FOUNDERS' WEEK
BUSIEST SEVEN
DAYS IN YEARWagner Will Edit,
Grover To Publish
Animated Magazine

The busiest and busiest seven days of the year will get under way February 13 in an eventful week that will see the inauguration of President Paul Wagner, an inaugural address by Chancellor Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and the 23rd annual presentation of the Animated Magazine.

Numerous other events are scheduled for the week, among which are the premiere showing of Professor Edwin Granberry's play The Falcon, the annual convocation of the Alumni Council and the Alumni Association and the Charles McCormick Reeve contest for the Holt award. There will also be an exhibition of three centuries of print making in America at the Casa Iberia, an art exhibition at the Morse Gallery of Art, an archeological lecture by Mr. Frederick Sleight, and a speech by Dr. John Martin at the Winter Park Congregational Church.

A further addition to the program will be an invitational luncheon for inauguration guests at the Student Center, the inauguration ball at the Orlando Country Club, and Founders Week chapel service conducted by Dean Theodore Darrah and featuring the chapel choir.

The Rollins College Newsweek, edited by Milton Blackmore, will have its premiere showing at the Annie Russell Theatre at 5:30 following the Animated Magazine. Another showing will be given at 8:30 the same evening. General admission for the public will be sixty cents including tax. For students, the ticket price will be thirty cents.

The 23rd annual Animated Magazine, published by Edwin D. Grover and edited by President Wagner, will be held on February 19th before an expected throng of 5000. Publisher Grover and Editor Wagner have put together what promises to be an exceptionally well-rounded and representative "magazine." The list of contributors is still tentative, but those who attend will see a brilliant group of novelists, poets, dramatists, and sports writers piece together another successful edition.

Former President Dr. Hamilton Bell, who originated the idea of the "Animated," will be on hand and, with the permission of his physician, will deliver a short talk.

Bloody Foot No Show Stopper

The show must go on! Rollins Student George Lyburner limped up to this action of show business when he finished up his part in "Dark of the Moon" with a show full of blood. George cut his foot while swinging an axe in a scene where he was supposed to be cutting wood.

The accident occurred in the first scene of the second act and escaped the notice of everyone in the scene, for George didn't flinch. He finished the scene, went up to the dressing room where he revealed the accident to Director William Dorsett, who offered to send someone on to finish up for him. However, George said it wasn't that bad, took off his shoe and poured the blood out of it, and went on with the show.

YELLOW TIE AND WITTICISMS

Freshman Enjoy Colorful Dr. Holt

Rollins Students gathered last Friday from 2 to 3 o'clock in two attics to attend the reception for Dr. Holt given by Dr. and Mrs. Paul Wagner.

Chartered around Dr. Holt, whose yellow tie and sports coat was a cause for much comment among the inexperienced freshmen, the blue seniors laughed as eagerly as the wide-eyed freshmen as he spun tales and interjected his legendary witticisms.

Stone Production To Show Founder's Week

"The Damask Cheek" is the next play to be given in the Fred Stone Theatre under the direction of Professor Donald S. Allen. This production is to be one of the events of the Founder's Week program, opening February 15 and playing through February 18. According to Donald S. Allen, the play is a charming and gentle comedy with skillfully drawn characters. The playwrights, John Van Druten and Lloyd Morris, used New York in 1909 for the setting of their play.

The cast for this play is composed of students in Professor Allen's acting class. Those participating are: Diane Barnes, Betty Kipper, Cynthia Crawford, Pat Burgeon, Claudine Peterson, Gayle Schaffner, Don Stadden, Dick Pneu, and Corley Scarbrough.

The critic for the New York Herald Tribune said this to say about "The Damask Cheek" when it was produced in the 1942-43 season: "A vintage comedy of manners came to the Playhouse to remind us that there is a place for clean, literate writing and beguiling characterizations."

Puerto Rican Authority
Urges Student Swap

Muna Lee, who was a guest at Rollins last week, came to speak on the current problems of Puerto Rico where for twenty years she was Director of the Bureau of International Relations in the University of Puerto Rico.

When asked about the Puerto Rican colleges, Miss Lee said that there are many continental students who go to the Insular colleges and vice-versa. Miss Lee says, "The best way to help Puerto Rican colleges is to carry on a greater interchange of students and teachers."

At the Insular colleges, classes are conducted in Spanish except those having to do with English or English History. Many basketball games are played between continental and insular colleges, and last year, the University Choir appeared at Carnegie Hall in New York.

Said Miss Lee, "One thing which I think is very interesting, is that Fred Beckett, a graduate of Rollins College, is now teaching at the University of Puerto Rico," and Professor Evans of Rollins was a visiting professor at the University of Puerto Rico last year.

Broadway Star To Play Falcon Lead

Monday night Howard Bailey, director, and Edwin Granberry, author, announced that the lead in Dr. Granberry's play, The Falcon, will be played by John O'Hare, veteran Broadway actor. Mr. O'Hare is currently featured in "The Eucalyptus" a play now on Broadway directed by George S. Kaufman.

Other members of the cast are Helen Bailey as Mrs. Gault, Barney Walker as Henry, George Lyburner as John Gault and Lynn Bailey, Director Howard Bailey's daughter, as the child, Kalmy.

Mr. Granberry's play, The Falcon, will be premiered at the Annie Russell Theatre February 14 through Founders Week. Tickets are now on sale at the box office.

Mr. O'Hare played last summer with Susan Peters in The Barretts of Wimpole Street directed by Howard Bailey.

General Reeves Essay
Winners Announced

The General Reeves Essay contest winners have been announced by President Wagner. To encourage writing and speaking, the contest is held every year for Rollins Students and the winners receive 75 dollars. The six students who win compete in oral presentations for the Hamilton Holt Gold Medal or 50 dollars. This oral competition will be held on Feb. 13 at 3:30 in the Knowles Memorial Chapel.

The six winners are: Charles Dawson, Sanford, Jim Anderson, Orlando, writing on the subject "Does Science Replace Religious Faith or Complete It?" Paul Bassett, Lake Mary, Jack McCauslin, Monticello, writing on the subject "Labor's Responsibility in the Light of its Increasing Power," Gordon Clark, Dumasville Mills, Maine, writing on the subject "The Future of China Under Communism."

Hutchins Will Deliver Wagner
Inaugural Address

Rollins College will inaugurate 32-year-old Paul A. Wagner as president at its annual Founders' Week Convocation on Saturday, Feb. 13, at 3 p. m., with Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, chancellor of University of Chicago, delivering the inaugural address.

The ceremony will be the highlight of the annual Founders' Week program, which will start Feb. 13 and end Sunday, Feb. 19, with publication of the famed Animated Magazine.

The Convocation will be held out of doors on the campus Horseshoe at the end of Interlachen Avenue. It will be open to the public without invitation. Dr. Eugene Randolph Smith, co-chairman of the inaugural planning committee, said that the leading colleges and education organizations of the country had been invited to send representatives to the Convocation. They will march in the academic procession with trustees, faculty, staff, students, and alumni. Seating in the audience will be reserved for each group.

With his inauguration, Dr. Wagner officially will become the youngest head of an accredited college in the country. He was an undergraduate and member of the faculty of University of Chicago when Dr. Hutchins, himself formerly the youngest college head, was president.

In a message to students Dr. Smith said, "We count on you to provide cars and drivers for the out-of-town guests, to usher at the inauguration, and to help in any other ways that prove possible. Members of faculty and staff have for some time been at work on various parts of the preparation, and others are likely to be called on for such service."

Following the ceremony the public is invited to meet Dr. Hutchins and Dr. Wagner at a reception in the patio of the Rollins Student Center.

An inaugural ball will conclude the festivities that night at Orlando Country Club.

Tomokan In The Clear
Center To Stay Open

In a seventeen minute meeting, the Student Council learned that the Tomokan would be out of debt, and that a collection box will be put up at the Pellon for tips for Lucy. Council received a one dollar check from the Rollins Women's Association, the proceeds from a Basket Dinner held in the Center.

Discussion during the meeting was limited to the debated motion to close the Center for last Wednesday's Assembly. Elmer Butler was appointed a committee of one to look into the matter of souvenir keys for Council Members.

Pete Fay reported that Maria Mulholland, Tomokan Editor, had taken charge of ads for the Tomokan. She was doing well, and could promise that the Tomokan would be out of debt by the end of the year. A special section on basketball will be included.

The motion requesting that the Center be closed for last Wednesday's Assembly came under fire from several Council Members. Pierre Thompson felt that the Center was being closed indiscriminately in this case. Jack McCauslin objected to the principle of closing the Center on Assembly periods on the grounds that the Assembly period was the only time that all the students could get together. It was also pointed out that the Center makes more money at this time than at any other. The motion was rejected on a show of hands vote.

P. R. Kelly, Rollins '42
On Economic Conference

A former Rollins student and editor of the Sandspur will arrive here Wednesday in order to participate in the 13th Annual Rollins Economic Conference, Feb. 2-4. Philip Richard ("Dick") Kelly is, at present, the director of management research for McKinsey and Company. He is also vice-president of the Rollins Alumni Association and the co-author of the noted book, "New Year This."

Before entering Rollins in 1938, SPUR EDITOR

DICK KELLY

He spent four years in newspaper work in Easton, Pennsylvania. While at Rollins he filled many odd offices and was extremely active. Among his many duties he was President of his class, President of Lambda Chi Alpha, President of Omicron Delta Kappa and was active in all interfraternal sports as well as serving as a regular correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune. He worked the summer of 1939-40 as a private tutor.

After graduating from Rollins with an A.B. degree in English and Economics, he attended the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. In 1945 he made a special study of European reconstruction problems for the Architectural Forum division of "Time" Inc., where he was serving as assistant to the publisher. With a full background of experience such as this, Mr. Kelly will be well qualified to speak to the Conference about his favorite topic.

Dr. Paul A. Vostal, director of the museum, said that the only two other specimens in this country were on exhibit at American Museum of Natural History, New York, and that nine others were in collections throughout the world. Of the 13 in existence, only six are in perfect condition. The shell was loaned by Abner B. Martin, New York City, a trustee of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Museum. It was found in 1838 on a Philippine Island, coral reef, which a few weeks later was destroyed by an earthquake and tidal wave. Even before that date the species was considered the most coveted of shell collectors.

World's Most Valuable
Shell Comes To Rollins

Rollins now possesses the world's most valuable shell. The Glory of the Sea is now on permanent loan to the Real Menzies Shell Museum.

Don Quixote Movie
Plays Here Saturday

Don Quixote De La Mancha, a new film version of the immortal novel by Cervantes, will be presented at the Annie Russell Theatre, on Saturday, February 4, at 2:30, 5:30, and 8:15 P.M.

Produced by the Cifesa Studios in Spain, Don Quixote received its American premiere last Spring at the Belmont Theatre in New York. Although the dialogue is in Spanish, its vivid action and literary English sub-titles make it entirely understandable to non-Spanish audiences.

Following the Cervantes story with fidelity, the movie presents the well known comic episodes of the mad yet idealistic Knight Errant, Don Quixote. He is portrayed by Rafael Rivellea, who with Juan Calvo, as his devoted but literal-minded squire, heads a cast of hundreds of the outstanding actors of Spain. The background of Spanish landscapes adds authenticity to the film.

Jeanette Roner and Catherine Sorey will present a program of Spanish and Spanish-American songs and music as a special feature of the 8:15 performance.

Admission for the matinee performance at 3:30, and 5:30 is $1.25, taxes included; while the evening performance at 8:15 will be $1.45 with taxes included. School and college students will be admitted to the balcony at all performances for 62 cents, taxes included.

Wagner Will Open
Fifteenth Session

Students Will Debate
Nationalization Question

President Paul A. Wagner opened the Fifteenth Annual Session of the Rollins College Economic Conference yesterday with his Welcome Address to the leading industrialists and educators here for the conference.

Dr. William Melcher presided over this first session of the conference which will be followed by five sessions continuing through Saturday, February 4.

Friday's program is highlighted by the debate entitled, "Resolved that the United States Should Nationalize All Basic Non-Agricultural Industries." Dr. William B. Whiteaker will introduce participating students of the Rollins Debate Group which have been chosen from his class in discussion and debate. This will also serve as the preliminary debate to the Inter-Collegiate Debate Competition which Rollins has rendered this year.

Remaining sessions will include such notables as Mr. Bessons L. Wood, president, Arwood Precision Casting Corporation, member Profit Sharing Industries, and lecturer on public relations, who will speak on "Profit Sharing Plans—Essentials necessary to Success."

Mr. Michael Mora, director of World Trade Development, International House, New Orleans, will discuss "What Balance of Payments Can Do for America." Mr. Mora was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, son of Sir Witold Mora and Countess Christine Maryski. He is business agent for American firms in Poland and other countries, and was chief of UNRRA Mission for Poland during 1944-45.

"Dollar Shortage—Past, Present and Future" is the title of Mr. H. van Buren Cleveland's address to be given in the Saturday session. Mr. Cleveland is a member of the ECA staff, and was formerly in the State Department and with War Production Board.

Dr. Donald Blaisdell, special assistant to Assistant to the Secretary of State for United Nations, has chosen as his subject, "The United Nations and International Economic Problems."

Mr. Solomon Barkin's subject is "Public Policies in a Democracy to Realize Industrial Peace." Mr. Barkin is director of research for Textile Workers Union of America, an affiliate of CIO.

President Wagner will preside over a panel discussion Friday night at 8:15, entitled "The China Problem." Dr. J. Ben Staivey, professor of government at the University of Miami and Dr. Andre L. Van Assenderp from the Department of Economics at Florida State University have recently been added to this group. Other members include Professor Joseph E. Goodbar, head of Department of Business, Commerce and Economics, University of Tampa; Dr. Kurt A. Seppmeier, assistant professor of economics, Florida State University; Dr. J. Roy Cable, professor of economics, John B. Stetson University and Rollins' own Dr. Royal Wilcox France and Dr. Theodore Collier. Dean Grover A. J. Noetzel, of the University of Miami, formerly announced as a panel member, is unable to attend.

The Rollins College Economic Conference was first organized in 1938. The purpose of the conference from the beginning has been to bring together some of the leading thinkers and students of economic and industrial problems, to discuss these problems from various standpoints and to see what solutions might be workable.

Varsity Hoopsters Post 2d Win; Apgar, Jensen Set Scoring Pace

Greater Support Urged For Forthcoming Games At Armory; Field Hockey Gains Popularity In Spite of Many Hazards

Congratulations to the girls' varsity for winning their second game of the season last week. They piled up 41 points in 22 for the other team. The girls really showed their ability and good sportsmanship. Tops in the scoring was Doris Jensen who shot for a total of 14 points. Net on her heels was Ginny Apgar who had a record of 13 points.

Just a word here about the attendance at these games. It seems the girls haven't had much support as far as the bleacher section goes. After all, it's certainly worth the time and the girls would appreciate an audience. So let's see a few more spectators these next few Wednesday nights! These games are played at the Davis Armory. If you've been out in front of the Center in the afternoon lately, you've probably noticed quite a bit of activity in "ye olde Sandspur Boel." Yes sir, those field hockey classes really whetted it up and when they get going it's quite a show.

The girls in the classes are split up into two teams, eleven each, given their respective positions, and then sent off in a merry chase. The object of course is to get that little ball through the goal posts and live through it.

The obstacles are many, swinging sticks, flying balls, rough fields, and so on. However, it's worth the trouble to make a goal because that's when you get time to rest. When the first check whistle blows everyone departs, hot, completely beat, but happy. Oh, you aching shinbones!

Rollins Net Queen Overshadows California's Glamorous Gussie

By BILL FRANCOIS

At first glimpse, she doesn't look like a champion; in fact, she looks more like a glamorous girl. However, her looks hide the facts. Little Doris Jensen started her tennis career at the age of 7 in Des Moines, Iowa. In no time at all she was able to swing a racket. By the age of 8 she was able to hit the ball. Little did she know that some day her racket and fame would carry her to far-away Rollins, a school noted for its tennis queens.

Doris won several junior tournaments, the major ones being: Western Junior Girls Championship; Missouri Valley Junior Championship (3 years); River Forest Junior Championship; and Iowa State Junior Championship (3 years). By the time she had attained her 16th birthday, she was ranked 6th in the National Junior Standings. This wasn't bad for a little girl who had been brought up on even all her life.

But all good things must come to an end and little Doris finally grew up and had to enter the women's events. However, this did not damp her style. She won the Missouri Valley Women's Singles Title when she was only 17 years old. Other women's tournaments that Doris has taken on are: Iowa State Women's Singles, Central States Women's Singles, Florida State Women's Singles, and Florida Invitational Women's Singles, the latter one being a hard-fought victory over Laura Lou Jahn. This was our little corn-fed girl's biggest thrill.

Doris's other hobbies besides the Alpha Phi are basketball, softball, volleyball and girl rummy. She is one of the leading scorers on the girls' varsity basketball team which is currently leading the Orlando City League.

The best tribute we could pay Doris, is that she is a true Queen of the courts as well as on the courts.

Bradleymen Open Season Feb. 4th With Tampa, FSU

Scholley, Motch and Manly Only Returning Lettemen

By CHARLES WOODS

Varsity crew grabs the spotlight on the sport parade! The Tar sarsmen, coached by Dr. Bradley, open the 1950 season on February 4th with the Gasparrilla Regatta at Tampa, in which Rollins will compete against the University of Tampa and Florida State University. According to Dr. Bradley, Southern has had 9 eights practicing all fall, and therefore are bound to be tough.

To continue its fine record of last year's crew, practice has been held all fall and winter terms. This has resulted in a smooth-working aggregation. In this group is John Thibbedson, who is stroke, lacks collegiate experience, but rowed for Pomfret School, a prep school with an outstanding crew record in New England. No. 7 position is rowed by Dave Manly, who was a member of last year's top-notch varsity. No. 8 is Pete Scholley, who, with his four years of varsity crew, has more experience than any Tar sarsman. Art Motch, another varsity man, rows No. 5. Scotty Withereff, who has one year of junior varsity experience, rows No. 4. Although never having rowed before, Don Jones looks as a bright prospect at No. 3. Grunberry, who has two years of junior varsity, is at No. 2, while Horner, No. 1, has one year of experience with the junior varsity. The coxswain is Bob Draughan, who has one year of varsity experience. This lineup, however, is only tentative, because four of last year's varsity have been busy with winter football practice.

After the Gasparrilla Regatta, the Tars journey to Florida Southern for their Founders' Day meet, on March 2nd, which is followed by meets with such top-notch eastern crews as Brown, Boston U. (the only crew to defeat the Tars last year), Dartmouth, Amherst, Washington and Lee, La Salle, and A. J. C., all of which will bring in the Sunshine State their varsity and junior varsity crews. In the merry month of May, the state championships will decide the best Florida collegiate crew, after which the Don Vail Regatta, one of the greatest races in the history of crew, will present the finest small collegiate crews in America.

Swisher Swacker

By SCOTTY WITHERELL

In the year before the war broke out, the Tar basketball team did fairly well. So well in fact, that it was invited to participate in the Bowling Green Tournament held in Bowling Green, Kentucky, and it was not until the semi-finals of this tournament that Rollins lost a game.

We're not saying that the 1950 version of the Rollins team will be invited to any tournaments, but we do think that Rollins fans should know a little about the men who will wear the blue and gold on the hardwood court. Arthur W. Swacker, Jr., who hails from St. Louis, Missouri, is one of our two first-stringers. Weighing a healthy 215 pounds and scoring six feet four inches in the air, the big senior is capable of playing on anyone's basketball team.

Shakespeare Show

The students of Eng. 318 and Eng. 264 will present a program of songs from Shakespeare's plays and music of Shakespeare's day on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 3, 1950 at 4:15 o'clock in Dyer Hall. This is a class project but campus and members of the Rollins family are invited. Oliver Smith and Margaret Bell will sing. Ed Cushing, Joanne Byrd, Jack Reardon, Marshall Thomas, Fred McFalls, Ann Lovell, and Nat Friedland will play. Pat Sutcliffe and Katherine Dawson will paint the Globe Theatre announcement posters.

John Gray, Jim O'Neal, Bob Peck Lead Scoring Parade; Close 2nd Round Predicted As Teams Swing Into Action

The first round of the intra-mural basketball league came to a close last week and final standings show that several teams stand a chance to improve their position in the final round. Lambda Chi finished first with five wins. Second place X-Club won four games and lost one. The Sigma Nus gained third place with a three win and two lost record. Fourth slot finds K.A. victors in two and losses of three. Next to last are the Independents with one win and four defeats. Delta Chi holds down the cellar with five losses.

Leading scorer for the round was John Gray with fifty-eight points. Second place scoring honors went to Jim O'Neal who poured in forty-eight points. Bob Peck made a close third with forty-five markers.

The K.A.'s gave the X-Club a rough battle, but the men from Galk won thirty-eight to twenty-two. The reserve strength of the Club showed up in the third quarter when they held the K.A.'s to two points while racking eleven points themselves. John Gray was high for the losers with nine points while Jim Kelley scored ten points for the winners.

Sigma Nu won an exciting overtime game from the K.A.'s. Sigma Nu was behind at the end of every period until they finally tied it up at twenty-three all when the horn blew ending the regulation game. In the overtime period baskets by Buddy High and a foul shot by Don Pinger put the game on its twenty-eight to twenty-three.

The Independents outlasted the Delta Chis as Bob McCoy racked up a basket just as the final horn sounded to break up a thirty all tie. The Deltas were paced by Bob Peck who scored seventeen points, the season's record for one game. Angeri and McCoy led the Indians with ten points apiece.

Before coming to Rollins in 1947, Art had played basketball on two army air base teams. Before coming to Rollins he had played freshman football and basketball at the University of Missouri. In four years of play on the Silveston High School basketball team of Silveston, Missouri, Art averaged a little over 10 points a game.

Not all of Art's honors at Rollins have been gained in athletics. Art has been president of the Student Council, president of the X Club, a member of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and is at present president of the Senior Class and a member of O.D.K. honorary fraternity.

Cagey Cabrie Shines On Polished Surface

By PAUL BINNER

One of the standout performers for the Rollins basketball team this season will be Jerry Cabrie. This tall, shifty player can cover the floor with pointer-like ability. In addition, his style of ball handling is one of the finest to ever bloom a basketball team. In high school Jerry played for Henry Snyder High in Jersey City. Naturally this team won the city championship. After his entrance into the Air Force, Jerry played on a pre-flight team which won the wing championship. For the past few years Jerry has been a standout in the Orlando City League. Last year he played on the Denmark squad that finished runner-up in the Florida State Amateur Tournament. He was also picked as a member of the all state team representing squads from all over the state.

What is now the state of New Mexico was a territory for 43 years.
