DEDICATION

To the Women's Instructor in Physical Education, Miss Lucile Jackson, for her two years of never-to-be-forgotten service and her efforts to promote our ideals of health, sportsmanship and fair play—we dedicate this Handbook as a token of our love and appreciation.

FOREWORD

THE Women's Athletic Association offers this second Handbook to the women of Rollins College with the earnest hope that it will create in them a real desire for the promotion and fostering of the highest spirit of sportsmanship and co-operation. With this publication comes a hearty invitation for all those interested in clean sports to join our organization.

ARCHERY

Who says that Robin Hood is a myth of the past? One may hear the whizz of an arrow often in the early mornings as some ambitious Maid Marion ventures forth of practice.

Archery is still in its infancy as one of the W. A. A. sports but such promising signs were shown when the year's tournament was held on the greens in back of Cloverleaf that a bright future can easily be predicted for this interesting sport.

Bring out your bows and arrows and try your luck!

BASKET-BALL

Basket-ball received a very enthusiastic response this year and because of the large squad and splendid material competition was keen. The class of '30 again won the class championship with the sophomores taking second place.

There was much rivalry for places on the Odd-Even teams. Three games were played, both teams winning a game and the tie was settled with a very exciting game in favor of the Evens.

Classes in basket-ball are also given to prepare the less experienced players to prepare for the next year. Come out for basket-ball—there is a place for YOU!

CANOEING

"Attention! Forward! Hip!" could be clearly heard over the misty waters of Lake Virginia three times a week in the early mornings of the spring term. Two War Canoe Crews, composed of ten Odds and ten Evens, competed for the championship. The crew which won the best out of three scheduled races became the college champions.

In the canoeing classes during the winter term technique is stressed; lessons in beaching; form in a canoe, methods of correct paddling, and feathering being given.

HOCKEY

Hockey was one of the outstanding sports at Rollins this year. There were about thirty girls in the squad who bummed or hiked out to the Harper-Shepherd field for practice twice a week. Odd and Evens teams were chosen, followed by games to determine the championship. Although hockey is practically a new sport, much has been accomplished under the leadership of Miss Jackson. All the girls taking it had so much fun that they are already looking forward to next year.

Hockey will be a major winter sport this season and there will be many scheduled games, so fall in line with your hockey sticks and give your loyal support.

HIKING

Hiking, although young, has received much attention in its second year. Girls who liked knickers, sweaters, and the great out-of-doors, found lots of fun in the week-end, supper, and before-breakfast picnic hikes arranged by the Hiking Sport Head. The long tramps in the woods, the feeds about the camp fire, interrupted by the singing of college songs and sudden bursts of laughter are not easily forgotten. Those who were ambitious not only received the benefits derived from the exercise but also accumulated points toward the W. A. A. awards.

SWIMMING

A sport that every girl enjoys and there is no place better located than Rollins for such a sport. Swimming is an outstanding sport, especially during the spring term. Then there is the Inter-Class swimming meet and later the Odd-Even meet. It is a time of keen competition and much excitement. Every girl may try out for a swimming team.

Class instruction in this sport is offered during the fall and spring terms. It is very easy and pleasant to practice with the lake so invitingly near at hand. Don't fail to take part in this enjoyable sport; remember every point counts.

TENNIS

More interest was shown in tennis this year than ever before. There were some very fine players discovered among the new students. Ladder tournaments and games played by the champions caused much excitement on the campus and a real crowd witnessed the game which determined the school champion. However, this sport needs more players to bring about more competition and rivalry. Come all who swing a "wicked raquet."

VOLLEY-BALL

The gym was the scene of much rioting when the largest group in the history of volley-ball fought for places on the teams. Class teams were picked from the squad material and later, near the close of the term, the Odd and Even teams were selected. Exciting combats, consisting of three games to a set and three sets to complete a match were staged. The winning Odd-Even team had to succeed in winning two out of three games.

W. A. A. SONG

(Tune—"School Days")

Reading and Writing and Rithmetic
Are helped by the swing of a hockey stick;
Swimming and boating and tennis, too,
Fill us with vim for the things we do.
In all kinds of weather,
We find pep together,
For we are the W. A. A.'s.

"R" GIRL SONG

(Tune—"Sweetheart of Sigma Xi")

The "R" girl is the grandest girl
Of all the girls I know—
Her paddles and swims,
Heated games in the gym,
Account for her freckled nose.
She is the spirit of sportsmanship,
True sister to the Tar—
So raise your glass to the fairest lass,
The girl with the Rollins "R".

ROLLINS PLEDGE SONG

Near blue lakes that glint and sparkle in the sun
There is a place we love,
Where all nature smiles and lifts her leafy arms
To azure heavens above;
Friends are there and comrades true,
Hours of joy and sorrow, too,
Oh, Rollins for the ties that are so dear to us
We give this song to you.
Let thy spirit lead us ever bravely on

Thru calm, thru storm and strife;
May thy ideals be our never-failing guide
Whate'er we meet in life;
Give us strength and courage true;
Will to dare and power to do;
So lead on Rollins, free our eyes to see the Truth
We pledge our hearts to you.

HAIL DEAR OLD ROLLINS
(Tune: "The Green and White")

1.

Down South there is a college
The finest ever seen . . .
Where Seniors all are friendly
And freshmen never green.
Her profs are always kindly
Her hopes are ever high
Her rules are always mild
And yet they sat . . . is . . . fy.

CHORUS:

So-let-us hail dear old Rol-lins
The college on the lake
Whe-re education's friendly
Just a game of give and take.
And-let-us hail, too, her banner
The gold and the blue.
And so to Rol-lins . . . O dear old Rol-lins . .
We pledge our faith anew.

2.

Another thing peculiar
To this beloved school
All lectures are unheard of Discussions quite the rule.
She has a Conference System
To turn work into play
And in a two-hour session
She packs an eight-hour day.

3.

Then here's long life to Rollins
Where things are as they seem . . .
She's really As You Like It
Not a Midsummer's Dream.
Her blue and gold are blazoned
On far-flung sunset skies,
For well God knows the slogan:
"It pays to ad-ver-tise."

THE 1928-29 W. A. A. BOARD

ROLLINS IS ROLLING NOW

Rollins is rolling now,
Tra la la la,
Rollins is rolling now.
There's a way, no delay,
On the way, never stay;
So throw in yourself
And laugh and sing so merrily, merrily
Rollins is rolling now,
Tra la la la,
Rollins is rolling now.
Sure the goal is ahead
And our president's led,
Oh Rollins is rolling now, tra la,
Oh Rollins keep rolling now.

“THAT’S HOW WE DO AT THE COLLEGE”

Oh, we wake up mighty early
Make a dash for Beanery late
That’s how we do at the College.
We hurry on to classes
For the wretched hour is eight
That’s how we do at the College.
The G. P.’s shine, we’re a
T. H. C. Plan here.
Chapel bugle wakes us
Scatter, eat, drink, grumble
Oh the morning it is long,
Can’t the Beanery hour come on,
That’s how we do at the College.
Oh, we get our beauty sleep
In the two o’clock each day
That’s how we do at the College.
But sports and gym
Find us full of pep and vim
We’re stronger for health than for knowledge
It takes ’til late
To get ready for a date
Cars, are few, far between—we often have to hike it
Down to Gary’s; then the moon.
’Ray for College life—do we like it!

A SAD STORY

There was a boy who loved two girls,
And these two girls were cousins;
Clarinda was the careful one,
Roberta smoked her dozens.
Now, these two girls had suits of clothes,
For exercise constructed;
Clarinda wore hers twice a week,
Roberta's were "abducted."
At least, she never had them when
The time for work-outs came;
So, presently her record showed
An F beside her name.
But more than this Roberta found
Clarinda slim and pretty,
While she herself looked more and more
Like the pale girl from the city.
And Clarinda's dates with their mutual beau
Were alarming in their frequency!
Roberta feared that wedding bells
Were an item in sequence.
And right she was, for William thrilled
To hear Clarinda's laughter—
So healthy and so charming that
His heart and hopes ran after.
No fault of his that he forgot
Roberta who smoked dozens;

Bill's heart by now was won complete
It was Roberta's cousin's!
Roberta soon a bridesmaid was;
Clarinda was the bride;
Nor could Roberta wonder that
Bill beamed and beamed his pride.
For the bride's round cheeks were natural pink;
Health's light was in her eyes,
Roberta realized at last
Life's laws we can't defy!
Now, the moral of this happy tale
Is, keep your muscles busy;
Breathe deep, keep sane, and you someday
Will also get your IZZY!!

Evolution

"What is a pledge, Grandmama dear?"
The wide-eyed darling asked
I looked at the child with the eager face
And folded my hands and said -

"A pledge is a promise honestly made a pledge is a toast also a pledge is a humble, lowly worm
With many duties to do.

"Well I remember when I was a pledge."
I said with a gleam in my eye.
"But a pledge is a worm, or a toast, or an oath
you said Grandmama dear."

"Ah, my child, if the worm is good and does all his duties with care
That worm will turn from a lowly worm
To an honorable Phi Beta"

The bright blue eyes grew round with awe and she asked with her baby lip,
"The duties - the duties, Grandmama,
What were the duties for you?"

"My duties," I said were to learn and learn, and learn with honest care -
To cut pumpkin pies and make coffee too and announce with right good care."

"Oh, Grandmama," said the little child
"I want my shovel, new
For I will find a little worm and make him a Phi Beta too."

Respectfully Submitted

Kappa Epsilon Formal Rushing Party Held

The Kappa Epsilon Sorority, the oldest sorority in the state of Florida, and for many years the only sorority on the campus at Rollins, gave their formal rushing party yesterday beginning with an informal luncheon and ending with a midnight serenade at the Kappa Epsilon house.

In the late afternoon all the active members and rushees met at the sorority house and at 5 o'clock started in a number of motor cars for a progressive dinner.

The first hostess was Mrs. John Huttig, and at her home, the "Ripples," the party spent the sunset hour being shown over the estate and at the end of the hour were given their first course, consisting of a fruit cocktail. From there the party proceeded to Mrs. W. A. Wattle's home on Lake Virginia and were served to a soup course. Mrs. Harry M. Sinclair entertained the party next at her new home on Osceola avenue with the fish course. Then the party went to Mrs. W. D. Freeman's estate and there Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Freeman's daughter, Mrs. Raymond Green, acted as hostesses for the meat course. For the salad course Mrs. H. S. Harris, faculty advisor for the sorority, entertained at her home on Virginia Heights. For the dessert course the members of the party were the guests of Mrs. J. K. List at her home on New England and Interlachen avenues. Mrs. List is the mother emeritus of the sorority and she made a most picturesque hostess with her beautiful white hair and gowned in a very attractive red chiffon evening dress, carrying out the sorority colors of red and white.

From Mrs. List's home the entire party attended the movies in Orlando and then returned to Mrs. McCaughey's home in Winter Park for after dinner coffee and after dinner sandwiches, and a short program of sorority songs. The active members and the rushees then returned to the sorority house and the hour being a little late were softly serenaded into slumber land by the Hungerford singers with a number of negro spirituals. This morning the rushees were given a three-course breakfast at 7 o'clock. The tables were covered with white cloths and red napkins and the center table had a huge bowl of red roses, the sorority flower.

The active members were: The Misses Virginia Stelle, Kathryn Hill, Myra Thomas, Elizabeth Rathbone, Sara and Nancy Dickenson, Penelope Pattison, Louise Brett, Helen Porter, Louise House, Aurora McKay, Charlotte Steinhans, Pauline Bumby and Lucille Tolson.

The alumni, honorary members and guests who joined the party along the way were: Mrs. John Huttig, Mrs. W. A. Wattle, Miss Janet Sinclair, Mrs. Raymond Green, Mrs. H. S. Harris, Miss Margaret McKay, Mrs. H. K. Kelley, Mrs. Forrest McGinnis and Mrs. Wal-

Miss Huttig Is Hostess Honoring Kappa Epsilon

Dubsread Club Is Scene of Lovely Bridge Tea This Afternoon.

One of the smart and interesting affairs of this week was the bridge tea at which Miss Katherine Huttig entertained at the Dubsread Country Club this afternoon for Kappa Epsilon Sorority. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Frederick Huttig.

Card tables for the players were arranged on the porches and in the attractive ball room which was made very pretty with an abundance of garden flowers in pastel colors. Tallies and other appointments carried out a spring motif of soft colors. The high score winner for the afternoon was given a hand-painted door stop and a dainty handkerchief case went to the winner of second high. An ensemble bridge set was given as consolation. At the tea hour a delicious ice course was served.

Guests included: Mrs. Walter Rose, Mrs. Irving Bacheller, Mrs. Harry Osterling, Mrs. A. B. McCaughey, Mrs. Clinton Scollard, Mrs. D. K. Dickinson, Mrs. H. S. Thompson, Mrs. Hiram Powers, Mrs. Carlton Van Cleve, Mrs. H. F. Harris, Mrs. Kenneth Kraft, Mrs. George Kraft, Mrs. Harry Kelly, Miss Elinor Flood, Miss Martha Wright, Miss Eleanor Upmeyer, Miss Elizabeth Atkisson, Miss Beatrice Larsen, Miss Martha Mathis, Miss Virginia Mitchell, Miss Virginia Stelle, Miss Janet Love, Miss Victoria Dickinson, Miss Sara Dickenson, Miss Evelyn Greene, Miss Charlotte Selnhans, Miss Edna Wells, Miss Louise Howes, Miss Barnelia Woodward, Miss Petronella McKay, Miss June Chase, Miss June Mosher and others.

Miss Stienhans Hostess at Pretty Luncheon

Miss Charlotte Steinhans entertained with a beautiful seated luncheon yesterday at her home on Copeland drive in honor of the members of the Kappa Epsilon Sorority of Rollins College.

The attractive dining table was entered with a large bowl of fragrant pink roses and place cards in shades of pink marked the places of the guests. Luncheon was served at 1:30 o'clock.

The guests of honor of the occasion were Misses Penelope Patterson, Helen Porter, Katherine Hill, Pauline Bumby, Betty Tone, Alice Burdett, Louise Brett, Lois Walker, Elizabeth Rathbone, Lucille Tolson, Miriam Sperague, Frances Porter and Mrs. H. F. Harris and Mrs. F. H. Enwright.

The active members of the sorority are Misses Virginia Stelle, Sarah Dickinson, Mira Thomas, Virginia Dickinson, Petronella McKay, Virginia Mitchell, Virginia Scale, Aurora McKay and Louise Howes.

The alumnae present were Miss Virginia Davis, Miss Margaret McKay, Mrs. Harry Kelly and Mrs. Ray Greene.

Kappa Epsilon Sorority Entertains With Progressive Dinner Honoring Rushees

A delightful affair of last evening was the progressive dinner party given by the members of the Kappa Epsilon Sorority of Rollins College in compliment of their rushees.

Mrs. John Huttig was hostess for the fruit cocktail, and soup was served at the home of Mrs. Harry Kelly. Mrs. Ray Greene served creole shrimp and Mrs. Craft and Mrs. Riggs were hostesses for the meat course at the Whistling Kettle. Mrs. H. F. Harris served the salad course and Mrs. List served desert. Demi-tasse was served at the home of Mrs. Walter Rose.

Following the supper the guests attended the picture "Wings", which is being shown at the Beacham theater this week. A midnight supper was served at the Latch String Tea Room.

The rushees include Misses Betty Tone, Elizabeth Rathbone, Frances Arnold, Helen Porter, Catherine Hill, Pauline Bumby, Lucille Tolson, Louise Brett, Penelope Pattison, Alice Burdett.

The alumnae present were Misses Margaret McKay of Tampa, Mrs. Earl Shannon, Mrs. Donald Vincent of Haines City and Miss Helen Link.

at the home of Mrs. Donald Cheney, of Orlando. The main course was served at the Rendezvous, followed by the salad course at the home of Miss Charlotte Steinhans, on Copeland Drive. Dessert and coffee was served at the home of Mrs. Walter W. Rose, who was assisted by Mrs. W. M. Glenn and Kehlenbeck, Lucille Tolson Moore, and Kay Hara. Place cards in two shades of blue, and the owl, Kappa Kappa Gamma colors and symbol were used on the table of the Rendezvous, and each guest was presented at the last course with a most attractive ornamental tray as a favor of the evening.

Rollins Sorority Holds Rush Banquet

The Phi Betas, national professional music and dramatic art sorority of Rollins College, gave their formal winter rush banquet on Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Green Gables.

There was a program that took place in between courses. Miss Virginia Richardson, president of the sorority gave the welcoming speech, Miss Charlotte Steinhans, the history of Phi Beta, Miss Helen Morrow, the aims and ideals of Phi Beta.

The rushees were the Misses Dorothy Smoak, Elizabeth Armstrong, Elinor Dwight, Willie Pearl Wilson, Emlie Bookwalter, Jane Folsom and Elinor Wright. Miss Margaret McKay, a charter member, was also present for the occasion.

Kappa Epsilon entertained Monday, October 31, with a luncheon given at Washburn's Tea Room, with a party of twelve.

At 3:30 P. M., K. E. entertained at their home on Chase Avenue with five tables of bridge. The color scheme carried out the fraternity colors, red and white. A salad course and coffee were served. The high score was made by Miss Ruth Chase, and second high was won by Miss Helen Davis. Miss June Chase was given the cut-prize. Those present were Misses Ruth Chase, Helen Davis, June Chase, Pet McKay, Virginia Scales, Myra Thomas, Jane Powers, Nancy Dickinson, Catherine Green, Sarah Dickinson, Barnelia Woodward, Janet Love, Barbara King, Helen Massey, Tillie Moyer and Vivian Douglas, and the members of the fraternity.

That night the house gave a different appearance. Witches flew around and ghosts floated through the house. The three rooms were filled with Hallowe'en decorations, bamboo and palms. The Florida Melody Boys, the orchestra for the evening, announced at intermission, that food was served in the rooms below. Cider, doughnuts, apples and candy was served in true Hallowe'en style. Favors, confetti, and streamers were then given out, and the dancing lasted until midnight. Those above named were present.

On Tuesday they had the other luncheon at Washburn's. There were twelve in the party. Nut cups were used as favors.

At 5:30 P. M. the rushees were taken to the Amherst for a buffet supper, where food of all variety was served. After the supper they saw Beau Geste. Afterwards there was a party at McElroy's—the K. E. Special was served, and "Little Miss K. E." presented as a favor to each of the rushees.

Kappa Epsilon opened formal rushing with a banquet at Dubsdread Country Club Wednesday, November 9th. The table was appropriately decorated with red and white, the colors of the sorority, predominated in the decorations, place cards, nutcups and favors. A five course dinner of cocktail, celery and olives, chicken, potatoes, green peas, hot rolls, lettuce and tomato salad, brick ice cream and coffee was served. A program was furnished by the talent of the sorority girls. It consisted of music and readings.

The guests were as follows: Alumni; Mrs. A. I. Sutliff, Mrs. Harry Kelly, June Mosher, Helen Link, Marion Sias; Honoraries; Mrs. I. H. Enwright, Mrs. B. A. Burkes, Mrs. C. F. Lavell, and Mrs. D. K. Dickinson; Rushees; Janet Love, Jane Powers, Sarah Dickinson, Victoria Dickinson, Myra Thomas, Tillie Mayers, June Chase, Helen Davis, Helen Massey, Vivian Douglas, Petronelle McKay, Barnilia Woodward, Virginia Scales, Barbara King and Ruth Chase, and the active members.

Kappa Epsilon Dinner Attractive Event of Formal Rushing Week

WINTER PARK, Oct. 21—Kappa Epsilon sorority of Rollins College entertained their rushees on Wednesday evening with the traditional progressive dinner that has been given for the past several years. Mrs. Harry K. Kelly, assisted by her mother, Mrs. D. K. Dickinson, was hostess at the cocktail course, which was served at the sorority chapter house on Comstock-av. The soup course was served at the home of Miss Myra Thomas on New England-av., and was followed by the fish course at the home of Mrs. Donald Cheney, of Orlando. The main course was served at the Rendezvous, followed by the salad course at the home of Miss Charlotte Steinhans, on Copeland Drive. Dessert and coffee was served at the home of Mrs. Walter W. Rose, who was assisted by Mrs. W. M. Glenn and

Mrs. J. C. Lettice.

Those present included the rushees, hostesses of the various courses, Mrs. J. K. List, Mother Emeritus of the sorority, Miss Margaret Barker, Kappa Kappa Gamma co-organizer, and Mrs. J. Irvin Chaffee, house chaperone, and the following members of the sorority; Betty Rathbone, Betsy Harris, Celestina McKay, Betty Currier, Janet Seasongood, Mildred West, Eleanor Wright, Louise Brett, Jeanne Carter, Kitty Davis, Ruth Harris, Jerry Eckis, Jessie Kehlenbeck, Lucille Tolson Moore, and Kay Hara. Place cards in two shades of blue, and the owl, Kappa Kappa Gamma colors and symbol were used on the table of the Rendezvous, and each guest was presented at the last course with a most attractive ornamental tray as a favor of the evening.

Sorority Members Give Garden Fete and Tea

Members of the Kappa Epsilon sorority gave a benefit garden fete and bridge-tea on the lovely grounds of Mrs. H. E. Osterlin's estate on Interlachen avenue, Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. The party was for the benefit of the sorority house fund.

During the afternoon members of the sorority and guest artists from Rollins College gave a delightful program of music and specialty dancing on a raised platform in one end of the lawn. Miss Betty Armstrong gave an Apache tap dance in costume, Carlo Morozzo gave several delightful piano selections, Miss Barbara Parson accompanied by Dick Buckmaster on the piano did a natural dance in Greek costume and Miss Catherine Goss charmed her large audience with a number of violin selections. Miss Goss was accompanied on the piano by Miss Frances Vallette of the Conservatory of Music at Rollins.

One of the features of the afternoon was a flower booth where some of the girls dressed in old-fashioned costumes sold flowers, and another was the raffling off of a beautiful battik made by Miss Myra Thomas which went to Mrs. E. H. Riggs.

The active members of the sorority who attended the party were the Misses Virginia Stelle, Dixie Hill, Eleanor Wright, Aurora McKay, Myra Thomas, Polly Dudley, Kay Hara, Betty Armstrong, Charlotte Steinham, Helen Porter, Lucille Tolson, Louise Howes, Betty Rathbone, Louise Brett, Margaret McKay, and Betty Kelly.

The actives were assisted by the two pledges Miss Jean Carter and Miss Edith Soule.

Those who took tables for the bridge were Mrs. E. R. Donnelly who had a party of two tables; Mrs. Stevens, Miss Dorothea Thomas, Mrs. J. J. Carty, Mrs. Cheney had a party of two tables and also Mrs. J. J. Chaffee, Mrs. H. W. Barnum, Mrs. B. A. Burks, Mrs. Willard Wattles, Miss Sara Wensell and Miss Betty Kelly.

Misses at Benefit Oesterling Home

The following pledges who assisted were the Misses Betty Armstrong, Jean Carter, Elizabeth Transeau, Eda Soule, Kathleen Hara, Eleanor Wright and Polly Dudley.

K. E. Sorority to Have New Home

Kappa Epsilon of Rollins college, oldest sorority in Florida, has just closed a lease on the William Chase Temple Mansion in Winter Park, as a residence for its members beginning next fall, according to an announcement made yesterday by Mrs. Raymond W. Greene, who made arrangements for the girls. Since Kappa Epsilon takes a leading part in the social life of the community, it is expected that this announcement will be of interest to a large number of people.

During the past year the Kappa Epsilon girls have rented a bungalow in Virginia court near the campus. The Temple home is much larger and is located on Chase avenue near the lake.

This sorority was founded in 1902 and among its alumnae are numbered many noted women. Mrs. Irving Bacheller acts as "mother" for the girls.

Sir Wilfred and Lady Grenfell Are Guests of Sorority at Reception

The Kappa Epsilon Sorority of Rollins College gave a most delightful formal reception last evening for Sir Wilfred and Lady Grenfell following the interesting and instructive lecture at the Congregational church by Sir Wilfred.

The Sorority rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion with a red color scheme. The mantelpiece was banked with colorful sprays of turks cap and placed about the room in tall vases were quantities of red hibiscus. In the dining room where light refreshments were served the table presented a lovely picture with a centerpiece of vari-colored sweet peas. Red roses in profusion were also used for colorful effects in all the rooms.

In the receiving line with Sir Wilfred and Lady Grenfell were: Dr. Hamilton Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bacheller, Madam Maurice Rotival and Miss Aurora McKay.

Members of the student body and the faculty attended the reception as well as a number of guests and residents of Winter Park.

Among those who had an opportunity of meeting the distinguished guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Albert Shaw, Chester D. Pugsley, Dr. Robinson, Professor and Mrs. E. O. Grover, Judge and Mrs. L. J. Hackney, Miss Mary Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Leonard, Professor and Mrs. H. F. Harris, Dr. and Mrs. John Bassett Moore, Professors Sylvester Bingham, Roy M. W. France, George Mason, Professor and Mrs. Malcolm Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Powers, Miss Elizabeth Cuthers McConnell, Mrs. E. W. Packard, Dr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. B. Burks, Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Hotchkiss and Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Clair.

Misses Myra Thomas, Aurora McKay, Charlotte Steinham, Lucille Tolson, Myra Thomas, Elizabeth Rathbone, Sara Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Shrewsbury, Mrs. Robert Dickinson was also a guest at the party.

There will be a benefit program-bridge given by the Kappa Epsilon sorority Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Woman's Club. Some of the active members and pledges will take part in the program. The party will be formal and anyone interested will please make reservations by calling 135.

Kappa Epsilon Entertains at Benefit Card Party and Tea at Oesterling Home

An outstanding event of the week at Winter Park was the benefit card party and tea given yesterday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Oesterling on Interlachen avenue, by the Kappa Epsilon sorority of Rollins college.

Receiving with Mrs. Oesterling were Miss Evelyn Green, president of the sorority, Miss Aurora McKay, and Miss Myra Thomas.

Twenty-five tables were arranged on the beautiful lawn of the home, and myriads of cut flowers were used in decorating.

At the conclusion of the games attractive prizes were awarded the high and low score holders, and also the winner of the cut prize among the tea guests received a lovely prize. An attractive batique, made by Miss Myra Thomas, was raffled off during the afternoon.

At the tea hour, an interesting musical program was presented by a trio composed of Frances Vallette, Mary Boyer, and Rudolph Fisher. An interpretative dance was done by Miss Barbara Parsons, well known and talented young dancer, and Hazel Darlington Yarborough delighted the guests with a number of songs. Readings were given by Evelyn Greene which were very much enjoyed.

Small corsages and boutonnières were sold during the afternoon, and Miss Louise Britt and Miss Virginia Mitchell were in charge of the flower booth.

All of the Kappa Epsilon girls were dressed in dainty pastel shaded organdie dresses, and made a true spring time setting of this lovely affair.

Rollins Sorority Gives Delightful Party

The Kappa Epsilon Sorority, active members assisted by their pledges, gave a most successful benefit bridge last Wednesday evening at the Woman's Club. There were about 30 tables in play and the proceeds went to the sorority fund. After the bridge and light refreshments were served a short program of songs and readings followed.

Those winning a prize for high score were Miss Ruth Johnson and Major Ralph Dickinson. Prizes for low score went to Mrs. Parsons and Professor Leland Jenks.

Miss Lucille Tolson sang two songs exceptionally well, one was, "Life," by Pearl Curren and the other was, "The House That Jack Built," by Sidney Homer. Miss Tolson was accompanied by Mr. Richard Buckmaster.

Miss Eleanor Wright gave a dramatic reading of "The Siege" by Clements.

Miss Betty Armstrong pleased with two popular songs called "A Wee Bit of Love" and "When My Dreams Come True."

Miss Kathleen Hara gave two short readings by A. A. Milne, "The Market Square" and "Vespers," in costume.

The active members who sponsored the party were: the Misses Helen Porter, Louise Brett, Charlotte Steinhans, Sara Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Shrewesbury, Aurora McKay, Lucille Tolson, Louise Howes, Elizabeth Rathbone, Myra

Kappa Epsilon Gives Bridge Tea Party

A delightful event of Wednesday afternoon was the bridge tea given by the members of the Kappa Epsilon sorority of Rollins college, at the Winter Park Woman's club.

The club rooms were beautifully decorated with a profusion of garden flowers and bamboo.

At the conclusion of several progressions of bridge, Miss Elizabeth Huery, holder of high score for the ladies, was awarded a beautiful cream and sugar set, and Mrs. L. A. Wood, holder of low score, was presented a hand decorated green flower pot. Walter Stevens, holder of high score for the men, was awarded a handsome leather bridge set, and Professor Wattles was consoled with a set of brass ash trays.

A delightful program was presented at the tea hour. Herman Siewert played two of his original numbers which were enjoyed exceedingly. Miss Grace Boone delighted the guests with a reading, "The Vanishing Princess." Miss Boone is a dramatic reader and teacher of note. Miss Vilma Ebsen, talented dancer, presented a number of delightful specialty dances.

K. E. Program Bridge a Beautiful Affair

The Woman's Club was the scene of a very attractive and successful benefit program bridge given last night by the Kappa Epsilon Sorority.

At the end of the bridge games Miss Elizabeth Huery was awarded high prize for the ladies which was a cream and sugar set. Mrs. L. A. Wood won low prize and received a green flower pot. Among the men Walton Stephens won high score and a bridge set in a leather case. Willard Wattles was consoled with a set of brass ash trays.

The program followed the games. Herman Siewart was most enthusiastically received in his presentation of two original piano numbers. Mrs. Grace Boone gave a short play. Miss Vilma Ebsen was charming, as always, in a group of dances. She was accompanied by Miss Ella May Weeks.

The party was worked out and given under the capable management of Miss Petronia McKay. Miss Louise Howes served as chairman of the refreshment committee and Miss Charlotte Steinhans was chairman of the decoration committee which was responsible for the profusion of mixed garden flowers about the club.

ANNUAL KAPPA EPSILON BRIDGE

The annual bridge and program garden party of the Kappa Epsilon sorority was held Saturday afternoon at "The Gables," estate of Mrs. H. E. Osterling, 643 Interlachen avenue. Tables were placed on the spacious lawn, which faces Lake Virginia, among a variety of shrubbery and beautiful spring flowers.

A lovely program as follows was rendered: A tap dance by Miss Betty Armstrong, a piano solo by Mr. Morzzo, a violin solo by Miss Katherine Goss, accompanied by Miss Frances Tallette.

Among those who had reserved tables were: Mrs. E. R. Donnelly, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. J. J. Carty, Miss Dorothea Thomas, Mrs. B. A. Burks, Mrs. W. H. Barnum, Mrs. Willard E. Wattles, Miss Winsell, Mrs. G. G. Cheney, Mrs. J. I. Chaffee, Mrs. Harry Kelly and Miss Vilma Ebsen.

Refreshments were served by members of the sorority who were charmingly attired in afternoon dresses of pastel colors.

Kappa Epsilon to Give Program Bridge Wed.

The Kappa Epsilon sorority will give a benefit program bridge Wednesday night, March 6, from 8 to 10:15 P. M., at the Woman's Club.

The program promises to be of great interest and entertainment. Miss McKay will be chairman of the arrangements for the party. The whole sorority will act as a working committee to perfect the plans in their finest detail.

Mrs. McQueen McKay Presides at Girls With MEpsilon Annual Banquet

Hostess Describes Experience as Guest in King of Siam's Palace and Shows Art Treasures.

Quite the loveliest and most unique party of the season was given Monday afternoon by Mrs. Ulysses Grant McQueen at her home on Chase avenue, Winter Park, when she entertained with a tea, "Meeting the King in Siam."

Her attractive home, which is filled with art objects which she has collected from all over the world, was particularly lovely on this occasion with the use of white narcissus, roses and lilies about the rooms. Mrs. McQueen was assisted in receiving and looking after the pleasure of her guests by Mrs. John K. List, Mrs. E. H. Riggs and Mrs. S. G. Davidson, of Tamworth, N. H., who is Mrs. McQueen's house guest.

While all the guests were assembling, attractive and lovely silks and embroideries, carvings and paintings, which Mrs. McQueen has collected, were displayed. Table runners of exquisite workmanship from China, a handsome shawl, a stunning lounging robe gorgeously embroidered, colored Chinese pajamas, an autograph book containing signatures of the leading figures in world affairs, a handsomely carved box of cryptomanina wood, were among the things displayed. Another interesting piece in her collection is a silver and copper chest, carved by the people of Damascus, which was given Mrs. McQueen by the government of Jerusalem for her work there during the reconstruction period of the English military regime. It is lined with sandalwood and has her name carved on it in Arabic. She has been offered $5,000 for the box. Another piece of interesting origin is a huge sacred wall piece which was carefully guarded and prized by a Chinese woman, as it depicts in exquisite embroidery work the emblem of longevity. This was also given to Mrs. McQueen.

An informal talk on her experiences was then given by Mrs. McQueen. She regards Siam as the most interesting country visited in her experiences of twice around the world. She said, in part:

"Siam is unique, an independent country on the continent of Asia, the only absolute monarchy in the world. It is about the size of Arizona and Utah combined, with the total white population a little over 2,000. The majority of the kingdom's nine millions are natives, but I saw many Chinese and Indians. Every able-bodied man serves in the army, making labor high in Siam. The chief product is rice, and the main source of

Louise Brett and Miss Myra Thomas, who gave several readings.

Miss Pauline Bumby was general chairman for the occasion.

Among those attending the banquet were the members of the sorority and Dr. Helen W. Cole, Mrs. H. F. Harris, Mrs. Willard Wattles, Miss Lida Woods, Mrs. J. H. Dickinson, Mrs. D. K. Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Harry Kelly, the Misses Ada and Margaret McKay of Tampa, Mrs. William Lindsey of Tampa, Mrs. Donald Vincent, Miss Edna Wells, Mrs. E. H. Riggs, Mrs. A. B. McCaughey, Mrs. W. W. Rose, Mrs. W. W. Yothers, Mrs. Davis Fishback, Mrs. Benjamin Fishback, Mrs. W. M. Glenn, Mrs. J. C. Lettice, Miss Elinor Flood, Mrs. H. S. Thompson, Mrs. H. E. Osterling and Mrs. W. F. Blackman.

Every able-bodied man serves in the army, making labor high in Siam. The chief product is rice, and the main source of revenue is opium, which is a government monopoly, and their chief import cotton.

"The people of Siam are good looking, polite and are cultured and gracious in manner. Their national costume is the panung, which covers the body from the waist to the knees. The language of the ruling family is different from that of the common people. The commercial language is English.

"Fishing is very popular and conducted with great skill. Fish may be eaten only when they have expired on land, as to slay them would insult their god, Buddha.

"The king received his education at Oxford and in the United States and his brother is now studying medicine at Harvard. The king is small, of Mongolian appearance, about 33 years of age. The king and his wife have visited in the United States and were entertained by one of the boys on our ship. A girl and boy in our party danced the Charleston at the request of the king, for which they received many gifts. A Siamese drama was given for our entertainment during the four days that we were guests of the king. The plays begin in the afternoon, lasting two continuous days.

"The temples are gorgeous sights of splendor in color and carving. The settings of jewels, mosaics of glass and porcelain represent years of skillful labor. The emerald and jade Buddha attracted the sightseers. I was silenced with the beauty and the more I looked the more overwhelmed I became with the gigantic display of wealth in the temples and palaces.

"The throne room of the king is rivalled only by that of the tsar of Russia. It expresses all the dreams of the ancient dreamers of barbaric splendor. Siam is the only country in the world where Buddhism is completely the ruling religion and the king the only living defender."

Following the informal discussion, refreshments were served. The dining table, which was laid with an exquisite lace cloth, was centered with a bowl of roses and arranged with a tea and coffee service at either end. Mrs. E. H. Riggs poured coffee and Mrs. S. # Brilliant Banquet Celebrates Founding Date Of Rollins Kappa Epsilon Chapter

The twenty-sixth anniversary of the founding of Rollins College chapter of Kappa Epsilon sorority was the occasion for a brilliant banquet last night at the Waterwitch club, attended by about 40 guests.

Red and white, the sorority colors, were attractively used in the decorations and appointments.

Roses were the flowers used on the long table.

Attractive programs designed in red and white had all the names of the sorority members since its founding 26 years ago.

Mrs. Irving Bachellor, Mrs. H. F. Harris and Miss Martha Mathis received the guests.

A charming program was given during the evening by Miss Elizabeth Atkinson, vocalist; Miss Charlotte Steinhans, reader, and Miss Elizabeth Kraft, pianist.

Miss Martha Mathis was toast mistress and presided with charm, and talks were made by Miss Beatrice Larson and Mrs. Harry Kelly.

Active members of the sorority are the Misses Elizabeth Atkinson,

K. E. Sorority Honored By Dr. and Mrs. Burk

---

One of the most pleasant of the pre-commencement parties in Winter Park was the dinner at which Dr. and Mrs. B. A. Burks entertained recently, honoring the members of the Kappa Epsilon sorority of Rollins College. Other guests were Dean and Mrs. Winslow Anderson, Prof. Sylvester Bingham, and Mrs. Bingham, Dean of Women, Miss Dorothea Thomas and Mr. Larry Lynch, Miss Marion Weber, Director of Women's Athletics, and Miss Margaret McKay, house mother of Kappa Epsilon.

Dinner was served at small tables on the porch overlooking the lake. The tables were centered with candelabra and bowls of garden flowers.

At the conclusion of the meal the guests assembled in the living room where the senior members of the sorority put the freshmen through many delightful stunts of readings, songs, and music, until the party left to attend the recital given by members of the college conservatory at Woman's club.

About 35 college girls and members of the faculty enjoyed this delightful and informal hospitality.

Miss McKay Honoree At Birthday Party

Miss Margaret McKay, house chaperone for the Kappa Epsilon and former student at Rollins College was the recipient of a pretty birthday dinner party given Thursday evening at the Green Gables Tea Room by her mother, Mrs. D. B. McKay, of Tampa.

The party was a complete surprise to Miss McKay. She arrived to have dinner as she thought with several friends. She was conducted to the Italian dining room where twelve of her sorority sisters greeted her with numerous presents. The table was beautifully decorated with tall centerpiece of snapdragons interspersed with flame vine. Nut cups in a yellow and green and tall yellow tapers in amber holders completed a most artistic color scheme.

After a four course dinner — a white birthday cake was brought in festooned completely around with a flame vine design in orange color.

Those who made up the party were Misses Helen Porter, Louise Brett, Betty Rathbone, Louise Hows, Myra Thomas, Virginia Stelle, Penelope Patterson, Charlotte Steinhans, Sara Dickinson, Aurora McKay and Mrs. Robert Shrewsbury.

Miss Eva Thompson Is Honoree at Party

Miss Eva Thompson was complimented at a charming party yesterday afternoon by her mother, Mrs. H. S. Thompson of Maitland. Miss Thompson is here from Baltimore for a short visit with her mother.

The guests were members and honorary members of the Kappa Epsilon sorority of which Miss Thompson is a member.

Mhs. H. F. Harris and Mrs. Enwright assisted the hostess in entertaining. Invited for the afternoon were Mrs. H. F. Harris, Mrs. George Kraft, Mrs. Hiram Powers, Mrs. Clinton Scollard, Mrs. Hamilton Holt, Miss Elinor Flood, Miss Virginia Davis, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. E. K. Dickinson, Mrs. W. F. Blackmon, Mrs. Sutliff, Mrs. Florence Vincent, Miss Ruth Richie, Mrs. Leigh Newell, Mrs. E. A. Kurks, Mrs. E. H. Riggs, Mrs. H. W. Barnum, Miss Eleanor Uppmeyer, Mrs. F. H. Enwright, Miss Constance Holt, Miss Sulvia Holt, Miss L. Woods, Miss Hill, Mrs. Osterling, Mrs. Coles, Miss Miller, Mrs. Ann Bronsen, Mrs. Ann Johnston and Mrs. Cooley.

Kappa Epsilon Sorority Honors Mrs. Enwright

The Kappa Epsilon Sorority of Rollins College entertained last night with a reception at their chapter house in honor of their new house mother, Mrs. F. H. Enwright.

The decorations were in red and white, the sorority colors, and quantities of zinnias and roses were used about the house in vases and bowls.

In the receiving line were Miss Beatrice Larsen, president of the active chapter; Mrs. F. H. Enwright, house mother; Mrs. H. F. Harris, faculty adviser; Mrs. F. W. Cady, honorary representative; Miss Martha McKay, of Tampa, alumna; and Miss Martha Mathis, active member.

A most enjoyable program was given by Miss Louise Howe, Orlando pianist; Miss Charlotte Wettstein, reader; Miss Evelyn Green, reader, and Miss Eleanor Upmeyer, soprano.

Mrs. Walter W. Rose poured coffee and Miss Hannah Gartland, dean of women at the college, poured tea.

The active members are: Misses Charlotte Steinhans, Louise Howes, Aurora McKay, Edna Wells, Martha Mathis, Virginia Mitchell, Evelyn Green, Ann Hathaway, Beatrice Larsen and Elizabeth Atkissen.

The guests ere the alumnae and their husbands, the honorary members, and a number of the Rollins College faculty members.

Sorority Members Enjoy Beach Party

The Kappa Epsilon Sorority active chapter members of Rollins College are enjoying their annual house party at the beach house of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Glenn, at Wilbur-by-the-Sea.

The girls, chaperoned by Miss Martha McKay, house mother, motored to the beach yesterday morning. They will be joined today by friends, and will return to Winter Park this evening.

Members of the active chapter are the Misses Aurora McKay, Charlotte Steinhans, Lucille Tolson, Myra Thomas, Elizabeth Rathbone, Sara Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Shrewesbury, Penelope Pattison, Virginia Stelle, Helen Porter, Louise Howes, Betty Armstrong, Polly Dudley, Elinor Wright, Kathleen Hara, and Jean Carter.

The Gate O' the Isles, the attractive estate of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bachellor, was the scene of a festive dinner party, given last evening for the Kappa Epsilon sorority members and their escorts who remained here for the Christmas holidays.

On Saturday, October 8th, Mrs. Ray B. Sutliff entertained Kappa Epsilon with a bridge party at her home in Winter Park. Four tables of bridge were played, at the conclusion of which the prizes were awarded to Martha Mathis, Edna Wells and Peg Canning.

When the game closed Mrs. Sutliff served a delicious salad course.

Besides the active members of Kappa Epsilon those who enjoyed Mrs. Sutliff's hospitality were: Misses Ada and Margaret McKay of Tampa, Peg Canning of St. Petersburg and Mrs. Laura Randal Huttig of Winter Park.

K. E. KOMMENTS

We are glad to have Mrs. Harris back after her sickness last week.

The demand for more of "Sadie Fellows" and our favorite lines from "Icebound," has kept Charlotte busy amusing us. She and Mat have been giving us duets.

This terrible epidemic of ghost stories continues to rage unchecked; the present outburst started with the very "mad" one told by Mrs. Gosling at the Phi Beta party.

Mat is being quite literary and has joined Alice Hegan Rice's seminar in addition to Percy McKaye's class.

It's been some feat keeping Pet and Aurora here with the excitement of pirates in Tampa.

Charlotte surprised us with a real home made cake and punch Tuesday night.

K. E. pledges wish to thank Alpha Omega pledges for their hospitality last Sunday.

Mrs. McKay stayed with us last week before open-house. We are very grateful to her for being such an efficient guardian angel in fixing the house for us.

We hope that the Thetas were properly inspired after the painstaking inspection they gave the house Sunday. Frank Abbott was forcibly restrained from borrowing a dresser cover for them.

Edna and Elizabeth came up from Tampa Saturday to be with us for open-house.

Peg Canning also surprized us this week.

Mrs. Ray Green entertained with a bridge supper Wednesday evening in honor of Kappa Epsilon. Those present besides the active chapter were Louise Brett, Alice Burdett, Pauline Bumby, Lucille Tolson, Mildren Flope, Flelen Porter, Penelope Pattison, Miriam Sprague, Betty Tone, Mary Veasey and Lottie Turner.

The McKay house at Indian Rocks rocked with Rollins coeds and men again this week-end, when we held our annual house party there. Elizabeth Atkinson, Peggy Canning Goodell, Margaret and Ada McKay, Ginny Scales, Carl Warner, and Eleanor Upmeyer were our guests on Sunday. We were fortunate enough to have Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Enwright, and Mrs. Wattles go with us.

Crab-catching according to Abbott, archery and lion hunting by the James brothers, gulf swimming and sunburn were among the chief diversions of the week-end. But why waste words, see our snaps.

We celebrated a birthday late Wednesday night. Ginny Stelle thought she could keep it.

Betty Bathbone's mother and father motored down from Massachusetts to visit her last week-end.

How to commit suicide: slap u on the back.

Famous sayings of famous people
Hand me the Unguentine.

We are glad to have Virginia Scales with us again. Ginny, Edna, and Trixie were all at the house last week-end.

Kappa Epsilon honoraries and alumnae entertained the active chapter and guests with a progressive dinner Monday evening. We visited the Beacham and the Latchstring afterwards.

Margaret McKay and Virginia Davis gave us a steak roast on Freeman's lawn Friday night.

Saturday and Sunday Mrs. Enwright entertained with a week-end party at Bumby's camp. Among the many enjoyable events was the exciting boat ride given us Sunday morning by several expert mechanics.

After spending Sunday morning on the lake, losing big ones, Jimmy Armstrong attended services at the colored Methodist church that night by way of atonement.

Saturday Charlotte gave a luncheon at her home in Orlando.

After the lecture Tuesday night, our head chef, Lou Howes, served waffles and sausage to a large number of visitors.

K. E. Komment's

We wish to express our sincerest sympathy to Louise Brett upon the loss of her father. We hope that she will soon be back.

---

At last the weather gave us a break and behaved beautifully for our garden party last Saturday.

---

Ada McKay and Whiting Hall's mother, after motoring down to Sebring to hear the Glee Club concert, came to Winter Park for the weekend. Yes, our garden party rated.

---

Sarah, Nicky, Eleanor, Mat and Helen felt the lure of spring last Sunday night and went on a moonlight picnic. Evidently they had a good time for they are planning to repeat the experience.

---

We enjoyed having Marilouise with us last Tuesday night. Come again, Marilouise and we'll try to give our mice a few pointers on etiquette meanwhile. Helen wishes to apply for a mouse-catching job.

---

Lou and Tolson are still feeling for broken bones and in awed tones tell of their escape from death during a recent ride to and from Oviedo.

---

But speaking of really rash deeds—have you seen Rathbone? Now she can sleep five minutes longer every morning.

K. E. Komments

The K. E. House has been turned into a school for young ladies, with majors in nursing, typing, dressmaking and cooking. We all expect to graduate with Magna Cum Laude.

---

We certainly were pleased with Charlotte's performance in "As You Like It." And then not content with that, she startled us by being "Miss Orlando" in the pageant at Lake Eola.

---

Everybody is busy making corsages for the Garden Party. We hope lots of you will be there to enjoy it with us.

---

Since Eda has been sick, we have had lots of flowers in the house.

---

Everyone who remembers Vilma Ebsen will know why we are looking forward so to having her spend Saturday night with us.

---

K. E. Komment's

---

Margaret and Aurora left us and spent the weekend in Tampa visiting a cousin from Spain; however the children were good and resisted the temptation of the green bananas.

To members of the Tatting Club:—We were pleased to have you at our home for the last meeting and we hope, in the future, to be able to fulfill all of Sister Pickard's desires— Now that we are educated as to the custom of the club.

"Army" and "Navy" (Goldfish) seem to be declaring war in Cloverleaf and have announced that they intend to swim to the K. E. house where the food and water is better.

"Red" dropped in on us from Gainsville, Tuesday, and took Aurora and Cile for a little joy-ride—But they didn't mind, even a little bit.

Of course it's great to have Betty Tone back with us again even tho' she isn't living at the house. She sorta gave us a surprise when she dropped in on us.

Meals seem to be quite popular at the house—why the Luncheon Club even prepares mushrooms and steak now.

And another thing, just what is the meaning of Rathbone being on one end of the line of a long-distance telephone call?

Cookie, that candied pineapple from the home of them all was great. Come again.

K. E. Comments

We are glad to announce Mrs. John Sinclair, of Toledo, Ohio, as an honorary member of Kappa Epsilon.

---

We were pleased to have Phi Beta use our house for their rush tea, since Mrs. Holt's unforeseen absence made it impossible for her to entertain.

---

Last Sunday morning a waffle breakfast was served to twenty-eight at the home of Charlotte Steinhans in Orlando. Louise Howes and Kam Hill assisted in receiving the guests, found a cheerful greeting of "good morning" at each place.

---

Helen Porter and Louise Brett found time to crowd a steak roast into the busy schedule of events, last Monday and such weird tales as were told around the fire.

---

We just received word that Trixie Vincent has received her M. A. degree. It's a boy, and his name is Hugh!

---

Margaret dashed to Tampa overnight Wednesday with Kay Sherman and her guest from Maine. Miss Weber stayed with us Wednesday night. Hope she won't wait till Margaret goes away again for her next overnight visit.

---

We will open our house to the students and faculty next Wednesday evening and you are cordially invited to come.

---

Ginny Stelle was kept busy during the vacation by taking care of the Gift Shop at Green Gables.

K. E. Comments

We deeply regret the passing of Mrs. J. B. Thomas.

---

Everyone is back on the job again except Kam Hill and Betty Tone. There were big doings everywhere. The "left-overs" had a waffle party, Chaperone Mason leaving a bit too early for the fun. Then Mrs. Irving Bacheller entertained them Christmas Eve at her home.

---

Nancy celebrated Christmas by being married and Sarah surprised us by becoming engaged. Helen Link, an old K. E., was also married during the Christmas vacation.

---

Hara and Transeau learned to play baby golf. Hara apparently has a permanent pass up there, while Transeau states that the high score pays and pays and pays.

---

Polly went to Tampa to visit the horses again. This time she swears she didn't fall off, but . . .

---

Although she had a good time in Miami, Cile did not seem broken-hearted to return.

---

Polly's mother arrived from the North right after Christmas and the K. E.'s are having fun showing her Rollins.

---

Ginny Stelle was kept busy during the vacation by taking care of the Gift Shop at Green Gables.

Notice

The condition of the front porch is perfectly terrible! Everyone who had anything to do with its getting in that condition will please see to putting it in order at the earliest possible moment. It was thoroughly cleaned only yesterday.

Your Mad Mama!

In behalf of Kappa Epsilon, I want to tell you how very much we have enjoyed entertaining you to-mite. We hope that you have enjoyed it as much as we have. We were particularly glad to have you attend the progressive dinner because we wanted you to meet as many of our alumni & honorary members as possible. We have a very strong enthusiastic group of alumni for Kappa Epsilon was founded back in 1902 — In fact — it was the first Greek letter Sorority in the state of Fla. <sup>therefor</sup> many of the leaders Winter Park and Orlando are <sup>alumni of Kappa Epsilon</sup> ~~of Kappa Epsilon~~. As you probably know Mrs. — Enwright is our home mother, Mrs. — Harris our Faculty advisor and Mrs. Irving Batchelor — our Fraternity mother. We are particularly proud of our group of honorary members — among which are <sup>Miss Harris</sup> ~~Miss Harris~~, <sup>Miss Craft</sup> ~~Miss Craft~~, Jessie B. Rittenhouse <sup>Catherine Shepley Brown</sup> and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens — and they are all with us in spirit to-mite.

We hope that in the years to come when we are grey haired old ladies that we may all look back upon this mite as a blessed memory — and may we remember the good fellowship and love that was present here. It is almost midnight. In <sup>token of this spirit</sup> let us all stand and join hands as the actives sing some of our Fraternity songs.

MERRY
CHRISTMAS!

From Florida

Superlatives seem quite in order when introducing Mrs. H. E. Oesterling of Winter Park, Florida. She comes from our youngest-of-all, Delta Epsilon. She was among the earliest of convention arrivals. Her husband, Dr. Oesterling, came with her (and that's just about a super-superlative). And a more ardent Kappa than she we have yet to meet! About 10 years ago she was made an honorary member of Phi Beta and last January received her Kappa badge. It is truly inspiring to hear her expressions of loyal interest in everything which concerns Winter Park and Rollins and the Kappas, and of the close bond which exists between the older and the active members of the chapter. Besides her Kappa interests, she holds two vice-presidencies in her community, one in the Winter Park Women's club and one in the Garden club. Every year the chapter enjoys a bridge party in her lovely garden and her home seems always to be in a beautiful state of open house for the girls. Delta Epsilon calls her fairy god-mother and she says, "To me the girls are perfect."

Rollins College
Winter Park, Florida

June 19, 1929

Dear K. E.:

On June 7, our alumnae of Winter Park and Orlando met with us to form the Kappa Epsilon Alumnae Association, and we knew you would be interested to hear about it. A second chapter was added the first part of last week, when the Tampa and St. Petersburg K.E.s plan a joint meeting in their part of the state. We have hoped for a long time to have the Association started, since our alumnae group is a strong one and can be an active organization. You will probably hear more details of the new club from one of the secretaries, but we want you to be in touch also with our present active chapter and its activities.

We have nineteen members this year, with Virginia Davis, '25, and Mrs. Harry Kelly-Betty Dickinson of the class of '25, as our active alumnae. We are inclosing a sort of roll call, because you may know some of us already.....

Aurora and Pet McKay of Tampa; Myra Thomas of Winter Park, Charlotte Stienhans, Louise Howes, and Pauline Bumby, all of Orlando; Evelyn Green of Statesboro, Georgia; Helen Porter of Clinton, Kentucky; Lucile Tolson of Miami; Virginia Mitchell and Louise Brett of Coconut Grove, Florida; Penelope Pattison of Asheville; Betty Tona and Virginia Stelle of Chicago; Kathryn Hill of St. Louis; Betty Rathbone of Boston; and Nancy and Sarah Dickinson of Dunedin, Florida.

Like all good colleges, Rollins has grown much lately, and we have a great many organizations and activities of one kind and another on the campus. K. E. is well represented in all of them, with especial strength in the Glee Club, Art Association, French Club, and Little Theatre Workshop. Several outstanding campus honors have belonged to K.E.s this last year. Aurora, besides holding office in almost every club here, being president of the Spanish Club and so on, is the first girl editor of the Sandspur, and has made such a good one that she was recently elected to the same office again for next year, with no one even trying to run against her. Aurora also carried off most of the honors at the Little Theatre, where she won first place in two of the three groups of plays presented, then was awarded the final first prize for being in the best play of the year. Charlotte represented K.E. as one of the three members of the Rollins Debating Team, which refused to follow the example set by our football men, and came through a most successful season, suffering no defeats at all. Several of our girls have distinguished themselves in the Art Department; Penelope wins prizes on her drawings, Myra and Nancy always get first place whenever they exhibit their batiks, and Sarah was awarded first prize of $100 in a state "Florida poster" contest. Then as some of our more important campus offices for next year we have Aurora as Sandspur editor, Charlotte as secretary-treasurer of the Student Association, Myra as secretary of Y.W., and Charlotte as editor of the Rollins Handbook.

Rollins does not have intercollegiate athletics for the co-eds, but everyone here is interested in the Odd-Even events, and K.E. has members on all the teams of the different sports. Cam Hill was captain of the Odds basketball team, and Sarah was second high point girl in the Odd-Even Swimming Meet. Betty Rathbone is hockey head for next year.

Penelope and Myra represent us in the literary field. Both are contributors to the "Flamingo" the little orange-backed "magazine of the younger generation."

We lost two members at graduation this year, Ginny Mitchell, who was one of the editors of the Tomokan, and Evelyn, one of the two girl representatives on the Faculty-Student Council.

Some of our best news is that Margaret McKay, '24, is to be our house chaperon for next year. And speaking of McKays, as we always like to do, Mrs. McKay is a K.E. honorary now.

We hope you will be as glad as we were, -and not as surprised- to hear that K.E. has the highest scholastic average of any organization on the campus for last year and for the two first two terms of this year; the grades for the last term have not been averaged yet. But we're hoping for the best!

This last year we have worked hard to earn money for house rent, and with the aid of our local alumnae and honararies, have raised about two hundred dollars. The house, which we have had for two years now, is very satisfactory, with a downstairs arrangement convient for entertaining with benefit bridges or small dances, and we expect to have it again next year.

On graduation day, President Holt and some of the notables on the campus broke ground for a new dormitory, the first unit of the buildings that we are to have in the new Rollins. In the future, when you return to Winter Park you will see beautiful buildings of Spanish architecture around Lake Virginia instead of our present time-honored but motly collection. But we hope you will come to see us before that! There are still so many things to be done before the plan is completely carried out. Rollins is also starting a $2,500,000 endowment fund campaign, as you probably know. We're planning to keep up with the college in growing "bigger and better," if we can.

At any rate, here's luck to Rollins, K.E., and our new Alumnae Association!

Miss Eleanor V. V. Bennet,
Extension Department,
Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity,
Columbus, Ohio.

My dear Miss Bennet:-

I have always felt as though I were practically a Kappa. Preceding me at college were three sisters, each successively a wearer of the golden key and the knot of blue and blue. For years I chauffeured Kappa rushees to Kappa rushing parties, "scouted" Kappa material in high schools and preparatory schools, spread Kappa propaganda in desired quarters. And when I went to college --- Minnesota, '22, Alpha Delta Phi --- my most charming friends were members of Chi chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Later and older, business took me occasionally to Washington where, through a sister, I met other attractive Kappa women.

And all this is merely to present my credentials for the recommendations I am about to make.

I have lived in Orlando and Winter Park, Florida, for a number of years and have had the opportunity of knowing all the organizations and, probably, a majority of the students of Rollins college.

The college itself has risen from a state of near decay to an institution of national prominence; formerly destitute, it is now accomplishing a second successful drive to provide ample funds for a comprehensive curriculum; and with the new life which has been breathed into "Florida's oldest institution of higher education" has come an almost miraculous assembly of educators and, following them, a student body of the finest type.

I believe the official records will bear out these statements: In every department of the college life, the girls of Kappa Epsilon are rightfully achieving the greatest share of acclaim of any group on the campus.

Their interests are diversified and the girls able to combine charm, dignity, vivacity, social activeness and prestige - with scholastic, artistic and athletic attainment, and still play a preeminent part in campus activities (officerships in class organizations, student councils, Y.W.C.A., little theatre, debating, publications, et cetera).

In short, I know well the standards of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity. I know well the girls of Kappa Epsilon sorority. I know that Kappa requires the very finest --- and I know that individually and collectively K. E. measures up to the standards of K. K. G.

Kappa Epsilon has petitioned or is petitioning, as I understand it, for a Kappa charter. And the purpose of this letter is to add my hearty recommendation and sincere hope that Kappa Kappa Gamma will not overlook the opportunity of bringing greater glory to Kappa by granting to Kappa Epsilon a charter for a chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

I believe K. E. is worthy of K. K. G.; I believe K. K. G. will be embracing an opportunity which it would be regrettable to overlook, a great benefit to accept.

With my best wishes for a greater Kappa, always, I am

Sincerely yours,

Three times a loyal Kappa brother,

P. S. For reference, the three Kappa sisters are:

Elinor, Rachael and Jeannette Lynch (all of Chi chapter, U. of Minnesota) and now --- in the same order as above:

Mrs. Seiforde M. Stellwagen, Washington, D.C.,
Mrs. Wallace D. O'Brien, St. Paul, Minnesota, and Mrs. Edmund S. Gaynor, Sioux City, Iowa.

Let me describe to you a little city. It is going to be difficult for me to find proper words, to bring to you a fitting picture of the natural beauty, and innumerable advantages, all of which are gathered together in one little spot in central Florida. Can you imagine a community of 5000 people, among who, if I should mention names, would sound like a reading of Who's Who. I hardly believe that anywhere in America, or abroad, could be found a greater gathering of both wealth and intellect. Winter Park, Florida, is the city I am trying to describe and visualize.

Only those of you that have visited the high pine country of the Sunshine State, and driven over the perfect streets and avenues, thru the orange groves and sub-tropical forests, can appreciate the ideal setting and surroundings. The city has an enviable reputation of being one of the most beautiful, healthful, and progressive in the state. Situated around the shores of some of the most picturesque lakes to be found anywhere. Virtually every street, either terminates in, or encircles a lake. There are eighteen lakes, wholly within the city limits, which are bordered by luxuriant sub-tropical vegetation, magnificent estates, and hotels claim part of the shore line.

No part of our great country may boast of a finer all year round climate. Rare frosts and almost continuous sunshine, makes possible an all year round out door life, of both land and water sports.

Young people here mature sound, vigorous bodies, and lay the foundation for strong constitutions and good health, essential for physical well being and success in later life.

Bordering on two of the larger lakes in Winter Park, is located the campus horse-shoe of Rollins College, oldest institution of its kind in the state of Florida. Founded April the twentyeight, eighteen eighty five, and named for the late A.W. Rollins, one of its early benefactors. I might say that the name Rollins has meant a great deal to the college.

The late Edward W. Rollins, founder and senior member of the international banking house of E.W. Rollins & Sons. has been contributor of a new mens dormitory and a heavy donor to the endowment.

At the present time the college has undertaken a campaign to add $2,500,000.00 to its permanent endowment. The indications are, the committee selected for that purpose are having no difficulty.

In telling of Rollins College to you, I wish to mention a great many names, as only by the mention of names can you fully understand the type of persons associated with the school.

Actively serving on that committee are, Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, Hon. James M. Cox, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Mrs. Cora Harris, Barron G. Collier and many other well known people.

The college is a co-educational school, with a limited enrolment of 700 students, 400 men and 300 women, and an average of ten students to each professor.

The Freshman of 1929-30 ranked third among twenty-six southern colleges and universities in psychological tests of American Council on Education.

The campus consists of 45 acres well shaded by pines and live oaks, skirts the northern shore of Lake Virginia for nearly one half mile, and affords excellent athletic grounds as well as bathing facilities and boating thruout the year.

There are 14 principal building on the campus, vis. Carnegie Hall, (library and administration offices). Knowles Hall, containing the Chapel, Laboratories, Thomas R. Baker Museum and class rooms. Rollins Hall, a dormitory for men, the first unit of the new Spanish&Mediterranean type of architecture, erected in 1929. Chase Hall, a dormitory for men. Lyman Hall, providing class rooms. Sparrell Hall, a remodeled dwelling, used for class rooms, mostly for the English Department. Cloverleaf, a commodious three-story dormitory for women. Lakeside, another dormitory for women. Pinehurst, the home of the Conservatory of Music, containing studios, practice rooms and offices. The Studio, a remodeled bungalow on the campus used by the Department of Art for class rooms and exhibition gallery. The Commons, or general dining hall. The Recreation Hall, on the edge of Lake Virginia, has a well equipped stage and dressing rooms, a basket ball court with bleachers, and a total seating capacity for concerts and entertainments of 2000. The Public Speaking Studio, a building occupied by the Department of Public Speaking. The Shell House on Lake Maitland, which houses the large rowing shells. The franchise for the Broadcasting Station WDBO is also owned by the College.

In the 45 years that the College has been established, it has endeavored to maintain the high standard of education in Florida, and was the first institution in the lower south to be given the retiring allowance for the professors by the Carnegie Foundation. This recognition came in 1908.

Rollins is the only College as distinguished from the University to receive the honor of membership in the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States. The College is also fully recognized by the Florida State Department of Education, the New York Department of Education, and the American Association of University Women.

Rollins College is an active member in the following organizations. The Association of Colleges, and Secondary Schools of the Southern States. The Association of American Colleges and the American Council on Education.

The College offers 28 courses of instruction, and the faculty is composed of many distinguished members, such as, Cora Harris, Percy MacKaye, Jessie B. Rittenhouse, Helen W. Cole, Willard Austin Wattles, Virginia Robbie and others.

Among the presidents of Rollins there have been two in later years, to which the College owes much of its success, the Reverend George Morgan Ward, now pastor of the Flagler Memorial Church at Palm Beach and President Hamilton Holt, now president of the school and former editor of the Independent Magazine.

During Dr. Holts administration the College has gained nation wide recognition in the field of education, with the comprehensive explanation of the conference plan and two hour system, found in the Rollins College Adventure, and "An Adventure in Old-fangled Education," written by Dr. Holt for the Forum Magazine. Other educational movements of which Dr. Holt is sponsor, are, The conference of Nationally and Internationally known Educators and Philosophers for the purpose of discussing changes in the content of curriculum at colleges of Liberal Arts. John Dewey has agreed to be chairman of the conference.

Another feature of the school introduced by Dr. Holt is the annual meeting of the Institute of Statesmanship, which gathers trained experts, members of the general public, and undergraduates, in groups for discussion of important questions. Dr. Holt is indeed an unusual educator. I know of no other man more fitted to build an outstanding institution. Larger and more widely known schools possess no better, or highly regarded leader than he.

No college can long progress without an active Alumni support. Rollins is proud of its many illustrious sons and daughters. Chairman of the Alumni Association is Rex Beach, novelist, who is actively supported by numerous other characters of national reputation.

The Association publishes quarterly thruout the year the Alumni Record. Other campus publications are-

The Quarterly Bulletin.

The Annual Catalogue.

The Rollins Record. Its purpose is to inform Alumni' donors, and friends of the College as to the development and progress which Rollins is making. An edition of 12,000 copies of this publication is distributed bi-monthly.

The Rollins Animated Magazine. Unique among the Rollins publications is the "Rollins Animated Magazine" issues annually during Founders Week. The contributors are by all- well-known authors, and are presented by the authors in person. Each year from fourteen to sixteen distinguished editors contribute to this magazine, reading their manuscripts before a large audience of delighted "subscribers". The director of the New York Public Libraries said of the "Rollins Animated Magazine": "From my point of vantage, it seems to me that there are altogether too much printed matter in the world; and for this reason I am pleased to know that there is one magazine that is spoken and not printed.

The student publications are,

The Tomokan. This is the year book published annually by the Senior Class.

The Flamingo, a magazine of drama, short stories, and poetry which is sponsored by the English department of the college. All material printed in the Flamingo must be approved by a committee from the English faculty as well as by the editorial staff. In this way a remarkably high standard has been attained in this publication of undergraduate writing.

When the Director of the New York Public Library was asked concerning the Rollins College Flamingo he pronounced it "The best undergraduate literary publication that comes to my desk." When a well known novelist was asked if she did not think the literary standards set by this student magazine were in reality almost professional, "Yes" she replied, "dangerously so."

The Sandspur, the weekly newspaper issued by the editorial staff and the journalism class. It prints campus news and local stories. The various interests of a wholesome student life are sustained and promoted by means of appropriate organizations, such as,

The "R" Club

W.A.A.

Rollins Art Club

Studio Club

Little Theatre Workshop

The Rollins Players

The French Club

The Spanish Club

Rollins Literary Society

Gargoyle

International Relations Club

Rollins Key Society

Oratorical Association

The Liberal Club

O.O.O.O.

Glee Clubs

Student Trio

Violin Ensemble

Piano Ensemble

Instrumental Club

Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.

In addition to the organizations I have just mentioned Rollins has two honorary and professional fraternities.

Phi Beta Fraternity, (Musical and dramatic art.)

Rho Kappa Sigma, a local honorary chemical society.

Phi Beta Kappa has also expressed its intention of recognizing the college.

Rollins also has the Interfraternity Council which is composed of the following men's fraternities:

Theta Kappa Nu

Kappa Alpha (Southern)

Kappa Phi Sigma (local)

The X Club (local)

The Pan Hellenic Association is composed of the following sororities.

Gamma Phi Beta (installed 1928)

Phi Mu (installed 1929)

Phi Beta Phi (installed 1929)

Lambda Phi (local)

And there is Kappa Epsilon Sorority of which I am going to tell you in particular.

While in Orlando, Florida this past winter, I had the pleasure of being with this most attractive, and charming group of girls, the Kappa Epsilons.

I had previous winters known many of their Alumnae personally, however, last winter I came in closer contact with the active members. I find them a most interesting organization of girls, with the highest of ideals, charming personality, the highest of social standing, and the keenest intellect.

The active chapter had 18 members last year, 4 Seniors, 5 Juniors, 4 Sophmores and 5 Freshman.

Kappa Epsilon has maintained a rented house for several years, and has a small fund for building, which with wealthy backing will assure it a home of its own before long.

The house in which they live, at present, is located on the corner of two of the most beautiful streets in Winter Park, and is an unusually nice looking, ivory colored frame house, with ten rooms, a sleeping porch up stairs and two porches down stairs, one screened and the other not.

The house is nicely kept and very attractively furnished and to me it is the best looking sorority house at Rollins.

Kappa Epsilon is the oldest local sorority in Florida, and the forth oldest in the country, and was founded in 1902.

There are three Nationals on the campus-Pi Eta Phi, Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Mu.

Even in the face of this opposition K.E. has been able to retain the standard and prestige that she has held for the past twenty-seven years.

During the "rushing season" this past year they were more successful than any other group.

It has a very strong and wealthy alumnae backing in Winter Park, Orlando, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Ontario, Illinois, Massachusetts and Virginia.

I find that in Orlando most of the prominent ladies of the city are members of Kappa Epsilon.

The sorority is duly proud of her honorary members, as they consist of some of the nations most prominent <sup>Armen</sup> ~~Armen~~ women. Those among the most outstanding are-Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens, Mrs Cora Harris, author. Katharine Holland Brown, author of the "Father" winner of the $25,000.00 Womans Home Companion prize. Mrs. Percy McKay, wife of the dramatist and poet. Mrs. Willard Wattles, wife of the author of "The Lantern of Gethsemane," Mrs. Prescott, formally Mrs. Grover Cleveland. Mrs. Irving Bachellor, wife of the author and who is now fraternity mother to the K.E's. Miss. Anna Russell the actress, Miss. Virginia Robie, former editor of the House Beautiful, Dr. Rosalie Morton. Jessie B. Rittenhouse and Dr. Helen Cole.

With such an honorary group as this one can readily see just what an excellent standard of associates Kappa Epsilon has.

I never was over at their house last winter that I did not see several of these ~~Honorary~~ Honorary Members there. They seemed at all times greatly interested in Kappa Epsilon and its progress.

They were always doing such lovely things for the girls, and seemed to consider the K.E's. as if they were their very own daughters.

After mentioning some of the Honorary Members of Kappa Epsilon, I should like to take you now to the active group.

There are not words enough to express all the favorable things that I should like to say concerning them.

First let us see just what Kappa Epsilon is doing in the way of campus activities.

In enumerating these different activities, you will see how well Kappa Epsilon is represented.

There is the Student Association, of which one of their members is Secretary and Treasurer.

Student Council, which is made up of Student Association Officers and a man and woman representative from Senior, Junior, and Sophomore Classes and a man representative from the Freshman Class. In this Student Council, all women class representatives are K.E.'s.

Then we have the Class offices. All girls holding class offices are Kappa Epsilons.

Vice-president of the Senior, Junior and Freshman Classes are the offices held by them.

The Rollins Key Society, which is an honorary society for the purpose of fostering interest in all campus and scholastic activities, for Junior and Seniors has nine women members, and four out of the nine are members of Kappa Epsilons. The club also has nine men members.

There is a Rollins Studio Club, an honorary art fraternity, of which Kappa Epsilon has three out of the nine members. The offices of President, Secretary and Treasurer are held by the girls.

The honorary musical and dramatic national fraternity Phi Beta, has six of its members who are K.E.'s. Also the offices of Secretary, Treasurer and Historian are held by K.E.'s.

Two of the girls hold the offices of Vice-president and Secretary of the French Club.

The Sandspur, which is the College Weekly, has had a Kappa Epsilon as its editor in chief for two years. The editor is elected by the school at large.

The Secretary of the International Relations Club is a K.E.

Y.W.C.A. President and Secretary are offices held by the girls.

Rollins Literary Society, which has a limited membership, includes two K.E.'s, one of which is President.

Eight of the girls are members of the Girls Glee Club. One holding the office of Vice-president and another Secretary.

Leaving these organizations we will take up the athletics. To show you the sportsmanship of the sorority.

War canoeing is the only sport for girls having a Varsity team. All others are inter-class or Odd-Even.

The Kappa Epsilons have two members on Odd-Even team in basketball.

Five members on Hockey team. Odd team Captain and Even team Captain.

Two members on Volley Ball team. Odd team Captain.

Four members on class swimming teams, also Junior and Sophomore Captains.

One member on War Canoeing Varsity crew.

Volley Ball, Hockey and Canoeing Heads on Executive Board.

This past year Kappa Epsilon has brot to herself many faculty and student honors. Virginia Stelle, a Senior this past year, was awarded a Franco-American Scholarship for the school year 1930-31. This brought particular honor to Kappa Epsilon, in that the sbholarships are very limited, only two American girls are admitted to this school each year.

Aurora McKay was presented Algernon Sidney Sullivan award, recognizing her as the Senior girl whose school life was the finest and most inspiring. The College has given this award to a boy and girl of the Senior Class for the past three years.

Rollins is one the fourteen schools chosen to bestow this award.

Two out of the three medallions awarded to girls were won by K.E. and will be included in their exhibit at Convention.

In the Allied Arts State Prize Contest, Myra Thomas won second prize for Batik and third prize in black and white sketch. Penelope Patterson won honorable mention for color sketch. She has also been selected to be a member of the "Flamingo" staff of 1930-31 and is the holder of a Literary Scholarship.

Lucile Tolson has a Music Scholarship.

Three Seniors, one Junior, and one Freshman were selected for membership to the Rollins Players- a group of advanced members of the "Little Theatre Workship" who make road trips throughout the state accompanied by the Director.

Two Kappa Epsilon were selected by Dr. Holt to his special Senior Group.

Myra Thomas, Louise Howes, and Virginia Stelle are also holders of Scholarships.

Kappa Epsilon was awarded the scholarship cup given by Panhellenic for the highest scholastic standing among the women fraternities. This makes the third successive year that K.E. has stood above all fraternities (both men and women) in scholastic rating. It is hoped that this was also true previous to the school year 1927-28 but it is impossible to ascertain this as the College did not compile the group averages until three years ago.

Now that I have to the best of <sup>my</sup> ability given you a true picture of Rollins and Kappa Epsilon, and <sup>make</sup> you feel as tho you knew this unusual group as I do.

I have tried to innumerate the most outstanding points and the many honors that have been bestowed upon them.

I sincerely hope that you will agree with me that they are an organization that will uphold the standrds that Kappa has to offer and will do all in their power to advance the interests of our beloved fraternity.

When Kappa Epsilon is considered I trust that you will act most favorably towards her.

There will probably be changes in this as I read it. I am not altogether satisfied with this last paragraph.

SOME FACTS ABOUT KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA FRATERNITY

FOUNDING - Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., in Mar. 1870, but did not make its public appearance until October 13, 1870, the anniversary of which date is observed as Founders' Day. The founders were: M. Louise Bennett (Mrs. Joseph N. Boyd) now living at Penny Farms, Fla., H. Jeannette Boyd, Lou Stevenson (Mrs. W. O. Miller) now living at Kansas City, Mo., Mary (Minnie) M. Stewart (Mrs. Lucius A. Field), Susan Walker (Mrs. Alvan S. Vincent), and Anna E. Willits (Mrs. Henry H. Pattee).

MEMBERSHIP - With the new chapter at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla. (Delta Epsilon), there are 68 active chapters (4 in Canada), 9 inactive chapters, and 105 alumnae associations (1 in Hawaii). Total membership of the fraternity is approximately 20,000.

GOVERNMENT - The management of the fraternity is in the hands of the Grand Council, Kappa being the first fraternity to establish this form of government. The present Council members are: Mrs. H. C. Barney (Alice Tillotson) - Grand President, Miss Eleanor V. V. Bennet - Grand Vice-President, Miss Clara O. Pierce - Executive Secretary, Mrs. George Hostotler (Alice Watts) - Director of Provinces, Mrs. James Macnaughtan, Jr. (Marie Brydon) - Grand Registrar, and Miss Helen Snyder - Field Secretary. The fraternity is incorporated under the "not for profit clause" in the state of Ohio. The Central Office of the fraternity is located at 409-12 Ohio State Savings Bldg., Columbus, Ohio and was first planned by the 1922 Convention. In 1926 the office was actually established in St. Louis by Della Lawrence Burt, the first Executive Secretary, and in January 1929 was moved to Columbus.

The fraternity is grouped into 12 geographical provinces, each electing a president and vice-president at the biennial convention which alternates the year of the National Convention. No province may contain more than eight chapters.

NATIONAL TRUST FUNDS - 1) STUDENTS' AID FUND - Founded in 1902 and now totaling approximately $57,000.00. Available to any woman student who has successfully completed her freshman year. Kappas from 55 chapters have borrowed from the fund, which is in constant circulation, without interest until maturity of notes, and payable when the borrower has finished school and earning a salary. Borrowers who are not Kappas pay the nominal rate of 4% interest per annum. Interest of this fund is used for Co-Organizer Scholarships which send Kappas to assist new chapters to more quickly learn Kappas methods, traditions, and policies.

2) ROSE MCGILL FUND - Founded in 1922 as a gift fund to help Kappas in particular financial distress. It now totals approximately $3,000.00.

3) ENDOWMENT FUND - Now totals approximately $135,000.00.

PRINCIPAL is invested in loans to active chapters for building, furnishing or repairing chapter houses. Over $100,000.00 of this fund is now in use by chapters. INTEREST is used for the support of the Central Office.

4) KEY PUBLICATION FUND - The principal, amounting approximately to $145,000.00, is invested while the interest is used to finance the publication of THE KEY.

RELATION OF KAPPA TO OTHER WOMEN'S FRATERNITIES:-

- 1) First to establish Council form of government.
- 2) First to call a National Panhellenic Convention.
- 3) First to edit a fraternity publication.
- 4) First to establish a Co-Organizer System.

INSIGNIA - The badge of the fraternity is a golden key one inch in length with the letters K K G on the stem and Alpha Omega Omicron on the ward. There are seven styles of badge, namely - plain, pearl, sapphire, sapphire and pearl alternating, diamond and pearl alternating, diamond and sapphire alternating and diamond. They may BE SECURED ONLY upon order from an official jeweler and upon authorization of the Executive Secretary and the Chapter's Corresponding Secretary. The official jewelers are: Burr, Patterson & Auld Co., Edwards, Haldeman & Co., Hoover & Smith Co., J. F. Newman, Inc., and Rytic-Birks, Ltd. The pledge pin is a delta of dark blue enamel on silver, three-eighths of an inch on each side, enclosing a sigma of light blue enamel.

FINANCE - A uniform system of budgetary control for all chapters was established in 1924, a National Chairman of Finance and a National Accountant being in supervision. The initiation fee is $40.00. This fee includes $15.00 for life subscription to THE KEY, $10.00 for loyalty membership in the Endowment Fund, $10.00 for National Treasury and $5.00 for Convention Tax. The Installation Fee is $25.00 for each charter member, in addition to the regular initiation fee, and includes the necessary archives and initiation equipment for the new chapter and the installation of the System of Budgetary Control of Finance. There is an annual per capita tax of $10.00 for active members, and of $1.00 for members of alumnae associations. The national pledge fee is $5.00 which is distributed between our philanthropic funds as follows: $3.00 to Students' Aid Fund - $2.00 Rose McGill Fund.

MONMOUTH MEMORIAL - $2,500.00 was given to Monmouth College at their 1931 Commencement as a memorial to the six founders of Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The interest from this money will be used each year to purchase books for the college library. These books are marked with an appropriate book plate giving the date of Kappa's founding and the names of the founders. This money was raised through the sale of membership certificate frames and the collection of birthday coins from each member on our 60th anniversary.

PUBLICATIONS - 1) MAGAZINE - THE KEY is published quarterly in February, April, October, and December each year. In the beginning it was called THE GOLDEN KEY and was the first of such publications undertaken by a woman's fraternity. Editorial supervision was placed in the hands of four chapters, successively, each choosing its editor, until 1904 when the office of editor was elected by convention and made a part of the Grand Council. The 1930 convention removed this position from the Council and voted it an appointive office. Helen Bower (Beta Delta) is the present editor. Life subscription is $15.00 and an annual subscription is $1.50. Since 1924 the life subscription has been a part of the initiation fee.

2) HISTORY - has never been published but one is now in preparation.

3) SONGBOOK - The first one was published by St. Lawrence University chapter in 1886. The Chairman of Music, Winifred Glass (Gamma Theta) is now collecting material for a new edition.

4) CATALOG - In 1890 Boston University chapter published the first directory of members. The second by Stanford University in 1898, the third by Barnard in 1913, the 1919 edition appeared as a number of THE KEY, and in 1926 the last edition was issued by the National Chairman of Catalog.

KAPPA TO BE INSTALLED ON JANUARY 8 9

Ceremony To Take Place Friday and Saturday at Local Women's Club

Plans for the installation of Kappa Kappa Gamma, national social fraternity, Friday and Saturday, are nearing completion with the arrival today of Mrs. H. C. Barney, grand president; Miss Clara O. Pierce, executive secretary, and Miss Florence Pierson, province president; Miss Helen Snyder, field secretary, arrived in Winter Park from Washington, D. C., last week.

All events with the exception of a formal banquet at the Orlando Country Club will occur at the Winter Park Women's Club.

Miss Margaret Barker, co-organizer of Delta Epsilon chapter and marshal of installation, has announced the following program:

Friday, Jan. 8, at 2 P. M., installation of charter members; 7:30 P. M., registration of alumnae at the local chapter house; Saturday, Jan. 9, for the morning, 9:30, installation of active women of Kappa Epsilon; 11:30, present pledges pledged Kappa Kappa Gamma; 1:30 P. M., initiation of alumnae, and 7:30 P. M., formal banquet at the Orlando Country Club at which Eleanor Wright, president of Kappa Epsilon, will be toastmistress.

From 4 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon the local chapter will give a reception for its grand officers at the Women's Club. Rollins students, faculty members, and friends are expected to attend.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Officers

Orlando Close-Ups

the "E" must stand for Extra!

We must congratulate Kappa Epsilon, the local sorority at Rollins College, upon gaining admission to Kappa Kappa Gamma, outstanding national sorority. Kappa Epsilon is the oldest sorority at Rollins and as Rollins is the oldest institution of learning in Florida therefore it is the oldest sorority in the state of Florida, barring none.

Orlando members of Kappa Epsilon are Mrs. W. W. Yothers, (Ada Bumby), Mrs. Davis E. Fishback (Lily Wilcott), Mrs. W. W. Rose (Stella Smith), Mrs. W. M. Glenn (Lois Sample), Mrs. F. Gray Rush (Elizabeth Knox), Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Florida Howard, Mrs. W. C. Essington (Shirley Craig), Mrs. L. B. Giles (Nellie Broward).

Mrs. B. G. Fishback (Florence Bumby), Mrs. Donald Cheney (Fan Robinson), Mrs. J. Merle McElroy (Fletcher McCarthy), Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Leigh Newell (Vaudine Logan), Mrs. J. T. Roper, Miss Charlotte Steinhans, Miss Louise House, Mrs. John N. P. Huttig (Laura Randall), Mrs. John Lettice (Louise Smith).

Mrs. William Freeman Blackman, Mrs. John K. List, Miss Rebecca Caldwell, Mrs. David Sindi Simpson, of Mt. Dora, Mrs. Tilden, of Winter Garden, the Misses McKay, of Tampa, Miss Helen Steinmetz, of Norristown, Pa., and Wekiwa Springs, and others. Of the list, Mrs. Fishback, Mrs. Rush and Miss Steinmetz were charter members.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is one of the leading sororities in the United States, with fifty-four chapters in colleges and universities. It was founded at Monmouth College, Ill., in 1874, and is the fourth oldest in the country. Of the 54 chapters, 29 own their own homes. There are 15,000 members. A small golden key is the insignia of the sorority.

There are four other "nationals" on the Rollins campus, they being Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Mu and Pi Beta Phi. Nothing "sets off" a college with more distinction than its fraternities and sororities. Rollins College is to be congratulated for the Greek letter fraternities will help in spreading the name and fame of that institution.

It was an uneventful trip down, but the arrival at Winter Park was a great thrill—my first sight of Rollins and our attractive new Kappas. One of the boys at the train when I arrived had a door key pinned on his shirt to create the proper atmosphere. All the installation excitement has already been related, and words can only tell a part of it. The central office and Alice Barney left me at St. Petersburg, where we had one last grand reunion, before I went on to New Orleans and they went down to Miami before starting north.

First Florida Chapter

Kappa Goes Into Rollins College, January 8-10

THE Rollins college adventure has been watched by educators with great interest for the last few years. It is not a new college, as many people think, but the oldest in Florida, with a new idea. It was founded under the control of the Congregational church at Winter Park in 1885. In 1925 Hamilton Holt, for many years editor of The Independent, became its president. At that time the conventional system of lectures and recitations was discarded and the conference plan substituted.

It is President Holt's plan to build the ideal college. In so doing he realized that beautifully landscaped grounds and fine buildings were eventually necessary, but he knew that the thing of primary importance was great teachers. Rollins has assembled a faculty of men and women who are not only distinguished for their training and intellectual ability, but for their personality as well. If the students wish to study writing they learn it at the hands of real writers—Irving Bacheller, Clinton Scollard, Alice Hegan Rice, Willard Wattles, Jessie B. Rittenhouse, Percy MacKaye, or Fred Lewis Pattee. Rollins institute of statesmanship has brought to the college such leaders of thought as Senator Walsh of Montana, President Chase of the University of North Carolina, and Albert Shaw, editor of The Review of Reviews, for discussions that make politics a subject of fascinating importance.

The college loses no opportunity to replace textbooks with life. A biology class journeys to Tarpon Springs to study the sponge industry, where "a barefoot Greek diver on a picturesque ocean sailboat" was for the moment the instructor of the class. Students interested in journalism attend the state press conference. The surveying class goes to Tampa to study cement making. The International Relations club gathers at the president's house to meet informally the recent prime minister of Italy or an officer of the French academy. The entomology group does the same to meet a great neurologist, whose hobby happens to be beetles. The sociology class spends a week-end digging in ancient Indian mounds. A physics class drives to Daytona Beach to study high powered automobiles, comparing structure, motor power, wind resistance, and cooling systems of the cars of two world champion drivers. A class in history of the book follows the actual production of a book from the original manuscript to a beautiful finished volume issued by the professors' private press. A history class makes a trip to St. Augustine to meet with the Florida Historical society, study the oldest city in the United States and to discover the part it played in our early colonization.

Construction of the Annie Russell Theater at Rollins is now under way. The building, to be in Spanish-Mediterranean style of architecture to conform to the college architectural program, was given by Mrs. Edward Bok in honor of her friend, the distinguished actress. Miss Russell will be director of the new theater.

Rollins is sometimes termed the "open-air college of America." Its location in a year-round outdoor climate in the high lake region of Florida makes it possible to have boating, swimming, sailing, golf, tennis, and other open-air sports all the year. For this reason, it has also become very cosmopolitan with representation from 30 states and a dozen foreign countries.

The college is just completing a successful drive for $2,500,000, the income of which will be used for the payment of teachers' salaries. It is estimated that the income of the college from its present capital funds, and from tuition fees, will care for the other items of administration and maintenance. The raising of this fund guarantees that instruction will be directed by distinguished men and women in every field of learning. Many gifts have also been received for new buildings. The plan of architecture will follow the Spanish type.

Group living is closely connected with group study. With the development of the latter, it is natural that fraternities should play a large part in this college life. Local organizations had existed since the early history of the college. Though there was no opposition to national fraternities, their entrance was not urged until within the last few years. Gamma Phi Beta was the first to install a chapter, in 1928; Phi Mu and Pi Beta Phi in 1929; Chi Omega and Alpha Phi in 1931. A petition was presented to our last convention by Kappa Epsilon which was founded in 1902 as a local. Due to the formalities of inspection the matter was left in the hands of a committee to investigate. After a great deal of thought and debate on the question, the vote was taken affirmatively on granting a charter to this group, which had made some overtures to us as far back as 1921.

Being the oldest local in Florida, Kappa Epsilon has a long and commendable history to link with Kappa Kappa Gamma. Its members have been active in every phase of school life. Naturally over a long period of years its alumnae become scattered, though there are about 60 out of the 175 who still live in the state of Florida. Many of these women are active in the Orlando alumnae association.

Delta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma will be our first chapter in this state. The installation will take place the week-end of January 8-10. The details of this function will be announced at a later date, but it is hoped that a large group of our members will be in Winter Park for the occasion.

The following list of students who signed the petition will be installed as charter members. The pledges of last year and many returning alumnae will be initiated: Sarah Dickinson, Marion, Virginia; Louise Bowen Howes, Orlando, Florida; Virginia M. Stelle, Chicago, Illinois; Charlotte M. Stienhans, Orlando, Florida; Aurora McKay, Tampa, Florida; Georgianna Hill, Maitland, Florida; Penelope Pattison, Asheville, North Carolina; Nancy Dickinson Shrewsbury, Marion, Virginia; Myra A. Thomas, Winter Park, Florida; Helen Porter, Clinton, Kentucky; Elizabeth M. Rathbone, Palmer, Massachusetts; Lucille Tolson, Miami, Florida; Elizabeth Mae Armstrong, New York City; Jeanne Carter, Orlando, Florida; Polly Dudley, Newtonville, Massachusetts; Kathleen Hara, St. Catherines, Ontario; and Eleanor Gager Wright, Clifton Springs, New York.

tresses of the White House, has gone into its third edition.

This ceremony took place with the approval and interest of the Hayes family. No member of the family was able to be present, but their enthusiasm was evidenced in a cordial note from Mr. Webb Hayes, III, grandson of Lucy Webb Hayes, and historian for the Hayes family.

Arrangements were made through the courtesy of Dr. Alexander Wetmore, acting secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and Mr. Theodore Belote, curator of the Historical Division of the National Museum, who is in charge of the exhibition.

About 100 persons witnessed the ceremony. The key which was used was the hand-made badge of Susan Kelly Fay, Iota, initiated October 11, 1876. A letter from central office giving this pin to the museum and Mr. Hayes' letter giving the permission of the Hayes family have gone into the permanent files of the Smithsonian Institution.

Mrs. Hoover's gown has not yet been presented to the museum.

Eleanor Gage Wright has been chosen as delegate to convention from Delta Epsilon. Eleanor is our president, having served as corresponding secretary and house president. She has been treasurer of Phi Beta for two terms, is a member of both the Little Theatre workshop and the Rollins players and is a member of the Key society, Rollins literary society, and Glee club. Eleanor was recently selected as a nominee for the beauty section in The Tomokan.

Greetings to Delta Epsilon Chapter

By HELEN SNYDER, Field Secretary

INSTALLATION at Rollins college has come and passed and the pleasant memories of the inspiring occasion are still warm in the hearts of all those who participated. Cheered and delighted with the Florida sunshine (which somehow didn't seem hot at all to these pampered Floridians), the guests at the ceremonies enjoyed every second of their contacts with the chapter and the college. The whole atmosphere was one of hearty welcome and open-hearted hospitality on the part of the Kappa Epsilons, and of unveiled enthusiasm on the part of the guests.

The central office arrived in toto, and things began to hum soon after their arrival. Clara Pierce, with Mary Hatfield, Virginia Harper Meeks, and Polly Edelen had a grand trip down, driving from Columbus, Ohio, stopping off at intervals and having a general good time. One Helen Snyder, who had arrived from Washington, D.C., a few days before, rejoiced in showing them the sights of the place, and exhibiting all the beauty spots she had found.

Alice Barney was the next to arrive, after a long jaunt from Minneapolis, and what buzzing around there was at the appearance of our attractive G.P. When Florence Pierson, Mu province president, arrived from New Orleans, the family circle of installing digni-taries was complete and the fun began.

The Women's club of Winter Park surrendered its clubhouse for the big event, and the Kappa Epsilons moved out of the house and put themselves at the mercy of their friends, so that the visitors might avail themselves of their house. Even the tea rooms cooperated and gave us regular banquets for mere pittances.

The college paper used up a large part of one edition advertising Kappa's history and the events of the week—to say nothing of running pictures of the council members, Florence Pierson and Margaret Barker. And I may say here that Margaret Barker did one fine piece of work in arranging the details of the installation—we couldn't have done it without her. She was everything from chief arranger to errand runner. She had a hard time getting Kappas from near-by parts to come, because they were indulging in something called a depression or some other affliction, but many loyal ones came to assist. Miami turned out full force to be the musicians of the affair—we have since dubbed them the Miami warblers for their bird-like qualities. Mrs. F. B. Severance (Marjorie Wells, Beta Tau) was the mainstay of the singers, and we are especially grateful to her for her help.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins college, entertained the installing officers and assistants at an enjoyable luncheon one of the big days, and also had several of the deans. Other social events on our full program were the lovely banquet at the Orlando Country club, and the large formal reception given by the chapter in honor of the council members, to which the whole college was invited. It was a beautiful climax to the installation, initiations, pledge service, and model chapter meeting.

Alice Barney and Clara Pierce carried the heavy part of the installing ceremony, and Helen Snyder conducted the pledge service and the model chapter meeting. Everyone had plenty to do, and it went off beautifully, with lots of co-operation on all sides. Mrs. Grafton O. Charles (Iota) was assistant marshal, and we had her running around pretty strenuously. The whole thing was over before we realized it, and it seemed impossible that the dates of January 8-10, which had been so completely set aside for the grand occasion, could really have come and gone.

However, 13 new charter members are proudly wearing golden keys; Jeanne Carter, Sarah Dickinson, Kathleen Hara, Georgiana Hill, Louise Howes, Aurora McKay, Lucille Tolson Moore, Elizabeth Rathbone, Nancy Shrewsbury, Virginia Stelle, Charlotte Steinhans, Myra Thomas, and Eleanor Wright.

Other new Kappas initiated into Delta Epsilon chapter are: Louise Brett, Elizabeth Currier, Mary Jane Eckis, Betsy Harris, Jessie Kehlenbeck, Celestina McKay, and Janet Seasongood, all in the active chapter; Elizabeth Atkisson, Jane Bowers, Rebecca Caldwell, Mrs. J. I. Chaffee, Dorothy Darrow, Mrs. D. K. Dickinson, Mrs. J. H. Dickinson, Mrs. Ben Fishback, Mrs. W. M. Glenn, Mrs. Elroy Goodell, Evelyn Green, Mrs. Ray Greene, Mrs. Philip Harper, Mrs. A. M. Harris, Mrs. Harry Kelley, Mrs. J. C. Lettice, Ada McKay, Mrs. A. B. MacCaughey, Margaret McKay, Virginia Mitchell, Mrs. John Moore, June Mosher, Mrs. C. A. Noone, Mrs. H. E.

Osterling, Mrs. J. T. Raper, Mrs. W. D. Rose, Jessie Rittenhouse Scollard, Mrs. Earle Shannon, Mrs. John Shannon, Jane Scholz, Mrs. David Simpson, Helen Steinmetz, Beatrice Tone, Eleanor Upmeyer, Martha Van Zandt, Mrs. Donald Vincent, Mrs. Willard Wattles, and Mrs. W. W. Yothers, all alumnae of the chapter.

Side Lights on Installation

THE banquet had the wit of Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland as a key-note, and the whole program was beautifully conducted by Eleanor Wright, new president of the baby chapter. Speakers on the program were Charlotte Steinhans; Helen Snyder, field secretary; Mrs. Harry Kelley; Margaret Barker, Delta Epsilon's co-organizer; and Elizabeth Rathbone. Alice Barney, Clara Pierce, and Florence Pierson were all introduced to the guests and made inspiring impromptu talks.

En route to Winter Park from Columbus, the central office party stopped off in Chattanooga, Tennessee, long enough to see Lucy Guild, Duke's co-organizer, who spent the holidays there. They had tea with the Atlanta alumnae on another little stop-over.

Two Kappas from Beta Beta wintering in Winter Park, accidentally overheard the talk of the Kappas' installation at the dinner table, and immediately came around and helped in the installing.

The field secretary declares that she heard more people complaining of the cold while she was in Florida than any place she has been all year. It just goes to show how spoiled people will get.

The Kansas City Alumnae association sent down the Kappa film of the founding of Kappa to be shown at the banquet, and it was an interesting feature on the program.

Nineteen were pledged to Kappa Kappa Gamma at the pledge service conducted during the installation.

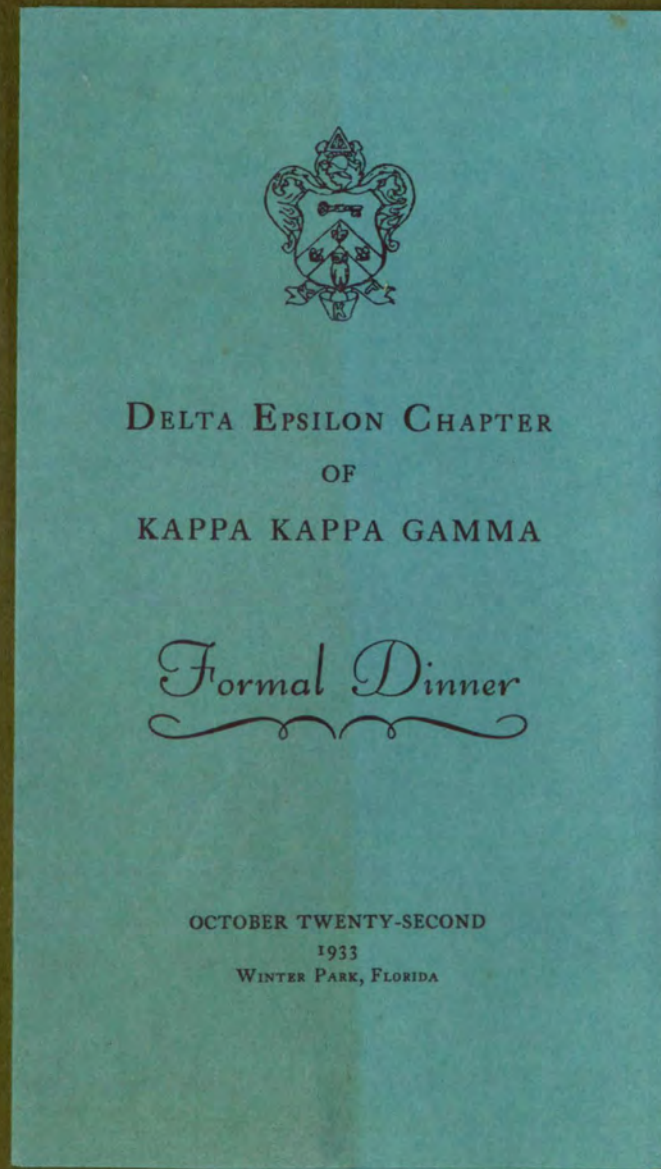

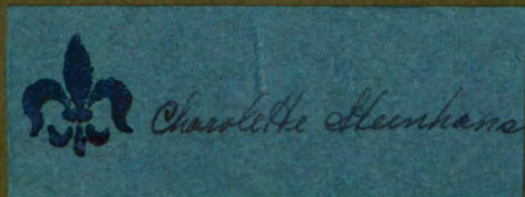

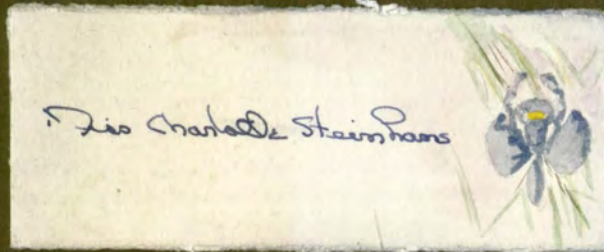

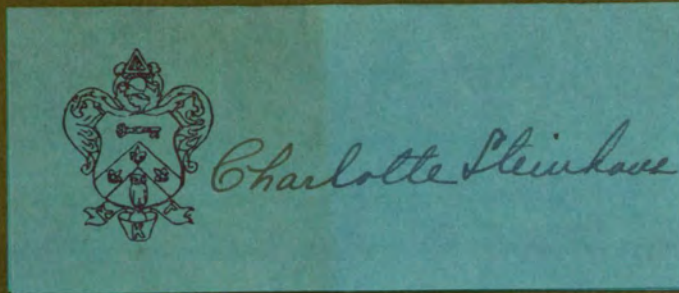

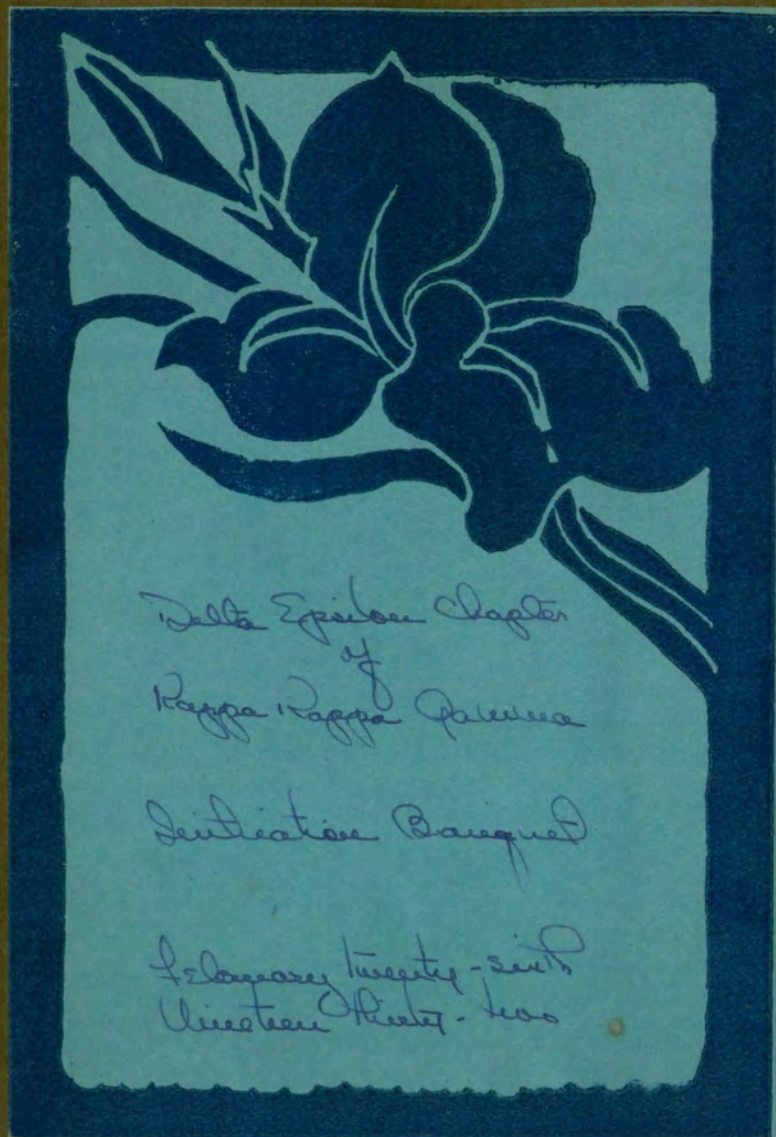

New alumnae associations promise to spring into existence in various corners of Florida, judging from all the enthusiasm exhibited at the installation. Mrs. Noone came all the way from Chattanooga to be initiated so she could make the eighth Kappa in town and thus make the eligible for an alumnae association.

Guests at the installation whose names have not been mentioned elsewhere in this article were: Lucia Neiberger (Epsilon); Mrs. Atlee V. Saurman (Mary Davenport) and Doris Saurman Musgrave (Gamma Epsilon); Mrs. John Manss (Helen Storrs) (Beta Rho); Mrs. John G. Dupuis (Elizabeth Ballard) (Rho); Mrs. L. J. Sterling Nichol (Dorothy Evans) (Theta); Mrs. J. J. Helm (Pansy Bell) and Mrs. Charles McKeand (Jessica Wood) (Iota); Mrs. Arthur F. Griffiths (Helen Clemence); Margaret Austin (Beta Beta); Elizabeth Robinson (Chi), and Mrs. Arthur McKean (Eleanor Ferguson) (Gamma Rho). Others escaped without signing the registration, but this is the list as far as we have it.

in New York in the early "eighties", when surfeited with lectures, operas, theaters, museums and art galleries, exhausting conversations with intellectuals, figuratively speaking, when "Murray Hill" became monotonous, she would spend a day in Greenwich Village, at Coney Island or even dare to visit Five Points.

She thoroughly enjoyed meeting people. With her keen penetration, her sympathetic attitude, she would discover something interesting, something appealing which a less human observer would neither recognize nor appreciate. Wherever she went she took her charming self, her ready understanding and never failed to find some person, whom to know would be very worth her while. Perhaps an old seaman captain of a "Whaler" with his marvelous stories of the days when wind carried the vessel where it would, or a "Trader Horn" with fascinating tales of wanderings, an humble soul understanding heart, viewing with liberality the mistakes of both the North and South.

She advocated ardently and effectively, "Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright," keeping faithfully the pledge made when a very young person, she donned the Red Ribbon.

Her religion was that of the Psalms and the Sermon on the Mount as she understood them. She cared little for the variety of religious technicalities, hers was a religion of the soul manifest in the daily living.

The following are a few of the maxims to which she faithfully adhered:

When possible to prevent it, never allow yourself to appear at a disadvantage.

Take yourself for granted.

Lyde Drummond Harris

Lyde Drummond Harris Passes On

WORD WAS RECEIVED on the first of September from President Holt telling of the passing of Mrs. Lyde Drummond Harris, beloved associate professor of English at Rollins since 1924. Mrs. Harris was taken ill during the Winter Term of last year and was forced to give up her classes for the remainder of the year. During the summer, however, she had been recuperating at South Eliot, Maine, and her death came as a distinct shock to her many friends.

In an early issue of the Sandspur the following tribute by Aurora McKay, '30, for two years editor of the Sandspur and a member of Mrs. Harris' classes appeared:

"February 27th, 1878 Mrs. Harris was born in Atchinson, Kansas. After the usual preparation, she received an international college education. She first attended the University of Berlin in 1904, returning to this country to complete work on a B. S. degree at Christian College, where in 1906 she was awarded the Gold Medal for the Junior-Senior Essay. At the University of Missouri, she received both her A. B. and A. M. in 1908. Ellsworth College later conferred on her a Litt.B. In 1922 Mrs. Harris returned abroad to study at the Sorbonne in Paris, where she remained for two years.

"Her literary accomplishments already recognized, Mrs. Harris came to Rollins in 1924 as associate professor of English and Literature. Since that time she has had a far-reaching influence on this campus, not only as inspirer and critic of student writing but as a woman of personal distinction, social grace, broad sympathies and talents. Her course in short story writing was the mainspring for the student ability displayed in the 'Flamingo'; her home was the gathering place for earnest young writers. It was no uncommon sight of an afternoon to see a student follow the Dinky track around Lake Virginia to her English cottage, a sheaf of work in hand, anxious for her verdict and sure of a wise audience.

"Along with these other interests, Mrs. Harris still found time to act as faculty advisor to Kappa Epsilon, which frequently found her home and garden lighted for the presentation of a student play, a faculty party, an Allied Arts meeting, or student entertainment.

"The student body paid her this tribute in dedicating to Mrs. Harris the 1928 'Tomokan':

"Author, woman, understander of the human heart—who for her tireless and unselfish efforts in furthering the literary interests of Rollins College, her infinite patience, and her ability to turn the thinking of a young person within so that the best and noblest forms of ambition may become conscious concepts in connection with a practical and moving world,—in short, for the supreme qualities of her which go to make her a great teacher we take this opportunity to express our gratitude and appreciation."

"Mrs. Harris was a member of the Society of Midland Authors, Poetry Society of Florida, American League of Pen Women, D. A. R., the local Allied Arts and the American Association of University Women. She spent several summers writing in the MacDowell Colony in Petersboro, N. H.

"Aside from her poems that appeared in periodicals, her play, 'A Chinese Rug Reading', was produced by the Allied Arts in 1927 and again in 1928. Mrs. Harris submitted her last novel, 'The Middle Path,' to her publishers a few months before her death."

Memorial Service

Rollins College held a Memorial Service in memory of Mrs. Harris Thursday morning, October 29th, on the shores of Lake Virginia.

Music for the service was furnished by the Faculty Trio composed of Miss Gretchen Cox, violinist, Miss Helen Moore, pianist and Mr. Harold Sproul, cellist. Professor Willard Wattles was in charge of the service.

Professor Weinberg in speaking for the faculty said: "Lyde Drummond Harris, 1924-31. A brief period of seven years, a period all too short for Rollins College, but a period during which, due to her untiring effort and zeal her department was greatly developed. Seven years during which time she had uppermost the betterment of the students, the improvement of Rollins and the preparation of the students for life after leaving college. Too little can we say of Lyde Drummond Harris, educator, teacher, companion and friend, we miss you."

Peter Stoner, '32, for the Student Body: "I represent the student body of Rollins. I wish to express our deep sympathy to Professor Harris in his deep sorrow. Mrs. Harris was to me more than professor. Her manner and wonderful personality were felt by all who came in contact with her. Our appreciation of the beauty and loveliness of things was due to her influence over us. Rollins has suffered a real loss. Mrs. Harris in passing from this world to another will make it brighter and lovelier by her presence."

Albert Newton, '28, speaking for the Alumni, said, "As one who had the privilege to know Mrs. Harris very well in her class and in close association outside of class, I wish to say she was to me a wonderful teacher and a true friend. In her classes she made the great figures of literature seem to us human figures. She often had me in her home and the association with her refined wonderful mind taught me to appreciate the true and high things for which she lived. She had continued to write to me as well as to her other students, and her interest in what we did encouraged us to further and greater efforts."

Representing Kappa Epsilon, Eleanor Wright, '32, said, "Not only the present active chapter of Kappa Epsilon, but all members of the chapter feel a tremendous loss in the passing of Mrs. Harris. She was faculty advisor for seven years. Her sympathy and understanding was always present in her personality. Her high ideals and human sympathy left their impress on the hearts of the girls who found in her a dear personal friend."

In paying her tribute for the Little Theatre Workshop, Dorothea Thomas Lynch said, "I think with great gratitude of Mrs. Harris when I recall the begining of the Little Theatre. She had a fund of wisdom and experience and she never failed to give us good advice. She had a great knowledge of drama, and in our friendly and sometimes humorous talks she put me right on many things which were puzzling me. She first suggested that we put on 'Candida' and I feel she had a vital part in its success. She was greatly interested in Shakespeare and it was due to her that we have taken up Shakespearean productions. She was an inspiring teacher and the fruits of her inspiration were many in the playwriting field. Of the short plays written under her guidance, the most delightful were produced in the local clubs and our workshop, and one was given in her home. Thus her inspiration is knit firmly into the foundations of the Workshop."

Representing the Woman's Club, Mrs. Hiram Powers said, "In the loss of Mrs. Harris, the Woman's Club will find it very hard to fill her place. Chairman of the Dramatic Department, she had taken a distinct part in dramatic productions at the Woman's Club. Her poetry was often given in programs of the Club. I hope her poetry can be collected and preserved for its dramatic quality and because it reflected her sensitive and lovable spirit. Our personal relation was a very happy one."

Mrs. R. M. Shearer of Orlando paid the following tribute to Mrs. Harris for the Sorosis Club, "I feel it is a real privilege to represent Sorosis in this service today, as well as to pay personal tribute to Mrs. Harris. Her personality has left its impress on all those who were privileged to know her, whether in the charm and hospitality of her home or on the platform or in her class. One felt the ambition and character of a personality which meant so much to those who came in contact with her. Those men and women who give of themselves enrich the lives of all who know them and are the greatest benefaction of mankind."

In speaking for the Flamingo, Phyrne Squier, '32, said, "From two years association in the classroom, developed one of the finest friendships I have known. She conceived the idea of publishing the Flamingo four years ago. Practically all material used in that publication has come from Mrs. Harris' classes. The rule she made for us to follow was truth, beauty and freedom of expression. If we follow this rule through life, we will do well."

Dr. Clarence A. Vincent, minister of the Congregational Church of which Mrs. Harris was a member, paid tribute to her as follows: "A Christian woman—versatile, of keen and cultured mind and rich emotions, of imagination and exquisite taste expressed in poetical forms and the decorations of her home. Ambitious for herself and her family, industrious to the danger-point, of deep reverence, a brilliant teacher, an honored parishioner, an inspiring friend, a devoted wife and mother, at last passing through the gate of weakness and suffering into everlasting health and glad fruitions, preceding us a short while up the Path of Life. This is the brief and comforting story of the life of Lyde Drummond Harris.

"That life has done its best,
Short in days or long,
Which gives, in its life-quest,
Self, love and a song."

The final tribute in the service was paid by President Holt. He said, "There is nothing that can bring to Rollins or any other college more than a good life well lived. This is four times since I have been here that we have assembled to pay tribute to some member of the faculty. I always think of Dr. Sprague, who was a friend of all good causes. I think of Professor Franklin as an inspiring and inspired scholar, a man who illumined every subject he discussed, a man who graced any company he entered. I have often thought that if I had been a girl, I would rather have been like Mrs. Harris than any other women I have known. A woman can have supreme gifts as an organizer, be an intellectual leader and still be charming and gracious. All of these teachers were very, very human, and so with Lyde Drummond Harris. She was talented in many things. She had the rare gift of teaching. She had the capacity of really completely loving those with whom she came in contact. None of the faculty were loved more than she. When I think of her, one word always comes to my mind, and that word is a "gentlewoman"."

The Kappa Epsilon Fraternity records the passing away of its beloved Faculty Advisor, Mrs. Lyde Drummond Harris, and present the following resolutions:

Resolved, that we deeply mourn the loss to our fraternity of this beloved Advisor and friend who was ever most loyal and faithful in all her relations to this group and who will be greatly missed by all individually.

Resolved: that we spread this record on the minutes of this Fraternity and that a copy of these be sent to the college paper, local press, and to the family of the deceased.

Distinguished Guests At Rollins Luncheon

The annual alumni luncheon which was held Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Rollins dining hall was the most delightful and interesting gathering of its kind that has ever been held at Rollins. The tables were especially attractive with their beautiful centerpieces of rainbow colored sweet peas and asparagus ferns. The occasion being graced by a number of very distinguished guests who came here especially for the meeting and luncheon from different parts of the country.

Charles A. Noone acted as toastmaster calling upon various members of the association for speeches and remarks. Dr. C. Fred Ward read a number of messages from those who were unable to be here for the luncheon.

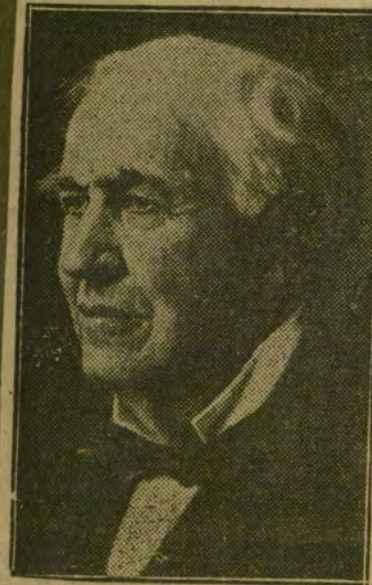

One feature of the program was the presentation of golf prizes by Leon B. Fort of Orlando, as a result of the tournaments that were held at the Petite Country club in Winter Park and at the Sanlando golf course yesterday morning by the alumni members and the students. Prizes were donated by the various shops and banks in Winter Park and Orlando. Prizes for the ladies putting contest at the Petite

Country club went to Miss Mary Hall with a score of 77 consisting of a linen table set given by the Bank of Winter Park and an embroidered hand bag to Mrs. F. H. Ward with a score of 81 presented by R. F. Leedy Co. Blind bogey prize for the men went to Mr. Sidney T. H. Carlson, a pair of golf shoes given by Yowell-Drew Co. in Orlando, second prize went to "Judge" Guy Colado, a pair of linen knickers given by R. C. Baker Co., in Winter Park. Low gross score was won by Mr. F. H. Ward, a dozen golf balls presented by the Bank of Winter Park and low net score went to Mr. James Foley, a half dozen golf balls, given by the Winter Park Land Co.

Among those who made short and interesting speeches were Dean Anderson who in turn called upon the Rev. Mowbray who is here from California and Mr. Lewton from Washington, D. C. Mrs. Corra Harris as an honor guest was also called upon to say a few words as a member of the Rollins faculty and the only professor in the world of "Evil."

Toastmaster Noone wound up the luncheon with a spirited talk which was interesting and amusing on his experiences with the alumni. Dr. Holt then responded with a most delightful talk welcoming back the old students and

Honors Rollins

Believing that no institution or group could heap further honor on the head of Thomas A. Edison, whom he characterized as one of the "living immortals," Dr. Holt said this morning, in conferring an honorary degree on Edison at the annual Rollins convocation, that the great American inventor has honored Rollins in attending the ceremony and accepting the degree. Both Mr. and Mrs. Edison are stopping a short time in Winter Park as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bacher.

a word or two on the hopes of the future of Rollins.

The honor guests who attended were: Mrs. Laidlaw from New York City, Mrs. Clinton Scollard from Winter Park, Mrs. Corra Harris from Rydal, Ga., Dr. Robertson from Peekskill, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Noone of Chattanooga, Tenn., Mr. Cornelius Pugsley and Mr. Chester D. # Edison Receives Degree of Doctor of Science at Rollins College Today

ELECTRICAL WIZARD RE- CEIVES GLOWING TRIB- UTE FROM HAMILTON HOLT, PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE.

In a gorgeous outdoor setting, amid tropical moss-draped oaks, an honorary degree of science today was conferred upon Thomas Alva Edison, the inventor, by Rollins College.

The exercises, held beneath a blazing sun, took place in the "horseshoe" campus of the college during the annual convocation in observance of Founders' week. They were attended by hundreds of spectators, seated in a huge semi-circle about the canvas-covered speakers' platform, banked with tropical plants and flowers.

Honorary degrees also were conferred upon seven other outstanding personages of the country in addition to awarding of the Algeron Sydney Sullivan medallion to Judge Leonard J. Hackney, of Winter Park.

Holt Makes Award

Attired in cap and gown, and wearing a broad smile, Mr. Edison received the honorary degree, amid a rousing applause, from the hand of Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of the college, who paid the inventive genius a glowing tribute for his achievements as one of the greatest scientists the world has ever known.

"Thomas A. Edison, living immortal, no institution of learning in America can add to your name or fame by any title or honor it can bestow," said Dr. Holt, in conferring the degree upon the inventor. "Rollins College, therefore, must rest content with honoring itself by conferring upon you the degree of doctor of science and admitting you to all its rights and privileges."

As the degree was handed to the electrical wizard and the purple and gold hood placed about his shoulders, he stood erect, smiled broadly and said, "Thank you."

Edison Pleased

Upon returning to his chair, Mr. Edison appeared as pleased as a child with a new toy. He hardly could wait until he untied the dainty ribbon around the degree to open and see it. Sitting there holding the sheepskin in both hands, the inventive genius nodded his head as he read the words printed thereon, and chuckled almost audibly.

Although his defective hearing made it impossible for him to know the words of tribute paid to him, Mr. Edison took an active interest in the two-hour exercise that ended at high noon.

At the beginning of the ceremonies, the inventive genius, walking on the arm of Dr. Holt, led the academic procession in cap and gown from Carnegie hall, the administrative building, to the speakers' stand, as the college orchestra, on a platform nearby, played the triumphal march from Aida.

Immediately after the invocation by Dr. Harlem P. Beach, professor of missions, emeritus, of Yale University, Mr. Edison, sweltering under the blazing sun, left the platform and was conducted to the shady porch of an adjoining building to rest while the early part of the ceremonies were being held. He returned immediately after the address of Dr. George Morgan Ward, president emeritus of Rollins College, who traced the history of the institution and characterized it as one of the most outstanding of its kind in the country.

Other Awards Made

Honorary degrees also were conferred upon six other well known persons throughout the country during the services. They are the Rev. Burris Atkins Jenkins, pastor of Linwood Boulevard Christian church at Kansas City, who also is an author and lecturer and former editor of the Kansas City Post; the Rev. J. Delman Kuykendall, pastor of Plymouth church, Coconut Grove, Fla., and editorial writer for the Miami Herald; Frederick Lewis Lewton, curator of the textiles division of Smithsonian Institute; William Lyon Phelps, Lampson professor of English at Yale University; Frank Lyon Polk, New York, lawyer and undersecretary of state in the Wilson administration, and Mrs. Harriet Burton Laidlaw, New York, lecturer and nationally known woman suffrage leader.

During the exercises, Dr. Holt announced several gifts to go toward the $2,500,000 endowment fund being raised by the college. They included a new girls' dormitory given by Cornelius Pugsley, banker of Peekskill, N. Y., and a trustee of the Rollins College institute of statesmanship, who also gave an unannounced sum of money; another girls' dormitory by the girls of the institution; $5,000 from Mrs. A. M. Young, of Mountain Lake, who is the mother-in-law of John H. Goss, a trustee of the college; and $35,000 by Mrs. Frances Knowles Warren, of Boston.

SENIOR WOMEN ENTERTAINED BY MISSES GUILD

Annual Tea is Enjoyed By Graduating Class

A most delightful and attractive tea was given Monday afternoon by the Misses Clara Louise and Alice Guild at their beautiful home on Interlachen avenue in honor of the Senior class at Rollins.

Miss Clara Guild was the first graduate of Rollins and each year she and her sister entertain in honor of the senior girls. The home was attractively decorated with Rollins colors of blue and gold. On the tea table, where Miss Isabel Green so charmingly poured, was a lovely centerpiece of yellow nasturtiums and long yellow tapers in blue holders. Assisting the Misses Guild in serving were Miss Margaret McKay and Miss Katherine Lewis.

Besides the senior class from Rollins the alumni guests from Orlando were:

Mrs. L. G. Algee, Miss Grace Boone, Miss Mary Branham, Mrs. D. A. Cheney, Mrs. Douglas Ellerbe, Mrs. Davis E. Fishback and Mrs. G. B. Fishback, Mrs. Edna Giles Fuller, Mrs. W. M. Glenn, Mrs. Mary Gurnsey, Mrs. Richard Hudson, the Misses Ada McKnight, Maybelle O'Neal and Elizabeth Rand; Mrs. C. A. Robinson, Mrs. Rush Gray, Mrs. Allen B. Whitman and Mrs. W. W. Yothers.

The alumni from Winter Park were: Mrs. H. K. Kelly, Mrs. R. C. and C. F. Ward, Mrs. Donald Vincent, Mrs. A. H. Whitmore, Mrs. W. F. Blackman, Dr. Helen Cole, Mrs. Sylvester Bingham, the Misses Alice Campbell, Isabel Green, Annie Stone, Gertrude Ward, Margaret McKay and Bernice Shor.

Dr. Holt Guest of Honor of Rollins Seniors

The senior class of Rollins College held an informal dinner Friday evening at the Whistling Kettle tea house in Winter Park, with Dr. Hamilton Holt as the guest of honor. The color scheme used for this occasion was blue and gold, which are the college colors.

The banquet opened with an address of welcome to Dr. Holt by "Chet" Ihrig, president of the class. Reports were made by the graduation committee.

A very inspiring talk was given by Dr. Holt. He read an original poem in which he brought in members of the class as characters. The banquet closed with an impromptu talk by Joe Brownig Jones.

The following seniors were present: Chester Ihrig, Robert James, Asa Jennings, Joe Jones, Aurora McKay, Marjorie McMichael, Mrs. Mittendorf, Gerald Miller, Dorothy Minter, Helen Morrow, Rowan Pichard, Cecile Pilty, Harriet Pipcorn, Frances Porter, Ruby Quick, Cloyde Russell, Martha Schanck, Virginia Steele, Charlotte Stienhams, Carols Walter, Stella Weston, Isabel Williams, Demaris Wilson, Clara Adolfs, John Armstrong, Elenor Blish, Billy Chapman, Janet Cadman, Dorothy and Helen Carr, Harrison Cobb, Cyril Cockrell, Ruth Cole, Anita Cross, Gertrude Kearns, Barbara Daly, Dot Davis, Howard Delameter, John Fisher, Flora Furen, Sarah Green, Ethel Hahn, Clementine Hall, Louise Hall, Price Holland, Louise Howes and Sarah Hury.

WE HAVE WITH US—SENIORS

CHARLOTTE MARIE STEIN- HANS

We find that Charlotte, familiarly known as "Miss Wetzmetz," was born in Springfield, Illinois. She never liked snow and would never go out and play like other children. So, therefore, was very glad to move to Orlando, Florida, with her family.

She attended junior and senior high schools in Orlando, and in her senior year she became interested in debating. She has always liked to talk—ever since she uttered her first word she has kept up a steady chatter until now there is no way to stop her. Her debating team entered the state contest, and first became one of the eight best teams in the state and finally was judged the winning team at the close of the contest at Gainesville.

During the summer of '26 she was a representative to a religious conference in North Carolina. Returning from there, she enrolled at Rollins where she became interested in campus affairs. Her chief interest has been in dramatics and she spent most of one summer at Leland Power's school in Martha's Vineyard, near Boston, Mass., taking up dramatics.

Charlotte is a member of Kappa Epsilon. She also belongs to Phi Beta honorary fraternity and to the Rollins Key Society. Among the offices she has held are: Pan-Hellenic secretary 28-29, secretary-treasurer of students' association 29-30, and vice-president of senior class 29-30. In 1927 she won the third prize in the Sprague Oratorical Contest. In 1929 she belonged to the college debate team and she has been with the Rollins Players for two years. Charlotte was editor of the handbook in '29, and in the Pageant given in Orlando recently she was Miss Orlando.

Last summer Charlotte was an assistant leader at the Recreation Department in Orlando. After graduation she hopes to enter the field of teaching as a profession. However, she has not committed herself yet as to whether it will be History, English, Public Speaking or Dramatics that she will teach!!!

ROLLINS CLASS DAY EXERCISES THURSDAY

New Senior Class Tradition Will Be Instituted at Conclusion of Regular Program

Class day exercises for the members of this year's graduating class at Rollins College will be held tomorrow at 10 A. M. in Knowles Hall. Immediately following the exercises, a new tradition for senior classes to carry on will be initiated when the class of 1930 plants the first in a group of palm trees at a selected spot "on the shores of Lake Virginia."

Chester A. Ihrig, president of the senior class, will act as master of ceremonies, and George C. Holt and Frank P. Walker, sophomores, will serve as marshals.

The following program is announced: Processional — March from Aida (Verdi), Emelie Sellers; Class History, Flora L. Furen, Fort Myers; Class Will, Robert K. Pepper, Fort Myers; Piano Solo, Hugh F. McKean, Orlando; Dedication of "Tomokan," Chester A. Ihrig, Fort Myers; Presentation of Class Gift, Charlotte M. Stienhans, Orlando; Presentation of Gamma Phi Beta Economics Prize, Harriet L. Pipkorn, Sarasota; Panhellenic Award, Helen A. Morrow, Daytona Beach; Vocal Solo, Dorothy A. Minter, Atlanta, Ga.; Class Poem, Stella H. Weston, Winter Park; Farewell, Chester A. Ihrig, Fort Myers; Alma Mater; Recessional — Pomp and Circumstance (Elgar), Emelie Sellers.

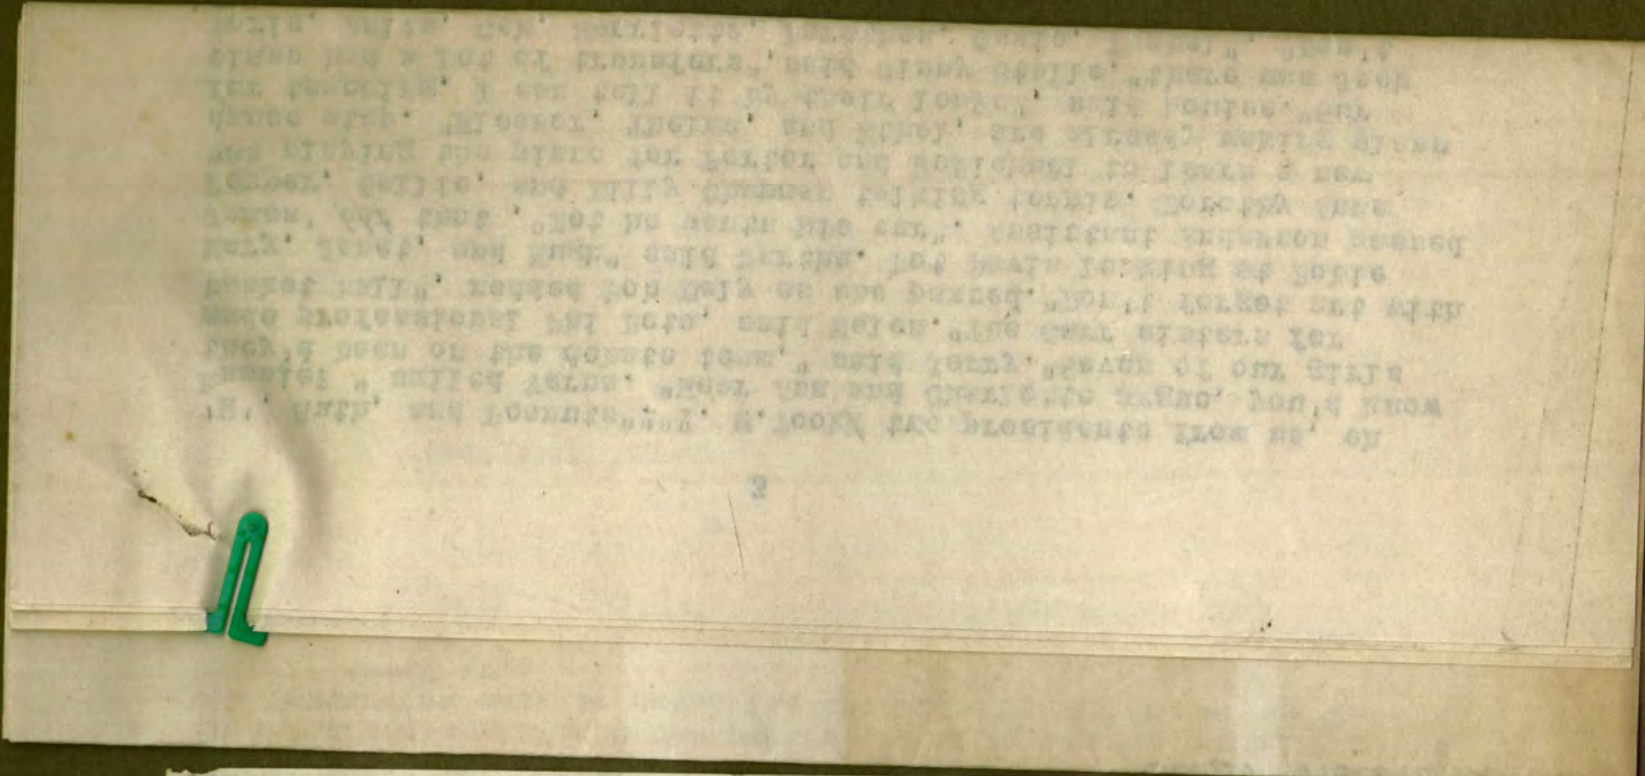

The ceremony of planting the first palm tree will be featured by the presentation of a silver spade to the senior class by Miss Grace O. Edwards, chairman of the campus beautification committee. Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, will speak briefly and President Ihrig of the senior class will accept the spade on behalf of his class mates. Following the planting ceremony in which each member of the class will participate, Alfred J. Rashid, Davenport, Ia., will pledge the class of 1931 to carry on the tradition. The ceremonies will conclude with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The Class Day committee includes Clara B. Adolfs, Chicago, Ill., chairman, Aurora McKay, Tampa, Gerard M. Miller, St. Cloud, Robert G. Sprague, Winter Park, and Carol M. Walter, Orlando. The tree planting ceremony is in charge of a committee composed of Louise E. Hall, Lowell, Mass., John E. Armstrong, New York, N. Y., and Anita E. Cross, Manchester, N. H.

The officers of this year's senior class are Chester A. Ihrig, Fort Myers, president; Charlotte M. Stienhans, Orlando, vice-president; Robert K. Pepper, Fort Myers, secretary; and Robert G. Sprague, Winter Park, treasurer.

ROLLINS STUDENTS HOLD "CLASS DAY"

Levity and Seriousness Blended in Exercises

With an appropriate blend of levity and seriousness, members of the senior class of Rollins College held Class Day Exercises yesterday as one of the features of Commencement Week. Following a program in Knowles Hall, the class inaugurated a new and practical tradition by planting the first of a group of palm trees on the Lake Virginia shore in cooperation with the Campus Beautification Committee.

During the Class Day Exercises in the hall, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miami, was awarded the Gamma Phi Beta Economics Prize of $10.00 offered to the student making the best record in the study of economics this year. The Pan Hellenic Cup offered to the sorority making the best scholastic record this year was won by Kappa Epsilon.

A cup offered by the Athletic Association was presented to Rollins Hall, winner of the championship of the diamondball league this season.

Sandspur Keys were presented by Miss Aurora McKay editor in chief of the Sandspur, to Professor Willard Wattles, Asa W. Jennings, Whiting Hall, Stella Weston, Robert E. James, Gordon Robins and Ralph Scanlon. On behalf of the staff, Mr. Jennings presented a key to Miss McKay.

A copy of the Tomokan, the yearbook, was presented by Chester Ihrig, president of the senior class, to Mrs. Emilie B. Cass, College Registrar, to whom this year's issue is dedicated. On behalf of the senior class, Miss Charlotte M. Stienhans, Orlando, announced that, as gifts from the Class of 1930, the sum of $181 has been given to the Senior Loan Fund for students, and plans had been instituted by the class to purchase a quantity of caps and gowns for the College to loan to future graduation candidates at low rental rates.

Chester A. Ihrig, as class president, presided, and delivered a short farewell address. The Class History was given by Flora L. Furen, Fort Myers, and Robert K. Pepper, Fort Myers, read the Class Will. Harriet L. Pipkorn, Sarasota, presented the Gamma Phi Beta Economics Prize to Miss Davis, and Helen A. Morrow, Daytona Beach, announced the Pan Hellenic Award to Kappa Epsilon. The Class Poem was delivered by Stella H. Weston, Winter Park.

Hugh F. McKean, Orlando, played a piano solo, and a vocal solo was rendered by Dorothy Ann Minter, Atlanta, Ga., Emilie Sel-ler, pianist, played Verdi's March from Aida as the Processional; El-gar's Pomp and Circumstance as the Recessional. George C. Holt, Woodstock, Conn., and Frank P. Walker, St. Joseph, Mo., were the marshals.

President Hamilton Holt opened the palm planting ceremony by praising the work of the Campus Beautification Committee of which Miss Grace O. Edwards, Winter Park, is chairman. Miss Edwards responded by presenting a silver spade to the Senior Class and explained the plan of cooperation under which future senior classes will carry on the tradition of plant-ing a palm tree in accordance with a landscape designed approved by the Campus Beautification Com-mittee.

Led by President Ihrig, each member of the senior class tossed a shovelful of dirt to the roots of the tree. Alfred J. Rashid, rep-resenting the Class of 1931, pledg-ed his fellow members to carry on the tradition.

The Log of the Senior Crew 1930
The first voyage.

"Build me straight, O worthy Master,
Staunch and strong a goodly vessel,
That shall laugh at all disaster,
And with wave and whirlwind wrestle!"

Like sailors, the members of the Senior class have tossed about on the hither to unknown college sea. They have weathered hurricanes of criticisms from other ship companies. They have increased in cargo. They have searched far. They have returned home, gratified and broadened by that voyage.

In the fall of 1926 one hundred and thirty candidates for ship papers stood at the entrance of Rollins College, the sea of adventure in education. Their ship was a loosely bound vessel with only one sail. As soon as they were registered they hurried on board and began to organize. Ed Schurman was elected captain. The deck hands were well established and the ship making progress when there was an upheaval in the Rollins Sea. The President of the ship's company, President Holt, had decided to make a change in the usual course. So tossing over board the worn life preservers of education the would-be sailors began to learn their trade in a new way.

This was the first class ship to navigate under the Conference Plan. The barometer fell suddenly at first, but as leagues increased it rose steadily and after four years sailing this crew of seamen would recommend no other course for sailors on college seas and dips its sails and <sup>raises</sup> flies its flags for the far sighted president.

That vessel of Baby Tars held persons of various talents and, unlike most groups of tempermentals, was able to say "men to their duty", and find each at his place. These seamen, like others, played foot ball and held Miami better than any crew before or since. Finding the sea lacking in social affairs the Baby Tars inaugurated the Freshman Dance with a lively masquerade.

The second voyage.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which taken at the flood leads on to fortune"
Shakespeare.

And after the tides and the winds carrying the ship onward for a year it stopped at an island to refuel, to let off some passengers, to take on more crew, and to have a short vacation. When the time came to embark more power was needed and a second sail was added. These second year seamen again elected Ed Schurman as their captain, but not for long, necessity called him to land and Chet Ihrig was chosen to take his place.

On the college sea that year the first five games of football were begun entirely by this ship's Tars. Later a dance was given on ship board in honor of other college sea crews. And soon after a land picnic was given with a crew of Baby Tars.

The third voyage.

"And I have loved the ocean, and my joy,
Of youthful sports was on thy breast, to be Borne, like bubbles, onward-----".

The captain walked the deck, fore and aft, and decided to land for more fuel at another island. This time more of the original crew left the ship and a number of worthy seamen came on board. The crew that year felt more experienced than ever before and those who remained on board loved the sea and the course so that each dreaded the time when he should have to leave for the shore. A third sail was added and ~~the~~ to celebrate these Tars gave a prom for the first class seamen. That year the ship again had two captains, Bassett and Ihrig.

The fourth and last voyage.

"O'er the glad waters of the dark blue sea,
Our throats as boundless and our souls as free,
Far as the breeze can bear, ~~and~~ the billows foam,
Survey our empire and behold our home."

The command is passed, "Up with the main sail",. The ship is on its journey home, barnacled and ready for dry dock. There are some of the old crew missing. There are some new sailors. Captain Ihrig is at the helm.

The crew is alert and watchful. The homeward course is the hardest. The water is swept with binoculars searching for buoys, lighthouses, and the ship's president who is to pilot the ship thru the narrow pass into the harbor. On board there is general cleaning and washing of decks to make all shipshape and every thing taut for leaving.

There is a cry, "Ship ahoy", and in the distance another ship is sighted and soon the company's president is on board. Much talk is heard of shore work, land lubbers, ports, papers, examinations, sailors wives. Some one sings, "She was just a sailor's sweetheart". The Hornpipe is danced. All is bustle and excitement for leaving.

In the distance is seen the warning light house. The captain orders all forward on deck to watch the entrance to the harbor as the ship is towed in.

Moving about among the crew the president's first assistant, Winslow Anderson, heard these bits of conversation: Clara saying to ~~Bob~~ Harriet, "Lets see the Tomokan 'H', my its great this year". Sara to Boots, "Our class held the R. L. S. presidency for two years, eh Boots?". Bob Sprague was heard to remark, "Well all the girl offices of the student association were held by our girls for two years". Joe Jones fondly stroked a sail and said to Luke Mosely, "The Last time"! Rusty looked at Aurora and Asa saying, "What a great paper you two did make out of the 'Sandspur' when you ruled it for those two years". "Don't forget scholarship, Cloyd, and the Key Society", said Delameter as he passed by. Bob Boney in a deep voice boomed out, "We had two foot ball captains, Fisher and Chet, and the Pickaras for basket ball". "Yes", said Ruby, "in girls athletics our crew supplied three presidents for W. A. A.,

'M', Ruth, and Peanuts!" "Y. W. Took two presidents from us, eh Mizzie?" smiled Verna. "Hear Asa and Charlotte argue, you'd know they'd been on the debate team," said Jerry. "Seven of our girls made professional Phi Beta, said Helen. "The Carr sisters for basket ball", nodded Bob Daly as she passed. "Don't forget art with Mary, Janet, and Hugh" said Martha. Dot Davis looking at Bobie James' ~~car~~ that, "Bet he wants his car". Assistant Anderson passed Pepper, Sallie, and Billy Chapman talking tennis. Dorothy Anne was playing the piano for Fortes and McMichael to learn a new dance step. "Eleanor, Thelma, and Ethel, are already making plans for teaching, I can tell it by their looks", said Louise. "Our class had a lot of transfers", said Ginny Stelle, "there was Jack Doris, Anita, Gek, Henrietta, Dorothea, Ossie, Isabel". "Don't forget me, I transferred too," broke in Cecile. I'm not sure what I'll do", drawled Cy. "And I'm going to South America when I finish", said Harrison. Carol stood leaning against a life boat watching the sunset.

The crew of the ship stood on the deck, silently, as they glided into harbor. Soon they would be separated. Many would never meet again. Some would try another education ship. More would remain on land. Their president would send out other ships. The crew was no longer. Each member was an individual, but each would never forget those four happy years under their president's guiding example. The next day, in full dress, they would file from the ship on to the shore to receive their seamans papers, rolled, and tied with a blue and gold ribbon.

"Far from thy walls, where ever we may ~~go~~ go,
 Still with a heart where loyal memories glow,
 Still with a song for Rollins ringing clear,
 Guide of our Youth, O Alma Mater, dear".

Need of Courage in Life After College Days Is Discussed

Dr. Charles A. Campbell Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon to Rollins Graduates.

The need of courage in the life that comes after college days are past was urged by Dr. Charles A. Campbell, professor of Biblical literature at Rollins, in preaching the sermon at the baccalaureate services for the Rollins College seniors yesterday. The service, which was held in Recreation hall, was attended by the 65 graduates attired in caps and gowns and a large number of relatives and friends of the students.

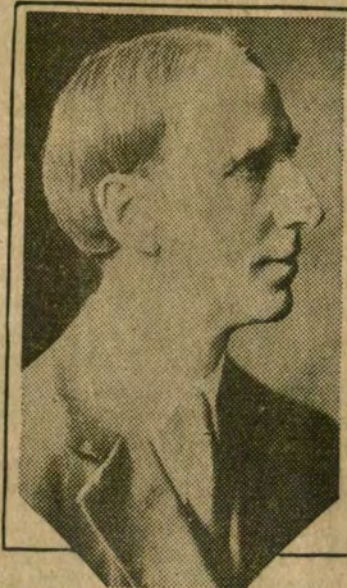

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins, presided and Dr. Clarence A. Vincent, pastor of the Congregational church, Rev. John J. Treadwell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church and Dr. James B. Thomas, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, all of Winter Park, assisted in the services.

The Rollins Conservatory Faculty trio, composed of Gretchen Cox, Marguerite Poetzing and Helen Moore, played Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance as the processional and Meyerbeer's March from "Le Prophet" as the recessional. Beethoven's Andante was rendered following the scripture lesson.

Dr. Campbell based his sermon upon the text in Joshua 1:9, "Be strong and of good courage." "Essential always," he said, "courage is an imperative necessity in the hours of decision. We need it in order to actually make decisions. For years decisions have been made for us; the whole matter of choice has been in other hands—we have been subjects rather than agents. We have had nothing to do with our birth and the conditions under which our lives have been lived. Our inheritance and our early environment have been provided for us. We have been dependent. We have taken what is given us. Now comes the hour of personal choice, of preference. We have achieved a measure of independence. We may stay or we may go. Decision is one or we may deny. Decision is one of the marks of increasing moral maturity. Indecision is the hangover of a persistently dependent mind."

All vital decisions, Dr. Campbell told the graduates, anticipate the future. "The wise man relates today's decisions to the necessities of tomorrow," he continued, "and to the unfolding powers which tomorrow brings. I must assume that

Dr. Charles A. Campbell will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the 1930 graduating class at Rollins College this morning.

Rollins College Baccalaureate Services Will Be Held This Morning

Baccalaureate service for the 65 members of this year's graduating class at Rollins College will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in Recreation Hall at the College. In deference to the college service, it is announced, the Congregational and Baptist churches in Winter Park have cancelled their regular morning services.

Dr. Charles A. Campbell, professor of biblical literature at Rollins since 1925, and a former Presbyterian minister in Denver, Colo., Dayton, O., and Elizabeth, N. J., will preach the baccalaureate sermon in response to an invitation from the senior class. His subject will be "The Courageous Life."

Dr. Charles A. Vincent, pastor of the Winter Park Congregational church, Dr. J. B. Thomas, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, and Rev. John J. Treadwell, pastor of the Winter Park Methodist Episcopal church, will assist in the services.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, will preside. Music will be provided by the Rollins Conservatory faculty trio composed of Miss Gretchen Cox, Miss Marguerite Poetzing, and Miss Helen Moore. Dr. Vincent will ask invocation and benediction, Rev. Treadwell will read the scripture lesson, and Dr. Thomas will offer prayer.

Members of the graduating class, attired in caps and gowns, will march to Recreation Hall from Carnegie Hall. The public is invited to attend the service.

The Rollins Conservatory Faculty trio, composed of Gretchen Cox, Marguerite Poetzinger and Helen Moore, played Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance as the processional and Meyerbeer's March from "Le Prophet" as the recessional. Beethoven's Andante was rendered following the scripture lesson.

Dr. Campbell based his sermon upon the text in Joshua 1:9, "Be strong and of good courage." "Essential always," he said, "courage is an imperative necessity in the hours of decision. We need it in order to actually make decisions. For years decisions have been made for us; the whole matter of choice has been in other hands—we have been subjects rather than agents. Decision is one of the marks of increasing moral maturity. Indecision is the hang-over of a persistently dependent mind."

All vital decisions, Dr. Campbell told the graduates, anticipate the future. "The wise man relates today's decisions to the necessities of tomorrow," he continued, "and to the unfolding powers which tomorrow brings. I must assume that when the time arrives for me to meet a new responsibility I shall be equal to its demands. When spring arrives I shall have my seed ready for the planting and when harvest comes I shall have my tools ready for the gleaning. That is the confidence of a courageous heart. It is not presumption, it is prevision.

"All decisions, presumably, are comprehended in some one fundamental attitude toward life. The determination of that attitude is the supreme and all-inclusive choice.

"My decisions are my motives in terms of choice and all that I do with respect to vocation or marriage or friendship or leisure is affected by my position as a getter or a giver. It requires courage of a high order to choose the nobler way, to resist the appeal of materialism, to seek honor rather than honors, the common highway of service rather than the shining throne of power and glory. 'He that saveth his life shall lose it and he that loseth his life shall save it.' It was a courageous man who fashioned his life according to that standard and only brave men follow in his train, but it is the single philosophy I know of which guarantees ultimate blessedness and permanent success.

"We need courage to seek after truth. 'Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free,' is as fitting an inscription for the doorposts of a college as for the vestibule of a cathedral. It is assumed that you have become interested in the search for reality, that you have been quickened and stimulated and that you know something of the thrill of the quest. You have learned to ask questions; you have developed the inquiring mind. This attitude of interrogation we hope may be maintained. It is not enough to be merely hospitable to new ideas, to be susceptible to fresh impressions; a wax cylinder is capable of that. The symbol of the student mind is not an open door, but the extended hand, positive rather than negative, active rather than passive.

"God does not expect us to know all truth. He does expect us to be faithful to the segment of truth we have come to know, faithful to duty, to beauty, to honor and to the spirit of good will."

Dr. Campbell defined 'courage' by saying that it "comes by natural processes of growth, of development. Courage is not a distinct moral quality altogether separate from the rest of life. It is woven into the whole of the tissue of being. It is faith and initiative and patience. It is resoluteness of will. It is the continuous denial of the menace of fear. It is not something to be levied upon in the time of emergency when great issues are at stake. It is the assertion of independence, of self-reliance in ordinary, commonplace matters which seem to have no extraordinary significance. It becomes habitual with use. God gives it as He gives strength to the muscles and accuracy to the eyes and steadiness to the nerves, by means of normal discipline and employment. Like every noble virtue it enlarges with use. The capacity for courage is in yourself, dormant, unsuspected, perhaps, and only as you persistently exercise it may it hope to come to full expression. It is not a coat of mail to be hastily donned for a spectacular encounter, it is an inward spirit, confident and buoyant, which suffuses and vitalizes the whole of life."

THE COURAGEOUS LIFE

Joshua 1:9. "Be Strong and of Good Courage"

THE words were spoken to a young man named Joshua on the threshold of a great adventure. For years his dreams like far-flung outposts have encamped beyond the Jordan River toward the going down of the sun in the blue waters of the Mediterranean Sea. And now his dreams are to be overtaken as he stands on the river's brink. Facing a new world of experience in this critical hour of advance he is counselled by the divine voice to "be strong and courageous." It is an appropriate note for anyone who turns his eyes to the unknown territory beyond the horizon. Essential always, courage is an imperative necessity in the hours of decision. We need it in order to actually make decisions. For years decisions have been made for us: the whole matter of choice has been in other hands—we have been subjects rather than agents. We have had nothing to do with our birth and the conditions under which our lives have been lived. Our inheritance and our early environment have been provided for us. We have been dependent: we have taken what is given us. Now comes the hour of personal choice—of preference. We have achieved a measure of independence: we may stay or we may go; we may affirm or we may deny. Decision is one of the marks of increasing moral maturity. Indecision is the hang-over of a persistently dependent mind. In every sea are derelicts "driven with the wind and tossed," drifting with the current, without helm or compass or pilot—pitiful victims of circumstance. All that saves a man from such a fate is the will to choose, which means courage.

All vital decisions anticipate the future. The wise man relates today's decisions to the necessities of tomorrow and to the unfolding powers which tomorrow brings. I must assume that when the time arrives for me to meet a new responsibility I shall be equal to its demands. When spring arrives I shall have my seed ready for the planting and when harvest comes I shall have my tools ready for the gleanings. That is the confidence of a courageous heart. It is not presumption—it is prevision. In a recent address at Lehigh University the suggestion was made that "the purpose of education is to make one more alive." It is this ever-growing aliveness of body, mind and spirit which may be called into play when necessity requires. Some years ago Stephen Crane wrote an amazing book—amazing for a youth twenty-two years of age—called "The Red Badge of Courage." It is a study of the workings of the mind of a soldier who wondered if, when the hour of supreme testing came, he would prove equal to the emergency—whether he would run like a coward or stand his ground as a soldier should. The book reaches its climax in the disclosure of a superb adequacy in the fierce ordeal of actual battle.

All decisions, presumably, are comprehended in some one fundamental attitude toward life. The determination of that attitude is the supreme and all-inclusive choice. Is the world essentially a treasure house to be stormed and taken by the sheer power of violent attack, its riches to be appropriated and its golden delights possessed, or is the world a field, fertile and responsive, in which I may plant the seeds of truth and beauty and fidelity—whose final fruitage will bless other lives and minister to the common good?

Shall I get all I can or give all I can? Is privilege or obligation the key-note of my activity? Perhaps no hard sharp line may be drawn between these two attitudes. It has been said that a proper principle of social conduct is this, "To each according to his need: from each according to his ability." Certainly, one is justified in receiving in proportion to his necessity, but it is just as true that one is bound to give in proportion to his creating and serving power. The emphasis upon one or the other of these two divergent attitudes is the soil in which all decisions are rooted. What motivates my behavior? My decisions are conditioned by my dominant motives: my decisions are my motives in terms of choice, and all that I do with respect to vocation or marriage or friendship or leisure is affected by my position as a getter or a giver. It requires courage of a high order to choose the nobler way, to resist the appeal of materialism, to seek honor rather than honors, the common highway of service rather than the shining throne of power and glory. "He that saveth his life shall lose it and he that loseth his life shall save it." It was a courageous man who fashioned his life according to that standard and only brave men follow in his train, but it is the single philosophy I know of which guarantees ultimate blessedness and permanent success.

We need courage to seek after truth. "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free" is as fitting an inscription for the doorposts of a college as for the vestibule of a cathedral. It is assumed that you have become interested in the search for reality, that you have been quickened and stimulated and that you know something of the thrill of the quest. You have learned to ask questions: you have developed the inquiring mind. This attitude of interrogation we hope may be maintained. It is not enough to be merely hospitable to new ideas, to be susceptible to fresh impressions: a wax cylinder is capable of that. The symbol of the student mind is not an open door but the extended hand, positive rather than negative, active rather than passive. Jesus declared that one must become as a little child to enter the Kingdom of Heaven, and what is more characteristic of normal childhood than the habit of asking questions? Most of them can propound more questions in an hour than a sage can answer in a year. "Why?" is one of the constants in a child's vocabulary. He urged upon men the practice of questioning: "Ask—seek—knock." It is a sad day for us when we lose the spirit of wonder. I once knew an old man living on the bare frontiers of life who, when apprised of some fact hitherto unknown to him, invariably replied, "I want to know—I want to know." His naive reaction to information is a desirable trait and worth cultivating.

It may be that you will fail to reach final conclusions, that your findings will be subject to continuous revision as you go on. Finality is not the supreme concern. Cromwell said, "No one ever goes so far as the one who does not know where he is going."

Definite destinations and graveyards have a good deal in common, and neither one has any particular attraction for the true traveler. "The infinite pathos of life" some one says, "is its eternal flux:" to me, the eternal flux of life constitutes its infinite charm. It is the capacity to ask "What next?" that gives zest to living. "Ne plus ultra" is as absurd as it is boastful. No misfortune is so great as the overtaking of an ideal, for ideals die when they are captured. Vitality is of more consequence than finality. Life is varied and continuous and dynamic: death is stereotyped and static. I do not mean that we are to be certain of nothing, forever unconvinced, holding all things in suspense. We need some solid earth underneath, but a limitless horizon is quite as essential as a rock on which to stand. We have eyes as well as feet and our vision is vaster than our stride. What I would like to make plain is that we need courage to go on seeking though we may find absolute conclusiveness beyond our reach. One is inclined to agree with the words usually attributed to Lessing: "If I had truth in my right hand and the search after truth in my left hand and had to choose between them, I should choose the left hand."

But there is another aspect of vital importance, that is the need of courage to be loyal to the truth we do discover however fragmentary or tentative it may seem to be. Josiah Royce leads us to think that all of life may be expressed in terms of loyalty. Learning is secondary, living is primary. Truth is not to be coveted for its own sake but for its value in enabling us to live harmoniously and effectively. The mere apprehension of the truth guarantees nothing: if used, it may make us free. God does not expect us to know all truth: He does expect us to be faithful to the segment of truth we have come to know, faithful to duty, to beauty, to honor, and to the spirit of good-will.

Perhaps the greatest demand upon courage is the strain of carrying on. Some significant decision is made, some worthy attitude toward life is established, we have determined to seek for truth and with a fine sense of honor to answer its challenge: then frequently the initial momentum is spent and the original glow fades away. To achieve is not so simple a task as we thought. Success is elusive: we grow tired in the attempt: a desperate fatigue lays its arresting hand upon us and the fortunes of our dreams are in jeopardy. Everything goes wrong: obstacles threaten, perplexities bewilder, hardships multiply, circumstances seem to be in a deadly conspiracy against us; we seem to be capable of nothing unusual, we suspect our sufficiency, apparently we are doomed to failure. This is the zero hour, the hour of testing and of trial. Now if ever a living courage must be asserted or collapse is inevitable. All men, perhaps, have such moods of depression and discouragement. It is not exceptional nor is it necessarily fatal to success.

In these days when the voice of the cynic and pessimist is loud in the land and the complete futility of all high endeavor is blatantly proclaimed one must be both daring and persistent lest he be overtaken by disaster and defeat. A recent magazine article closes by saying that "the whole universe is absolutely indifferent to anything we do: he who loses his life for the general good cannot count on saving anything but his self-respect. It makes no difference whether you like that prospect or not: that is what you have got and you had better make the most of it." This debilitating, paralyzing contempt for exalted ideals must be met by men and women of moral hardihood.

Granted that courage is necessary, how may it be secured? One thing is certain, it cannot be improvised on the spur of the moment, any more than skill or judgment or faith may be improvised. I am unaware of any short-cut to so desirable a possession. Some people, apparently, have pleasantly conceived of a transcendental, heavenly store-house, divided into compartments each properly labeled "Courage" or "Serenity" or "Wisdom" upon which one may draw by magic words a supply of some coveted grace for an hour of need: celestial resources responding with living energy to the depleted moral capacities of struggling men. That would be delightfully comfortable and convenient but one fears it would prove demoralizing and disastrous. Courage comes by natural processes of growth, of development. Courage is not a distinct moral quality altogether separate from the rest of life. It is woven into the whole of the tissue of being. It is faith and initiative and patience: it is resoluteness of will: it is the continuous denial of the menace of fear. It is not something to be levied upon in the time of emergency when great issues are at stake. It is the assertion of independence, of self-reliance in ordinary, commonplace matters which seem to have no extraordinary significance. It becomes habitual with use. God gives it as He gives strength to the muscles and accuracy to the eyes and steadiness to the nerves, by means of normal discipline and employment. Like every noble virtue it enlarges with use. The capacity for courage is in your self, dormant, unsuspected, perhaps, and only as you persistently exercise it may it come to full expression. It is not a coat of mail to be hastily donned for a spectacular encounter, it is an inward spirit, confident and buoyant which suffuses and vitalizes the whole of life.

Courage may be stimulated by association with courageous souls. It cannot be learned from a text-book. Colleges have no "professor of heroism." It would be difficult to find a worthy occupant for the "Chair of Courage" for no honest man is hero to himself. Courage cannot be taught, but it may be caught.

There is a real advantage in living with courageous people. We inevitably react to the spirit of those with whom we habitually dwell. The hero has had a difficult time during the past few years. Biographers have laid violent hands upon the traditional glory of the great. We have been informed of their weaknesses, their lapses and their moral failures. Some biographers resemble the artist Hogarth who painted life in the terms of the monstrous and the abnormal. In spite of the unveilings to which the hero has been subjected there still remain authentic heroisms shining in a fadeless lustre. It is a rich experience to live in company with the great unfallen: not all their splendor is illusion. There, in Judas Maccabaeus, is the heroism of war, in Marcus Aurelius, heroism on the throne of the Caesars, in John Huss, the heroism of religion, in Savonarola, the heroism of reform, in Michael Faraday, heroism in scientific experimentation, in Abraham Lincoln, heroism in politics, in Florence Nightingale, the heroism of sacrificial love, in Wilfred Grenfell, heroism in Christian brotherhood, in Helen Keller, the heroism of conquered adversity. These are sacramental heroisms forever valid and with all of them you may be in correspondence. If life is a matter of stimulus and response you may determine the issues by making friends with those who live courageously.

Perhaps we have no need to go far afield to find the hero. I suspect that very close to us are superb heroisms, of industry, of self-denial, of fidelity, of hope, of resistance to temptation, of self-forgetfulness. Some of you are where you are because of heroes and heroines in yonder home, whose outgoing interest and tender love enfold you today.

The words I have used as the text for the morning imply that life is to be keyed to the martial note. They were spoken to a soldier. The militant spirit is not in disrepute. "Live dangerously," said a German philosopher. Live daringly; abjure the "ghastly smooth life," and by fighting the good fight of faith you may come to know the richness of the reward which comes only through struggle and conquest.

Centuries later there came into the world a Galilean whose advent was heralded by a prophecy of unearthly greatness. He was named Jesus, the equivalent, in the speech of His day, of Joshua. He was a man of intrepid courage. We have much to forgive in the sentimentalizing of the medieval artists by whom He has been misrepresented and emasculated. The Christ whom I know could blaze with indignation, could fearlessly face the cross when the fulfillment of His redemptive mission necessitated a complete sacrifice, could stand before Kings undismayed. He out-dared the daring in His dreams and in His claims, and in His presence weak men became strong and cowardly men brave.

To know Him, to associate with Him, to let the beauty and the powers of His spirit play upon your heart is one sure way by which you may lay hold of the secret of heroic living.

ROLLINS GRADUATING CLASS LARGEST IN ITS HISTORY

Is First to Be Graduated Under Rollins Confer- ence Plan — Dr. Holt Considers New Plan a Success.

A class of 65 candidates, the largest in 45 years of the institution's history, and the first to receive full four-year courses of study under the Rollins conference plan, will be graduated from Rollins College on June 6, it was announced today.

In announcing plans for this year's commencement, President Hamilton Holt indicated that the college considers the conference plan of study as an unqualified success after four years of use, and will continue the system next year with certain refinements. The conference plan, which employs two-hour conferences in place of the conventional lecture and recitation periods, was inaugurated upon the recommendation of President Holt a year after he became president.

This year, bachelor of arts degrees will be conferred upon 55, bachelor of science degrees upon six, the bachelor of music degree upon one, and master of arts degrees upon two. Eleven states and five foreign countries are represented among the prospective graduates.

Dr. Charles A. Campbell, professor of Biblical literature and instructor of entomology at Rollins College, will preach the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, June 1. Rev. William S. Beard, a classmate of President Holt at Yale in 1894, and executive secretary of the National Congregational Laymen's Advisory Committee, will deliver the address at the commencement exercises.

Dr. Campbell, who came to Rollins in 1926, has served as Presbyterian pastor in churches in Denver, Colo., Dayton, O., Elizabeth, N. J., and Altamonte Springs, Fla. Mr. Beard is a product of "The Little White Church on the Hilltop," at South Killingly, Conn., where his father for 24 years was pastor. He has been a pastor in Congregational churches in Durham, N. H., and Willimantic, Conn., and since 1916 has been actively identified with the national organization of the Congregational church.

In addition to the usual announcements of awards of Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallions to two Rollins students, prizes in poetry and short story writing, scholarships, fellowships, and special honors, President Holt is expected to make several important announcements at the commencement exercises in connection with the progress of the Rollins campaign to raise a fund of $2,500,000 as endowment for instruction. Approximately $1,000,000 of this fund has already been subscribed.

A tentative list of candidates for degrees this year is as follows: Robert C. Boney, John Welch Fisher, Lucius M. Moseley, Wau-chula, Fla.; Mary A. Boyer, Stuart, Fla.; Janet M. R. Cadman, Louis B. Howes, Hugh F. McKean, George L. Pickard, Rowan M. Pickard, Frances C. Porter, Charlotte M. Stienhans, Carol M. Walter, Orlando, Fla.

Sarah E. Green, Asa W. Jennings, Robert G. Sprague, Stella H. Weston, Winter Park, Fla.; Harrison S. Cobb, Flora L. Furen, Chester A. Ihrig, Robert K. Pepper, Ft. Myers, Fla.; Ruth H. Cole, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Dorothy F. Davis, Ethel B. Hahn, Miami, Fla.; Howard P. Delamater, Clearwater, Fla.; Clementine Hall, Melbourne, Fla.; Louise E. Hall, San Mateo, Fla.; Emily H. Kuhl, Shiloh, Fla.; Aurora McKay, Verna B. Maxon, Tampa, Fla.; Marjory McMichael, Windermere, Fla.; Gerard M. Miller, St. Cloud, Fla.; Virginius Wilkins Moody, jr., Fulford, Fla.

Helen A. Morrow, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Harriet L. Pipkorn, Sarasota, Fla.; Damaris O. Wilson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Cyril E. Cockrell, Zephyrhills, Fla.; Cloyde H. Russell, Sanford, Fla.

Clara B. Adolfs, Virginia M. Stelle, Dorothy S. Mittendorf, Chicago, Ill.; Robert E. James, Cecile L. Plitz, New York, N. Y.; Ruby N. Quick, Richfield, Springs, N. Y.; Martha Janet Schanck, Hightstown, N. J.; Eleanor H. Blish, Manchester, Conn.; Dorothy D. Carr, Helen G. Carr, Yellow Springs, O.; Gertrude E. Curn, Steubenville, O.; Joe Browning Jones, Lewiston, O.; Margaret S. Chapman, Newtonville, Mass.; Anita E. Cross, Manchester, N. H.; Barbara Daly, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; Richard O. Harris, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; Isobel G. Williams, Grosse Point, Mich.; Sarah K. Huey, Bessemer, Ala.; Thelma G. Cawood, Winchester, Ky.; Dorothy Ann Minter, Atlanta, Ga.

Zoltan Bekassy, Budapest, Hungary; Peter Berger, Hamburg, Germany; Bohuslav Glos, Olomouc, Czechoslovakia; Gottfried E. Dinzi, Vienna, Austria.

The master of arts degree will be conferred upon Olie S. Bandy, Scottsville, Ky., Rudolph Fischer, Basle, Switzerland, and Rev. James Whitney Egan Airey, Columbus, Texas.

66 ROLLINS STUDENTS GRADUATE TOMORROW

Will Be First Class to Complete
Full Four Years Under Conference Study Plan

A class of 66 candidates for degrees, the largest in the history of the institution, will be graduated at the 45th commencement exercises of Rollins College tomorrow at 10 A. M. The exercises will be conducted in Recreation hall on the shore of Lake Virginia.

This year's class, which is announced is 50 per cent larger than last year's, is the first to leave Rollins after completing full four-year courses under the Rollins conference plan of study employed upon the recommendation of President Hamilton Holt, in place of the conventional lecture and recitation system.

The members of this year's graduation class come from 14 states and five foreign countries. The bachelor of arts degree will be conferred upon 56, the bachelor of science degree upon six, the bachelor of music degree upon one and the master of arts degree upon three.

Orlando and Winter Park residents among this year's graduating class are Janet M. R. Cadman, Louise B. Howes, Hugh F. McKean, George L. Pickard, Rowan M. Pickard, Frances C. Porter, Charlotte M. Stienhans, Carol M. Walter, Orlando; and Asa W. Jennings, Robert G. Sprague and Stella H. Weston, Winter Park.

Fifty-five of this year's class, bachelors of science upon six, the bachelor of music degree upon one, and M. A. degrees upon three. Twelve states and five foreign countries are represented among the members of the class. Awards of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion to two seniors and prizes in several competitions in poetry, short story writing and essays will be announced.

Class day exercises on Thursday, June 5, will feature the mid-week activities. Chester A. Ihrig, Winter Park, president of the senior class, will act as master of ceremonies.

The program will include organ selections by Emelie Sellers; address by President Hamilton Holt; Class History by Flora Lee Furen, Fort Myers; Class Will, Robert Pepper, Fort Myers; Dedication of Tomokan, Chester A. Ihrig; violin solo, Mary Boyer, Stuart; presentation of class gift by Charlotte Stienhans, Orlando; presentation of Gamma Phi Beta economics prize by Harriet Pipkorn, Sarasota; presentation of Pan-Hellenic award to highest ranking sorority in scholarship, by Helen Morrow, Daytona Beach; class poem, Stella Weston, Winter Park. Farewell, Chester A. Ihrig, class president; alma mater.

66 Seniors At Rollins Graduated

Largest Class in College's History Receive Diplomas

Documents of graduation were conferred upon a class of 66 at Rollins College yesterday. The class, it was announced, was the largest in the 45 years of Rollins' history, and the first to leave after completing four-year courses under the Rollins Conference plan of study.

Dr. Hamilton Holt presided at his fifth commencement as the president of the college. The commencement address was delivered by Rev. William S. Board, secretary of the Laymen's Advisory committee of the National Council of Congregational Churches, who spoke on "The Pilgrim Spirit at Work."

Many Degrees

Bachelor of Arts degrees were conferred upon 56, Bachelor of Science degrees upon six, the Bachelor of Music degree upon one, and Master of Arts degrees upon three. Fourteen states and five foreign countries were represented in the membership of the class.

Honor graduates were: Miss Verna B. Maxson, Tampa, magna cum laude; Miss Flora Lee Furen, Fort Myers, cum laude; Miss Sarah Huey, Bessemer, Ala., cum laude; and Asa W. Jennings, Winter Park, cum laude.

Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallions, awarded by a faculty committee on behalf of the New York Southern Society in memory of Algernon Sydney Sullivan, the Society's first president, were presented to Miss Aurora McKay, Tampa, and Robert G. Sprague, Winter Park. The Sullivan awards it was announced, were based "not in recognition of excellency in scholarship, but by reason of the attainment of the finer elements of character."

Mayor's Daughter

Miss McKay is the daughter of D. B. McKay, mayor of Tampa, and editor of the Tampa Times. She was editor in chief of the Rollins Sandspur, the weekly undergraduate newspaper, this year. Sprague is the son of the late Robert G. Sprague, who died last December in his tenth year as a member of the Rollins faculty.

The Howard Fox Literature Prize, of $50, offered by Dr. Howard Fox of New York City, for the best piece of literature produced by a Rollins student during the year, was awarded to Miss tSella H. Weston, Winter Park, for her "Daguerreotypes," which were published by the Angel Alley Press this year.

Story Prize

The Flossie Hill Short Story Prize of $25, offered by Miss M. Flossie Hill, Fort Myers alumna, was won this year, it was announced, by Miss S. Phyrne Squier, Wales, Mass., an undergraduate, for her story entitled: "Strength of an Ox." Miss Squier won the same prize last year and the Ponce de Leon Poetry Prize of $100 offered this year by the Poetry Society of Florida.

Formal presentation of the Norris Athletic Trophy offered by the Norris Candy Company of Atlanta, Ga., to the outstanding athlete among the men students, was made to Roman M. Pickard, Orlando. The Phi Mu Athletic Trophy offered by the Phi Mu Sorority to the outstanding woman athlete was presented formally to Miss Damaris O. Wilson, Jacksonville.

The commencement exercises held in the recreation hall on Lake iVirginia were preceded by an academic procession of the faculty and graduation candidates from Carnegie Hall. Dr. Oscar E. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Orlando, asked the invocation, and Dr. Lindsay E. McNair, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Orlando, pronounced benediction.

The musical program was furnished by members of the faculty of the Conservatory of Music under the direction of Professor Clarence C. Nice, director. A quintette composed of Gretchen Cox, Harve Clemens, Helen Warner, Marguerite Poetinger, and Helen Moore, played Meyerbeer's Coronation March from Le Prophete as the Processional, and Verdi's March from Aida as the Recessional. Miss Cox and Mr. Clemens played Bach's Adagio from D minor Concerto as a violin duet, and the quintette played a Schumann composition during the exercises.
