CONSTITUTION TO BE REWRITTEN

Servicemen's Open House Is Saturday

The Rollins Student Council together with the entire student body and Administration are working together to arrange a "Welcome for Extension Students" at Rollins on Saturday, November 3.

The extension students will consist of about 75 service men taking courses from Rollins' professors at Sanford Naval Station and Patrick Air Base.

This Saturday the servicemen are being brought to the campus to get acquainted with other members of the "Rollins Family" and to tour the entire campus.

They will arrive at 2:30 p.m. and at 3:00 p.m. a tour of the campus will be conducted in small groups. At 4:30 p.m. there will be Open House in all the girls' dorms.

Supper will be served at 6 p.m. in the Beantry for the guests and at 7 p.m. the boys on the campus will hold Open House for the service men.

An informal dance has been scheduled in the Center Patio from 8:30 p.m. till 11:30 p.m. for couples only. The entire Rollins Family is invited.

FRESH OFFICERS ELECTED in last Friday's run-offs settled down immediately to take care of Freshman business. Takayo Tsubouchi, Bryant Smith and Fred March busily discuss the Freshman Show, "The Dinky Line", being presented on November 8.

Two Factions Claiming Leadership of Indy Men

There are currently two separate and distinct groups of students claiming the leadership of the Independent Men's organization.

This situation developed after a totally unexpected and highly organized coup had apparently abolished the existing constitution of the organization and laid grounds for drawing up a new one and appointing new officers.

Striking through a loophole in the constitution a group of Independent Men called for its simple suspension. The constitution had no provision for a suspension, labeled as such, and the measure passed by a simple majority of seventeen to nine, at the regular Monday night meeting.

Joe Augeri, president of the Independent Men, and Don Kerr, vice president of the organization, promptly wrote their resignations. Augeri had previously stated that he would resign if he did not receive a vote of confidence. Both officers later announced that they would withdraw their resignations on the grounds that the entire procedure of suspension was illegal according to Roberts Rules of Order under which the meetings are held.

After the conference, Mr. Gleason spent twelve weeks visiting university centers in all parts of Western Europe, particularly in Germany and Austria. From these visits and contacts with European students and teachers he gained a thorough knowledge of university conditions and of the thinking of university people on the issues that face us all.

The World Student Service Fund, which Mr. Gleason represents, is one of the services to which we contribute thru the Chapel Fund Drive.

Council, College to Build Tennis Courts

The majority of the groups at Student Council last Monday agreed that the constitution should be completely rewritten.

This action will have to be taken through amending procedure. At the next Council meeting President Hal Sult will appoint a committee to begin work on the constitution.

The advisory committee of John DeGrove, Mary Ann Hobart, Dave Redding, Dick Stuart and Dick Vreeland, appointed by Hal Sult was fully approved.

Gerald Walker Is Elected To Head Flamingo

In a meeting of the Rollins College Publications Union, Monday, Gerry Walker was elected editor of the Flamingo, student literary publication.

The head position of the Flamingo was vacated because Kit Graham, editor elect last spring, did not return to Rollins.

Letters of application for the job were submitted to the Publications Union this fall so that the members might choose an editor from those qualified for the position.

GERRY WALKER

Gerry has been a constant contributor to the Flamingo and is also outstanding in the Theatre Arts department.

Published three times during the year, at the close of each term, the Flamingo contains the poems, short stories, essays and other creative literary efforts of Rollins students.

Many noted authors and poets of world wide fame have read and commented on the excellent and superior quality of the works in the magazine.

It was announced that the administration is willing to help in obtaining new tennis courts. It will also give $2100 toward buying new tennis courts. A transformer has already been purchased for lighting the present courts at night. If the Council will pay for the lights reported to cost $2200.93, the Administration will install the transformer and wiring.

The first speaker on the News Briefing program, November 14, will be President McKean. After the program, Delta Chi will lead group singing.

Hal explained that the Speaker Service is not designed to recruit students but that that will probably be the ultimate goal. Bill Shelton, Director of Public Relations, said that the topics of the Service would be announced on the Rollins College Album, over WDBO, Friday night, to acquaint Central Florida citizens with it.

Other business brought up at Council meeting was:

1. The proposed program for entertaining the servicemen in the Rollins Extension Courses this Saturday was accepted in full.
2. It was proposed that the library be kept open later at night and on Saturday. Expenses could be met if just a studyroom were left open after 10:00 p.m.
3. A proposal was made to buy new shells for crew practice.

CALENDAR

November 2, 3 PM—Anne Russell Theatre.

Come A-Cross Coined As Slogan Of November Chapel Fund Drive

On Sunday, November 4, Mr. John C. Gleason will be the guest speaker in the Chapel. His talk will launch the Chapel Fund Drive for 1951.

The Executive Secretary of the Southern Regional office of World Student Service Fund, Mr. Gleason is a graduate of Ohio University. In the summer of 1950, he was the American delegate to the international conference of World University Service in Rotterdam, which WUS assists in meeting these problems.

Upper Division Board Procedure Altered

These four provisions will be followed by students applying for admission into the Upper Division:

1. Students will file Upper Division papers as usual (academic summary sheet and schedule, but no letter) with the Registrar's Office.

2. The Registrar will evaluate each record quantitatively and qualitatively.

3. Students with an unquestionable record will be automatically admitted to the Upper Division and so notified by the Registrar.

4. The papers of students about whom there is doubt will be gone over by Professor Jones and any committee he may wish to call in for consultation or to interview the student. These students will be notified of the final action by the Registrar.

The Challenge

The most popular notion to have captivated the Rollinsite to date has blossomed forth this fall and is loosely termed "The Year of Challenge." We read it and we talk about it and it sounds good, but we somehow fail to fit ourselves into the picture.

According to the "Old Reliable," a challenge is an invitation to a contest, and this seems to describe the present situation nicely. This year there are definitely more contests going on within the Rollins orbit than usual.

President McKean, Dr. Hanna and Mr. Tiedtke are challenged with formidable obstacles resulting from today's world conditions. They are compensated for their problems by bright hopes and a belief that the future offers the utmost promise. They are meeting their challenge with a courage and selfless determination that should inspire the rest of us.

The faculty also is coming forth to grapple with challenge. In some quarters you can almost feel the heat of mental gears grinding away on fundamentalist thinking. Many of our profs are resolutely poking about among the grassroots of educational ideals in the realization that Rollins is rebuilding—not remodeling. They continue to exhibit an admirable willingness to give of themselves on behalf of the students.

We have been looking for a similar urge in the student body—and are still looking. Not so long ago we displayed a surprisingly mature plunge into creative self-government. Fired by a practical idealism unique among people of college age, mature student activity earned respect and a place for itself amid the high councils of this institution. Respect for an organized, thinking student body became almost habitual among the other groups that determine Rollins policy.

Not long ago constructive plans gushed from fertile student brains. One plan that actually got under way was the use of student efforts in admissions work. The full enrollment that we enjoy this fall is a tribute to the utility of this plan. There were others equally workable that as yet have not been tried. These plans can be employed for the benefit of the college and the student body ONLY if the desire to progress and the necessary leadership are present.

The Student Council is the proper source for this constructive action. As the student governing body, this assembly has the power and the obligation to direct student activities for the benefit of both the students and the College. In Hal Suit, the students have elected a capable and conscientious president who should be able to take us far with the cooperation of the student body and Council. The newly established administrative groups are part of the necessary legislative machinery for an effective student program.

Here is the challenge. The student body has an unparalleled opportunity to enter into the building of a new and better Rollins. The responsibilities and problems are myriad—but so are the possibilities. If the students, under Student Council leadership, don't pitch in now with the spirit and the purpose of last Spring, this chance will be forfeited.

The Trustees, Faculty, and Administration have asked for our assistance in this year of endeavor. Let us justify their respect by getting to work—for ourselves, for our ideals, and for the betterment of Rollins.

LETTER

Pro Indy Change

The Independent Men's group has been going to pot recently. Until the reign of Joe Augeri and Dick Vreeland, the Indie Men had the respect of the other social groups on the campus. In the past few months we have seen an appalling lack of sound leadership. We are no longer respected. We have seen the leaders of our organization take a position contrary to the view of the group, reverse themselves, and then reverse again. They have furthered their views by calling "secret meetings".

We acknowledge the undisputed legal rights granted by our wholly inadequate constitution to continue this policy of self-contradiction. We question, however, their moral rights and their fitness to lead our group. Leaders cannot simply take a firm stand on all major issues. They must reflect the majority feelings of the group they represent.

Monday we again witnessed an abrupt about-face by these people. The officers resigned after losing a vote of confidence. When the turmoil was over, they realized their mistake and repudiated their actions. How is the group to function under such preposterous confusion?

The legality of our motion to suspend the constitution is too complicated to be argued in this limited space. Whether there be loopholes or not, it's quite clear that the majority of the group wants to suspend the present leaders. This step must be taken to prevent the writing of another constitution filled with power-giving loopholes for their self-perpetuation.

Con Indy Change

As chairman of the program committee of the Independent Men, my duties as outlined in the Independent Men's Constitution are, "The committee shall prepare and direct each program of regular meetings according to Robert's Rules of Order."

At the regular Monday night meeting of the Indie Men, October 29, the following motion was moved and passed by a simple majority vote. "That the constitution of the Independent Men's Student Organization of Rollins College be suspended and that the incumbent officers be relieved of their duty and that the constitutional, legislative, and executive operation of said organization be placed in the hands of an executive committee, this committee to be operative for no longer than six weeks or such time as a new constitution be adopted."

This action is illegal and unconstitutional according to the following sources (state briefly):

1. Independent constitutional procedure for removing officers of their duty (impeachment) requires a 2-3 vote. Only a simple majority vote was secured; therefore the

Give Your Blood

While you are studying, attending classes, or drinking down at Harper's, do you ever think of the excess blood you have running throughout your body?

Did you ever have the urge to rid your body of this excess, and at the same time help a worthy cause? If you have, we would like to announce the presence of the Blood For Freedom Clinic in the basement of the Center Thursday, November 8. This Clinic is sponsored by the Department of Defense, and its purpose is to obtain that vital liquid for our boys fighting in Korea.

In the steaming rice paddies of Korea, American boys are shedding their blood the hard way. You can give your blood with comfort and ease—and at the same time save a life.

Think of it, your blood, and yours alone, is life to some wounded guy in Korea. Do you think a guy's chance to come back to his wife or sweetheart, is worth forty-five minutes of your time in the Center Basement Thursday?

Let's look at it another way. You can fight for freedom—your right to attend the church of your choice (or your right not to attend at all) and believe in the ideals you have deduced—by donating blood to our boys fighting the Communist forces in Korea. You can give them the strength, the life, to fight death and Communism, all in forty-five minutes.

General Matthew B. Ridgway, Commander in Chief, United Nations Command, has stated the following: "Every American who has given blood can and should feel he personally has contributed directly to the saving of the life of an American boy."

Now this appeal isn't hog dirt; blood is needed badly. Just read the feature article in "Life" of two weeks ago. The supply of plasma is almost all used up. Let's get behind this program next Thursday and instead of spending our time talking or playing pin ball on the first floor of the Center, let's go to the basement and give blood.

elected officers are still legally authorized.

2. Constitutional suspension is not authorized by any vote under Robert's Rules of Order. Amendment requires: written submission, minimum seven-day tabling, and a subsequent 2-3 majority vote for passage. None of these procedures was followed, therefore that section of the motion is illegal too.

In conclusion the so-called "executive committee" is without authority or legal right to carry on any business of the Independent Men.

The officers of the Independent Men welcome the interest shown in the Indies by its new members. All realize the need for several constitutional revisions, but these revisions will be worthless if they are to be made a mockery of, as they would be if motions like this were considered morally or legally sound. No constitution would have value then.

At the end of last term the Indies unanimously voted to let all differences to be a thing of the past and work together for Rollins. It is unfortunate that a few forgot their unity and now wish to split the Indies again.

The officers of the Indies and all the Indies, old and new, should sit down and legally adjust their goals. Out of this a stronger Independent Organization will be formed.

Mildred Charmbury Named To New Post On Time Mag

Mildred Charmbury, daughter of Mr. Walter Charmbury, professor of Music at Rollins College, and Mrs. Charmbury, has been promoted from the market research department of TIME-LIFE International to the Business Manager's office of the same division of TIME Inc. in New York City.

In her new position, Miss Charmbury is secretary to David D. Ryus, Business Manager for TIME Inc.'s international editions: TIME Canada, Pacific, Atlantic and Latin American and LIFE International which is distributed in more than 100 countries all over the world.

Miss Charmbury was graduated from Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., in 1946. At college she majored in French, was president of the French House, and a member of the Glee Club and Choir.

MILDRED CHARMBURY

Following her graduation, Miss Charmbury worked for a year with the French Government helping to direct shipments of relief supplies. In 1947 she worked in the registrar's office at Rollins, and the following year returned to New York to become a secretary in the Latin American Division of the Institute of International Education.

French Festival Gives Student Scholarships

Money contributed last year at the French Festival is making it possible for two students to continue their education, Mme Colette van Boecop, Professor of French Civilization at Rollins College, reported.

The French scholarships went to:

Christine Chardon, daughter of Yves Chardon, conductor of the Central Florida Orchestra, who is attending Rollins as a freshman on a half scholarship.

Michel Bourgain, Paris, France, brother Nicole Bourgain, who was a scholarship student at Rollins three years ago, received the balance of the funds for a full scholarship to study at Rollins.

Millicent Ford, who was graduated last year, received a scholarship from the government of Quebec to attend Laval University. The scholarship was obtained through Mme. van Boecop. Word reaching Winter Park reported that Miss Ford attained the highest grades at the University.

Ben Mount, who returned to Rollins this Fall, also took French courses at Lavelle and received high grades. Both students have been congratulated by their professors on their elocution and pronunciation of French.

Armed Forces Blood Donor Program Comes To Rollins

The Armed Forces Blood Donor Program will set up its hospital in the Center basement next Thursday, November 8.

Any person in good health between the ages of 21 and 59 may donate blood once every two months, with their donations not to exceed five times a year.

Persons between the ages of 18 and 21, except those who are married or in military service, are required to have the consent of parents or guardians.

Student Congress Solves Problems

College students everywhere will be interested in the article NSA in the November issue of MADEMOISELLE magazine. It tells the story of how the National Student Association is meeting the problems and goals that every student shares.

Member schools elect or appoint delegates to the annual ten-day Congress to talk out and vote in National policies and elect National officers. Regional representatives meet between congresses and make policy decisions. On member campuses, an NSA chairman shuttles information from the regional or National to campus groups, attends regional meetings, directs some projects, suggests others.

Though anxious to have a say in how late they'll stay out at night, whether or not they'll keep cars on campus and what rules should govern college extra-curricular groups, NSA-ers leave most academic matters to their teachers and to the administration. The one big exception is faculty evaluation. With help from the NSA, students from a growing number of colleges and universities are now grading their profs and some campus NSA's have brought in honor systems.

NSA's international programs have been the most successful. It has a seat on UNESCO's national commission and helps to sponsor the World Student Service Fund. Each NSA publishes a booklet listing opportunities in foreign study, work and travel, and in one year sent abroad over eight hundred students through its own travel and study groups at a cost of less than seven hundred dollars apiece.

Adequate blood plasma reserve for the armed forces is necessary and the only way it can be obtained is through the cooperation of everyone who can meet the required standards. All that is necessary is that they take an hour of time off from their routine schedule.

NEWS BRIEFS

Relations between our big business men and the British should be improved by the election of Churchill's Conservatives to head the British government. Our business men sometimes do not like to deal with the "Socialists." Actually Churchill's government will not de-socialize but will concentrate on foreign affairs and the budget.

A preliminary report on Sen. McCarthy's affairs is due November 1. It should be quite a blast.

President Truman's somewhat controversial appointment of a full-time ambassador to the Vatican should be looked on as a step to improve our relations with all anti-Communists.

Prices will continue to rise in spite of controls. Rather than having a price roll-back we will have a controlled inflation. Labor is looking for a new round of wage increases—the most important increase will be steel this December.

Chapel Fund Drive Sets Goal At $1400; Uses Money To Support Service Projects

Chapel Fund Drive is about to get under way.

What is the Chapel Fund Drive?

It is an effort to secure monies for the Rollins Chapel Fund. Through the Chapel Fund Rollins aids many people, individually and in groups, all over the world.

In order to obtain operating funds for such causes as the International Relations Club, World Student Service Fund, Race Relations Group, and Community Service Fund, the Chapel Staff at Rollins conducts a campaign each year to raise the needed money to sustain these activities.

All the organizations mentioned above are devoted to service, to the helping of others who are in need. Without your help, they cannot give that help to others.

The Chapel Fund Drive begins on Tuesday, November 6. Members of the Chapel Staff will visit the Monday night meetings of the campus social groups to explain the details of how and where the money which you give is spent.

Come A-Cross

for the Chapel Fund Drive
November 6-10

This year the goal of the drive is $1400 exclusive of the Christmas Service collections.

This $1400 must come from the pockets of the faculty and students on this campus, an average of $2.00 per person. The Chapel Fund Drive is asking that each person give $2.00 so that it may attain this goal. This is the only full scale money drive held at Rollins throughout the year.

Won't you give your $2.00 willingly?

Come A-Cross

for the Chapel Fund Drive
November 6-10

Activities and functions of Community Service are assisted financially by the Chapel Fund Drive. Part of the money which you contribute goes toward helping needy people in this community.

Community Service members work at the White Day Nursery, visit the Winter Park Library once a week to read to the children there.

Representatives visit patients in the infirmary and run errands for them. Flowers are sent to any Rollins student, staff, or faculty member in the hospital.

At Christmas baskets are sent to needy families in this area. Outings are being planned for the children at the Parental Home.

Several donations will be made during the year to the Emery Institute for Stammering and Stuttering. Members of the committee will help Girl and Boy Scouts with lifeguarding and dancing instruction.

None of these activities would be able to continue were it not for your contribution to the Chapel Fund Drive.

Come A-Cross

November 6-10

Through the Inter-Faith and Race Relations groups you are helping needy people in this community and throughout the state. Part of the money which you give to the Chapel Fund Drive will go towards the activities of this group.

The Rollins Inter-Faith and Race Relations group is associated with the Winter Park Race Relations group.

During the past years the groups have given money to the Hungerford colored school, money and aid to the Hannibal Square Library in Winter Park, sponsored an annual Race Relations Sunday on which speakers and guests, including representatives of the Bethune-Cookman school, have addressed the group and participated in discussions of the problems of race relations.

Race Relations is helping to educate one or two Seminole children by providing the money to pay for their schooling.

All this work would be impossible were it not for the Chapel Fund Drive and your $2.00.

Come A-Cross

November 6-10

Part of the money which you contribute to the Chapel Fund Drive is used to help people abroad through the International Relations Club and its many activities.

The IRC primarily concerned with world affairs, supports two war orphans and contributes each year to the World Student Service Fund. This service fund helps students abroad continue their education.

Many universities in Europe were so badly destroyed during World War II that they have practically no equipment with which to teach students. Through the World Student Service Fund students in America aid Europe and students and their universities by providing books and other equipment so vital to an education.

The IRC meets once a month on the Rollins campus to hear talks by student, faculty, and guest speakers who have traveled or lived abroad. The money you contribute to the Chapel Fund helps support these activities.

Another portion of the money you give to the Chapel Fund Drive goes into the Deans' Fund to help students here on campus.

The Deans' Fund is set up in order to lend funds to Rollins students who need a little money for a little while. Arrangements are made through your contribution to the Chapel Fund Drive.

OUR WORKING COLLEGIANS

Owner Of Most Winning Smile Tapped To Head New Sandspur Feature Series

There is a young man on this campus with the most winning smile Rollins has ever seen.

He's a curly-headed sophomore, a Delta Chi pledge, and a soda jerk at O'Brien's Drug store. There can be only one answer—Dave Berto.

Last year Dave worked 45 hours a week at O'Brien's — plus his active life as a Rollins Freshman. The going was tough, but his weekly payments at the Cashier's office were prompt.

There were other problems, not just financial, that faced Dave Berto. But in spite of these, Dave could always smile at hardship and laugh at adversity. Again we see that "from adversity springs strength".

Dave is always enthusiastic about everything. He is the spark-plug of not only the football team, but of the Delta Chi fraternity.

You name it, Dave's for it.

Whether it's redecorating Lyman Hall living room, or moving the Chapel garden into a Delta Chi John.

Other than friendly, Dave is studious and sincere. And his smile is lasting—it ripens with age—and always welcome to those who are closest to him.

Fashions Arouse Passions or
The Bare Facts On Women's Clothes

By Just FOO LIN

Since women's clothes are a subject dear to many of us, especially the guys who have to pay the bills, I think it is about time we look at the bare facts, and see what lies beneath feminine clothes (the fashions that is).

Ever since the last war the modern girl has had the same ambition in mind while dressing as she has when playing golf—to go around in as little as possible.

If women dress to please themselves (as many of them say they do) it certainly doesn't take much to please them. I also read that girls spend all they earn on clothes. If this is true, some of them look as though they've been unemployed for a long time.

The modern girl's clothes are like a barbed wire fence. They protect the property without obstructing the view.

Since we must begin somewhere, let us take the evening dress. Before I went to a preview of the new formal gowns, I had no idea what the girls were showing this year. Now that I've seen them, let me say right here and now that you can't ask to see much more.

Once when a girl had nothing to wear she stayed at home. Nowadays she goes to a formal affair.

Just remember one thing boys—if you're dancing with your girl and your hand feels material, it's where it shouldn't be.

Women call their new gowns "creations." I can understand this; they're made out of nothing.

To prove my point, when I walked over to one of the girls modeling these gowns, and told her I'd like to see more of her, she slapped my face. Naturally, I explained that I wasn't referring to the gown. In fact I told her that I didn't care for the dress so she just laughed it off.

It isn't only evening clothes that this slight trend toward nudity is apparent. In everything she wears, the modern girl is like an airplane; she is continually taking off.

If you don't believe me, just take a look at the new afternoon dresses. It's not that the modern female isn't interested in nice clothes, it's just that she isn't wrapped up in them. Probably they're following the theory advocated by the great well-known poet—whose name I have forgotten. To be perfectly honest, he wasn't great and wasn't well-known either.

Anyway, he said, "The less clothes, the more beans." He's got something there!

Hem lines are forever going up and down. Why in 1944 things were really high. Dress manufacturers were thinking that the "thighs the limit." Do you remember when a kid wanted to prevent himself from becoming lost, he used to hang on to his mother's skirt? Well, in 1944 he couldn't reach it.

If he wanted to hide behind her skirt, he had to climb onto his high-chair to do it. In this modern day and age, girls wear less on the street than their grandmother did in bed.

All women insist on the same thing when buying a new frock, "Give me a snag fit."

I always thought that tight clothes always stopped circulation, but it seems the tighter a girl's clothes are, the more she's in circulation.

People are always saying, "My how times have changed!" Actually they haven't changed much.

In the good old days when a girl raised her skirt six inches, it created a sensation. If a girl raised her skirt that much today it would also cause a sensation.

Women's styles may change, but their designs always remain the same.

Now we come to bathing suits—ah yes, Bikini, you sweet atoll.

The new bathing suits have put a crimp into Burlesque. Man sees no reason to pay money to see what he can see for nothing on the beach. What's more he has an ocean near by to cool off in.

Recently I gave a girl a piece of my mind, she's wearing it for a bathing suit this season.

When a girl gets into a new bathing suit she's more than half out. Women were born naked, and it seems they're doing their best to return to the original state. Once they used to call a little girl, a little dear. Now they call her a little bare.

As the same poet we mentioned before wrote:

Then when girls went out to swim
They dressed like Mother Hubbard.
Now they have a bolder whim,
They dress more like her cupboard.

I suppose it's silly to change the general trend. You know you can't keep a good skirt down. After all—clothes make the man—lack of them, the woman. There are probably a million reasons why

The Molester
Last Of Five
Runs College

By EGELLOC SNILLOR

During Orientation Week last September a bewildered Freshman came up to me and asked me to point out the executive and administrative staff of the College to him.

"Well," I said, "that rather short man is President McKenna, that plump fellow is Dr. Hanna, that tall gentleman is Mr. Tiedtke, that cigar over there holding on to a man is Dean Darrah, and those three people in the corner are the Deans, Dean Cleveland, Dean Mendell, and Dean Justice."

To the casual observer of the Rollins Catalogue this list would seem to be complete. But in reality, somehow it isn't, someone is missing.

Who has been left off this list of big wheels?

Alas, who else can it be but Cloverleaf's very own Hester Davis.

To all of us that are connected with this 44-acre, palm-covered institution of higher learning she is well known. To some of us she is known as the "Chief," to others as "Digger" and to a larger group as "Hester the molester."

The "Chief" came into this world on June 4, 1930, the last of five children. Her early days were spent picking apples on the Davis' farm near Shirley, Mass. Hester entered Rollins in September, 1948, and since that date she has been running the school.

At the present time she is a member of the Phi Mu Sorority, a member of the Chapel Staff, assistant house-mother at Cloverleaf, and a spy for the Student Deans. The "Molester" has run a number of other things here, but the Sandspur has plans for the rest of this page.

For the past two summers "Digger" has gone on archaeological expeditions to New Mexico, trying to dig up a man. She found one in 1950, but, unfortunately, he was rather old, musty and had an ax hole in his head.

In closing this biography I would like to paraphrase some oft-quoted words of my high school football coach.

"Boys," old Fat Pat used to say, "When you're in doubt during a game, punt."

I say when you are in doubt here at Rollins, ask Hester.

women dress as they do, and everyone of them is a man.

But now don't get Foo wrong, I'm not adverse to women's fashions.

Girls, your fashions are wonderful—just keep it up.

Men, regardless of styles, women have always been women. If they look old, they're young. If they look young, they're old, and if they look back—well, brother, take my advice and follow them.

Root-Tilden Scholarships Available To Rollins Men

American college seniors with keen intelligence, integrity and a zeal for public service can pinch themselves awake if they are dreaming of a three-year law school scholarship with all expenses paid according to an announcement today by Dean Russell D. Niles of the New York University Law Center.

Practically every top-ranking senior man on the 1951 American campus is eligible to apply for the Root-Tilden Scholarships if he is between the ages of 20 and 28 and a citizen. Application must be made to: Dean of the Law School, New York University Law Center, Washington Square, New York, New York.

"These scholars," the dean said, "will have opportunities of working on a comprehensive publication program, including the Tax Law Review, the most widely read law school publication in the United States. They will be in contact with the Inter-American Law Institute where scholars from the western hemisphere make comparative studies of two great systems of jurisprudence, the English Common Law. And they will take part in the program of the Citizenship Clearing House which encourages young men of character and ability to take an active interest in politics."

After his application has been accepted, the candidate will first appear before a state committee composed of the Chief Justice of the state's highest court, the president of the state bar association and the editor or publisher of a leading state newspaper.

If he passes this hurdle, the applicant, along with other candidates from the same state and those from different states in the same Federal Judicial Circuit, will go before the Circuit committee. This is the final test. There the candidate will appear before the chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals of the Circuit,

Deans Attend St. Pete Convention

On November 2 and 3, student deans and counselors from all over Florida will attend a work shop in St. Petersburg.

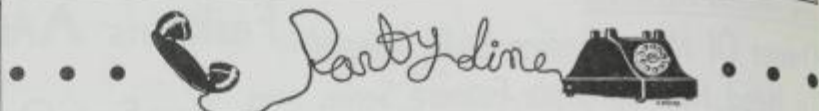

Principal speakers for the conference will be Dean Hilda Threlkeld from the University of Louisville and Dean W. M. Wise, Dean of Student Personnel at the University of Florida. Dean Threlkeld will speak on "Our Responsibility For Developing and Maintaining Professional Status" and TOMOKAN pictures are now being taken in the basement of the Student Center. Anyone who has not made an appointment for their picture should do so now in the Center.

Dean Wise will speak on "Our Responsibility For Maintaining Mental Health."

Also on the agenda are films and discussion periods. Those attending the conference will participate in a "Sociodrama." The counselors will extemporaneously play the parts of students and deans in problems that are common to the group.

At the end of the conference Dean Marian Cleveland of Rollins will summarize the two days of lectures, discussions, and films.

Last week we said something about college life getting back to normal. That was wishful thinking 'cause the best we can hope for is a greater degree of "normalcy". Study has been allowed to slip for so long that everyone is submerged, and every time you come up for breath there's something extra-curricular doing. The Kappa Pledges had an open house Monday night and it seemed like everybody decided that was the proper time for a "breather" 'cause there was a wonderful crowd.

Last Friday night there were Rollins students at the Boy Scout Lodge on Lake Killarney. . . not to learn first aid and how to tie a bowline, but swimming and group singing were part of the program (that is, if Halloween parties can be said to have a program). The singing was a hint; the group was Phi Mu and they really had fun! Wally Moon, Pete Sturtevant, Mack Israel and Mel Rhinehart were there so the party was really "different".

Last night the Theta's were the first campus group to attend the Gamma Phi Beta's weekly dessert parties—Good coffee and a hearty dessert will be served each Wednesday.

For instance, we saw Mary Ann Hobart playing tennis and swimming before breakfast; if the Theta's are going to train for basketball like that everyone better follow example! Going from sports to fashion, we find many Cloverleaf girls visiting Rae Wilmar and getting short haircuts, good looking, too. Congratulations to the K.A.'s for showing such marvelous spirit and willpower; they proved very convincingly last Saturday that all fun isn't to be had at certain downtown places. The "southern gentlemen" held a campus-Winter Park treasure hunt. The only persons seen "lit-up" carried flashlights. The hunt must have been pretty strenuous though 'cause Bev Vickerstaff and Jerry Robinson were observed using the K.A. pond as a footie cooler.

Gold and Blue

By BRUCE LEE

If one looks back in the athletic record books, a sport will be found which has compiled an impressive list of victories and yet it remains comparatively unknown.

During the past four years, Coach Bradley has led the crew of three state championships and three seconds in the Dad Vail Regatta at Poughkeepsie.

For a small college, this record is excellent. But when the financial snags that have been in the way are considered, the record becomes magnificent.

It has only been through the persistent pushing of Coach Bradley that crew has remained on the athletic roster. When money was needed, the coach went out and raised a large portion of it. By his efforts alone, he dug up one third of the necessary $3,400 for the new varsity shells a few years ago.

But crew now faces a new problem.

The intramural four-man shells which have been the classrooms for all new crew men are falling apart. After one more season of hard work, they will remain afloat only by the grace of baling wire and chewing gum.

At this moment, the Student Council is attempting to relieve the congestion on the tennis courts. There is about $6,500 in the student treasury all of which should not be used for just tennis alone. Some way should be found to appropriate some $2,400 of it for the crew. If this could not be done in one year, two yearly installments of $1,200 would be satisfactory. This amount would cover the cost of building two new Pocock four-man shells and shipping them from Seattle, Washington to Winter Park, if the order is placed now.

There is a definite reason why new shells should be bought.

The intramurals provide the varsity and the jay-vees with their new material. They are also the coach's best method of discovering fresh talent. Therefore, by starting newcomers in the old shells and by using the new shells for the spring intramurals to bolster the varsity, the crew would at last have a decent farm system.

Without fresh talent coming from the intramural ranks every year, there can be no crew. And without the shells, there can be no intramurals.

Tall, dark, and handsome Alfredo Millet is the athlete we'd like you to meet this week. Hailing from Mexico City, Alfredo is without doubt the most internationally traveled tennis player on the campus.

Alfredo learned how to play tennis the hard way. His father wanted little Alfredo to play tennis but his son refused. Thereupon, father Millet lowered the boom. No tennis, no allowance was the verdict.

Being hard pressed, Alfredo soon decided to try the game and in due time he began to like it.

He immediately excelled as a tennis player and when he was 15 years old won the Mexican National Mixed Doubles Tournament. From then on many cups fell prey to Alfredo's swift-swinging racket.

It was hard work to play tennis in the tropics where the temperature is 90 degrees in the shade and the only shade is a player's shadow.

Once, while playing on an extremely hot day, Alfredo's racket handle became slippery with perspiration and instead of delivering a cannonball serve, his racket found its way into the midriff of Canadian Champion Brenden Nocken.

This was by no means the only moment on a tennis court when Alfredo felt lost. When he defeated the British champion after an intense battle on the blistering courts, the President of Mexico not only enthusiastically presented him with the trophy, but embraced him.

During the last two years, Alfredo has become an outstanding member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity. When he is not busy playing on the Davis Cup Team, he can be found winning matches on the sunbaked courts at Rollins.

Ladder System Drawn For Golf

Clyde Kelly, Rollins student golf coach announced today that there will be two golf ladders posted, one for men and one for women, with ten places for each ladder, in the pro shop at Dubuendred.

In order to promote activity and competition among students and at the same time in an effort to prevent some of the squabbles and differences which arise when challenge matches are played, the ladders will be run on a medal play basis according to the following provisions:

1. The names on the ladder will be determined by the ten best 18 hole scores of one week and will be ranked accordingly.

2. The ladder week will end at 6 P.M. each Friday and the ten low scores posted for one full week without change.

3. One player may turn in as many scores as he wishes. Only his best score of the week will be considered.

4. Each player must sign his score card and have it attested by two people who played with him during the round. The card should then be dropped in the Rollins box in the Pro Shop at Dubuendred with the words "Ladder Score" printed plainly next to the signature of the player.

Be sure to watch the next edition of the SANDSPUR for the ladder positions in golf, and for the remainder of the Girls Intramural Basketball Schedule, and for the second half of the Intramural Football Schedule.

5. If a player does not play during a particular week, his name naturally comes off the ladder for that week.

We feel that these ladders will promote friendly competition as well as encourage golfers to play more often. Obviously, the person who plays every day has a much better chance of maintaining a good position on the ladder than the player who turns in only one score weekly.

Especially those people who are interested in playing on the golf teams should strive from week to week to maintain their positions on the ladder as this will be an important consideration in selecting a team.

To the public and the students who see these ladders, the names on them will naturally represent the ten best women and ten best men golfers at Rollins. They will be very interested as we hope you, the golfers will be.

Kappas Defeat Pi Phis; Spurs Swamp Gamma Phis

The Kappas turned back the Pi Phis, 35-13, in the opening game of the 1951 Intramural Basketball Season.

Barbara Bremerman was high scorer for the Kappas, with 14 points to her credit, taking every advantage of her openings to make her long shots good.

In spite of being taken out of the game in the second half, because of an ankle injury, Lois Langeller racked up 12 points for the K.K.G.s to be second high scorer. Je an Wiseloge was high scorer for the Pi Phis.

Two incidents occurred which practically stopped the game. The first was when Jean Wiseloge called time as she stepped out of her shoe. The second was when Jeani MacGregor, started helping out her guards on the wrong side of the court.

Carol Farquharson's 35 points

X Club Pounds Sigma Nu 13-0

In a game which might have decided the Intramural Football championship, the X Club defeated Sigma Nu by a decisive 13-0 score.

The X Club showed a strong ground and aerial attack while Sigma Nu was unable to make any appreciable yardage running and was forced to resort to short, flat passes.

On their second play, the Club drew first blood on a twenty-five yard pass from Williams to Barker. Barker's attempted conversion was wide of the goalposts. Late in the first half, the X club scored again after a seventy-yard march down the field. The key play of the march was another pass to Barker from Williams which was good for forty of the seventy yards. After that, Williams ran it over on a line buck from the nine yard line and Barker's conversion was good making the score 13-0.

Sigma Nu spurred on by the loss of Buddy Fisher, who broke his wrist, finally came to life. High's passes to Baldwin brought the ball to the opponents fifteen. The X Club, however, played brilliant defensive ball and took over after Sigma Nu failed to advance in four downs.

The final half was a replay of the first with savage blocking by both sides preventing any further scoring.

Although it was the combination of Williams and Barker that provided the scoring punch for the Club, the line deserves much of the credit. Leader, Corrigan and Daugherty played an outstanding game while Matchett, High and Baldwin displayed brilliant play for Sigma Nu.

led the way to the Spur's 50-20 victory over the Gamma Phis, in the second game. The Gamma Phi guarding had practically an impossible task to hold back the Dunlap, Donaldson, Farquharson combination, which proved unbeatable. Nancy Plavel was not hindered by the freshmen guards, as she scored 13 points to be high scorer for the Gamma Phis.

There is no doubt about it, that the Spurs have an excellent team and that they will be a threat in every game.

Kappa Alpha Tops Delts With Hard Fought 13-0

On Tuesday, October 30, the Kappa Alpha fraternity rolled over Delta Chi to the tune of 13-0. The game was highlighted by fierce line play on both sides and by the passing attack of the K.A.'s, who was sparked by Ed Stark throwing to Jim Wesly, the Kappa's captain, for both tallies.

There was no scoring in the first half which was fought to a standstill by the opposing lines and marred by two interceptions and numerous costly fumbles. Despite furious play neither team could gather enough first downs to support a touchdown drive.

In the opening minutes of the second half, the game burst wide open.

The Delts missed a sure touchdown when a sleeper play from Anderson to Wood misfired with the ball falling just out of reach of the receiver who was well behind the secondary.

A few minutes later, the Kappas came to life and began to march down the field with a series of short passes to the flats. After splitting the enemy defences, Stark threw a long one right down the middle to Wesly who made a magnificent catch in the endzone for a thirty-five yard tally and the first score of the game. The conversion missed and the Kappa Alphas had a 6-0 edge.

In the fourth quarter the Kappas got a break. Wesly fell on a Delta fumble deep inside the enemy's territory, setting up their second scoring opportunity. After breaking through the line for a short gain, Stark passed to Wesly in the flat for another six points. Wesly converted making the score 13-0.

The game ended with the K.A.s. threatening on the Delts twenty-five yard line.

Lambda Chi Wins First Game 20-0

In a game played Thursday afternoon, October 25, Lambda Chi swamped Alpha Phi Lambda 20-0. This was the first game of the season for both teams, and was marred by costly mistakes on both sides.

Alpha Phi Lambda's ground and short pass game was excellent but when coming within sight of paydirt they reverted to longer passes which were usually intercepted.

Lambda Chi, cashing in on these breaks, while unable to move on the ground, used their passing team of Sturdevant to Baldwin make the lopsided score possible.

A note of humor was introduced when, at the end of the first half, Alpha Phi Lambda tried the split formation, made famous by Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma University. The only play of this formation was swamped and the idea of this formation spread in touch football had been delegated to the hot coffee league, meeting at the Student Center.
