Third Round Of Bridge Tournney Eliminates Numerous Contestants

The Independent - sponsored bridge tournament is going into its third round this week, eliminating more and more campus would-be bridge champions, until the end of the final third round when the remaining two couples will battle for the championship title. It is hoped that the contest will finish next week and the winners will be announced then.

All proceeds of the tournament are for the V-E drive.

The event, which began three weeks ago, had thirty-four couples at the start. A prize is being offered to the winning players.

Unexpected Horse-show Adds to Spring Fiesta; Authentic Breton Songs Presented In Concert

Along with the scheduled events of the Fiesta, Saturday, came a spontaneous act and some hebbled-the-news incidentals.

Saturday afternoon when Sam Burchers was helping conduct the pony rides, another cowboy appeared on the scene, bringing his own horse, a beautiful filly. It seems he saw the parade in town and decided to come out and look the Fiesta over. Apparently it met with his approval, for he then conducted a show of his own with his filly, a wonderfully trained animal, who did all kinds of tricks for the crowd which gathered around. Next he passed around the hat, collected a tidy sum, presented it to add to the Fiesta earnings, gave Sam his card, and quietly left, taking his filly with him.

Though many people may not have realized it, lovely Carol Kirkpatrick who sang at the concert at the French House in the afternoon was authentically costumed, and even more authentic were her songs, which were taught her by Madame Grand. One of the numbers was especially important because the composer was Madame Grand's mother.

Everyone from the Rollins Family was out to help the goings-on Saturday. If they didn't run a booth or perform, they sided them in many other ways. Late that night after the big event of the evening, the fire diving, Prof. W. A. Wattle invited the performers of the act to his home for a midnight snack. After the fire-diving ordeal, it was both relaxing and reviving.

Profits Of Individual Groups Established By Coming Week

Beginning with the parade through Winter Park and Orlando at 10 a.m. Saturday morning and continuing from 2 p.m. until midnight, the much-awaited Rollins Fiesta provided entertainment and work for the students and over 2000 dollars for the college V-E Drive.

Piling into decorated convertibles, sedans, and a truck, students rode with a police escort through the main streets blaring their horns and shouting to advertise the event. From 11 a.m. until the opening in the afternoon, students finished setting up their equipment and prizes in the booths.

King and Queen

Highlight of the Fiesta, Theta, sponsored King and Queen contest, elected KA candidate Jim Robinson and Theta's Betty Kerckhoff to the royal positions. The couple were crowned Saturday evening at the end of the race, which had been going on since Thursday.

Thornton Wilder Gives Inspiration To Class Of Creative Writers

Thornton Wilder, Pulitzer prize winner, last Thursday gave an hour and a half's worth of advice to Rollins' student authors when he addressed Professor Edwin Granberry's creative writing class in Woolson house.

The author of Our Town and Bridge of San Luis Rey urged his audience to "write buckets" and to carry a notebook in which impressions could be jotted down. He also warned the student writers against writing solely for an audience.

A discussion period followed in which Mr. Wilder answered questions concerning such modern authors as James Joyce and Gertrude Stein.

In addition to the student booths, other Fiesta attractions were the KA Minstrel show, Delta Chi pony rides and Alpha Phi Alpha boat rides, the Baby show, Bob Boyle's "stump the expert" drawing for the Independents, the Pi Phi Fashion show, and the following sponsored by the Rollins Women's Association: the concert given at the French House, Woolson House English Tea, the card party at Cloverleaf, the book stall, and the chicken dinner at Beansery. Student fire-diving at the lakefront and the dance in the patio closed the evening.

Fraternity, sorority and Independent group booths were the following:

Ice Cream and Candy Sale, Gamma Phi.

Three Rollins Students Merit Notable Awards

Announcement was made this week of awards made to three Rollins' students. Janet Haas has been awarded a teaching fellowship in psychology at Duke University and Hannah France a graduate scholarship in sociology at Brown University. Both girls are members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong announced at the concert given at the French House during the Fiesta, Saturday, April 19, that the Strong Foundation has awarded to Michael Mallis, Rollins student, a voice scholarship enabling him to study this summer in New York with Prof. Willem Van Gieson.

Michael Mallis, a voice major, is a pupil of Miss Mabel Riteh. His home is New Haven, Connecticut.

College Writers Given Chance To Win Award In National Contest

Master Brewers Association of America has announced a nationwide book review contest among college students.

Every student entering the contest must write a book review of The Practical Brewer, the first complete book on brewing written for laymen and workers in the industry alike. This book, a gift of the United States Brewers Foundation, can be obtained at the library.

The rules of the contest are:

1. The review must appear in the Sandspur.
2. Two copies of the Sandspur containing the review must be sent to: Book Review Editor, Master Brewers Association of America, 803 Security Building, St. Louis 2, Missouri.
3. Entries must be postmarked before midnight May 1, 1947.
4. The writer of the best review will receive $200, of the second best, $100.

Unidentified Corpse Taken From Lake Virginia Responsible For Presence Of F.B.I. On Campus

The body of an alleged male, of indeterminate age, was dragged from the waters of Lake Virginia early this morning by two students who said they had been fishing. The corpse is, at the moment, unidentified.

The police surgeon who examined the body stated that he was unable to fix the time of death with any accuracy, but after a cursory examination hazarded the opinion that death may have taken place at any time within the last sixty years.

There was an incision over the fifth rib, which could have been made by a butcher knife according to the surgeon's report, also a bullet hole in the right temple and a cord tightly tied about the neck.

Dr. Sangrado, the police surgeon, declared that death may have been caused either by stabbing, shooting or strangulation. No definite statement, however, could be made at this time.

Since the body was unclothed it is impossible to find a motive for the killing at present. But it is thought that the victim may have been killed owing to gang warfare, he may have been a fugitive from justice, or a critic escaping from the fury of one of his victims.

Jealousy cannot be excluded from the possible list of motives, nor can robbery, mayhem, or other criminal emotions.

Feelings on the campus are running high at this time of the year, and another possibility which must be taken into consideration is that the dead man committed suicide, yielding up his life because his girl friend had dated a member of the X club.

Everyone on the campus is under suspicion and each student has a plain clothes detective following him or her. The F.B.I. and the CID of Scotland Yard are to be consulted in the case.

No Tears Please

New Couples:

Dub Palmer and Virginia Hutchinson have made their debut recently and are doing very nicely.

Pete Sholley and Nancy Hodges are still in that undecided stage—hope they see the light.

Pat Van Sickle and Ed Copeland have weathered the difficulties of the first week—more power to them. What do you say Gus?

Clyde Stevens is wearing Lee Dolive's bracelet; it's a new twist but they seem happy.

Warmed Over:

Off again on again Marks is once more going with M. Hoffman. They have that look in their eyes.

Jo Harder and Bert Mullens are making another attempt at it all. From all outward appearances things are all set.

Brock and Lee are together again and it sure looks good.

Bob Humphries and Lois Hardy, after a year's absence, are really in there pitching.

Question of the Week:

How long can Bill Custer get away with it?

Is Ailene "Teddy" Flynn eluding Joe Popeck or is she playing a little game of cat and mouse?

Will some one break down and have a date with Parker Simpson?

Who was the woman in Daytona that gave Sam Burchers the Ten dollars? What a man!!!!

Why does Ginny Phipps keep the door locked when she is working late? (That is, in the Sandspur Office.)

What is the relationship between Paul Meredith, the Rollins Girls and the Ft. Pierce gal?

Open Letter

Students of Rollins:

This year there have been too many cases of library books "A.W.O.L." Many of you have had the very annoying experience of trying to complete an assignment and of being unable to do so because the book you wanted was missing and could not be found. Sometimes this is due to mistakes made by the library staff. Books do get misplaced on the shelves and mistakes are made in filing library records. More often, and particularly in the case of books reserved for class use, it has been due to the thoughtless action of selfish students who have taken books from the library without charging them. These students thus had plenty of time to complete their assignments while their classmates had no chance at all to do so. During the winter term one professor had us put eight copies of a certain book on his reserve shelf. Six of the eight copies were donated to the library by veterans. By the end of the term all but three copies of the book had disappeared.

There are also careless students who lose library books or who do not return them on the date due.

These students are almost as unfair to their colleagues as those who walk off with a book without charging it.

Please remember that the books in the library collection are bought, catalogued, and put on the shelves because you need them. In a way they are your property, although we hope all of you will not interpret that statement as literally as some students have. We librarians, people whose job it is to give you the best possible library service, appeal to the sense of fairness and good judgment which has always characterized Rollins students. We ask you to sign a charge for every book or magazine you take from the library. We ask you to return library books when they are due. We ask you not to mutilate magazines, and newspapers belonging to the library simply because you have taken fancy to a cartoon or because you want a copy of a certain article. If the members of the library staff are to give efficient library service to every student, we must have the co-operation of every student. Please do your part.

HORACE A. TOLLEFSON,
Librarian.

Question: What do you think of a skip day for upperclassmen?

Kenneth Newbern: I hate to be an old fogey, but—

Connie Hubbard: It makes me mad. There are three freshmen in my English class. If the others hadn't shown up, we could have gone.

Anonymous: Ask me something else sometime. I can't think of anything clever to say now.

Joan Leonard: Very juvenile.

Jeanne Scott: To tell the truth, I hadn't thought.

Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and expensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the Sandspur.

A Job Well Done

The success of last week's Rollins Spring Fiesta was the result of well organized planning on the part of everyone who contributed his time and effort to the festival. It showed that all the independent, sorority, and fraternity groups could cooperate and turn out a nicely styled piece of work.

Within six hours the student body, with the indispensable help of Mr. Cartwright and his assistants, set up gaily decorated booths and tents, strung colored lights above the stands and converted the campus into a typical setting for a fiesta.

The Fiesta, besides earning money for the Victory Expansion Drive, brought the Rollins family together and made us realize that we could work as a whole toward a worthy goal.

Faculty Presentation Contributes Greatly To Expansion Program

The Finger of Fate, V-E Drive play presented by members of the Rollins faculty April 17 and 18, brought nearly 4000 dollars to add to the campaign in its two night run. First-nighters, "patrons" of the play brought tickets for five dollars and up. Auctions during both nights also brought the total up, when such articles as a cabbage bouquet, an original drawing by Bruce Bairdfer, a signed copy of Thornton Wilder's Woman of Andros, and an embroidered dress were bid for by the audience.

Special between-act entertainment was an added feature of the melodrama, with actors of the play and others presenting a variety of numbers. Boogie the villain, cheering the hero and heroine, and tossing peanuts at the actors were the audience's participation in the performance.

Gently Down The Stream

Way last fall we had freshman cut day, and I wrote about it. I said that it was too bad the custom had begun after I had stopped being a freshman. Now I learn, a trifle belatedly, that there is such a thing as upperclassman skip day. It is a wonderful day not to go to classes, warm, blue skies, etc. I just wish somebody had bothered to tell me I didn't have to go. Oh well, I have one uncuttable class today anyhow.

Actually, I was told last night. Unfortunately, the source was just about the most unreliable in college, the W. Emery-H. Davis combination, and I refused to believe them, never having even heard of an Upperclassman cut day. I think I'll have a Davis cut day. It's the only way the thing will work for me. Sudden thought: I wonder what it would be like if there was a faculty cut day??

Now, Saturday was a fine day. I got a great deal done, one way or another, very little of it connected with the fiesta though. I did contribute a nickel to a slot machine I found, but nothing happened. David Gleason, the young son of the Art Instructor, was on hand, and he inquired, "What's that?" "That is a slot machine," I replied sadly. "What's it for?" he asked me. I explained, "You mean you put money in there and usually nothing comes out?" said David. "That's right." "Then it's a gyp," he announced and walked off. That boy is going to be a president when he grows up.

One of the big occupational hazards in writing this column lies in the fact that it has to be written three days before it is published. Every now and then I turn out a dandy paragraph only to have the circumstances suddenly change after I have handed it in. Then there is frantic scrambling to eliminate what has suddenly become a monstrosity. Back at the beginning of school I wrote a wistful piece one Sunday about how much I missed the bugler and how nice it would be to have one. Bright and early Monday morning (that is, the morning was bright and early; I was just early) I put it in the mailbox, went over to Knowles went up the steps and the bugle blew. Note! This happens again and again. The opposite occurs when I arrive at the office quite absolutely barren of inspiration. I would sit gloomily at the typewriter trying to think of something, anything, while Joan, who at such times was just TOO cheerful would say, "I'm not worried; you always think of something". At times I think that is just the trouble. Wonder what words of inspiration Ginny will have for me in such sloughs of despondence.

The other day, with nothing better to do, I explored Corrin Hall. Construction is proceeding, with plastering going on, tiling put in the bathrooms. One of the rooms has a shower instead of a bathtub. The big question is—of course, what color are they going to paint it? Some people are so interested that they are betting about it. These are people in Fox, who are going to have to look at it.

If anybody knows of a spare apartment next fall, the Walkers-to-be, Jim and Rosie, would like to know about it.

I guess the fiesta was a success. I saw Cowboy Sam lugubriously leading hawsees around the hawse-shoe. The Independent men had a rat race or something; betting on which hole a rat would vanish into. When I looked the rat had just looked into the Delta Chi opening and gone away. I know just how he felt. Reedy Talton was expertly managing a crap game and my brother, who has nailed apple boxes together all his life, put on

Jim Robinson: Edie is just like a sister to me, I tell her all my dirty jokes.

Bill Custer: But look at the fun I have.

Buddy McBryde: Where did she go after that?

R. Salamanea: She just wants my Philosophy notes. (Bragging or complaining Teddy Bear?)

M. Talton: I'd take M. Miller in any way, shape or form.

Dave McKeithan: You can't say that.

Spring Breaks Upon Snake Holler When Judge Van Hoos Turns Sheriff Of Sasparilla County

By DIXIE REDDING

Winter creeps over Snake Holler. Oje man Reddins stored enough supplies so he won't have to come out till spring. All the stills are closed for the winter. Over the woodlands and over the fields silently and slowly descended the snow. One small stream of smoke ascended from Paw Reddins' cabin; it wove its way through the trees and then up and up.

Across the valley old Judge Van Hoos sits and watches the curl of smoke rising from Snake Holler.

"Spring's a'comin'," says he, "an I'm a'goin' to git 'um; ever danged one of 'um sittin' up there just a'waitin' fer spring to break, then there'll be so blamed much smoke a'comin' from them stills hit'll look lak all hell a'bellin' over. Forty years I've failed but I tole cussin' Alvy up to the saw mill to make thirty-six pine coffins, one for each one uv' them danged bootleggers."

One morning a little bird perched himself on a limb and said, "spring's here." The dogwood heard him; the redbud and the elm heard him; the sugar-maple heard him, and the grass heard him. Paw Reddin rolled over and listened; Judge Van Hoos changed his underwear; ole' man Flannley gave himself a haircut. Spring must be here.

A few days later the Judge looked up and counted fifty-nine curls of smoke comin' from Snake Holler.

"The first run-off I'll be in 'bout a week, an thar won't be a sober sole from Trammels Junction to Wattles Pool Room up in Pulasky. By gummed they'll be sober damned soon after 'lection."

Up in the Holler Paw Reddin's got things runnin' like clock work. He says, "son, run down to ya step-cusin' Flannley's barber-shop an ask 'im whut month 'tis. 'Lec-tion time's first of April, an ask-im 'ffin he ain't got a 'xtra Sears n' Robuck catalog; the corn cribs empty."

The election seemed as if it was going to be a hot race. Besides Judge Van Hoos there were two more candidates. On the morning of the election the other two candidates were found hanging by a grape vine down on the other side of Dawson's Dam, and each with a hole in his head the size of a quarter. The law being that the living candidate with the most votes would fill the office as long as he lived. When he ceased living there would be a new election the following April. Until that time the office would be filled by his nearest relative, if no relatives were left the post-master would fill the office. On this April first Judge Van Hoos' being the only living candidate, became Sheriff of Sasparilla County.

Besides the Reddins and Van Hooses there were two more small clans in that county. Their names, I think, were the Potters and the Poyes. As soon as the election news got round these two clans pulled stake and moved to Georgia. Paw Reddin blew his fox horn and all the Reddins for fifty miles came a runnin'.

In the two divisions, novice and non-novice, the following groups will play: men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, women's doubles, and mixed doubles.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the physical education office.

Orlando Rotary Clubs Observe Charter Night During Meeting Here

Approximately 350 members of the Rotary Clubs of Orlando, Winter Garden, Sanford, Apopka, Eustis, and Leesburg were present for charter night and an intercity Rotary meeting at the college Thursday evening, April 24. A fellowship dinner was held in the Beanyery at 7:15, followed by the charter ceremony at the Annie Russell theatre. The charter, which was given to the new Winter Park organization, was presented by District Governor Al Geiger of St. Petersburg. Principal speaker was President-elect of International Rotary Mr. S. Kendrick Guernsey of Jacksonville. Dr. John McSweeney of Greenville, South Carolina, spoke on the "Spirit of Rotary."

President Holt welcomed the members and Mr. Paul Stine of the Orlando club presided. Presentations were made by Mr. Milt Vergewe of Orlando, and singing was led by Mr. Charles Morrison of Sanford.

ROLLINS SPORTS ON CAMPUS

Rollins Nine Drops Two Games To Miami Team Over Weekend

Travel To Savannah This Weekend For Two Games

Intramural Softball ended the first round of play this week with the K As in the lead with the X Club running a close second. The Faculty made their debut into the sports world last week when they played the X Club, as seen by the picture on the right, showing Renea Smith tossing for the Profs and Slugger Ottis Mooney getting set for a hefty swing.

The girls' R Club, composed of all girls lettermen, is about the only picture that seems to cover all the sports that the waker sex of Rollins participate in. Looing four of the girls this year through graduation, some new additions can be expected in the near future. The four seniors are LeDuc, Wright, Embry and Rosenquist. Reading from left to right: Seated: Sally Wright, Norma Depperman, Ann LeDuc Betty Kheerhoff, Nancy Morrison and Rosemary Buck. Standing: Coach Alice Minott, Shirley Fry, Betty Rosenquist and Anslie Embry.

Fencing returned to the campus this year when Tony Consoli, got permission to instruct it from the administration. Running into its third term, the latest word from Tony is that he is starting to get a few welts from the swords of his students. In the above picture Hal Tennis and Jimmy Walker show how it is done.

Last weekend proved to be a disastrous one for the Rollins baseball team. Playing the University of Florida both Friday and Saturday, Joe Justice's men couldn't come anywhere near the hitting strength they are supposed to have.

Getting only four hits in each game, the Rollins nine seemed to tear apart at the seams in the ninth inning of each one of the tilts. In Friday's game Florida was leading by a 2 and 1 margin going into the ninth when the Rollins pitcher, Jim Cavello, ran into a wild streak and before the dust had cleared the score was 7 to 1.

Saturday's game was even harder to take. Behind the superb pitching of Clyde Stevens, our men were leading 1 to 0 going into the ninth. Three walks, a fielders choice, and a hit gave Florida three runs and the game ended with Florida getting a 3 to 1 win.

This week the Rollins nine travels to Savannah, Georgia, to play the University of Georgia (Savannah Branch) in two games. No announcement has been made as to who will be the starting pitchers but it looks like Lefty Dick Sauerbrun and Clyde Stevens will get the calls.

As of last week's games and excluding the practice games with the Orlando Senators and Orlando Air Base, these are the batting averages:

MORE SPORTS

With a record of four wins and one loss, the Rollins tennis team has served notice that they aren't to be taken lightly. Losing only to the University of Miami, Eddie Copeland says his boys are out to revenge that loss when they travel to Miami for a return match. In the above picture reading from left to right: Bob McKennan, Billy Windham, Norm Copeland, Enrique Buse, Gus Peeples and Ed Burke. Jim Robinson wasn't available when the picture was taken.

Last Friday afternoon the Rollins tennis team made it two straight over Florida Southern College by downing the Southern netters by a 9-0 score.

Winning their fourth victory of the year the Copeland coached team had an easy time and at times even gave games away.

The results: (Rollins players first).

Singles: Enrique Buse defeated Edgar Tolle 6-3, 6-0; Norman

Copeland defeated Calvin Collins 6-2, 6-2; Gus Peeples defeated Clem Hoppe 6-4, 10-8; Eddie Burke defeated Marshall Feld 6-1, 6-1; Billy Windham defeated Bob Patrick 6-0, 6-1; and Jim Robinson defeated Julian Burke 6-1, 6-3.

Doubles: Buse and Peeples defeated Collins and Tolle 6-0, 6-1; Copeland and Windham defeated Burke and Patrick 6-1, 6-3; and Robinson and Burke defeated Feld and Hoppe 6-0, 6-2.

Delta Chis Win Crew Cup With Win In Run-off

Two Foot Margin Separates Crews At Finish Line

Last Friday afternoon the crew finals were held at Lake Maitland between the Delta Chi's and Independents. With each crew having

The Delts, stroked by Dixon Yard and the Indies, stroked by Fouts Brumley, both got off to a fast start. At the quarter mark there was very little difference in the distance of the two shells and it stayed like that right down to the finish line. Eventually, after the best race that has been held to date, the Delta Chi's nosed out the Independents by two feet.

The race was just four seconds off the record that the Delts had posted in last weeks race, also against the Indies, of 3 minutes and 31 seconds.

Coach Bradley is now looking forward to his first varsity race since the war and it can be said that he is far from being enthusiastic about Rollins' chances against the Washington and Lee Crew. Although he has some good men in Yard, Brumley, Calvin Beard, and Tom Brocklehurst, to mention a few, Brad wants it remembered that only one of the men, Dixon Yard, has ever had any experience. Don't expect too much from the varsity crew this year, but by next year the crew may be able to give a good account of itself.

Actually, all Brad wants is some experience on his shells and as soon as he gets that, watch out.
