33 New Subjects Offered; History Courses Predominate

The total number of new courses offered this year at Rollins surpasses those at any other time in the history of the school with 33 new subjects added to the curriculum. The majority of these courses are in the history division.

One of the interesting courses offered in history is the republics of Hispanic America, which deals with the historical development of the republics of Latin America since their independence — their systems of government, political and social problems, economic conditions, and their international relations. This course is taught under Dr. Hanna. Another subject in the same division is Europe 1815-1914. This consists of a study of formative forces and significant developments in nineteenth century Europe. This course is offered spring term by Dr. Theodore Collier.

Dr. Wu-Chi Liu, who came from China to Rollins last spring, is teaching a course in Chinese literature and civilization that will cover the entire year and is open to all students. It consists of a term each on Chinese cultural history, Chinese literature and Chinese Philosophy.

Professor Trueblood, new this fall to the English department, is teaching Elizabethan lyric poetry during the spring term.

Many new courses are also being offered in the philosophy department, one of them, the philosophy of George Santayana under Dr. Bradish. This course is a critical analysis of Santayana's The Realms of Being. This is supplemented by a study of several contemporary critics and Santayana's replies to them. The prerequisite for this is another course in philosophy.

For those students interested in sociology, a course in experiments in society under Dr. King is available. This consists of an analysis of social reform.

A complete list of these courses and their instructors may be found in the registration office in the administration building.

Dell Sets New Policy; Center Open Sunday From 10:30 to 5:30

Kermit Dell, former Rollins student, has recently replaced Rudy Tietjens as manager of the Center. With Kermit have appeared several alterations.

The most world-shaking of these changes occurs in the resumption of Sunday hours. The prayers of all Rollins students have at least been answered; the Center will remain open from 10:30 until 5:30 every Sunday.

The Center has had several new chairs and tables added, and we spy signs of recent paint jobs on all furniture.

The waitresses are currently sporting new blue uniforms, too.

Vincent Announces Material Shortage Delays Building

New Administration Building Expected To Be Completed By First of 1947

Mr. Donald Vincent, publicity director, has announced that the new administration building, which has been under construction since last spring, is expected to be completed by the first of the year. The shortage of materials has impeded completion.

As soon as possible, the administrative offices of Carnegie hall are to be transferred to the new building. This will permit enlargement of library facilities in the former.

Offices to be moved are as follows: president, treasurer, cashier, deans of men, women, and faculty, purchasing agent, and publicity.

The ground was broken for the new building February 8, 1946, in a ceremony which was attended by the faculty and the student body. Mrs. George Warren of Boston, Massachusetts, whose donations helped build the student Center and Alumni house, is the donor of the new building.

New Faculty Members Show Wide Range Of Interests, Talents; Include Veterans, Authors, Musicians, Artists and Psychometrist

Sixteen professors, six having taught here previously, have been added to the Rollins faculty this year to handle a capacity enrollment.

Ten of these new professors are covered in this issue, others will be written up next week.

Dr. C. Wendell King, assistant professor of sociology, graduated from Yale in 1940 with a B.A. degree, received his master's in 1941 and his doctor of philosophy degree in 1944. He has been an instructor in sociology at Yale since 1943 and is a member of the American Sociological Society. His article, Social Cleavage in a New England Community, was published in the spring issue of Social Forces.

Wilbur Dorsett, instructor in theatre arts, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina where he received his master of arts degree in 1936. He has had ten years' experience in the theatre, having held the Rockefeller fellowship in playwriting, and served as assistant to Samuel Selden, now director of the Carolina Playmakers. Appointed to the dramatic faculty of the University of North Carolina Women's college in 1938, he was also an assistant director of the Play-Likers. He is a World War II veteran.

Homecoming Week-end Features Game, Dance

Alumni to Honor Dean Enyart

Arthur Enyart, dean of men, will be honored Friday evening, October 11, in the Orange Court hotel at a dinner commencing the events of the Rollins Alumni Homecoming week-end.

A rally of all alumni will form at 5:00 p.m. in the Orange Court. An informal dinner will follow at 6:00, during which the portrait of Dean Enyart, the Tars' number one fan, will be presented to the college.

A motorcade to the Orlando stadium with police escort will form at 7:45. A half hour later the Rollins Tars meet the George Washington University team, Southern Conference foe.

Storm Misses Rollins Although High Winds Felt On Campus

Although the high wind that swept the west coast of Florida last Monday night did not directly hit Winter Park nor damage any buildings on campus, evidence of the wind's force was seen Tuesday morning when the campus was littered with fallen branches and moss.

With every safety precaution taken, the college was prepared for the hurricane many hours before it was expected in the vicinity of Winter Park.

According to the Orlando weather bureau, the wind reached its greatest speed at 2:29 Tuesday morning when a sixty-four mile per hour gust was recorded.

Local Housing Problem Greater Than Ever

With a registration of over six hundred students, the largest ever recorded, Rollins has an even greater housing problem than last year.

Thirty-three men are living at the Park Avenue hotel and thirteen at the conservatory of music. Two men live in the laboratory theatre and three others in the field house.

Dr. Holt's garage has also been converted into living quarters.

Players and coaches of the Jackson (Miami), Winter Park, Apopka, Kissimmee, Frostproof, St. Cloud, Auburodale, Leesburg, New Smyrna, St. James (Orlando), and Clermont high school teams will be guests of Rollins.

There will be stunts at the half with band music from the Avon Park, Winter Park, St. Cloud, St. James, and Orlando Junior high school bands.

Following the game an all-college dance is scheduled at the Orange Court hotel.

Special services will be held in the Knowles Memorial chapel Sunday morning at 9:45.

Changes In Beanery Achieved By Rudy During Summer

The Rollins commons has undergone several changes during the summer. Rudy Tietjens, former manager of the Rollins Center, now replaces Miss Marjorie McFarlane, who is reported to be at Harper's Candlelight dining room.

Mr. George Cartwright, superintendent of grounds and buildings, and his staff have enclosed the porch in front of the Commons. The additional floor space thereby gained allows a total of 72 small tables to be placed in the beanery with a new seating capacity of 403.

Fresh flowers are placed on each table every day. All tables are covered with white cloths and cloth napkins are provided for dinners.

Another alteration occurs in the service with Rollins boys as waiters, 10 for breakfast and dinner and 20 working in two shifts at lunch.

An old Rollins tradition is being revived each Thursday night with dinner by candlelight.

Hanna Writes History Of Napoleon's Nephew

Dr. A. J. Hanna, professor of history and director in Inter-American studies at Rollins, has written a biography of Achille Murat, nephew of Napoleon, who lived in Florida for a quarter of a century. It is being published this month by the Oklahoma Press under the title of A Prince In Their Midst.

reviews and poems published in scholarly periodicals. Last year his critique of Lord Byron's Don Juan was published and he has recently completed a historical novel of pioneer Oregon dealing with Jesse Applegate.

Rudolph Radama Von Abele of Harrington Park, N. J., director of the new institute of world government at Rollins will also offer courses.

W. B. Whitaker, assistant professor of speech, received his B.A. degree from Teachers College, St. Cloud, Minnesota, in 1932. He has taught speech and dramatics at Michigan State college. Recently he was released by the U. S. Navy with the rank of Lt. Commander.

Boit Lincoln Brannen, assistant professor of psychology, has a B. S. degree from Tufts College and a M. E. from the Harvard Graduate School. He most recently served as a psychometrist with the Rhode Island State Department of Social Welfare and as school and Veterans Rehabilitation Program psychometrist at Gloucester, Massachusetts. From 1942-44 he was instructor in electricity at the New England Aircraft School under AATPC. In 1944 he was invited to Harvard as a Bigelow teaching fellow in psychology. He also served as research learning consultant with the Massachusetts State Child Hygiene department.

Ralph Huntley, who will teach science, holds a degree from Oberlin and has done graduate study at the University of Minnesota. He comes to Rollins from Pomfret School.

Victoria Hutson Huntley, wife of Professor Huntley, will teach art. She was assistant professor of Fine Arts at the College of Industrial Arts in Denton, Texas; taught art at Birch Wathen school; was resident teaching artist at Redding Ridge school for boys and Pomfret school. Elected an associate member of the National Academy of Design, she is also a member of the National Mural Student's league. Her prints are in collections at the Whitney Museum of Art, Metropolitan museum, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Cleveland and Houston museums, Chicago Art Institute, Pennsylvania academy of Fine Arts, N.Y. Public library and the Library of Congress.

Everett Lee Roberts, back from military service, will be bandmaster and instructor in brass at the Conservatory. He was awarded the Bronze Star for his work in the Philippines and Japan. Mr. Roberts graduated from Rollins in 1935 with a B. M. degree.

Panhellenic Coffee, Sorority Teas Honor New Women Students

The annual formal coffee to welcome all entering women was given by the Panhellenic association in the Center patio Saturday evening, October 5.

Guests were received by Dean Cleveland, Mrs. Wilcox, assistant dean of women and the members of the Panhellenic council, composed of the following sorority members: Jean Bohrer, Pi Phi, president; Zoe Weston, Chi Omega, vice-president; Marge Mitchell, Alpha Phi, secretary-treasurer; Anita Rodenbeck, Theta; Edith White, Kappa; Pat Dickinson, Gamma Phi and Ann Jones, Phi Mu.

This coffee and a series of "get acquainted" teas, to be given October 12-13, by all sororities are a part of this year's delayed rushing program. All houses will be open then for Homecoming weekend and alumni are invited to meet the new girls at these teas on Saturday and Sunday.

The new Panhellenic list for sorority rushing and the list of the groups in which the teas are to be attended are posted in Cloverleaf, the Day Students' room at the Center and in all the sorority houses.

Eleven New Members Added To Rollins Staff

Eleven new members have been added to the Rollins staff this term. Aurora McKay is to serve as alumni secretary; Donald A. Cheney, as special assistant to President Holt; Dr. Joseph L. Stecher, as infirmary physician; Miss Helen Lamb, as assistant nurse.

Miss B. Dow Huntington will assist Mrs. Wilcox in Cloverleaf. Mrs. Lillian Shafer, Miss Patty Tripp, Miss Joanna Prentiss have been added to the staff of the offices of the Dean and Registrar. Mrs. Juliana Crow will serve as secretary to the publicity office, and Miss Helen Stotler and Miss Jean Rankin will be in the treasurer's office.

Harold Mutispaugh is returning to the staff as purchasing agent after a tour of duty with the Army. Mrs. Mutispaugh will be in charge of the bookstore.

Miss Anna B. Treat has returned to her duties as registrar half-time.

Christopher O. Homans has returned as director of the conservatory, professor of music education and director of the chapel choir after a year's leave of absence.

Rudolph Fischer is back as associate professor of French and German and is also teaching cello. He has been on leave of absence for war work.

Rhea Marsh Smith, recently released from the Army with the rank of major, is returning as professor of history.

Charles A. Steel returns to Rollins as assistant professor of English from duty with the Navy, in which he held the rank of lieutenant-commander.

Dr. David M. Beights, new professor of business administration, was formerly a full professor and acting head of the department of accounting at the University of Florida. He holds degrees from

Rhodes Scholarship Blanks Available

Dr. Nathan Starr, head of the English department, has announced that elections to Rhodes scholarships will be resumed this year. Applications are due on November 2 and candidates elected will enter the University of Oxford in October, 1947.

Information and application blanks may be obtained from Dr. Nathan Starr, Rollins college, or Dr. L. S. Laffitte, 1022 Park Street, Jacksonville, Florida. Dr. Laffitte is the secretary of the Committee of Selection for this state.

Normally candidates for the Rhodes scholarships must be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five, but this year candidates who have been eligible in any year since 1939 will be allowed to compete, provided they have had at least one year of military or civilian war service.

Sixteen extra scholarships have been allotted to the United States for the years 1946 and 1947.

Rollins Community Service Committee Asks Cooperation Of College Students

When the Rollins Community Service committee held its final meeting last spring, members of the committee realized what a tremendous job was in store for this year and how thoroughly this job would require the cooperation of all the college.

During the past several years, the limited number of men on campus has somewhat curtailed the committee's effectiveness. The local Boy Scout troops have asked for additional leaders. The Orlando YMCA, newly organized, has requested assistance of the Rollins men. The committee also needs quite a few "big brothers" who would be willing to "adopt" some of the Winter Park fellows of the junior high school and high school age in its recreational and delinquency prevention program.

The girls have carried out similar programs with the Scouts, now with the "big sister" adoption plan, and have worked in the local day nurseries, both Negro and white.

One of the biggest projects of the year has been that of our Health Unit in giving the T-B X-ray to everyone on campus: faculty, students, and employees.

the Universities of Colorado and Illinois.

Paul E. Fenlos, new instructor in economics and business administration, has been in Europe with the Army since 1942. He holds a degree from Holy Cross and has done graduate work at the University of Illinois and Boston university.

Donald C. Greason, who will teach art, comes to Rollins from Deerfield academy, where he was artist-in-residence. His own work includes a series for the Boston symphony orchestra and for Harvard university on athletics.

Mrs. Flora Lindsey Magoun, new assistant professor of business education, holds degrees from Wellesley college and Columbia university.

Charles Gordon Rex, who received degrees as bachelor of arts and of music from Rollins last

Sandspur Positions Open; Tryouts Set For Thursday At 6

Both new and old students with a longing to contribute to the Sandspur are requested to attend the annual fall term tryout at 6:00 p.m. Thursday in the Sandspur office.

Positions are open in feature, news, and sports departments, with ability rather than experience as the only prerequisite, although the latter will help. Members of Mr. Don Vincent's journalism workshop are especially invited.

Those lacking any talent for writing but having a flair for spelling and punctuation may be interested in applying for a proof-reader's job, one of the few salaried positions on the paper.

Typists with free time Monday or Tuesday afternoons will be welcome if they can also furnish typewriters.

The advertising commissioner's shoes are tentatively filled by two blondes, but new arrangements may be made if an eager young man with a car appears. Offering yearly earnings of $200 or more the job requires some experience and an abundance of time.

The meeting, which just precedes Eanery, will be brief. The Sandspur office can be found by looking behind the frame conservatory building on the southwest corner of Interlachen and Fairbank.

SIDELINE SLANTS

By H. RUMMEL WAGNER

Four months have literally raced by since we signed a hurried vacation bound—30—to Sideline Slants last May and headed north for the summer, but football season finds us back and ready to scribe the sporting news again this year. Assisting yours truly in the sports department will be Cecil Van Hoose of Orlando, and Eleanore Cain from up Clarksburg, West Virginia way who will handle all the girls' sports and activities. Lloyd Faber, our camera snapping photographer from Cincinnati, will cover all sports events this year, and we plan to carry cuts in each issue of all the big games. The hurricane grounded yours truly in South Carolina Monday, and this column is being written with the final deadline only a few minutes away. So into the local sporting news... NOTES

BETWEEN THE NOTES: Today at 12:12 the Champion will roar into Winter Park carrying a power packed George Washington gridiron eleven with their sights aimed at winning their second game of the season. But Jack McDowall and company have different ideas about the outcome and plans to give Skip Stahley's charges a real battle. The 'Tars' have been running through drills twice daily since September 15 and appear to be in great shape for the 'Colonel' invasion tomorrow night on the Orlando gridiron. George Washington has an impressive schedule and a lot of bally-hoo preceding their team's arrival, but as usual most of this can be discounted in a high percentage figure. Last Saturday they edged out the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy up Long Island way by a 38-17 score with Trucks and Kennedy sparking their attack. Following the Rollins encounter they play Georgetown, Citadel, William and Mary, Rutgers and Wayne University... all tough teams! Stahley apparently has a lot of confidence in an untried eleven. Tomorrow night's battle will pit the single wing offensive of the 'Colonels' against the 'T' that the 'Tars' will explode.

The game will mark the beginning of post-war intercollegiate activity for Rollins and is officially termed the Homecoming game, all of which should more than fill the stadium when the kick-off comes at 8:15. This battle promises to be not only the most exciting of the season's tilts but also the most colorful with everyone in the athletic office, the publicity office and the administration going all out for a huge success. We feel sure there will be a 100% Rollins turnout for the battle and we know you will give the team your entire support during the game. The eyes of Orlando will be focused on Rollins tomorrow night so let's make a good impression in our first big game in four years. Reserved seats were moving at a rapid clip at press time, and everything indicated that there will be a near capacity audience. Rollins' next big battle will be with our natural rivals from DeLand... the Stetson 'Hatters', a week from today when coach Brady Cowell brings his gridmen to town for their second game of the season. They tangle with the Troy gridders tomorrow night on the Stetson field in their post-war kick-off.

QUOTING ODDS

Last year's attempt in the field of gridiron prognostications turned out so well when we compiled the final season's rating that your sports editor has decided to take another whirl at it this year for you parley busting addicts. We finished last year with a .867 percentage out of a possible 1,000. This year we will list our winning choice in bold face—all caps and tell you by how many TDs we expect them to win. So here's this week's big ten—ready, let's go!

S. W. La. at ALABAMA—the 'Crimson Tide' has this one tied up in a nice little package by at least three tallies. This is the 'Tide's' fourth encounter and from all indications they are the team to beat this year in the southeast.

ARMY at Michigan—here's one of those coin games where a flip is far better than statistics. The TD kids, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard should stem any 'Wolverine' threats and punch over a few scores just to keep in practice. Army seems to lack the terrific power they had last year but still appear one tally better than Michigan.

FLORIDA at Vanderbilt—the 'Gators' were stopped in a heart-breaking 7-0 tilt last year. We see a reversal of the score Saturday when 'Bear' Wolf's men take the field.

Kentucky to GEORGIA—the 'Wildcats' come south tomorrow night to Athens and the 'Bulldogs' are ready. Ready by at least three TDs... maybe more.

ILLINOIS at Indiana—the 'Illini' took a stinging 6-0 licking in their third game last year at the hands of

THE SPORTSBEAM

The Rollins 'Tars' meet George Washington University in Orlando Stadium tomorrow night, which is the first game for the 'Tars' since 1942. The 1946 edition is quite a bit different from those of other years. For instance, there was no winter practice. Added to that, is the late beginning this fall. Despite these setbacks Rollins should have a pretty fair ball club. Individually speaking, the prospects are good! They have experience, speed, and weight. However, getting these individuals to work as a group in four short weeks is a hard task and nobody can predict how they will turn out until that final whistle blows Friday night.

The line is big and fast. Fred Mandt at 235 pounds is the largest man on the squad. Fred is a veteran tackle from the 1942 team. Hailing from Charleston, W. Va., Fred is married and has one daughter. David 'Happy' Clark is another veteran tackle from the 1941 team. 'Happy' comes from Newport Richey, Fla. Trammel Whittle is also a veteran tackle. Trammel is from Haines City and weighs in at 220. Ralph Chisholm is a pre-war Rollins star. Ralph plays end, and is outstanding in the pass-receiving department. He is a junior, single, and hails from St. Cloud. Orville Thomas is another veteran Rollins end, who, incidentally, scored the winning touchdown against Pensacola Navy station in 1942. Orville weighs 175 lbs. and also comes from Charleston, W. Va. At guard, we have Pershing Scott and Buddy Bryson. Both have played on Rollins teams before and both are plenty tough despite their relatively small stature. Ronnie Greene is back at the center post. Ronnie is a two hundred pounder from Gainesville and is playing his third year on the 'Tars'. Burke Chisholm, Ralph's older brother, also plays the center slot. Burke played with Rollins in 1942 and packs plenty of speed.

The backfield, like the line, is loaded with plenty of speed and experience. Quarterbacks include Tim Tyler and Dub Palmer. Tyler at 195 pounds is big, fast, and

Rollins Post-War Gridiron Schedule Opens Friday Night

The Rollins 'Tars' will lift the lid on their 1946 football schedule against George Washington University of Washington, D.C. tomorrow night in Orlando Stadium at 8:15 p.m. George Washington, under the tutelage of their new coach, Neil 'Skip' Stahley, former Brown university football star, won their opening encounter against the Merchant Marine academy of Long Island last Saturday by a score of 38 to 17. Scouting reports indicate that George Washington uses the single wing formation while Rollins will employ the famed 'T' system. George Washington is a Southern Conference team and will arrive in Winter Park at noon Thursday by streamliner from the north.

Coach Jack McDowall's 'Tars' have been working out at Harper-Shepherd field since September 15. The team is in good physical shape with the exception of Ralph Chisholm, big left end, who is suffering from a bad shoulder injured in the scrimmage last Saturday. However Ralph is expected to start the game for the 'Tars' tomorrow night.

George Washington will not only be Rollins' first football foe since 1942 but Rollins homecoming game for the 1946 season. Advance ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd under the lights.

Rollins, having the largest number of men out for football in the history of the school, will uniform only 33 of its 53 members. Buddy Bryson will captain the 'Tars' for their initial tilt against the 'Colonels'.

Probable starting lineup:

Rollins	G. Washington
R. Chisholm	E. Grinnel
F. Mandt	T. Shipman
B. Bryson	G. Howe
R. Greene	C. Gustafson
G. Chizik	G. Regan
T. Whittle	T. Butkers
O. Thomas	E. Cloos
T. Tyler	QB Spangler
C. Peacock	HB Boell
D. Hansen	HB Trucks
O. Mooney	PB Kennedy
