell.

First Speech Contest Of Year Held Monday In Woolson House

The last meeting of the Pi Kappa Delta Speech Club for the fall term drew a large and enthusiastic audience to the Woolson English House on Monday evening. The occasion was an informal speech contest with everyone present participating and giving a short selection of poetry or prose.

President Tom Fruin opened the meeting with the announcement that the already thriving group was looking forward to an active season under the guidance of Dean Edmonds, whom the club has been fortunate enough to secure as their advisor for the coming months. He also announced that there would be a formal contest open to all students of the college later in the year. The subject of this contest is to be a topic connected with world peace.

Professor Dewey, who is leaving Rollins at the end of this term, is establishing a permanent award for the outstanding speaker at Rollins each year. The award is to be a book with appropriate binding and stamped with the seal of the college.

The judges of Monday's contest were Professor Hasbrouck, Professor Dewey, and Mr. Copeland. Gordon Felton's fine reading of James Weldon Johnson's "The Creation" was, in the judge's opinion, outstanding. Leila Kroll, Janet Haas, Marc Gilmore, and Doris Kirkpatrick were mentioned as the other notable speakers, since no graded awards were made. Leila's selection was a stirring one from Kipling; Janet gave a moving representation of a war bride; Marc's contribution was a forthright and able exposition of the New Deal; and Doris presented a delightful comic interlude on "How Not To Make a Speech".

It would be impossible to mention all of the speakers who contributed to make the evening a success.

Joyce Jungclas and Ann Edwards, who have been enthusiastic supporters of the club, gave effective readings of poetry; and much merriment resulted from Albert Mullen's side-splitting selection from Frank Sullivan. Jim Ernster and George Moore made notable contributions, and Muriel Fox read her memorable poem on a negro servant. Others responsible for the interest of the contest were Pat Williams, Shirley Evans, Frank Sussler, and Don Weisman.

The most thought-provoking speech of the evening was that given by the club's president, Tom Fruin, on the vastly important subject of readjustments after the war. The judges decided that President Fruin should not be a contestant because of his office.

Don Cossacks Choir Provides Evening of Thrills For Large and Receptive Audience

The Civic Music Series of Central Florida opened Tuesday evening, November 28, at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium, when the Don Cossacks choir presented a program of Russian music to an enthusiastic and crowded audience.

To the large number of Rollins students who hold membership in the music association, many of whom had never heard the famous men's choir, the evening proved a real thrill.

Despite adverse criticism from some members of the audience, dealing mostly with the reduced size of the group, the music they produced was satisfying to the majority of the auditors. The group has fallen in numbers from about thirty-six to about twenty-four singers, and in the opinion of many, the quality of their music suffered comparably.

To those who had not heard the Cossacks before, the musical devices they employed were a source of amazement. The high falsetto of the first tenors, reaching a top note of C or D, the excellent tone quality of the basso fortissimos, the sudden extreme changes in dynamics, and the generally really lovely tone quality of the entire choir illustrated the result of years of careful training and a real feeling for the music they performed.

The program was a varied cross-section of old and modern Russian music, ranging from the folk or warrior type of song, with the vigor of the men of the steppes, to the devout church anthem, full of rich feeling. The first group was sacred songs, and the two following were of the lighter folk-song type, stressing the songs of the Cossacks.

A special word should be devoted to the conductor of the group, one Serge Jaroff. That one little man could control and train so beautifully this choir of big, husky men is worthy of praise.

Gilmore and Sente Wedded In Chapel

At a candlelight ceremony in Knowles Memorial Chapel on Wednesday evening, October 29, Arlene Sente became the bride of Marc Gilmore. White pompom chrysanthemums banked the altar, which was lighted by tall candelabras of white candles for the six forty-five ceremony at which Dean Enyart and President Holt officiated.

Wearing a gown of white satin and a veil held with small orange blossoms which was the same length as the train of her gown, the bride carried a bouquet of white gardenias centered with white orchids. She was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's attendants were Janice MacFarland, maid of honor, Betty Good, and Anita Rodenbeck. The bridesmaids' gowns were made alike with sweetheart necks and long-waisted full skirts, but were of different colors. Hank Osten was best man and the ushers were Jim Robinson and Bob Hagnauer.

A reception was held after the wedding at the Orange Court Hotel in Orlando. After a short wedding trip Arlene and Marc are now at home in Winter Park.

Sgt. Bob Maurer, who is in charge of all radio activity for the Public Relations office at AAFTAC, writes and produces all of the weekly shows. The AAFTAC Symphonettes furnish incidental and mood music.

Sgt. Maurer's production for next Wednesday night is "All Over But the Shooting" which voices the disillusionment of a soldier who officer started to step out of the car, one of her sticks would accidentally get between his feet and the door, causing him to fall flat on the platform step. This step was anything but clean, especially in war-time, so his uniform suffered accordingly. The little old lady would apologize profusely, and the officer, trying to hold his temper, would depart abruptly. And then the little old lady would go to another subway. Finally the officers began to exchange opinions about certain old ladies of Paris, and things became rather hot for her. To her profound annoyance her friends insisted on smuggling her out of the city. She had set a goal, she complained, of at least a hundred Nazis, but she had so far just taken care of eighty.

local university ban upon such practices.

Other present and post-war problems were considered thoroughly at the two-day sessions, and a number of resolutions were passed that will affect the activities of fraternity chapters in the future.

College officials and fraternity men were urged by the Conference to reactivate at once all interfraternity councils, undergraduate and alumni, and all chapters dormant because of wartime conditions. A committee was authorized to work out a desirable plan for the rehabilitation of fraternity chapters as a suggestion to administrative officers of colleges and universities. The Conference voted that comity among members of the National Interfraternity Conference demands that no fraternity not already established on a campus shall take steps toward the installation of a new chapter on that campus until at least two years shall have elapsed after the conclusion of the war emergency unless, in the opinion of the administration of the college, ample fraternity material is present on the campus to warrant such an addition.

The Post-War Planning Committee of the Conference was instructed to make a study of specific problems resulting from post-war conditions, such as the return to the college campus of ex-service men, the matriculation of mature students, compulsory military training, and the like, and to make specific recommendations for meeting the situations covered by the report.

Wartime conditions have reduced the number of fraternity chapters since Pearl Harbor from 2322 to 1489 among 54 of the 60 member fraternities that reported to Dr. Gilbert Mead, president of Washington College, who presented his findings to the Conference. This loss was 35.89 per cent, while the decline in undergraduate membership was from 58,320 in 1940-41 to 19,920 today, or 65.83 per cent.

The report also showed that the large fraternities having 90 or more chapters suffered less than the middle-sized and small fraternities. Fraternities having 15 or fewer chapters lost 53 per cent of their chapters; middle-sized, 50 per cent; and large, only 28 per cent. There is considerably less difference, however, in percentage loss of undergraduate members.

The Conference reaffirmed its opposition to high school fraternities, declaring that they serve no useful purpose and may easily become a disruptive force in the high school and give a wrong impression of the fraternity concept.

A Decalog of Fraternity Policy was adopted by the Conference. Its provisions include: the teaching of men how to live and work together, adding a fraternal influence for correct living and individual development; recognition that the fraternity must be amenable to the rules and regulations of the college institution, sharing in all the college responsibilities of the undergraduate, matching the discipline of the college administration, and accepting the added responsibility incident to the supervision of group life in the chapter house; successful management, requiring sound financial practices and good housekeeping methods; excellence of scholarship; development of mental and spiritual qualities in the individual; encouragement of the acquisition of knowledge and training in cultural subjects; the development of social graces, the art of good living, courtesy and kindness as good manners, good taste, and good companionship are a part of the training of every member; provision of healthful housing practices; the teaching of good citizenship in the chapter house and civic responsibilities as members of the college community thus preparing for later life; the development of qualities of human understanding, companionship, kindness with a knowledge and training appraising the basic values of life leading towards a better civilization with peace and understanding among all peoples.

when Riley reared his head came scurrying up in his little bathrobe, winging his way through the feathered choir, playing "Down Ye Merry Gentlemen" on a barbed wire harp. Taking our leave we beat a hasty retreat to Rollins pausing only long enough to wave Nick Morrissey out on the first steps trying to prove that "Nick Morrissey is a great lover".

Casually glancing over the Rollins bulletin board "IT" hit. Being men of stamina we took a blow like troopers, but brother what a blow! Brock and E. J. getting a divorce. Yep, it's true. Alice O'Neal was named correspondent and Brock left for Reno on the 10:10 train, leaving a trail of Scotch and Chanel No. 5 behind him.

Well, good night sweet prince—pleasant dreams and may they all be of Copeland.
