Dr. Holt Announces The Contributors For Magazine

"Contributors" to the 21st issue of the Animated Magazine to be published next Sunday, have been announced by President Hamilton Holt.

Among the "contributors" will be A. K. Rowsell, director of public relations of the Pittsburgh Pirates and father of student Ken Rowsell; and Roy Crane, originator of "Buzz Sawyer" comic strip.

Also featured in the "table of contents" will be Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, U. S. Senator Claude Pepper, Sarah Gibson Blanding, President of Vassar College, Thomas J. Dodd, U. S. prosecutor at the Nuremberg trials, Dr. Alberto Lleras, director general of Pan American Union, Soo Yong Huary, monologist, John R. Mott, Nobel Peace Prize Winner, and S. Kendrick Guernsey, president of Rotary International.

Dr. Holt stated that proceeds from this year's magazine will be used to assist worthy Rollins students who need financial aid.

Reserved tickets for the "living magazine" can be obtained at Annie Russell theatre daily from 2 to 5 p. m. through Saturday. General admission will be free.

Rowswell became director of public relations of the Pittsburgh Pirates, when it was purchased by Bing Crosby, Tom Johnson of Orlando and others more than a year ago. Crane, who spends his winters in Orlando, is making his second appearance on the "living magazine". He is the originator of "Buzz Sawyer" and "Wash Tubbs".

Gen. Wainwright, now retired from the army, is in private business in San Antonio, Texas. Pepper, Florida's senior senator, has been active in international affairs since becoming a member in the upper house of Congress.

Theta's and X Club Roll Rose Ball Into Motion Saturday

The Rose Ball, to be sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta and X Club, is Saturday night from 9 until 12, February 21, at the Dubsread Country Club. It is to be a formal dance, but dark suits are acceptable.

Last year, Theta established the policy of their fraternity's giving the Founders' Day dance. This year, and for years to come, the dance is to be known as the Rose Ball. The girls attending are asked to help with the decorations by appearing in evening gowns the color of roses. Remember roses are pink, American beauty, fuchsia, white, peach, and yellow. If you don't have a rose colored dress, come anyway!

All those visiting Rollins this weekend, besides all students and faculty, are invited to attend the Rose Ball.

Sullivan's Memorial Dedication Will Be Held Next Monday

The Sullivan Memorial building, given in the honor of the late Algernon Sydney Sullivan, will be dedicated Monday, February 23 at 12:30 p. m., following the mid-winter Convocation in Knowles Memorial Chapel.

At the dedication ceremony of this attractive one story building of Mediterranean architecture, a plaque bearing the following inscription will be unveiled:

"The Algernon Sydney Sullivan House—Here, in common fellowship and for brotherly communion are welcome those of every hope, philosophy, and faith that opens their hearts to the presence and influence of a loving God and which draws them with high resolve towards their goal for a perfect and enduring life for themselves and all mankind."

This inscription was written by George Hammond Sullivan.

The Sullivan Memorial will be used as a meeting place for cultural groups.

Mims Presents First Lecture Of Return Series

Dr. Edwin Mims, professor emeritus of English and nationally renowned lecturer, returned to Rollins yesterday to give the first of another series of lectures. Speaking on "Optimism and Pessimism", he presented a clear interpretation of the two points of view to a student and faculty audience in the Annie Russell theatre.

Dr. Mims, who was a visiting professor of English at Rollins during 1945-46, has been travelling over the country presenting his inspiring talks. Former head of the English department of Vanderbilt University, he is also the author of several books, the most recent of which is Great Writers As Interpreters of Religion. Last year, in Winter Park for the winter, he delivered five lectures during the Wednesday morning assembly periods, and attracted enthusiastic student audiences. It is by student demand that he is planning another series this term.

Yesterday's lecture will be followed by three more, also to be given on Wednesday mornings at 9:40. Their subjects are as follows: February 25, "Satire and Cynicism"; March 3, "Tragedy"; March 10, "The Christian Interpretation."

Patty Ann Jackson To Narrate Story

Miss Patty Ann Jackson has been chosen to be the narrator for a musical story, Tuby the Tuba, which the Junior League of Orlando is sponsoring Friday night. The story will be presented by the Orlando Civic Orchestra at the Memorial Junior High School.

ODK To Initiate New Members, First Since War

The Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national leadership honor society which has been dormant on the Rollins campus during the war years, will become active Saturday, Feb. 21st when it will hold formal initiation of new student members at the St. Francis Chapel.

The purpose of the organization, which corresponds to the Order of the Libra for women, is to recognize men who have attained a high standard of leadership in collegiate activities, to encourage them to continue along this line, and to inspire others to strive for similar achievement.

In bringing together the most representative men in all phases of college life, the society helps mould the views of the institution of questions of local and inter-collegiate interest and enables the members of the faculty and student body to meet on a basis of mutual understanding and helpfulness.

The membership of the society is composed of male students, four members of the active faculty and four alumni. Associate membership is granted to those who have been retired from previous active membership or by election.

The qualification for eligibility in the society are character, scholarship and intelligence, service and leadership in campus life, fellowship, and consecration to democratic ideals. In the selection of students, the complete college record of each candidate will be considered on the following: Scholarship, Athletics, Social and Religious Affairs, Publications, Speech, Music and Dramatic Arts. The candidate must have a total of 18 points, with a minimum of three or a maximum of eight points in at least three of these fields.

The Sandspur will announce in the next issue the names of the students initiated Saturday. Faculty members who are Omicron Delta Kappa members are: Rees Hamilton Holt; Dean Arthur Enyart, W. A. Wattles, Alexander Waite, E. T. Brown, Riley Jones, Jack McDowall, Alfred Hanna, and William Melcher.

Farrens Elected Head Chapel Usher For This Year

At its meeting last February eighth, the Chapel Staff unanimously elected Gerry Farrens head usher for the balance of this school year. This was done in appreciation of the faithful service Gerry has been performing as an usher in the Chapel.

Harry Baldwin was chosen as his assistant and alternate.

William Shelton Wins Award In Reeves Oratorical Contest

Rollins Players Make "Glass Menagerie" Memorable Play

"The Glass Menagerie" is an unusually appealing piece of theatre, telling a warm, human story in little sketches, while skillfully refraining from a lapse into saccharin sentimentality. The characters are a remote, but understandable species, dissatisfied with their unfortunate present, living in the past and in contemplation of the future. The play forsakes realism for an atmosphere of memory, aided by an overpowering mood, created by the poetic dialogue, dim lighting, the haunting refrain of the theme, the blues music which comes waiving from the dance hall across the alley, the narrator who shares his recollections.

Nina Oliver Dean is fascinating in her memorable interpretation of Amanda. Her perfect understanding of the role and her ability to seemingly live the part result in a characterization that would be hard to top in the most professional of theatres. She is the proud, though pathetic Amanda... somewhat shabby, but always queenly... a former Southern belle, recalling days gone by with their gay parties, jonquils, and gentlemen callers. Deserted by her husband, "a telephone man who fell in love with long distance," she lives with her dreamer of a son, and her shy daughter in a St. Louis alley apartment.

Sidney Lanier plays Tom, Amanda's son, and narrator of the piece. Tom also has memories, but not such pleasant ones. He tells of being suffocated by family responsibilities while longing to travel in search of adventure. He finally escapes the dingy home, the job he despises, to discover that he couldn't leave his conscience behind. Lanier far surpasses the excellence of previous performances in his portrayal of the traveler haunted by the past, who steps back into his former surroundings to relate his story. As the narrator, he depicts the effect of time spent brooding and years of attempting escape. Then in the flashback, he becomes a part of the action, and portrays Tom with an

Monday's Convocation Celebrates Founding Of Rollins College

The annual Mid-Winter Convocation will be held Monday, February 23rd at 9:30 in the Knowles Memorial Chapel.

This convocation is in observance of the 63rd anniversary of the founding of Rollins.

The program will include addresses and the conferring of honors.

William Shelton, of Asheville, North Carolina, was awarded a fifty dollar prize and Stuart B. James of Lackawaxen, Pennsylvania, received honorable mention at the annual Reeves Oratorical Contest held in Knowles Memorial Chapel Monday, February 16, as the opening event of Founders' Week. Their speeches were selected on the basis of composition and delivery as the best of the six ten-minute talks.

Shelton, speaking on "Is College Life a Life Apart?" emphasized the fact that it is the purposes of the individuals concerned rather than the college itself which determines whether or not college life becomes an ivory-tower existence. We have tended to draw too sharp a dichotomy between college and life, said he, illustrating his point by quoting the high school principal who explained to his students that the school's main problem arose because "we must prepare some of you for life, and some for college." This typifies the general attitude today, and to a certain extent such a distinction may be drawn. To those who come to college to specialize in fine arts, for example, college life becomes a life apart—but they want and need it to be. On the other hand, those specializing in business, law or medicine, and teaching find a life more nearly related to their future activity. The real lack in colleges manifests itself to those who are searching for the meaning of life. To them, college life is an existence hedged about with requirements, offering no answer to their questions. To the extent that it fails such people, Shelton concluded, college life is indeed a life apart.

"What is Un-Americanism?" was Mr. James' topic. Stating that Knowles Hall, the science building on our campus, is a sad place for our science majors to carry on their work. All the rooms used as class rooms and laboratories are filthy. The tables are thick with dust and chalk powder and never show signs of having been cleaned. It is true that all the class buildings on campus usually need a good scrubbing, but Knowles is the most obvious. Scientific experiments, which should be carried on in surroundings free from any contamination, are here done in the midst of grime. In a school such as this where the equipment is not sufficient to give our students all the advantages they need, it is a shame that we cannot give them at least cleanliness.

There are many people around school who need money and are willing to work for it. Since we were able to air-condition the new administration building, it seems logical that we are also able to pay a salary to anyone who would clean Knowles Hall. A small amount of work is all that would be necessary provided it was done regularly. We think it would be a great benefit to Rollins if this matter were attended to as soon as possible.

Profile

William Hanna Rinck first broke into the limelight in the heretofore unheard of village of Memphis, Tennessee, where he led a very happy and normal life lolling on the levee and tending still (part-time), as was the habit of many a youngster caught in the throes of pre-kindergarten days.

Little Willie, always bright with figures, was elected to act in an advisory capacity to the grammar school teacher at the tender age of seven. Mamma and Pappa Rinck, sensing a genius in their midst, hauled down the "Stars and Bars" and migrated upriver to the hostile city of Detroit, to further our hero's education. Quickly becoming adjusted to "Yankee" mannerisms and methods of "playing them close", he whizzed through high school.

Now taking note that he was quite a big boy for his age, Willie decided to utilize his poundage in the friendly and competitive sport of pro football. Soon discovering that two opposing tackles cannot occupy the same space at the same time he abandoned the game and went to work for a Ford named Henry, where he helped keep the CIO front quiet.

William was next selected by a philanthropic uncle to tour Africa, Scotland, Sicily and England. After reading in the London Times of some sort of D-Day celebration on the quaint Normandy coast, Willie decided to attend. Soon detecting that he was allergic to the soft, heavy, ductile, bluish-grey metal (commonly known as lead) that was prevalent in the area, our young tourist wended his way homeward. (It really took four years.)

With this carefree caprice over the adolescent stage past, Willie acquired a thirst—a deep thirst for knowledge. Finding climatic conditions in the Rollins area suitable for operations, he settled down to serious study, where he is continually gaining honors.

Student Council representative, member of Phi Society, Key Society, Chapel Committee, Head Usher, Who's Who, Panel Discussion, Economic Conference, World Federalist, to name but a few. Ah! this seems so far from those days on the levee, but not really; Bill has two friends that keep Tennessee close to his heart: Dixie Redding, popular man about town and virtuoso of the glockenspiel, and Jack Daniels, former heavyweight, that still packs a punch.

Not being content with being an honor student and letting things go at that, Mrs. Rinck's pride and QUESTION: What do you think is happening to the Conference Plan? Have your own teaching methods been altered in the last few years?

Dr. France: At no time during my nearly twenty years at Rollins have I deviated from the practise of relying, to the fullest extent possible, on class discussion. I consider individual conferences one of the most important parts of our system of individualized instruction. Because of the increase in the size of my classes, the discussion method is often more difficult and the individual conferences fewer. To an extent, I have overcome this by holding frequent group conferences in the large classes, especially in the Upper Division.

Dr. Waite: The Conference Method of teaching is essentially an attitude that, the subject matter is interesting, meaningful, and useful in its own right, and that students should be motivated by the desire to learn because of the value of the learning. The Conference Method works with classes as large as they now are when students assume a fair measure of responsibility for the success of the class, realizing that ultimately the class is for their benefit and is conducted in their interest. I constantly stress the understanding of ideas as contrasted with mastery of content.

Dr. Clarke: Rollins has never really practiced the ideal conference plan, in which the student seeks the teacher for guidance. Most students will not take the initiative. Since 1930 in sociology classes we have consistently had little lecturing and much discussion. Each student has each term several personal conferences. With the teacher's help he may determine his accomplishment and his difficulties and may learn and explore ways of self-improvement. Teachers can be fully effective only with eager students.

Dr. Hanna: Ideally, there should be as many conference plans at Rollins as there are instructors, since each instructor is expected to direct procedures according to his own preparation, personality, and understanding of the needs of the student. The method I find most effective is an application of those basic procedures the student is destined to encounter in life: 1, the process of gathering information. 2, the process of understanding the information gathered. 3, using the information acquired and comprehended. The set up in the classroom is simple; the achievement of the procedure is extremely difficult. I find it is best carried out by student reports followed by discussions, both of which are guided by the instructor. This method also provides practical training in expression, both oral, and written. An essential part of this plan is the tutorial held at frequent intervals. I invariably change minor, but never major methods.

Miss Packham: The conference represents a relationship of mutual understanding and cooperation which can be developed only when there is a desire on both sides. A responsible and truth-seeking attitude needs to be shown by the student in order that the professor can be a guide instead

Dear Editor:

"If you had given your all . . . which would please you most? . . . a suitable plaque placed in a reasonable place . . . (or) the out-dated Honor Roll on the horseshoe . . ."

Neither.

Had I died, I should have liked a remembrance of some use to those still living.

Had I been from Rollins, I should have preferred that the money now proposed for a plaque be subscribed instead for the "Book a Year Club," or a scholarship fund, or the Dean's Fund.

It may be argued that simply allocating the money to one of the above uses is no assurance that it will be of benefit. True. Means are neither good or bad, and can be subverted to bad ends. But it is equally true that the absence of means precludes the possibility of achieving good ends.

Would not the money for the plaque be better spent in expanding the library or helping a student to stay in school?

Sincerely,
Jim Wray.

"The Cares That Infest The Day"

There are also cares that infest the night—just ask any Rollins girl. Serenades are a fine custom around Rollins, one that has been kept when others have been discarded, but there's a good many girls on this campus who wish they had never heard of singing. A group of three boys haunted "sorority row" from four a.m. until about five, Friday night. Their voices were loud enough to wake up most of the girls in the houses where they stopped. The night watchman, who made his nightly visit to the Pi Phi and Kappa houses while the jolly men of song were between the houses, did not disturb them—they went right on with their songs until the police cruised by. It seems the night watchman must have called out the militia. This eased the situation long enough to let the girls almost get back to sleep and for the police to give up the chase . . . and then the boys came back again for another half hour of melody.

As most people know by now, Jim McMenemy resigned his position as sports editor of the Sandspur. With his resignation came a list of suggestions to improve the paper which were printed in last week's issue. We, the trial editors, are grateful for any constructive criticism, especially when accompanied by active support. We do not like to make excuses or try to argue with Jim, but there are a few reasons why we cannot do all the things he suggests. True enough, we do have an office, but it is poorly located so that few people will walk far enough to bring us their work. We find that most people go through the Center and so will drop their articles in the campus mail, even if they won't walk to our humble cubbyhole. If we could have a convenient office nearer the center of activities, we would undoubtedly have a better response from the students.

Another suggestion was that

Tar Dust

After peering into dark corners, and listening at transoms, the Tar Duster this week filled two little black note books, some of which he will pass on to you.

Into the Tar Duster's file titled "Brand New Couples" fall the names of Louie and Jerry, Bob Draughan and Vickie Jordis, Mary Haley and Andy, Ellie Holdt and Jim Wray. Then too, Terry Weaver and Fred Taylor seem to have decided that the roles they played in "The Male Animal" could very pleasantly be transferred to real life.

Though Bob Boyle is officially majoring in art, it would appear that he is majoring in tennis players. Contact Shirley, Nancy, Doris, and Norma for verification.

After a brisk walk down the loggia, T. D. expanded his ever-expanding file on the Steadiest of Steadies. They read (from Pugsley to Corrin): Ann and Hall, Freddie S. and Bill Koch, newly-pinned Willa and Dick, Tony Eastwood and Jim Martin, Olga and Warren, Dee and Milton, and Peter Van Meter and Marion Miller.

Back on campus Sunday night sunburned after the X Club week-end, but happy were Martha Conwell and Hymie, Bev Burkhardt and Dub, Rusty and Fish, Mickey Dean and Happy, Adeline and Art, Jan Chambers and Bud Dawson.

Celebrating Valentine's Day at the Kappa dance in Sanford were C. P. and Ed Brinson, Pat Warren and G. W., Alice and Pete Dye, Juanita Ault and John Shollenberger, Carolyn Alfred and Pete Fay, Nan Morgan and Dick Saurbrun.

So were Jan Ott and Phil Howland, Claudia and Clyde Kelly, Mick Heywood and Harriet Fineberg, Ginger Brooks and Jupe, Petie Rehm and Bob Fitzwater.

What was the main interest out at the Flamingo for Bill C. and Harry L. last week-end.

H. L. Brumley Enters Race For Constable In Sanford Election

The following article appeared in the Sanford Herald on February ninth and will be of interest to all those who know Herman "Foots" Brumley.

HERMAN L. BRUMLEY REVEALS PLAN TO RUN FOR CONSTABLE

Herman L. "Foots" Brumley today announced his candidacy for constable in Justice of the Peace District No. 4 which includes voting precincts No. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 10.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brumley, he was born in Sanford, attended local schools and graduated in 1945 from Seminole High School. He played four years as tackle on the Celery-Fed football team, and once in the shadow of his own goal post grabbed the ball from an about-to-score opponent and raced the length of the field for a touchdown. He also starred at baseball and basketball.

He entered Army service in September, 1945, and was stationed at Camp Lee, Va. until October, 1946. Since then he has attended Rollins College where he played on football team and rows on the crew. During the past summer he served here as City recreational director. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

With the late State Highway Patrolman L. C. Beinder he made calls at night and recently has been assisting Sheriff P. A. Mero as a deputy. He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lehman and the late L. A. Brumley and Mrs. Brumley.

German Club Has Election And Party

The German Club met Friday night, February 13, at David Cramp's house in Orlando. New officers elected for the rest of the year were: president, Ed Violante; secretary, Dorothy Wolking; and cashier, David Cramp.

Lili Marlene was there in the form of Petie Rehm. Beer and pretzels were served and the group enjoyed German singing, games, and dancing.

Anyone interested in German is invited to these meetings. The club is trying to get the world famous Heilberg Quartet for the next meeting.

of a mere purveyor of knowledge. This conference relationship can be reached in large groups as well as in the small group and in individual conference.

Mr. Granberry: I devote no less time now than formerly to student conferences. With the increase in enrollment, however, I am able to see each student less often. This saddens me, for in my field of work, unless a student, by personal association, will help me brush aside the barrier of formality neither of us can receive what the other may have to give. The longer I teach, the more I realize that some of the most mutually profitable moments spent with students arise spontaneously from chance encounters on campus benches.

Dr. Melcher: I have attempted not to alter my teaching methods. However, with the large classes that I have had, in some cases running to 35, to carry out the conference plan in its fullest is difficult. I deem it of great importance to maintain such class enrollment that the Conference Plan can be carried out. When classes become large and the lecture method is followed, the students become inactive mentally, or many do, and the work is sure to suffer.

Dr. Starr: All I know is what I read in the Sandspur. I only work here. Is Rollins going to the dogs? In spite of the antics of certain excitable parties, I don't think so, yet. My reasons: the number of students who really want to learn, gripes about the amount of work required, the fact that one can now hear respectful references to Rollins in the North.

Kappa Dance Is Huge Success

MacDonald-Van Hoose Crowned "Sweethearts"

The Kappa Kappa Gammas gave a formal Valentine dance at the Mayfield Inn in Sanford last Saturday night. The ballroom was decorated with a white crepe paper ceiling, red and white balloons, and large red hearts which were surrounded by lacy edging. During the half hour intermission the guests were entertained by a floor show with Jack Redding acting as master of ceremonies. Mary Francis Hill and Mike Malis sang "Because You're You" and "Sweethearts" from Maytime, Beverly Hedrick sang "Temptation", Ingram Wilcox and his orchestra played "Ready for Freddie", and Robert Boyle, Robert Arbogast, and Chap McDonnell sang several comic songs. "Magnolia" McDonald and Cecil Van Hoose were crowned king and queen of sweethearts as the climax to the Alpha Phi drive for cardiac aid.

UPPER CRUST

The Gamma Phi Betas held another of their pleasant breakfasts in the patio on Sunday, February 15, 1948. It was attended by many who enjoyed the late breakfast.

Sylvia Verdin, Marjorie Reese, and Harriet Kirby spent the past weekend at Sarasota, Fla., visiting Tenna Head. Dave's turn is next week!

Last week Jo Gunter and Sam Pierce attended a "Forty-Niners Fair" in Mt. Dora where they gave 2 door prizes — a pig and a bottle of gin. Jo won't tell us which she won, but we haven't heard any pigs squealing in Strong Hall patio!

Mary Austin made another of her trips to Gainesville for the Military Ball with Chuck Whitmore.

Monica Egan and Elaine Miller celebrated Valentine's Day with Ed Rice and Carl Wells, respectively, at a weiner roast for 4! Sounds like fun, huh! But there were so many logs around, we hear!

The Alpha Phi's wish to thank everyone for his cooperation during their Cardiac Aid Drive. The total sum raised was $105.90, and this will all go to the National Cardiac Aid Society for the purpose of research.

The Pelican found the Alpha Phi's well-represented at the X Club week-end. Adefine and Art batted around as stars of the softball games until Happy "You 'n' Me" Clark lost the ball. Dottie and Jim Imand took time out to go to the Kappa dance with Sweethearts Cecil and Magnolia. Ginger and Jupe arrived early Sunday morning to join the rest of the gang.

Hoff got her Valentine in person when "Tres gay C. J." put in appearance Friday night for a week-end.

"Get Well" wishes go to Mrs. Campbell, Alpha Phi house mother, who is very sick and very much missed by all her chillun.

"Happy Birthdays" to Mona Morris and Lois Johnson, who had birthdays last week, and to Claudia Hutchinson, Rae Holden, and Dottie Aubinoe, who celebrate this week.

X Club at the Pelican was a great success, thirty-eight present. Besides the steady couples present there was Dawson and Jan Chambers, Fisher and Rusty, Palmer and Bev Burkhart, Barlett and Burgess, Jupe and Ginger, Inman and Dottie Boo, Grocke and Corky, Hymie and Connie, Jim Kelly was stag; also present were Buddy Tate and Billie Moore, and Pete Fay and Carolyn Alfred, least and least conspicuous was Hap Clark and Goose Dean.

The X Club open house will be Sunday after the Animated Magazine. The big event of the week will be the Theta-X Club dance Sat. at Dubs; the Thetas are working hard, should be a great dance.

Fisher and Dawson finally broke the ice, Fish was kinda Rusty after the weekend and Dawson quoted "I'm in love again". Kinda fast, huh?

Note via the press "Palmer had better watch his step," signed Grey.

Buddy Tate was caught examining the contents of an open book, the incident was explained by roommate Chizik—you have to pass to be initiated, you have to be initiated to get a pin, you have to possess a Pin before you can give it away—what powers hath a woman. The fact is Tate wants to study MOORE.

Bickley finally gave in and permitted Sniffels to hold her hand; what price bliss.

Lucy has a new portable vic, why don't you take a new record over on your next trip to the Pelican; she likes Sammy Kaye and The Three Suns and The Harmon-akettas.

Last week the Chi O's gave a shower for their bride-elect Carol Kirkpatrick. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was on hand to enjoy the games and refreshments.

Bev. B. and Jan C. went over to the Pelican this past weekend with Dub and Bud and came back with terrific sunburns.

One more Chi O has joined the ranks of Sigma Nu since Dick Knott presented Wills Michaels with his "white star" Saturday night. Maybe the theme of the Kappa dance, undoubtedly one of the best in a long time, produced the result.

Bright smiling faces were seen at the PI PHI house last weekend . . . bright with delight . . . or bright with de light of the sun is the question! The cheeriest, however were the faces of those returning from the Pelican . . . Bickley Hilliard went over with X-Clubman Bobby Daniels, (while June Nelson, Corky Hall, and Carolyn Alfred were the "dates" of Earl Flanagan, Max Grulke, and Pete Fay, respectively.

Other "beachcombers" last weekend were Freddie Sommer, her father, Mr. Otto Frederick, and Bill Koch, who went to Delray Beach. Military Ball at the University of Florida, Gainesville, claimed two other Pi Phi's. Margie Sommer was escorted by her Walter, Tucker, and Jolie Wheeler by Jimmy Milligan.

The Pi Phi's who remained aboard the ship Mayflower, cast another anchor in Sanford for the Kappa Valentine Dance. Among those who invaded the Mayfair Inn, was Col. Thomas Moore who came down from Keeler Field, Miss., Saturday to see Alison Hennig.

Page Colecord had a big surprise Sunday night when Bill MacGuire entertained with a surprise birthday party in her honor at Harpers.

The Florida Gamma Chapter of Pi Beta Phi held an election of officers last week. Jean Clark is the newly elected president to succeed Page Colecord. The office of vice-president is now held by Laura King; Recording secretary, Margie Sommer; and Treasurer, Eleanor Cain. Bickley Hilliard and Jean Brown are retiring vice-president, and secretary, respectively.

The Kappas spent the weekend with their Valentine dance. Saturday noon Janet Hetzel provided a pleasant intermission for the decorators by giving a luncheon at her house in Sanford.

The Kappas would like to take this opportunity to thank their guests at the dance. The huge turnout and fun-loving cooperation was sincerely appreciated.

Nancy Morrison spent the week-end in Palm Beach playing in the tennis exhibition at the Everglades Club.

"He floats thru the air with the greatest of ease" but the Rollins "Ape" used a chute instead of a trapeze!

It wasn't the bat-man or super-man that descended upon the Rollins campus last Friday morning, but none other than G. W. Mooney according to the report of several startled spectators who helped him collapse his silk.

G. W., supposedly, jumped to win a wager that he couldn't land on the campus from 2,500 ft. Seems as though some good old United States currency, (one with Lincoln's picture on it to be exact), was the cause of it all. Minor details, such as a mildewed chute and a stiff wind didn't phase the "ape" either.

It is difficult to land unless you know which "strings to pull" but since G.W. has had ample experience along those lines, he managed to land behind Beanery right over the tracks, where his chute was left for all to see as proof of his feat.

Gee Whizz . . . It make's a good story, anyway! (Just about as good as "The K.A.'s studied again this weekend").

"Women are trying to rule the world," said the auctioneer, "but none of them will ever want my job, thank heavens."

"And why not?" inquired the lady.

"Well, can you imagine a woman standing up before a crowd and saying 'Now gentlemen, all I want is an offer?'"

Helen Moore, Pianist, To Present Recital Wednesday Evening

Dr. Helen Moore, noted pianist and teacher at the Rollins School of music, will give a recital on February 25 at 8:15 in the Annie Russell Theater. The program will include the following sonatas by Beethoven:

Sonata in F major, OP. 87.

Vivace ma non troppo—adagio espressivo

(Sonata appassionata)

Allegro assai

Andante con moto

Allegro ma non troppo

Sonata in E flat major, OP. 81

The Farewell—adagio-allegro

The Absence—andante espressivo

The Return—Vivacissimamente

To quote the Florida Times Union: "Dr. Moore is recognized throughout the South as a musician of extraordinary ability and gives a magnificent performance of the three sonatas. Her technique is flawless, and she plays with the sincerity, the warmth, and the depth of feeling which bespeak her complete understanding of the intent of the composer."

KA Hoopsters Capture Crown With 31-25 Win Over X Club

By Harry Levene, Jr.

The KA's clinched the Intramural Basketball Title to go along with their football championship when they chalked up their 11th straight win last Monday night by besting the X Club 31-25 before a packed house at Rec Hall.

The KA's were given a good battle until they turned on the heat midway in the third quarter.

The X Club never was ahead after the early minutes of the game, although the score was tied at 6-6 at the end of the first quarter and the half time score was only 13-10.

Bill Custer was the difference in the game as he kept the victors out of reach of the X Clubbers. Custer was popping the ball in from all over the court and totaled 17 points for the evening.

Harvard Cox was high for the X Club, making 9 points.

Jupe Arnold's great floorwork was outstanding for the losers.

In a preliminary game the Delta Chi quintet won their third game of the year by defeating the Alpha Phi Lambda's 38-20.

Tars To Compete In Open Two-Ball Golf Championship

The Florida Mixed Two-ball Open Golf Championship which opens out at Dubsdread next week will afford much attention from Tar golfers. Lee Bongart, Alice O'Neal, "Pug" Shaffer, Claire Mosack, Clyde Kelly, and Pete Dye are all competing. A former Rollins' star, Peg Kirk, has assumed one of the favorite spots as she is teamed up with Dubsdread owner Carl Dann.

Miss Bongart and Kelly, and Miss O'Neal and Dye are teamed up as entries while as yet Miss Shaffer and Miss Mosack lack partners.

Other outstanding teams, besides Miss Kirk and Dann, are Polly Riley, Ft. Worth, Texas and Joe Ezar, pro from Orlando; former national amateur champion Dick Chapman and his wife; former National Open Woman's champion Patty Berg who is teamed up with the host pro, Denny Champagne; and Grace Lenzyck, Canadian Open champion, now at Stetson, who will have as her partner Frank Sarro, pro from Plymouth, Michigan.

Spring Football Drills To End Next Week

The very successful Spring Football practice that has been in session for the past month comes to an end next week.

At present, the squad shapes up to be the best that the Tars have ever fielded.

All-Stars Play Games Friday For Founders Week Feature

Alpha Phi Lambdas, KA's, Sigma Nus Win Crew Races

Jim McMenemy

The intramural crew racing got underway last Friday with the Alpha Phi Lambda's defeating a favored X Club aggregation in the first of two races. The Alpha Club covered the course in four minutes, one and one half seconds. In the second race, the K.A.'s bested the Delta Chi's when the latter were victims of a freak accident, as Dave Larsen caught a crab and was thrown clear of the shell. He was pulled back in and the Delta Chi's finished the race, but were unable to catch the K.A. crew. The winner's time was three minutes and forty-five seconds.

On Saturday the Sigma Nu crew outclassed the X Club by a wide margin. The winner's covered the course in three minutes and forty seconds, the fastest time recorded this year.

Two All-Star basketball games are on tap for Rollins' sport followers tomorrow night at Rec Hall.

Featured games for Founders' Week will pit an All-Star team made up from outstanding Intramural League players against an alumni team made up of such stars of yesteryear as Joe Justice, Bill Justice, Charley Arnold, Jim Blacklock and others.

A second game will be between the same All Star squad and a team composed of stellar basketball players who are on the football squad, thus ineligible to play in intramural basketball. This team will be composed of Pete Fay, Art Swacker, Ken Horton, Bob Smathers, Harry Hancock, and John Gray.

Tip-off time for the first game is 8:00 p. m.

Harvard Cox Leads Individual High Score In Men's Hoop League

Harvard Cox increased his lead for individual scoring honors in the 1948 Intramural Basketball League as he racked up 21 points to increase his total to 139 for the season. Oscar Cashwell moved one point ahead of Bill Custer who was forced to the sidelines with a bad knee. Otis Mooney scored 10 points to move into the top ten taking Bill Warner's spot. Ten top scorers are:

Harvard Cox, X Club	139
Oscar Cashwell, Sigma Nu	92
Bill Custer, K. A.	91
Dave Larsen, Delta Chi	89
Paul Kleinfelter, K. A.	80
Frank Markland, Sigma Nu	75

any discussion of un-Americanism must involve first of all a definition of its converse, Americanism, he maintained that Americanism must not be limited by the boundaries of any country. It is rather a broad ideal than a narrow concept; its greatest exponent was Jesus, preaching and demonstrating the brotherhood of men. It is this ideal that we have largely lost sight of today, narrowing our concepts within the bounds of a nation, forgetting that "the compassionate heart knows no nation." But even dealing with the more limited concept Americanism advocated by Jefferson and Lincoln, we must face the fact that we have forgotten the ideals of our forefathers, neglected our American heritage, and paid too much attention to civil rights rather than civil duties. We are forgetting our involvement in mankind, said James; our growing wealth is making us selfish. The Sacco and Vanzetti case, the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and Truman's Loyalty Act demonstrate the dangerous tendencies which are leading us far from the ideals of the Declaration of Independence. For before true Americanism can be demonstrated, it must be realized as "a bond in the hearts of men."

Dr. Royal W. France, Chairman of the Reeves Essay Contest committee, introduced the speakers and the judges, who were Dr. Russell Jameson, President of the University Club, Dr. Paul S. Pierce, and Mr. Herbert Hirschberg. Dr. Holt also spoke briefly, telling of the importance of the contest to the college and relating anecdotes about General Charles McCormick Reeves, who inaugurated it. Dean Enyart congratulated the orators on their work, stating that they had made the finest speeches he had ever heard in connection with this contest.

Also delivering speeches were Harold B. McKinney, Washington, D. C., "How Free is the Press?"; Jack Teagarden, Pine Castle, "The Atomic Age: Its Challenge to Reason and Conscience"; and James L. Wray, Little Rock, Arkansas, "What is Un-Americanism?"

we have definite hours when the office is open so that people could come over. One of Jim's reasons for resigning was "academic pressure". We, too, must at times attend classes and study. We would like to sit in our office waiting for people to come and see us and feeling important, but it is highly impractical as a steady occupation.

As to the headlines, Pearl Jordan does a fine job and none of the blame should fall on her. She is a steady helper, but at times we do our work when she cannot be present.

We would like very much to have the editors present when we make up the papers as it would not only make for a better paper but less work for us. The only trouble is that we seldom saw the sports editor at the office.

We recently heard a rumor that Dr. Saute has cut off the air for speaking along Communist lines when he stated that he thought universal military training might give some country enough strength to want more power. Since when has sound thinking and honest talking branded a person as a Communist?

intensity which gives the role tremendous strength. Betty Pottinger, in her most important part to date, plays Laura, the shy, scared cripple. She retreats from the world, taking refuge in the apartment, her glass collection and old phonograph records. Her scene with Robert Cannon is most outstanding, as she interprets a girl who is taken out of her fragile glass world momentarily by the gentlemen caller's attentions.

Robert Cannon as Jim, the gum chewing extrovert, represents the "emissary from a world of reality" that the Wingfields live apart from. His deft characterization of the part is most notable for its sincerity, and his admirable restraint in making Jim a contrast to the others.

It's a spellbinding production. And to the cast and director Howard Bailey, we offer thanks for the memory.

Coith, Bates College Member, Returns From New York

Barbara Coith, Rollins co-ed who was chosen to represent the college at the 1948 Bates Fabric's, Inc. College Board and Young Fashions Clinic in New York, last week, returned Sunday.

Barbara, an English major, a member of the Order of Libra, Pi Beta Phi pledge captain, and a member of the Chapel choir, was one of fourteen of the country's outstanding undergraduates to spend a busy week in New York. She participated in fashion discussions and modeled styles especially designed for the members of the board.

During their stay, the twelve girls and two boys who made up the board, lived at the Waldorf-Astoria. They were presented to the New York Fashion Press, there, on Friday during the Bates-sponsored fashion program when they modeled for the "Cotton On the Campus" style show. They also toured the headquarters of Mademoiselle, top flight fashion magazine and appeared in a Bates television show over the National Broadcasting Company network. In addition they helped design college room settings in which they were photographed for back-to-school advertisements. These will appear in such leading magazines as Charm, Glamour, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Bazaar, Junior Bazaar, Look, Mademoiselle, McCall's and Vogue. The students also took part in a color movie which recorded the week's activities and will be distributed nationally.

Barbara described the experience as exciting and wonderful fun, though they were constantly kept busy assisting the Bates Company to discover exactly what the campus fashions for the coming year should feature.

Barbara arrived in New York via plane from Orlando a week ago Sunday. There she was met by the Board representative and whisked to the Waldorf-Astoria where she met the rest of the group at a special dinner in their honor. Monday, work began, but in the evening the entire board attended one of the leading Broadway plays, and Wednesday night saw them at the theatre again. Barbara, was especially enthusiastic saying "What a man!" when she saw Joseph Cotton at the Stork Club.

Barbara described how she was transformed by the "beauty clinic" into the "new look" for the pictures which were taken in the college room setting, but she's still her sweet self now she's home! Barbara modeled a tan chambray blouse, and circular skirt of Bates materials in an advertisement for Good Housekeeping.

One of the "Little Things" that made the trip fun, was having breakfast in bed, Barbara confidentially confided. But the climax of the week was really Friday night when the members of the board were entertained in the Cub Room of New York's famous Stork Club at a formal dinner-dance. The party ended gayly when the songs of all colleges were sung by the entertainers . . . but they didn't know one from Rollins much to Barbara's chagrin!

Rollins can be very proud of its lovely, poised representative in the 1948 Bates College Forum, Barbara Coith.

If every boy could read the mind of every girl in the U. S. the gasoline consumption in this country would drop off fifty per cent.

Flipping through yellowed and tattered Sandspurs, I sneezed several times before coming up with these . . .

The S'spur's Miss Dix of 1941 received this revealing letter:

"Dear Miss Dix:

I am very blond and my head is shaped like an egg. The boys in the house don't know it, but I am an egg. I like to sit in a pan on the stove and sizzle or drive one of my cars around. I like the little one, because when I'm in it, I feel as tho I'm on a piece of toast—like my brother, George, who isn't here anymore.

He: "I think I've got a flat tire." She "I think that makes two of us."

"For shame, young man, What's gotten into you?"
