Foreword

A complete record of the past eventful year at Rollins College would fill several volumes the size of this, the 1920 Tomokan. But only a few of the experiences of any life can be chronicled. Between and beyond the lines and pictures of this commemorative annual, we are sure that the reader will have some vision of other details that have entered into this very significant year of Rollins student life. The prevailing and final impression will be that Rollins is keenly and completely alive, in all her activities keeping time to her song slogan, "Rolling Along."

With confidence that every one of these pages is expressive of some eventful memory typical of college days,—all of them memories that neither we nor our friends can willingly let die, we present to you

THE 1920 TOMOKAN

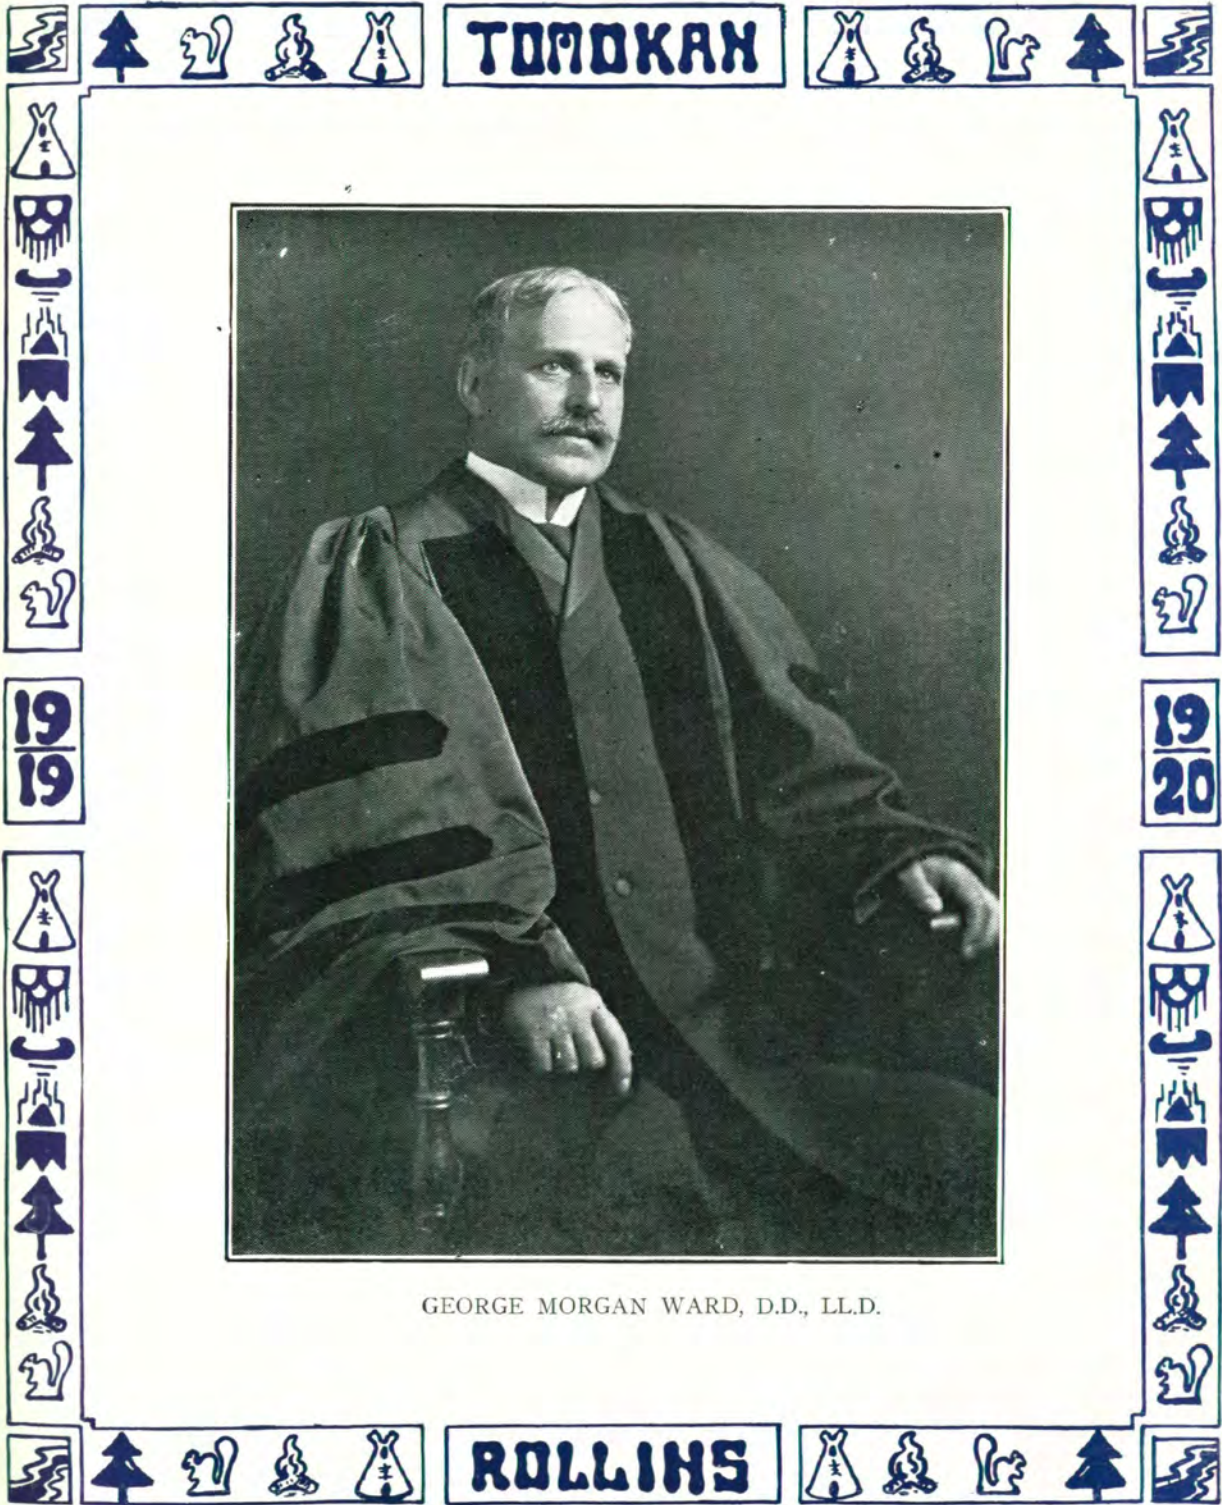

To George Morgan Ward,

We, the students of Rollins College, gratefully dedicate this volume in deep and loving appreciation of the great and self-sacrificing work which you have wrought for our Alma Mater.

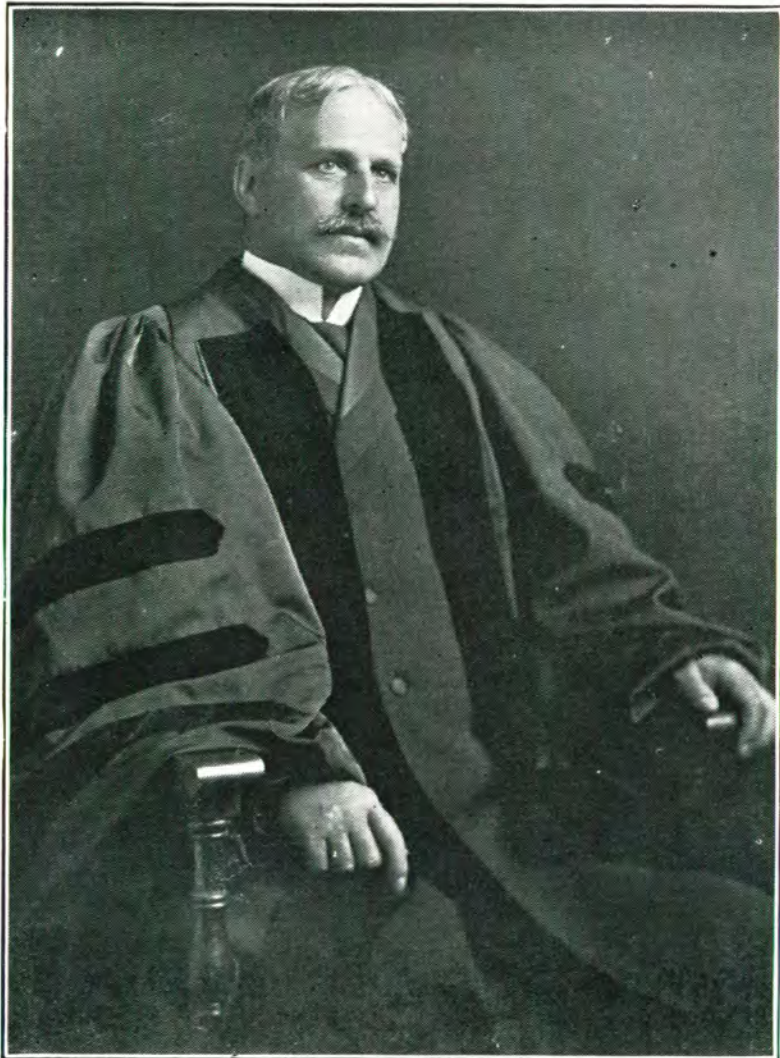

Yours has been a life-long devotion to Rollins College. Coming to us as a young man in 1895, you gave us the new life that we most needed at the time. When the great freeze depleted Florida, you courageously gave to our older brothers and sisters those advantages that, enlarging their vision and enriching their lives, provided for this and other states many of the present-day leaders.

Hardly was one towering task over before another was undertaken. You secured for us an endowment which established us in the world of colleges. When in 1916 our ship was rudderless and in shallow water, you returned to us from very devotion and guided us, as a labor of love, to a place of security. Only a year ago, after the ravages of the great war had miserably reduced our ranks, you again came to our rescue, and have been masterfully piloting us toward the realization of your far-discerning vision. Just now you are completing the greatest of all the work, adequate endowment, which will make for us permanency and solidarity.

For all these things are we grateful. But still more, we love you for what you are—a friend, so large-hearted, so genuine, so full of understanding sympathy equally for those of high station and those of low, so eloquent and inspiring in the pulpit, so profound in erudition, so magnetic in personality, so every inch a man, that your influence and the force of your personal philosophy will ever be our guide, and will give us intelligent understanding with which to exemplify our college motto,—“Fiat Lux.”

*But I've a rendezvous with Death
At midnight in some flaming town,
When Spring trips north again this year,
And I to my pledged word am true,
I shall not fail that rendezvous.*

Winter Park

Winter Park occupies the site which was once the chosen camping ground of Osceola, the famous chief of the Seminoles—a historic setting. It is one of the most beautiful spots in Florida, set like a gem amid the wooded lakes, in a rolling country that is interlaced with navigable winding streams. The climate is dry, sunny, invigorating. The odor of the pines and the sweetness of the orange blossoms permeates the air.

The village of Winter Park, thus beautiful in location and well supplied with all modern comforts, has naturally called together an exceptionally cultured and democratic community. The excellent hotels, the attractive country club house, the ample golf course, the paved streets, fine business section, and handsome residences are the more noticeable features that appeal to the tourist and the homemaker. The public service of every sort is ample and efficient—telephone, electric light, plentiful pure water, fire brigade, and medical aid. Even the railroad station, at the side of a well-kept central park, is one of the handsome buildings.

Winter Park has the exceptional advantage of being an educational center. Rollins College and Academy, the oldest educational institution in the State, with a favored history of more than thirty years, and a distinguished alumni, occupies the best site in the village and holds the warmest place in the hearts of citizens. The High School, the Public Library, many clubs of various sorts, and churches notable for their able preachers, contribute to the intellectual distinction of the town. In a musical way the Rollins Conservatory has not only given an enviable reputation to the college, but has brought to Winter Park musical events that have all been distinguished by the presence of notable musicians or by perfect presentation of vocal and instrumental music.

Winter Park has become very popular with the tourists. Many a Northern visitor, who has spent seasons at the older resorts of the State, returns year after year for the whole season in Winter Park, best pleased with the upland climate and freedom from the discomforts of the seaside. In former days the winter travel followed the coast lines; now both the long, heavily loaded De Luxe trains, and the ceaseless succession of automobiles over the well bricked roads, fill to the brim the interior cities with throngs escaping the rigors of the North for the full round of delights in this Summerland.

While Winter Park welcomes many tourists to the hotels and inns, and many more to their permanent winter homes in and about the city, it is pre-eminently a home-town. There is a large citizenship of people who spend the whole year in their Winter Park homes, devoted to the development of a model town free from vices and increasingly supplied with the best of everything that should be found in a town very near ideal for these days.

The Conservatory of Music

For some years past the Conservatory of Music has been claiming an increasingly active part in the life of the campus, and this year's work has been, perhaps, more comprehensive than that of any year before.

The registration of music students, including the branch in Orlando, has exceeded by fifty per cent last year's total registration, and numbers almost half as many names as the total registration of the college, all special departments included.

The various organizations under the direction of the Conservatory are the student Orchestra, the Conservatory Club, and the two Glee Clubs, women's and men's. The latter organization was revived this winter after a lapse of several years, when, on account of war conditions, it was impossible to have a men's glee club. This year's record has been so encouraging that there is every reason to look forward to it in the future as a permanent institution of the college.

An account of the work of the Conservatory from the professional side would be out of place here. That belongs to the college catalogue and bulletins. But writing in a general way, the Conservatory aims, not only to offer courses to special students equal to those found in the more cosmopolitan centers of the country, but to keep before the student body of the college the highest standards of what progressive musical culture should be. To this end programs of the best modern, as well as classic music, given by faculty members and visiting artists, are offered frequently during each season; as, for instance, the concert given the 15th of February by the New York Chamber Music Society in Knowles Hall, where the program ranged from Mozart to Goossens, the most modern of English composers; and Miss Rous' lecture recital at the Winter Park Country Club on extreme modernism in music. Not only is this aspect of musical progress insisted upon, but the Faculty keeps in touch with the current movements in musical development throughout the country by a close association with the various organizations which are working along progressive methods. The Florida Federation of Musical Clubs, to illustrate this, held here at Rollins its third annual convention during the latter part of March of this year, coming at the invitation of the Conservatory. At this meeting several of the leading officers of the National Music Federation were present, as well as other guests distinguished in the musical world. The meetings and concerts of the convention were all open to the public, and many matters of current interest were discussed. To those students who attended these meetings, the convention proved educational and inspiring in the highest degree. The Director of the Conservatory is both President of the Florida Federation of Musical Clubs and Chairman of Music for the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, a sister organization working for progress in all interests in Florida. Another member of the Faculty is Supervisor of Music in the Winter Park Public School, and also Florida Chairman for the Eastern Music Supervisors' Conference, one of the great organizations for the improvement of public school music throughout the country. It is through such connections that the music faculty, aside from their routine class work, endeavor to make music a living subject, and to bring before the students constantly its great significance as a social force as well as the most appealing and human of all the arts.

Athletics

With the launching of the campaign for an Athletic Memorial for Rollins, athletics takes a step forward. The amount called for will provide a new field which will have a quarter-mile track, a two-hundred-and-twenty-yard straight-away, football field, three baseball diamonds, six basket-ball courts, six volley-ball courts and ten tennis courts. The fund will also provide a new up-to-date gymnasium and will adequately endow athletics.

Former students are responding to the call for funds and, although the campaign does not close until January, 1921, present indications are that the full amount will be subscribed. Former students are being called on for seventy-five thousand dollars of the amount.

The natural location of Rollins affords a greater opportunity for physical development than does most colleges. With equipment for an adequate program, with Lake Virginia, with a strictly amateur ruling which has the spirited support of trustees, faculty and students, Rollins has every indication of a promising future in athletics.

Football

When Coach Boyer issued a call for football candidates on September 22, 1919, twenty-five men reported, were formed into a squad for practice, and worked hard for two weeks. But, owing to post-war conditions, it was impossible to find sufficient and proper material for a team capable of competing with the stronger teams of the State; so the squad was disbanded.

On October 14, however football activities were resumed by a squad of college men affiliated with the town team. This combination, though not winning all the games, developed many men who will put Rollins among the foremost prospects of the 1920 season.

Basketball

A call for basket-ball candidates was made immediately after the Thanksgiving recess, and a squad of twenty men responded. Practice was continued daily under Coach Boyer, and within two weeks a fast but light team had been developed, which was ready to face the best teams of the State. The first game of the season was played with Stetson, and although defeated, the rough edges were brought into view, thus enabling the coach to round them off for the remaining contests. In spite of the fact that it did not win the majority of its games, it is believed that it was one of the most successful seasons in several years.

Girls' Athletics

We know that we are very fortunate this year in having with us "Commander" Edwards, who has so efficiently and effectively guided us through the expeditions in athletic waters.

Although drafted into service, the girls have readily responded to the cause of health, and as a result the campaign this year has been one of the most successful waged in years. This is well demonstrated by the fact that during the great battle of "influenza" there were practically no casualties, only a half dozen from among the ranks being wounded.

Soon after enlistment, the members of the crew were tested as to their swimming abilities. Those passing the fifty-yard test were allowed to swim in the deep water of the lake at the foot of the barracks. But those failing to come up to the set standard were piloted to another shore, where they had ample opportunity for learning not only the art of swimming, but also the necessary skill in managing the small boats and war canoes.

In November, work at camp began in earnest: drilling, marching, calisthenics, and hikes—but these were done in cheerful spirit because one could readily see that through these seemingly insignificant and tiresome tasks, a firm foundation was being laid for the battles of the future.

A basket-ball team was formed by some of the members of Camp Rollins, and while its players can boast of few victories, they may well be proud of their clean, honest, and hard-fighting team, which has formed the corner stone for the greater teams that are to come.

On April 5th, a review was given for the benefit of the public. The setting-up exercises, close order drills, column marching and the other features of the parade made the finest exhibition known in years.

And so, like Saint Paul, we have "fought the good fight." We have "finished the course" in this year's operations and we have reason to hope for bigger, broader, and grander achievements in the campaigns of the future.

Aquatics

One of the most attractive features of Rollins College is its chain of beautiful lakes. The spacious boat house on Lake Virginia is the starting point of many delightful trips to either Mazelle, Osceola or Maitland, and the students are accustomed to take full advantage of the opportunities for the recreation which nature has placed at their door. Many are the picnics—sunrise, noon-day and moonlight—that they enjoy.

Every Monday sees a merry crowd of young people launching their canoes and paddling across the lake, or through the runs which lead to delightful spots on the shore of Osceola or Maitland. Here the canoes are drawn up, a fire built, and a picnic luncheon prepared. In what more unique way could a holiday be spent?

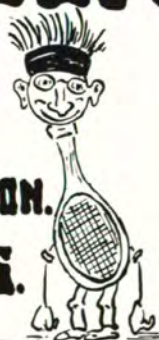

The College provides its students with ample craft for such excursions, such as two large war canoes, ten smaller ones, four row-boats; these, and twenty canoes of individual ownership, make up the flotilla.

Swimming is another popular sport at Rollins and, owing to the mild climate, can be enjoyed throughout the year. After a warm day spent in the class room, nothing is more refreshing than a plunge in the lake. The students make enthusiastic use of this advantage. There are swimming and diving classes under the direction of competent instructors for the novices in these arts. Every one is interested in the regatta held during Founders' Week of each year, at which time diving and swimming races, canoe races, canoe tilts, etc., make up an attractive program. Competition among the students is strong, and prizes are awarded to the winners of the various events. These things make Aquatic day a red-letter one in the school year.

Founder's Week

To the older alumni and friends of the college, "Founder's Week" may be an unfamiliar term, but to those who have been in attendance since the idea was carried out for the first time in 1918, it means the most important series of events in the college year. Owing to climatic conditions, February has proved superior to June for those festivities which are usually associated with Commencement week; and so since 1918 the "week" of Commencement has been consolidated with Founder's Day, giving a most happy result—"Founder's Week."

Meeting of Board of Trustees

The week began this year with the annual meeting of the trustees on the morning of Wednesday, Feb. 18. Owing to the enforced absence of Dr. Ward, little more than routine business was transacted, but on his recommendation the following were added to the Board: Mrs. Alton B. Whitman (Conservatory '95), of Orlando, prominent leader in social service and civic organizations of the State; Mr. L. W. Tilden ('86-'88), of Winter Garden, holder of extensive trucking interests in the Lake Apopka section; and, Mr. Paul E. Stillman, of Jefferson, Iowa, nephew of Mrs. A. W. Rollins, wife of the founder of the college.

Basket-Ball Game With Aviators

The undergrads began their celebration of the week on Wednesday, Feb. 18, by defeating the Carlstrom Field Aviators by a score of 17-15 in one of the fastest basket-ball games of the season. From the outstart Rollins, through its team work and consistent passing, had a slight advantage over its heavier opponent; for despite the terrific onrush of the Aviators they constantly worked the ball back from the danger zone. The Varsity was made up of the following: Fletcher (Capt.), F.; Vincent, F.; Arrants, C.; Boyle, G.; Sloan, G.

ROLLINS

The Regatta On Lake Virginia

Over 300 spectators crowded the shore of Lake Virginia, near the men's swimming dock, to witness the annual regatta, held Thursday afternoon, Feb. 19, beginning at 2 o'clock. This, the greatest feature of the celebration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the college, was a notable success in every respect. The weather was ideal and the lake gently rippled, which contributed greatly to the success of the events.

To the many Northern visitors, the swimming and diving in February was a revelation. Great ability and skill was shown in all the canoe races, both men's and women's, especially in the war canoe races where coxswains led their crews of ten each in the exciting struggle. The schedule ran as follows: Men's Canoe Doubles; Women's Canoe Doubles; 25-yard Dash for Men; 25-yard Dash for Women; Mixed Canoe Doubles; Diving for Men; Diving for Women; Tub Race; 50-yard Swim for Women; War Canoe Race for Women; Tilting for Men; War Canoe Race for Men.

Athletic Banquet

The annual athletic banquet, following the regatta, was held in the college commons at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, Athletic Director Greene being the toastmaster and Dr. C. A. Vincent, the speaker. Following the after-dinner speeches, Chancellor Brooks awarded the silver cups and R's to those winning the highest number of points. Wallace Byrd was the hero of the day, capturing first place in all the men's events except the tilting contest and the 25-yard dash. He accumulated a score of fourteen points against Stevens, who came second with six points. He was awarded the men's silver cup. The women's cup was awarded Mary Salisbury, who won out over Margaret Sutherland by the close margin of one point, receiving a total of eight points.

Hamlin Garland, Literary Treat of Week

Founder's Week would not be complete without Hamlin Garland, the noted author. Last year his lecture was one of the outstanding features of the success of the college celebration; and so it was this year. When he and Irving Bacheller, who introduced Mr. Garland, appeared on the platform in Knowles Hall, Thursday evening, Feb. 19, there awaited them a large and appreciative audience, expectant of the literary treat of the week; and it was not disappointed. Mr. Garland made a fascinating informal talk, giving reminiscences of his visits to the homes of several English authors, Rudyard Kipling, Sir James Barrie,

MRS. A. W. ROLLINS

Bernard Shaw, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, and others. Mr. Garland closed his lecture with two short poems from his own pen.

Pan-Hellenic Banquet at Virginia Inn

Of all the pleasant affairs held during Founder's Week, none will be remembered with more happiness than the annual Pan-Hellenic banquet given at the Virginia Inn, Thursday evening, Feb. 19, following Mr. Garland's lecture.

The after-dinner speeches brought out most vividly the fine ideals for which the Greek letter societies of Rollins stand. Mr. A. J. Hanna, an alumnus of Phi Alpha, acted as toastmaster; and Miss Florence Bumby, Kappa Epsilon, President of the Pan-Hellenic Association, introduced the toasts. She was followed by J. Harold Hill, Phi Alpha; Wyman Stubbs, Alpha Alpha; Dorothy Richards, Sigma Phi, and Pauline Phelps, Kappa Epsilon.

The two "lions" of the occasion were Mr. Garland and Mr. Bacheller, who were honor guests. The former talked of his early preparation in speaking and brought in many bits of sparkling humor. Mr. Bacheller spoke in more serious vein, telling of his interesting experiences as a member of Alpha Tau Omega at St. Lawrence University.

The Pan-Hellenic banquet is the crowning event in the life of the Rollins fraternities. It serves as the annual reunion of the organizations composing the association and the home-coming for the alumni Greeks.

Founder's Day Exercises

The exercises of Founder's Day itself were ushered in on the afternoon of Friday, Feb. 20, at 3 o'clock, in Knowles Hall. The annual academic procession, a pleasing spectacle, preceded the exercises. Warren M. Ingram, '22, acted as marshal; and following him were the chancellor, the speakers, the trustees, the seniors and the faculty. In commemoration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college, Dr. Thomas R. Baker, Professor Emeritus of Science, and Hon. Wm. C. Comstock, one of the founders, had prepared historical papers, that of the former being entitled, "Reminiscences," and that of the latter, "Fiat Lux," the college motto. Both were scholarly in content and impressively delivered by voices which have long been dedicated to the service of Rollins. The last feature of the program was the annual address, which was delivered by the Rev. Vincent Ravi-Booth, distinguished divine of Cambridge, Mass. It is interesting to note that the subject chosen, "The League of Nations," was the same as that selected by Miss Jane Addams, the speaker of last year's Founder's Week.

Quarter-Centennial Banquet of "The Sandspur"

The Quarter-Centennial banquet, commemorating the twenty-fifth year of the founding of Florida's oldest college publication, "The Rollins Sandspur," following the formal founder's exercises, was held in the college dining hall Friday evening at 6 o'clock. J. Harold Hill, '20, editor of the Sandspur, acted as toastmaster. He introduced as the first speaker, Dr. Charles K. Hoyt, professor of English Literature and chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications. Other speakers were: Miss Marie Bryan, editor of "The Flambeau," of the Florida State College for Women; Mr. Henry W. Blackburn, editor of "The Southern," of Southern College; Mrs. Cornelius Christiancy, formerly society editor of "The Sandspur;" Supt. Thomas W. Lawton, '03, a former editor of "The Sandspur;" Mr. Arthur L. Slater, '09, another former editor of "The Sandspur," and Miss Mary Branham, '11, who edited "The Sandspur" in 1910. The principal speaker of the banquet was Mr. Frank N. Doubleday, president of the well-known publishing firm which bears his name, who spoke on "Ideals in Journalism." It was a great treat for those present to hear the great publisher. His presence, together with that of the visiting editors and former college journalists, gave to the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Rollins publication an unanticipated eclat.

Conservatory Faculty Concert

The musical event of the week, scheduled for Friday evening, Feb. 20, was one of the brightest events of the series. It was a joint recital given by Miss Lotta Greenup and Miss Marion Rous. A large and appreciative audience greeted these popular artists and applauded their efforts with the greatest of admiration. Miss Greenup opened the concert with the first movement of the Vieuxtemps Concerto, which was followed by a Romance by Prochazka. Miss Rous rendered Bourree in G minor (Bach), Capriccio (Scarlatti), On Wings of Song (Mendelssohn-Liszt) and Shepherd's Hey (Grainger).

President's Reception

The grand finale to Founder's Day was the president's reception held Friday evening, Feb. 20, in Carnegie Hall. Owing to the absence of President and Mrs. George Morgan Ward, the Chancellor and Mrs. Brooks received with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. O'Neal, Mr. Hamlin Garland, Rev. Vincent Ravi-Booth, Mr. William C. Comstock, and the Messrs. J. Harold Hill and Richard Hagerty of the Senior Class.

The natural dignity and beauty of the library was much enhanced by artistically arranged ferns and magnolias; and so many distinguished guests were present that the walls echoed with brilliancy and wit.

Annual Tennis Tournament

The finals in the Annual Tennis Tournament which had been played in the morning of the two preceding days, were terminated on Saturday morning, Feb. 21.

Pauline Phelps and Karl Tompkins were winners of the women's and men's singles, respectively, and were each awarded an "All-American" racquet.

Meeting of the Alumni Association

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Alumni Association was held on the morning of Saturday, Feb. 21, in Carnegie Hall. There was an unusually good attendance, a number of alumni coming from homes outside of Florida. In the absence of Pres. James I. Noxon, Miss Mary L. Branham, '11, Vice-President, presided. After hearing the reports of officers the annual election took place. The new officers of the association are working hard on the Baker Chimes fund and they express the belief that the installation of these chimes is not far distant.

The annual dinner in honor of the Senior Class was given by the alumni in the college dining hall Saturday evening following the annual meeting. As the Delphic banquet was being held at the same hour the guests listened with pleasure to the after-dinner speeches of the other dinner.

Oratorical Contests Postponed

Saturday afternoon, Feb. 21, had been reserved for the annual oratorical contests. As the minimum number of contestants had not made application to enter the Irving Bacheller Prize Contest for $100, open to high schools of Florida, the committee in charge postponed the event until Founder's Week, 1921. Owing to default on the part of the Junior Class, the annual inter-class debate for the Delphic Debating Cup, was not held, and the cup passed uncontested to the Freshmen.

Twenty-Eighth Anniversary of Delphic Society

The Delphic Society, which, by virtue of the fact that it is a continuation of the Demosthenic Literary Society and the Friends in Council, is the oldest organization on the campus, celebrated its twenty-eighth anniversary on Saturday evening, Feb. 21, by one of the most interesting banquets ever held on the campus. Robert Galt, '21, president of the society, acted as toastmaster. Dr. Scott Hawley, a charter "Demon," told of the formation of the society in 1892, and closed his observations by wishing all success to the Delphic of the future. Miss Susan T.

TOMOKAN

Gladwin, '99, Miss Sara E. Muriel, '18, and Miss Winifred Stone, '21, spoke briefly of the different periods of Delphic history, after which Mrs. A. B. Whitman, in a most gracious and charming manner, made the annual presentation of the Delphic Debating Cup. Charles Fohl, on behalf of the Class of '23, responded.

A literary treat of which few literary societies of the country can boast, concluded the evening's entertainment. This treasure trove was the famous author, Irving Bacheller, who gave two readings from his works.

The Junior Prom

Coming as a climax to the social festivities of Founder's Week was the Junior Prom held in the Lyman Gymnasium on Saturday evening, Feb. 21. The decorations were composed of myriad-colored butterflies suspended from twining arches of ivy forming a low ceiling and making the room resemble a corner of fairyland. An augmented jazz orchestra supplied the music which was said to be the best of the year.

The receiving line was composed of the following: The Chancellor and Miss Barrett, for the faculty; Mrs. A. B. Whitman, for the trustees; Miss Winifred Stone, for the Juniors; Messrs J. Harold Hill and Richard Hagerty, for the Seniors, and Mr. Arthur L. Slater, for the alumni.

The Juniors proved themselves to be the best of hosts and the Seniors and other guests worshiped the great god Terpsichore with the keenest of enjoyment.

Washington's Birthday

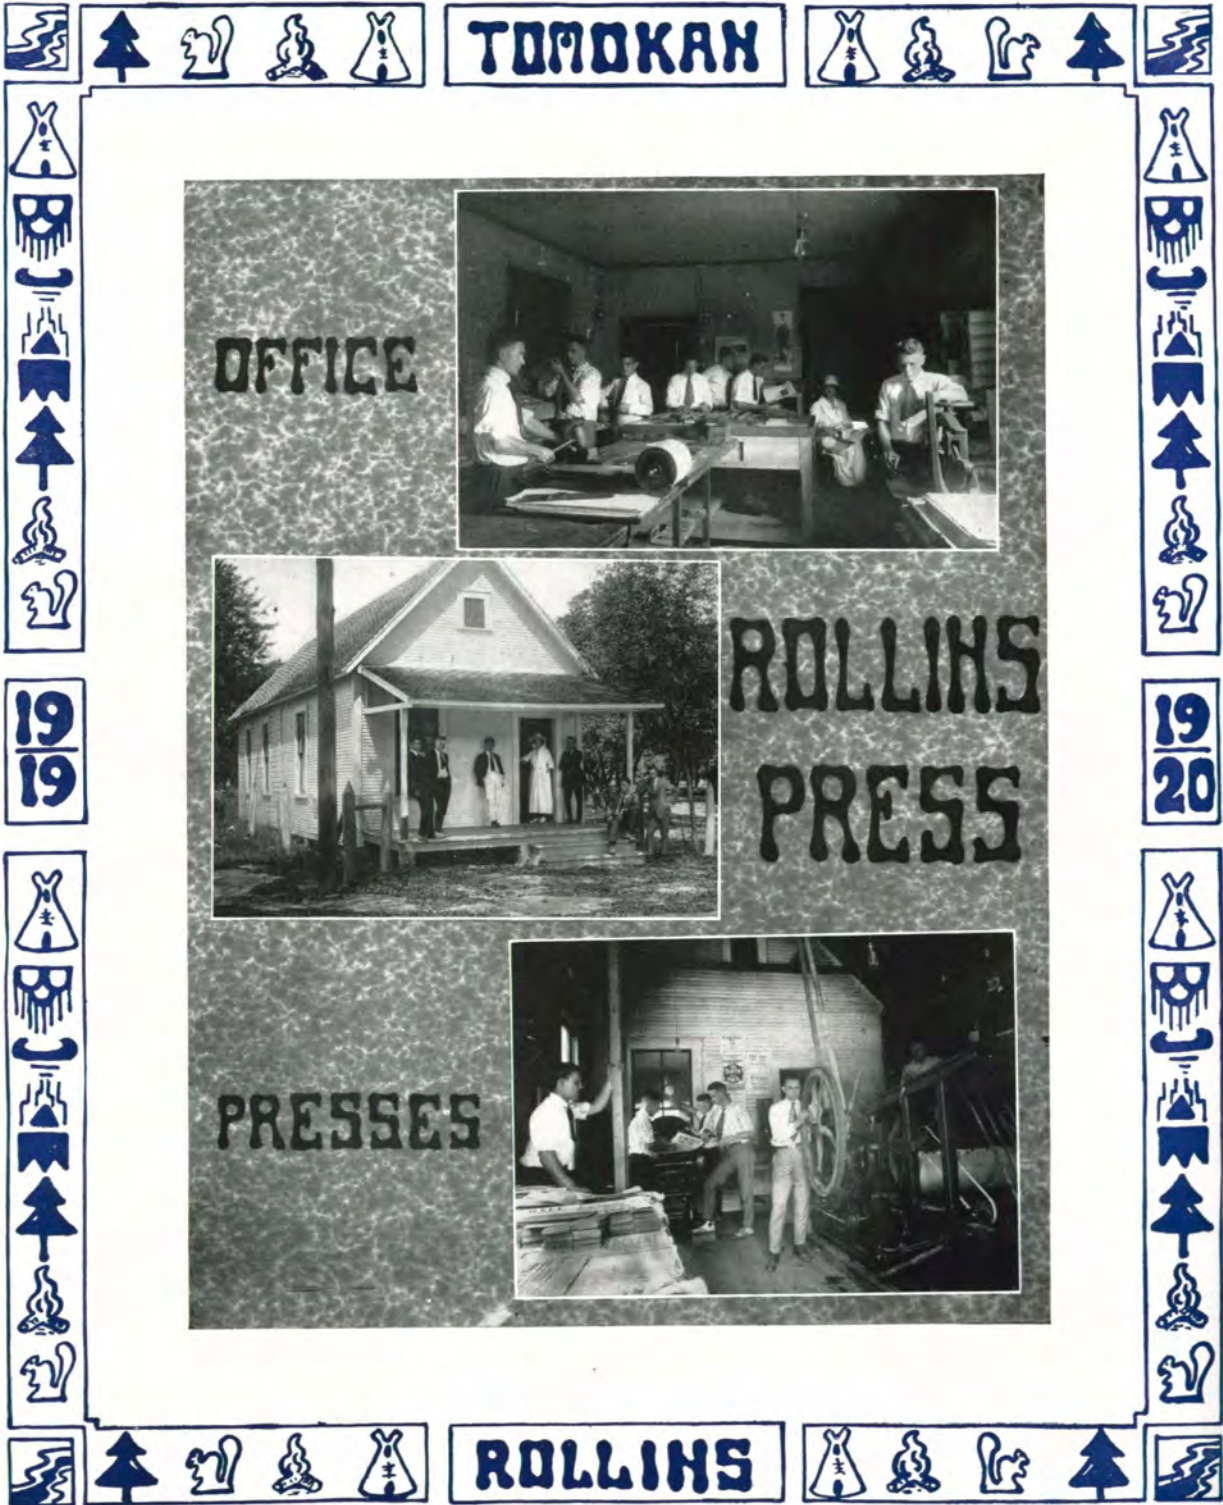

Washington's Birthday fell on Sunday during this Founder's Week and was celebrated with an appropriateness in keeping with the life of the Great Patriot. The four churches of Winter Park had prepared special services in commemoration of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of this beautiful community. With patriotism as a key-note, each pastor brought out vividly the sacrificing generosity of those who give themselves to the founding of colleges and towns, and in particular, Rollins College and Winter Park.

In the afternoon an impressive Vesper service closed the activities of the 1920 Founder's Week. The service was held in Knowles Hall at 4 o'clock. The address of the afternoon was given by the Rev. Vincent Ravi-Booth, who chose "The Spirit of Babylon" as his subject. He compared the spirit of the ancient city with the spirit of the Germans, and also compared it with a spirit that, even in our own country, is trying to prevail. He spoke, in contrast, of the righteous spirit, the spirit of God, that was exemplified in the lives of such great men as Washington.

And thus the many and varied exercises held in commemoration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Rollins College and of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of Winter Park came to a close marked by a success unprecedented.

TOMOKAN

The Delphic Society

The Delphic Society, which celebrated its twenty-eighth anniversary last Founder's Week, is, by virtue of its continuation of the Demosthenic Literary Society and the Friends in Council, the oldest organization on the Rollins campus. In its consolidation of the work of these two societies, which existed as separate organizations for years, the motto of each was combined as a double motto for the present society—"Find a Way or Make One and Build for Eternity." The purpose of the Delphians, in carrying out this motto, has been to foster any cultural element which would be a potent factor in developing, in its members, fine literary taste, power of forceful expression, logical thought and persuasiveness in debate, and an intelligent and understanding appreciation of music, thus placing emphasis on Literature, Dramatics, Debate, and Music.

In the fall of 1892, seven years after the founding of Rollins College, Miss Eva J. Root, Professor of Science, realizing the great need for ampler training that can be found in co-operative effort, suggested that literary societies be organized for that purpose. The Demosthenic Literary Society, formed by the young men, came into life on October 24, of that year, with the following charter members:

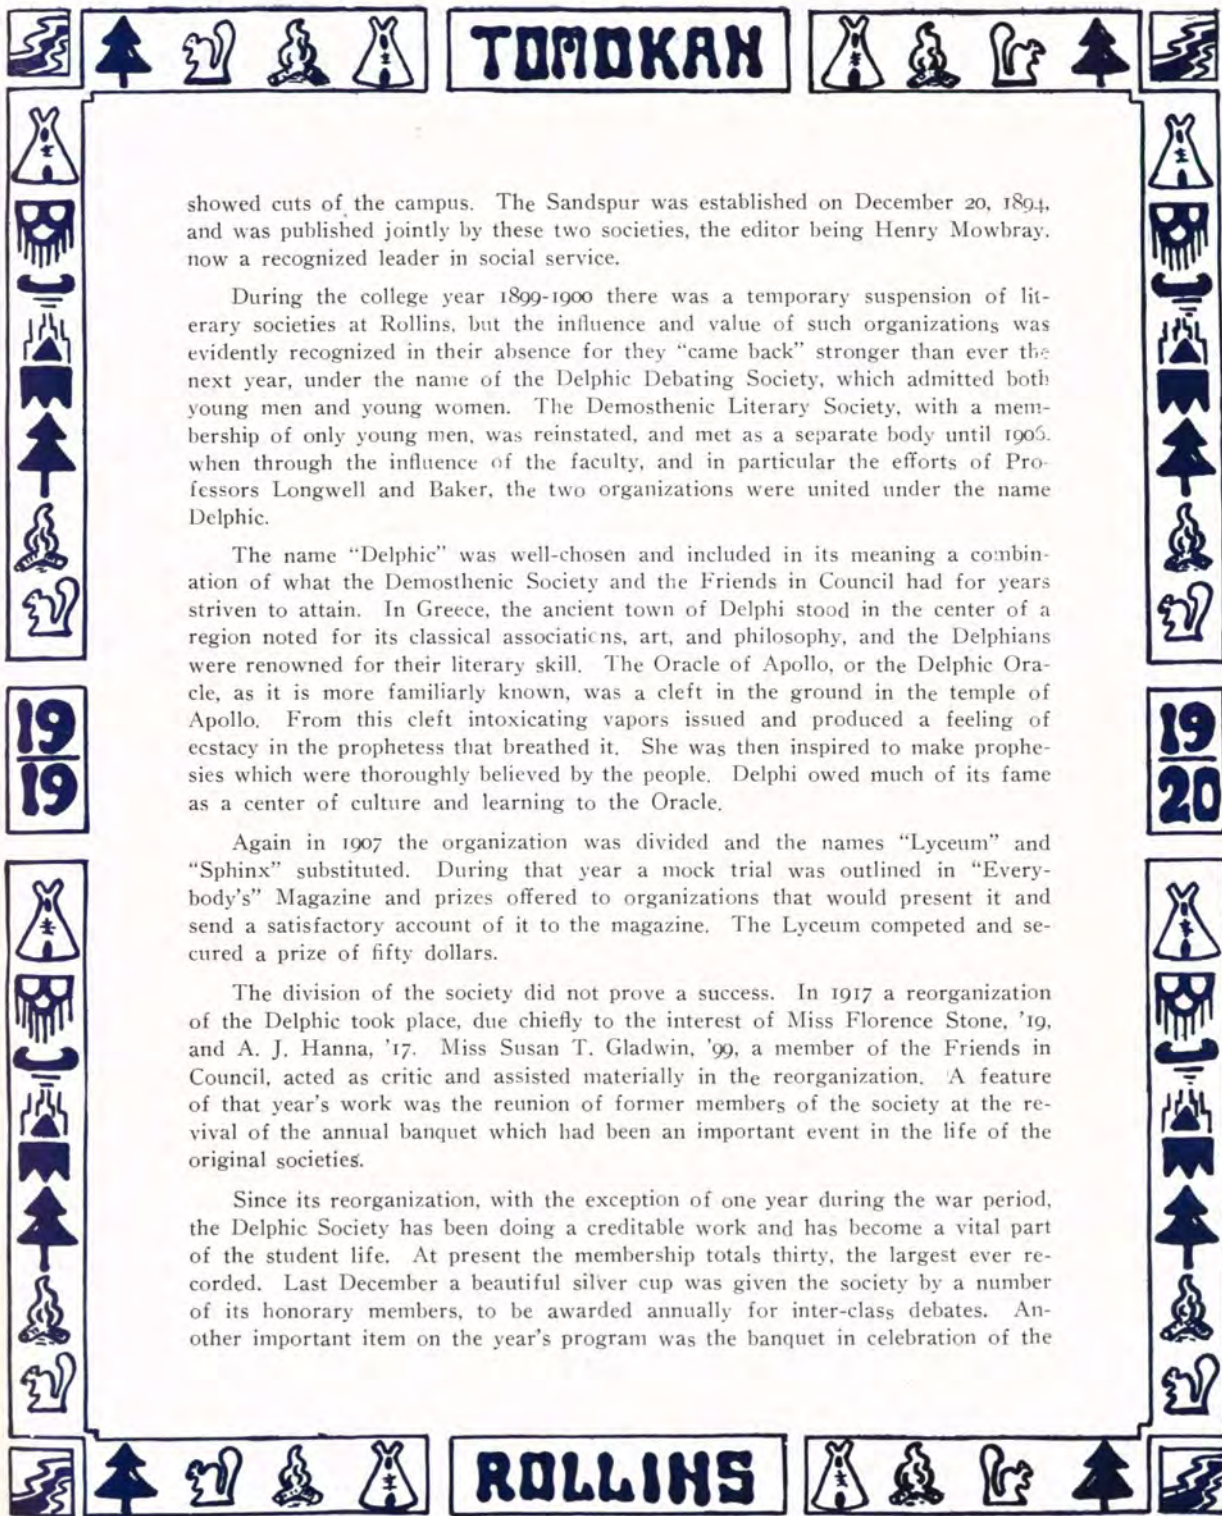

Fred Ward, Stewart Hooker, Fletcher Watson, Fred Ensminger, Stephen Lowe, Ernest Missildine, Scott Hawley, Henry Mowbray, Robert Benedict, Fritz Frank, Robert Oldham.

The meetings of this society were held in the library of old Knowles Hall every Monday evening. The young women organized on November 14 of the same year, naming their society "The Friends in Council." They held their meetings on Monday evenings also, but at an earlier hour than the "Demons," in the living room of President Hooker's home, which was located next door to Sparrell Cottage. There were six charter members: Mae Pomeroy, Millie Hooker, Minnie Forest, Eugenie Swain, Clara Layton, Bessie Hawley.

Miss Root was the critic for both societies and filled the position in a very efficient manner, maintaining high standards in the programs that were given. These programs usually consisted of current events, essays, biographical and historical sketches, music, debates, and practice in parliamentary procedure. Three times a year the two societies combined to give a public entertainment.

The "Demosthenic Demonstrator," a pamphlet issued in 1892 by the Demosthenic Society, was the first student publication at Rollins. It gave short histories of all the college organizations, described the various student activities, and showed cuts of the campus. The Sandspur was established on December 20, 1894, and was published jointly by these two societies, the editor being Henry Mowbray, now a recognized leader in social service.

During the college year 1899-1900 there was a temporary suspension of literary societies at Rollins, but the influence and value of such organizations was evidently recognized in their absence for they "came back" stronger than ever the next year, under the name of the Delphic Debating Society, which admitted both young men and young women. The Demosthenic Literary Society, with a membership of only young men, was reinstated, and met as a separate body until 1905, when through the influence of the faculty, and in particular the efforts of Professors Longwell and Baker, the two organizations were united under the name Delphic.

The name "Delphic" was well-chosen and included in its meaning a combination of what the Demosthenic Society and the Friends in Council had for years striven to attain. In Greece, the ancient town of Delphi stood in the center of a region noted for its classical associations, art, and philosophy, and the Delphians were renowned for their literary skill. The Oracle of Apollo, or the Delphic Oracle, as it is more familiarly known, was a cleft in the ground in the temple of Apollo. From this cleft intoxicating vapors issued and produced a feeling of ecstasy in the prophetess that breathed it. She was then inspired to make prophecies which were thoroughly believed by the people. Delphi owed much of its fame as a center of culture and learning to the Oracle.

Again in 1907 the organization was divided and the names "Lyceum" and "Sphinx" substituted. During that year a mock trial was outlined in "Everybody's" Magazine and prizes offered to organizations that would present it and send a satisfactory account of it to the magazine. The Lyceum competed and secured a prize of fifty dollars.

The division of the society did not prove a success. In 1917 a reorganization of the Delphic took place, due chiefly to the interest of Miss Florence Stone, '19, and A. J. Hanna, '17. Miss Susan T. Gladwin, '09, a member of the Friends in Council, acted as critic and assisted materially in the reorganization. A feature of that year's work was the reunion of former members of the society at the revival of the annual banquet which had been an important event in the life of the original societies.

Since its reorganization, with the exception of one year during the war period, the Delphic Society has been doing a creditable work and has become a vital part of the student life. At present the membership totals thirty, the largest ever recorded. Last December a beautiful silver cup was given the society by a number of its honorary members, to be awarded annually for inter-class debates. Another important item on the year's program was the banquet in celebration of the twenty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the society held in Founder's Week. This annual banquet serves as a splendid means of bringing the society members and former members into closer contact, and in this manner stimulate the interest of both in the future of the organization.

The history of this organization brings to light many interesting facts regarding the college and its work. Rex Beach, the popular novelist, was once president of the Demosthenic Society, and Fanny Dickinson Pinder, the well-known poet, was a member of the Friends in Council.

The Young Women's Christian Association contributes no little share to the finer development of student life at Rollins. Membership is open to any woman student of the college.

The purpose of the association is to unite the women of the college in loyalty to Jesus Christ, through Bible study and Christian service. It further seeks to enlist their devotion to the Christian church and to the religious work of the institution.

Regular meetings of the association are held every Tuesday evening in the parlors of Cloverleaf. Usually the programs are planned and carried out by the girls themselves and deal with vital questions of the day. Occasionally, outside speakers are invited to occupy the time.

Every year the association sends one hundred and twenty dollars to the Cuban Mission of West Tampa to help in the great work of educating the foreign children there. This pledge is raised by means of an annual bazaar, which has come to be one of the largest and best attended functions of the early winter season.

When this obligation is paid, the girls turn their attention to the raising of funds for sending delegates to the annual convention of student Young Women's Christian Associations at Blue Ridge, North Carolina.

This conference is held under the auspices of the South Atlantic Field Committee of the National Organization, and is very helpful to all who are fortunate enough to attend. This year the association expects to send a larger number of representatives than ever before.

A special work in which the influence and help of the association was felt this year was the sending of a delegate to represent the women of the college at the International Student Volunteer Convention held during the holidays at Des Moines, Iowa.

One of the most important affairs under the charge of the Y. W. C. A. is the annual May Day Festival. This is one of the most attractive events of the school year. The Queen of the May is chosen from among the girls of the Junior College Class, and at the succeeding festival she is the one privileged to crown the new queen.

We believe that no student organization on the campus contributes more largely toward the realization of Rollins' desire to be known as a Christian College.

A Word of Thanks

We hope you will enjoy this number of the Tomokan. The editors have attempted to make it the best publication ever issued by the college, both as to form and content, and we hope it is a worthy monument to Rollins. If therefore, friend reader, any of our efforts may prove pleasing to you, pray do not lavish all your praise on us, for we of the editorial staff are far from being wholly responsible for whatever virtues this book may contain.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to:

Dr. Hoyt, for his invaluable assistance.

Mr. A. J. Hanna, editor-in-chief of the 1917 Tomokan, for he has done everything in his power to make this publication a success.

Professor B. A. Hazeltine, for he has engineered the difficult task of getting all the photographic and literary material in on time, and we wish to state further that it is mainly through his help that we are able to present this book to you.

Miss Idabel Edwards, who has willingly given us her assistance whenever she could help us.

Painter & Co., for they have done everything in their power to turn out for us a pleasing annual—and in particular to Mr. Johnston, whose interest in our behalf has been unflagging and whose assistance has been invaluable.

Mr. Siewert, for we are indebted to him for the majority of our photographs, the excellence of which needs no comment.

Besides these, the number who deserve special recognition is exceedingly large. The Art Department, headed by Mary Salisbury, has accomplished wonders and has added much to the beauty of these pages. However, space prohibits thanks for every department, much as it may be deserved, and so we extend our thanks to each and every one who has borne a share of the responsibilities.

ARTHUR L. SLATER, '09, President

The twenty-third year of the Alumni Association, which opened last February, began a new era in the activities of this estimable organization. It marked the closing of the war period with its restricted work and broadened the opportunities for service to the college.

Owing to the war, little else than the collection of annual dues was attempted during the past three years, but this was done so efficiently that the treasury of the association has received a large increase. From 1917 to 1919 Miss Mary Conway, '17, who occupied the office of treasurer for that time, so organized the finances of the association that the total amount was brought near the five-hundred-dollar mark. She was followed in 1919-20 by Miss Annie Stone, '18, who gave much of her time to this work and proved a worthy successor to Miss Conaway. All dues and gifts to the association are placed in the Baker Chimes Fund.

New interest has recently been awakened in the formation of Rollins Clubs. Orlando and Winter Park now have clubs, in addition to the organizations that already exist in Boston, New York, Jacksonville and Tampa. The Orlando society was formed last February with the following officers: President, Donald A. Cheney; Vice-President, Mrs. John T. Fuller; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Mary L. Branham. The Winter Park Club was organized in March with the following officers: President, Miss Clara L. Dear Al:

Our train pulled in here at Winter Park Sept. 22, just at dusk, quite on time—only three hours late—and there were all sorts and shapes waiting to meet it. It was great to see those old faces, here and there among the new ones; but then, they were only new for a short while, as it is easy to get acquainted here at Rollins, too easy sometimes. After two days of “How do ye do?” and “Are you from Ohio, too? Know anybody in East Squeedunk by the name of Smith?" the real stuff, better known as "grind" started, following a wonderful opening speech in Knowles Hall, the chapel, by our President, Dr. Ward.

The "Rats" here sure had their troubles early, for on the first Sunday, Sept. 29, "Sunday Inspection" was held. Don't know enough about the girls' inspection to write about it, but the boys' was rich. And it's a good thing they held one, for if you could have seen how some of these birds were expecting to flutter to church, you'd a thought Sears-Roebuck was having a Fire Sale. (Since then I've worn sun glasses.)

On the eve of Oct. 4, the Cloverleaf girls held a reception for the fellows in the gym. After several novel stunts were pulled off by the "fair sex from across the Horseshoe," the crowd got twisted together and we had a fine little dance. We couldn't let the girls put anything over on us, so the boys came back on the 15th, as is the custom, and gave a reception in Chase Hall, our dorm, in honor of the girls. After a general inspection—too general, perhaps—we gathered on the porch overlooking beautiful Lake Virginia, which stretches for a mile or two beyond the campus. Here—no! not on the lake, but on the porch—several amateur comedians entertained, followed by blue and gold ice cream. Yes! we were, er-er-all more or less pepleless the next day. But anyway, it tasted good and looked good, for they were the Rollins colors.

Things remained rather quiet for a day or so, and then came Hallowe'en night. The girls started things rolling when they marched to the Beanery (elite name here for hash-house) in tacky costumes. Al, they had the "Passing show of 1492" beaten to a frazzle. About 10:30 P. M. a couple of fellows tried the ghost act at Cloverleaf—poor results, for you know how a bunch of women are. About midnight several fellows found an old coach on the ball diamond and pulled it up in front of Knowles. They got inside and gave a few yells, which immediately floated out to the auricles of the remaining gang. After a heavy bombardment of citrus fruit in soda fountain form, the dilapidated occupants surrendered; and after combining forces, placed the coach on the front steps of Carnegie Library.

On the following night, Nov. 1, the first hop of the year was held in Lyman Gym, in the form of a masquerade. A dandy crowd coagulated there, and the original and clever costumes (I didn't need any, I got by on my face) along with the high spirits of all, caused the dance to be a huge success. Although the weather was quite warm it seems that a few of the best dancers shivered a bit—in fact I thought some would freeze to death.

We all thought that that Hallowe'en coach would never be used again, but it was just the thing for a means of transportation a few days later. Dr. Ward was coming back from a trip North, and that was sufficient to set the wheels moving. On the night of Nov. 5, the entire student body went to meet his train, and among the fellows, we had no trouble finding a few dumb animals with long ears to pull the aforesaid conveyance. After a little welcome speech, Dr. and Mrs. Ward fought their way through the welcoming crowd to the coach and rode home in state.

The next big event was the Dixie Club picnic at Olivia Park, about twenty miles from here (it was really forty, counting the distance we went in the air on every bump in our truck). One has to be a Southerner to belong to the Dixie Club, and that day I guess everyone was a Southerner. Society held sway for the rest of the month; for on the 17th, the Freshman Class, the largest here, went on another picnic to Wekiwa Springs, twenty miles away. The trip was made in one big open truck; and although Jupe Pluvius rained hard, all declared they had a wonderful time!

The Thanksgiving ball, one of the six most brilliant events for us all, was held in the Gym Nov. 26, given by the wives of the trustees, the friends of the college, and Dr. Ward, for the students. The decorations were unique, being entirely of blue and gold paper fashioned into a low ceiling and relieved by many bamboo stocks and palmettoes.

The following day the final football game of the season was played with the Aviators in Orlando. It was a peach of a game, and after a big fight, we lost 9-2. Our minds? yes! and our digestive organs, however, were both appeased at the Beanery that night by a Thanksgiving banquet with "beaucoup" everything.

The Delphic Society, a literary organization here, held a mock trial on Dec. 10, "Rowe vs. Ward." It was rich, as you can imagine, for they are roommates here.

Well! Dec. 20th pulled around, and quite unnaturally we all felt good, for Xmas vacation meant home (for some), sleep and rest from studies, and a big time. Classes started again on the 6th of January, and with a few changes, work went on in the same manner as before.

The basket-ball team jumped into prominence when it took its southern trip to Arcadia, Tampa, and Sutherland, Jan. 15-18. It "went up in the air" on its victory over the Aviators. However, the players along with the rest, came down to earth when the semester exams were held the week of Jan. 19, and the Profs let some of us continue right on down to——. But these worries—and indeed they were such—were overcome by a leap-year dance on Saturday, the 24th in the Gym. The ladies held sway that night and had their own way (as they always do). The girls called for us fellows at Chase, escorted us to the Gym, made out our programs, and in general, showed the fellows up when it came to arranging dances. Everyone had a big time.

Founder's Week, the predominating week of the college year, was observed Feb. 17-21, when many celebrated men addressed the students, and numerous banquets were held. As a fitting opening, William Jennings Bryan spoke at Knowles Hall on Tuesday. The 19th was packed full of events. In the afternoon the annual regatta was held on Lake Virginia, featuring many swimming and canoe sports, followed by the athletic banquet and an address by Hamlin Garland; and later by the Pan-Hellenic banquet at Virginia Inn. Activities continued throughout the 20th and 21st, including the Sandspur (our college weekly publication banquet, President's reception and a shooting exhibition by "Ad" Topperwein, the world's famous rifleman. The Junior prom capped the climax on the final night.

The students were treated to a novelty when on March 1, the colored quartet from Fiske University, of Nashville, sang in Knowles. It was really clever.

The first baseball games of the season were played here with Stetson University of DeLand, on March 11-12. We lost the first game 6-5, but we brought home the bacon in the second when we shut out the visitors 2-0. This victory over our ancient rivals was too much, and at once plans were made for a "Shirt Tail" (and some less) pee-rade that night. The procession took in the entire town, and dainty gifts of oranges and other citrus fruits were presented en route.

Once more Dr. Ward returned and once more the student body responded, traveling to where he was staying and bringing him from his lair with a few Rollins yells and songs. After a short welcome talk by our beloved president, we dispersed.

On April 5th the girls' gym class, under the leadership of Miss Edwards, gave a fine exhibition and drill in the gymnasium, thus closing the girls' classes for the remainder of the year.

I told you about our Sandspur, didn't I? The staff decided it needed a bit of inaguma and so it staged an amateur vaudeville in the Gym on Monday eve, April 12. The take-offs on life here at Rollins, etc., were mighty clever and kept the audience in an uproar.

Well! There always has to be an end, Al, so will close, old thing.

Your old pal,
"STAN" FOSGATE.

It seems incredible to most of us that a year can pass as swiftly as the last has done, and that in a few short days one year of our college life will be a thing of the past. It has been a very happy year, and a busy one too; full, for most of us, of good times and laughter and an earnest endeavor to make the most of the opportunities given us.

Upon presenting this volume for your approval we, of the editorial staff, want to make clear that our main object in publishing this is to keep the year 1919-1920 always alive and dear to you. If, when glancing through these pages in the days to come, memories gather and clutch at your heart-strings, we can feel that our purpose has been accomplished and that our work has not been in vain.

We wish "The 1921 Tomokan" the best of luck for the coming year.

THE ROLLINS SANDSPUR

"STICK TO IT"

Established in 1894 with the following editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

The SANDSPUR begins its 27th year in September 1920. If you wish to keep up with Rollins College in an intelligent manner, you cannot afford to be without it. Its sparkling wit is quoted everywhere. All the news of Rollins—accurate, timely, interestingly written. The best of the news from other colleges—the Exchange department grows better every week.

The SANDSPUR is the "ALL-AMERICAN" college paper of the South. Published Saturdays throughout the college year. Subscription price: $3.00.
