WINTER PARK.

From our Regular Correspondent.

The many friends of Mr. L. A. Chase are glad to see him with us once more, and to shake his hand. He is well and hearty.

Mr. Stewart, of Washington, D. C., is stopping at the Seminole.

Quite a large party of the relatives of the late Samuel J. Tilden are at the Seminole.

The friends of Mr. F. W. Lyman are glad to see him out after a severe illness.

A large meeting of the citizens of Winter Park was held at the office of The Winter Park Co., last Thursday evening for the purpose of organizing an Improvement Association. The report of the committee appointed a week before, of which Prof. Ford was chairman, advocating a plan similar to the Stockbridge, Mass. "Laurel Hill Association," was adopted, so that our constitution is as follows as concerns that wonderful and splendid scenery. Dr. N. Barrows acted as chairman and J. S. Capen secretary. A membership roll was opened and signed by about twenty annual and two life members and money to the amount of $25 was subscribed. The objects of this association are to plant trees, keep side walks in repair, fix up parks, encourage sociability among citizens.

The question of incorporation of the town of Winter Park will be decided on Tuesday afternoon, of which I will probably send you a letter special. I hope that we will be able to establish a municipal government and have a good roll of substantial citizens to make and administer the laws.

Work on the canal between Lakes Osceola and Virginia is still in progress.

Mr. F. B. Knowles continues to improve and is once more seen on wheels.

Last night I was present at one of the pleasant "Saturday nights" at the Seminole last week. They are very enjoyable.

The parsonage has a garden to its rear, and on its sides and front a well kept lawn, where various plants and trees display a thrifty growth, thus evincing that judicious, persistent culture will produce results as desirable in the vegetable kingdom as they do in the domain of human thought and action. The popularity of the efficient pastor is steadily on the increase, and he has been instrumental in effecting much good.

Mr. Edward Chapman, brother of Mr. Chapman, who with Mr. Chasse founded Winter Park, is at the Seminole accompanied by his wife.
Guide to Florida, or other desirable information, and will cheerfully answer all inquiries from interested parties in the States.

THE ABLE SECRETARY of the Winter Park Company, Mr. J. S. Capen, reports a steady increase of business. A large number of lots have been sold the past season, and on several of these commodious houses are to be built the ensuing summer, in addition to those now in process of construction. The Company offers for sale now, lots, wild and improved land, orange groves, etc. The affable Secretary is just the man for the position, familiar as he is with all its details, and ever on the alert to serve the best interests of those whom he represents, and to promote the highest welfare of the place. It is just such earnest and persevering, but quiet workers who achieve best results, and make their abode in any community a public benefit.

Just across Osceola Avenue from the Seminole hotel are the beautiful grounds and residence of who occupies a charming location on the borders of Lake Virginia. The residence is in many respects unique. Entering from the front porch, the largest room is found to be finished in panels—all of the native species of Florida woods—and in a style difficult to describe, but extremely novel and pleasing when presented to sight. The next room, leading from this room to the second story, is of very elaborate and curious workmanship, while one or more of the windows in this, and the next apartment, especially that in the front door, are supplied with the Hammond Patent (Occhiali) glass, notable for the varied brilliancy of its colors.

In the next room are to be seen some of the finest specimens of curried wood in the State, exemplified more in the furniture of the apartment than in its permanent fittings. The doors are here, as elsewhere, all finished in hard wood and varnished, giving them a very glossy appearance, and not readily effaced. In a section of the building, the rear of this room—between it and the kitchen—but all covered by the same roof, is a well 27 feet deep lined with glass, notable for the varied brilliancy of its colors. The floors here, as elsewhere, are finished in fine wood and varnished, giving them a very glossy appearance.

A delightful view of Lake Virginia is to be obtained from the rear verandas, where a walk descends to the ornamental boat house, extending into the waters of the Lake. Passing around to the front of the residence, a fine lawn spreads out a hundred feet or more to the broad avenues across which the lofty Seminole is seen, and which form an imposing feature of the landscape. The lawn is notable for its fine sadding of Bermudgrass, its rubber tree, three years old and ten feet high, its choice fruit trees, and for a large number of plants. The house is Beautiful weather is it not?

The election of officers for the Town Improvement Association took place at the Winter Park Co.'s office last Thursday evening. It was fully attended and a pleasant and profitable meeting held. The following officers were elected: President, Prof. L. A. Austin; Vice President, Mrs. Seymour Capen and Wm. C. Comstock; Secretary, Seymour Capen; Treasurer, L. E. Maxson. The above officers all to be ex-officî officers of the Executive Committee. For Executive Committee the following were elected: Messrs. Rogers, Clark, S. S. Capen and Ford, Messrs. G. R. Alden, C. R. Swartz and A. E. Britton. This society starts out with a good membership, and as its sole object is to beautify our town by the planting of trees, etc., I hope all will take an interest in it and work with a will towards the accomplishment of its very important mission.

The cheap rates have had quite an influence on our town for the past few days, every train bringing crowds to the Seminole. If Florida roads would see their interest to meet the liberal terms offered by roads north of us we could set the California boom in the shade, perhaps yet this season.

Like all efforts of this nature there are some who object to the result of the incorporation and election on the 9th, and there I some hard feeling over it. I hope that both the boards of officers and those who feel indifferent will allow the whole matter to cool off and then all go forward in unison to reap the results of what is

WINTER PARK,

April 11, 1887.

Work on the Orlando and Winter Park Railroad is enthusiastically inaugurated today. Col. Peckham, of St. Louis, Mo., threw the first shovelful of dirt, and the work will now be pushed forward to rapid completion. Mr. D. J. Chase made a very interesting speech, and the town is jubilant over the commencement of work on the road.
Subject, Yellowstone Park. Nobody should fail to hear him, as it will be a treat.

From J. Ingraham and quite a party of Sanford's best people were down to the regular "Saturday night," the Seminole, and under the charge of Judge Welbourne had a merry, sociable time.

There has been quite a reunion of old friends at the Seminole the past week. Prof. Rutherford and family have been quite a while. Last week Maj. William C. Beardsley and wife arrived from Auburn, N. Y. They were old friends of Mr. Rutherford, and had not met him for fifty years. Soon after two brothers, Tolman by name, arrived. They also, were friends of both the above parties, and had not met any of them for years, and a few days later, Mrs. Bradley, from Auburn, arrived who had known all the party for a long time, with the exception of Prof. Rutherford, and all of the above were friends of Mrs. L. W. Capen; when she was a girl in Auburn, N. Y. It is seldom that so many elderly people who were acquainted as boys, girls, most of whom had not met the others since they were so far away from home, under such pleasant circumstances.

Mr. L. A. Chase delivered a very entertaining and instructive lecture in the Congregational church last Friday evening; subject, "A Trip across the Continent." His remarks about the Mormons in Utah, the Chautauqua in San Francisco, and the Howstone Park, were very interesting, and we hope that he will be invited to repeat it for the benefit of the circulating library, as owing to the bad weather a great many did not have a chance to hear him.

Prof. Rutherford and family left yesterday and will make several stops along the way before reaching their home.

C. H. Hutchings after an exceedingly busy stay of two weeks, left on Monday for Worcester, where he goes in answer to a telegram announcing the arrival of a party of English capitalists who are coming for the purpose of introducing the celebrated "Knowles Looms" into their factories in England. Very likely coal are carried to Mr. L. W. Capen's house in Auburn almost every day.

Mrs. L. W. Capen, after spending the winter with her son, J. S. Capen, left the 5th for her home in Rochester, N. Y. She will return next winter.

Mr. C. H. Hutchings, after spending the winter with his son, J. S. Capen, left the 5th for his home in Rochester, N. Y. She will return next winter.

Mr. Albert Hart found himself away from "Chapman Villa" on the 9th, went to Detroit, where his large shipping business demanded his attention. It doesn't fail to the "many people to have a more delightful home than theirs on Osceola, and I don't wonder they hate to leave it.

Col. Franklin Fairbanks and wife left this week for St. Johns, Maine. They are pleasant people, and during stay here have been the life of things social, religious and business. We look for their return next winter with great pleasure.

We are told that the Orlando & Winter Park railroad is on its feet and will certainly be built at once.

Most of our literary people leave this week for Mt. Dora to attend the Chautauqua there. Hope it will be a success.

Rollins College re-opened Tuesday, after its spring vacation.

We hear the highest compliments for the management of the Rogers House under Miss Uhler. It is still open and full of guests.

United States Senator Chase, of Rhode Island, made many warm friends while here. Himself and wife are quiet, plain Quaker people, but with all the warm-hearted generosity, sociability and accomplishments, for which that sect is noted.

F. B. Knowles and family will be at the Seminole for a few days yet until all is ready for the summer there. He is much improved in health.

Contracts have been let already for nice houses for Messrs. Brecht, Livingston and Denny, and we hear of "more to follow."

A very pleasant excursion was given on the steamboat, Fanny Knowles last week, the party consisted of F. B. Knowles and family, Col. Franklin Fairbanks and wife, Senator Chase, of Rhode Island, and wife. Rev. Dr. Hooker and wife, C. H. Hutchings and wife, Mrs. Chenery, Rev. G. Alden, Messrs. Comstock, Peckham, Capen and some others. When the beautiful suburban home of our pet alligator in Lake Osceola was reached, Milkaug, (that's his name,) came out to see the party; was very cordial, and behaved in a very gentlemanly manner, showing that his training has been excellent and that he is certainly one of the blue bloods. After a visit to the lovely home of Mr. Comstock, the party returned to the Seminole, having had a delightful rip under the skillful guidance of Commodore Paige and Captain Howrane.

The Seminole after a successful season, closed on the fourth after dinner. Messrs Forbes and Paige have leased it for next year, and have begun to arrange already for a most successful season, which we know from past experience with these gentlemen, they will have.

WINTER PARK. MARCH 12th, 1887.

WING to the fact that the Winter Park Company's office is no longer enough to hold the Incorporation meeting in, it has been decided to hold it in Englewood Hall.

The meeting will be held promptly at 9 o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday, March 5th, and as it is by far the most important matter that has come before us, as citizens of Winter Park, it is hoped that every registered voter will be present.

The whole matter may depend on one vote, so that nobody should stay away.
An Important Work Begun.

WINTER PARK, April 11, 1887.

An event of more than ordinary interest occurred at Winter Park on Monday last, in the inauguration of work on the Orlando & Winter Park Railroad. This enterprise was originated last summer by Mr. J. H. Abbott and a charter obtained, and ever since, with invariable success, he has pressed the scheme upon the people of both places and after discouragements that would have chilled the ardor of most men, he has finally the satisfaction of seeing work commence. The route selected is about six miles long, almost the way in sight of or on the shores of the beautiful crystal lake, upon which this favored land abounds. It is the plan of the company to run observation cars mostly, so that full advantage can be taken of the lovely scenery. The railroad is to be terminus and right of way are granted by the common council of Orlando no more beautiful piece of railroad will be in existence. Then in Winter Park has been granted along the shore of Lake Virginia past the college grounds to the neighborhood of the Seminole, and with the plan successfully carried out, it is hoped to throw it open to the public on Fourth of July next. Word having been passed around a few minutes before, that a few exercises would be held on the lake shore; at 3 o'clock p.m., a party of our best citizens gathered on the shore of Lake Virginia and soon every man was present, with a pick or shovel ready to give the enterprise a fitting start. Mr. Loring A. Chase was elected master of ceremonies and on assuming the position, gave a few introductory remarks with argument, pleasantry and congratulations. To those who know Mr. Chase it is needless to say that his remarks were appropriate and received with enthusiasm and applause. He was followed by Judge John R. Minell in a few words of acknowledgment of the magnificent gift of land made by Mr. Chase of the enterprise, and he was in turn followed by Messrs. Chadw., Capron, Abbott, Williams, Mayor Schoolcraft, Mayor Anderson and others, and then, after three rousing cheers for the Orlando & Winter Park R.R., Col. Deckham proceeded, with a few appropriate remarks, in the first shovel of earth on the ground for the new track.

Mr. Frank Bartlett then took three views of the assembled crowd, and three cheers for the master of ceremonies and three more for Mr. J. H. Abbott, the ceremonies ended.

Thus inaugurated all the exercises of both Orlando and Winter Park must acknowledge as a most important enterprise, securing, when completed, hourly trains between these places. Orlando is to become a large trade, wholesale and retail, and to place within her reach the advantages of the Rollins College, which all must admit is the best educational institution in South Florida, and the many beautiful residence places along its support and encouragement of our people. It is the intention of the company to continue its line eastward to the Finger Lakes, and also into the St. John River as soon as practicable, and the gentleman engaged in it, as they have a right to, the cordial support and encouragement of all those who have the substantial growth and prosperity of our beautiful section at heart.

The officers of the Company are President, Jno. B. Minell; Secretary, Geo. H. Abbott; Treasurer, James Capron; Superintendents, J. H.Abbott; Con­ tractors, Clark and Ward.

Wishing them all the success that the enterprise and enterprise community shall hold forward to many pleasant rides over their lovely suburban route.

THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1887.

WINTER PARK is one of the most delightful spots in South Florida to live in, or to spend a short time. It has grand views of the lake and sea, and pleasant business and pleasure grounds. It is located near the county seat, but has the best lake, the best hotel, the most prominent houses, and the most advantageous position of any place in the State. On the North of it people are among the most friendly intellectual and moral, and it seems to have been one of the very best places.

Regrettably wishing to know especially the business, professional and governmental interests will be introduced by addressing our advertisers, be respecting at the time of the New Age & Press, to be published in the near future.

The Exequation of a Great Enterprise.

WINTER PARK, April 11, 1887, was a day long to be remembered by the people of Winter Park. For some time a better and more economical means of getting to and from Orlando and Winter Park has been desired by the citizens of both Orlando and Winter Park, and also by the inhabitants scattered along the beautiful country between them, for reaching either city of the other. This was not so strong a fact, gave rise in the minds of some of our public spirited men to the idea of constructing these two towns, the one as picturesque as a town and the other in the beauty of its natural scenery and development by a direct railway, such an idea having had its basis, after all, it was successful in the co-operation of the O. & W. P. R. Co., with Judge John R. Minell, as president, J. S. Capron as treasurer, and a directory of citizens, who, after the untiring work and no! to talk, but talk stirs us up

The said Gentleman and fellow citizens, we have gathered to-day to inaugurate a great enterprise. There are gigantic systems of the Atlantic, the Pacific, and the Gulf, which represent the combined energy and skill of many minds, and the combined wealth of millions, aided by the people and assisted by the government. The continuance of this, beside which this enterprise may appear a baby, but this enterprise is great because it is a house and an individual enterprise, constructed and started by the people. It has taken in the beauty of its own energy, physical and capital. It is a great enterprise because it will connect by bands of steel the two important towns in this important State, via Orlando, Winter Park and the beautiful, which also like a queen upon the shores of the most beautiful Gulf of this lake and from her railroad, admission tickets will give rapid transit to the thousands, who, on a distant day will dwell along their shores and enjoy the advantages of the Rollins College, and the many splendid residence places along its shores.

WINTER PARK.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Greatly glowing weather.

The Orlando and Winter Park R. R. is progressing rapidly and will be all ready, if no drawbacks occur, by September 1st at the furthest.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cady left for their old home in Illinois. Mr. C. came here over two years ago to stay awhile and see if he received any benefit. The fact is, he has been here so long shows that he likes the place and climate, and the fact that no man has ever warmer friends here than he shows that the place likes him. We hope to see them both back in the fall and especially as Mr. Cady’s work as librarian of our circulating library seems to de- mand her return to the same field next year.

Mr. F. W. Lyman and family have left for Minneapolis, after a busy winter put in for the good of Winter Park and Rollins College.

Mr. Paul and family have arrived and the Partin House for the summer. Mr. Paul is a cousin of Postmaster Ergood and will probably be interested in him in his large and flourishing business. We welcome him to our community and wish for him the large share of success he will doubtless have.

Dr. and Mrs. Bassinger left last week for their home in New Jersey and will probably return in the fall.

Dr. Brecht’s new house is progressing finely and will be an ornament to Winter Park and its sur- rounding avenues.

We had a pleasant but short call Saturday from Mr. Leslie, of the Clyde line, and his wife and Mr. G. W. Cade. Call again, you will always be welcome.

Mrs. Ladd left the 26th for her home, expecting to be back again in the fall.

Brande Street officiated at “All Saints church” on the 24th.

Frank Bartlett occupies Mr. Cady’s place with Rob White Jr., until a cousin of Mr. W.’s arrives who will then assist him in his large growing trade.

Mr. Andrew Richmond left last week for Evansville Ills., where he has large interests to look after.

Mr. James Monroe left here last week for a visit in England and Scotland. He will be gone about three months.

Harry G. Davies will occupy Judge Wellborn’s handsome cottage this summer.

The Orlando and Winter Park railroad has about 24 miles of grading done.

Rev. Lyman Phelps was out in our neighborhood last Saturday. No man is welcomed heartier by his friends than he is here.

Letter from Winter Park.

WINTER PARK, FLA., May 9, 1887.

Ed. Reaverwivx—Since Orlando and Winter Park are so soon to be joined in closer bonds than ever before, it seems to me that a more formal introduction and a more intimate acquaintance with each other is necessary. To be sure, many of your readers know in a general way the fact that there is a flourishing settlement here, that we have a fine hotel, a good school, etc., but the fact still remains that your people know next to nothing of the facts and figures in the case, and to use the words of one of your most prominent citizens within a few days, who had just taken an extended look over the place, "I had no idea that you had half the town and attractions you have."

With the founding of the town, its progress and its past history, you are familiar, but with its present standing, I propose to deal in this article.

A carefully prepared census taken the past week shows that we have within our borders 203 white families, and I use the term white, because one of the main ideas in taking the census was to get at the parts of the world we have received our population from, for of course our colored people are all natives of the South.

In this number there are twenty-nine States and five foreign countries represented, and of those from the States, Massachusetts leads with 21 families, followed in their order by Illinois with 28, New York 20, Georgia 17, and so on. Of the whole number, there are of Southern families 51, of Northern 111, and of foreign 11. As a matter of confidence and not for political purposes, a careful analysis of the political opinions shows, as heads of these families, 132 Republicans, 27 Democrats and 8菲尔的 entertaining.

Of the projects we have worked on and encouraged here, our Rollins College, of course, heads the list, bath from a money and a true worth standpoint. Its endowment now reaches about $200,000, and with its corps of eleven trained teachers, each one selected for the proficiency in the line he teaches; all of them are graduates of some first-class university or college. That their work should be efficient, and that Rollins College should occupy the front rank as an educational institute is not to be wondered at.

Next comes the Seminole, which with its capacity of 400, its elegant and substantial equipment, its lovely location, and its vicinage in elegance and completeness with any resort hotel in the world, is so well known to your people as to need but little comment here. It is perhaps well known that the people who have made for it its splendid reputation—Messrs. Forbes & Paige—have leased the house for 1887-8 and will run it as their laurels and as the coming season, if such a thing were possible.

Our churches are as pretty, as solid a basis financially, and with as full an attendance as can be found anywhere in a place this size. The Congregationalists lead in point of numbers, with about $10,000 worth of as pretty property as any church can boast. Then the Episcopalians, only slightly smaller, either in numbers, influence or property. The Methodists expect to erect a church to cost about $4,000, this summer

Passing by several institutions which should receive an extended notice in an article like this, we come to what we are proud of, but which very few, even of the most prominent citizens within a few days, who had just taken an extended look over the place, "I had no idea that you had half the town and attractions you have."

Miss Eva Lamon is having her house very prettily painted.

WINTER PARK.

It looks as though our wet season had set in, and was not going to let up. Mr. S. S. Cephas has been quite sick for several days, but is much better now.

Mrs. J. A. Spence has been quite sick the past week, but is now much better.

Mrs. Ergood leaves this week for the North, to be soon followed by Mr. Ergood.

Rev. Canon Street and wife left for the North on the 16th. We all hope they will return in the fall.

The Circulating Library will not be open during the summer, excepting from 4 to 8 p. m. Saturdays.

We had a call from D. A. Beck with last week. He is still laboring hard and successfully in the printing line.

The Orlando & Winter Park R. R. is graded for four miles, and most of their ties are ready. They expect the rails soon.

Mr. Alex. Earl looks disconsolate, and we don’t blame him. You see a fellow can’t look real happy with his wife 2,000 miles away.

I am told that Harry G. Davies and family will remove to New Hampshire next month. I am sorry to hear it, for they will be greatly missed from our town.

Mr. J. C. Stovin has presented the Improvement Association with some casava seeds from the Bahamas, which they will put up on some of their improvements.

It is worth a trip to Winter Park to see how prettily the Seminole grounds are kept by Walter Simpson. He takes great pride in them, and has about all the varieties of flowers that grow.

Our obliging agent, Mr. Ellis, is going away for a short time this week. He won’t tell where to, or why, and of course we have to think why we used to go on such trips when we were younger.

The Improvement Association have issued some very pretty pamphlets, containing their constitution and list of officers. They can be found at the winter Park Company’s office by anybody wishing them.

Why don’t you Sanford folks get up an excursion to St. Augustine, and fix it so we folks down...
To those who have visited Winter Park, and known its beautiful situation, no explanations are necessary. In the midst of this lake's recesses recalls at once to their minds the overflowing view from the top of one of its promontories, including a dozen or so of all shapes and sizes, and some of them leading beauty to the scene whichever way one may turn, the view is not marred by not a mountain, scarcely a hill even, in the view, and yet it is this lake's last impression upon the mind—one to be recalled in the most trying times, and which one may quite satisfy his eyes upon and not grow tired—which one may return to again and again, and after much study, he may not find the same pleasure from it, if he sees it a thousand times; for he will hardly find it in the same mood or condition, and the endless changes: from sunshine to shade, and dark to light, and the byer of nature as fascinating as the subject is beautiful, and in which the same lesson is never repeated without some little change in impression. The school of interest, or finding the student in a new mood, makes a new impression upon his mind, so that he recognizes its recurrence as an opportunity to study from a new point of view that which he had only half seen before.

Whether the margin of the lake reflects or may be of tall press so that our fancy, landing at their feet, follows the red man's lonely steps in search of game, or when threatened with the white man's invasion, scene enlivened in the memory of his war-dance, or stealthily creeping from tree to tree in unseen advance upon the hunter. Whether the masters are black with the shadow of a tangled thicket, as yet untouched since it was the daily hiding-place of bear and panther, all the colored wild beasts may evet occasionally shelter the fierce wildcat and many smaller animals; whether some well placed field or thrifty grove looks down with quiet satisfaction upon its own reflection as an outward mirror to the farmer's wealth or pick up the golden fruit with which its tree stands laden; whether it grows in garden piles or even under the feet of the reapers and falterers, and we make use of fancy's license to hand and pick the bright flowers, to join in a game upon the lawn, or to look in upon the world through the layers of glass and the many eyes of the Conservatory at the bottom; whether we follow the motion of some bountiful party whose sail bends to the breeze, or whose others may be seen by the wide widening circles to break the calm reflection of sky and shore, while merry laugh and song rise to our ears to tell of their pleasure; whether we go to the water's edge, with steel whistling the echoes of the shore, hear some party of jolly picnickers to their chosen haunt for the day, whether we look down upon the pretty village homes of the scenes, and the great bold, all drawn here by the beauty of the situation and the pleasant company of many, whether we raise our eyes upon the buildings and grounds of Rollins College, which the admired and its favorers have enabled us to look in the minds of our young people under the peaceful influences of natural beauty—still we are "in the midst of the lakes"—always for the same—always ready with some new suggestion to tempt our fancy's flight in pleasant scenes.

SALUTATORY.

We make our bow to the people of Winter Park, and to all interested in the development of this beautiful little retreat from the terrors of Boreas, in a dress not cut exactly after the pattern of the usual country paper, but which we hope will be none the less pleasing on that account. We have met in some quarters the objection, that the form proposed did not look like a newspaper. Well, we did not aim to make it so. We are a quiet little country village, and the news of the great world outside comes to us in the metropolitan newspapers, daily and weekly, in so much better and more complete form than we could, therefore, even the roughest shape you like, even the roughest form harmonizing with the spirit of our next, pretty and attractive little town. We are not a metropolis, and while we are all interested in the news of the busy world, which may be verbally communicated, but also may not happen to be the ones to carry them out promptly. Do not hide your light under a bushel, but let it shine as a candlestick, that it may give light to all that are in the house. Finally, do not shut out the light by not taking the paper—"Take it, and read it, and think of your neighbors' ideas, and carry them out if you can. Talk about it. Advertise its merits. If done with spirit, it will stimulate public interest, and we hope that those connected with it will recognize this interest of their fellow-townsmen, and advance their interests and to indicate to the public the manner of town they ask attention to. Last, but far from least, we have in Rollins College an institution in which the town takes a just pride and a lively interest, and we hope that the College will see in our paper a valuable auxiliary to its purposes, and be able to use it to advance its interests and to indicate to the public what manner of town they ask attention to. To all alike we say that we want them to use us in every way they can, upon our being of some use to the community depends not only our pecuniary profit from our undertaking, but equally our interest and pleasure in it. We are sure that nothing but the difficulty of inducing this habit of using the papers for some time, but they are worth while for everybody who often feel the impulse to speak out some thought or passing fancy. We cordially invite them to do so, and believe they will find great profit as well as pleasure in it. Now, in vacation time with pleasure and when there is no other way of keeping up their interest in each other, we are the time to amuse ourselves in this way. To all alike we say that we want them to use us in every way they can.

ROLLINS COLLEGE.

Effects of College Athletics on College Morals and Behavior.

It is probably safe to say that the most difficult problems of college discipline in recent years are in connection with college sports and recreations. Under the restraint and stimulus of the class-room young men are comparatively free from temptations to their natural level. Individual character and college pride combine to impel a student to a standard of work that will do credit to himself and his Alma Mater. His studies and recreations, moreover, have always brought the student into a common cause, an association which had but little tendency to awaken that latent propensity to act the tyrant, which long made upper classmen the terror of poor muddling freshmen. How to lay the appointed hours and means of recreation equally under tribute to the real good of all students, as well as to college honor, was then the problem which it was our aim to prove has been, at least in part, successfully solved by the college Authorities.

Let us first consider a little more in detail what were formerly the popular amusements of the American student. The most prominent of these was certainly that process of intimidating lower classmen commonly known as “hazing.” This was often carried to an extreme that would in any other community than a college have been stopped by public sentiment or the law. But custom had attached a sort of glory even to such rowdiness of the university. Hazing did not exclude the more wholesome sports enjoyed by all youth. But each student was left to his individual devices in matters of recreation; faculties and college Boards did not throw their influence to mischief or into temptation.

When the proper kind of exercise was taken, it was not so much for the sake of physical development, as purely for fun. It was therefore very frequently carried to excess, thus resulting in more harm than good.

We have thus far discussed some of the conditions which lowered the reputation of our large educational institutions for morality and good behavior. The aim of college athletics is to remedy such evil by substituting something desirable for that which was harmful.

The term college athletics, as usually applied, included track running, boating and gymnastic exercises, all practised under the well organized direction of the college athletic association. By this system the very motives which added inspiration to the curriculum of the class-room, now eliminate danger from the curriculum of the play-ground. Exercise is now sought for individual development, sports are carried on with reference to college honor.

The improved health of students since the introduction of college athletics is a result very generally acknowledged. Take the case of Amherst College, for instance. In 1859 the college authorities demanded that every student should take at least 100 miles per year. A few years ago it was found that the average amount of time lost by the students was two and one half days. That the question of health bears directly upon proper order and discipline, no one can doubt, who recognizes the influence of good health upon the intellect and morals.

Another good effect of athletics has been a great decrease in the practice of hazing in nearly all our large colleges. For the classes, now leagued in a common cause, are far less tempted to spend their time in personal torturing. Nor has this fruit of good will been confined to inter-class relations. But the encouragement given to athletics by college faculties has also bound the students to the former in more friendly relations. This better attitude, together with the added stimulus to college pride already mentioned, has for the most part made it possible to demand good behavior as a point of honor.

When a prominent athlete has committed some misdemeanor, which threatened his suspension or expulsion, it is quite customary in some colleges for his whole class to “go hostage” for his and their own future good behavior. Little trouble may be expected when students are enlisted to seek college offices. Such an awakened upon the subject of their athletics in the older American institutions, that few students seek other recreations. Hence the temptation to find bad company and fall into bad habits is greatly diminished.
KEEPING FOOD.

There are present constantly in the air, only waiting favorable conditions to fix themselves and grow, the germs of minute plant and animal organisms, such as mold, the yeast plant, and the microbes of various diseases. If food is allowed to stand at a temperature at which these can germinate if molds, sours, decays, and becomes unfit for use. These germs are killed by heating to near the boiling point.

Hence many things, like stewed fruit, cooked meat, vegetables, &c., which will bear reheating without injury, can be kept much longer than is commonly supposed, if set on the stove and just brought to a boil so often that these germs have not time to get a start between the heats. In moderate weather heating once in twenty-four hours is enough, but in our warm, damp summer weather the growth is rapid, and it may be necessary to heat some things morning and evening, so as to divide the twenty-four hours. There will generally be room on the stove, at least for one or two such things at a time, during the cooking of regular meals, and a few minutes for each, to keep it through without overcooking, is all that is necessary, so that many things can be kept with very little trouble, that must be otherwise thrown away. Between the heats it is a mistake to suppose that tight covering, except for bread and other things that must be kept from drying, is conducive to preservation. Keep most things uncovered in a wire safe, where there is free circulation of out-door air but no dust. You cannot avoid shutting in some of the germs, and the dead air in the house or under a cover is more favorable to their development than a free draft.

Bread should be allowed to thoroughly cool before putting into a close vessel.

JAPANESE ORANGE TREES.

Last week I. H. Thomas received from a San Francisco importer 25 Japanese orange trees for setting out his orchard east of town. The Japanese orange tree is propagated in its native country in a climate where the soil freezes in November and remains frozen until February. The tree is not easily affected by frost. It is not infrequently reaching a height of sixteen feet. The fruit in its first year is about two inches in diameter, but in time gets to be three inches in diameter, is small and thin-skinned, sweet, and brings a better price in market than the Florida or California orange.—Tulare Times.
Those who know the necessity of business economy in the summer are hardly objects to our making ultimate objections by saving for the present the unnecessary expenditure of our local office. We hope, however, that we have not taken our paper as rapidly as will be necessary to get the work done elsewhere. The press, even the pay-press, is in much demand and the work will be done speedily.

Our Summer.

The rainy season is now fairly on us, and we must adapt ourselves to its many ways, or we shall have to give up our summer holidays and take every opportunity to be at home to favor the growing and ripening of the vegetables that can be cured by dunging. The cure in the end of dyes and coloring materials, and the apples and peaches can be left to ripen as the season progresses.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF ROLLINS College.

On Thursday afternoon and evening the year's work at Rollins was concluded by two splendid exhibitions of the different departments. The Mason Department, under the management of Misses Abbott and Montgomery, showed well the good progress the children have made in the study of the English language. The day of the exercises was spent in the Sunshine, and at the close of the ceremonies, and otherwise than the playing, the exhibitions of the year remarked by the students in good health and spirits. The music was rendered chiefly by Misses Fisk and McCorkle, and was given under the direction of Miss Deffendorffer herself. A series of the essays were read, and were generally received by the audience, and the latter was well served by the superior music, as well as by the audience. The exercises of Monday were present at the other exercises of the year and in the varied improvement in declamation, and appearance on the stage of the various speakers, while the enthusiasm of the audience, the unusual festival, good times, and will go on, north, south, and west. Numerous the prospects for next year are very bright, and the faculty are for the most part united in the opinion that Rollins will grow very fast, and will be, as it already is, worthy of her growth.

A beautiful location on the Water-shed or backbone of Florida, with nine beautiful lakes of running water; with the Hotel Seminole, accommodating 400 guests; with Rollins College and its 100 students, with an able faculty under Rev. E. P. Hooker, D. D., President. It is one of the most charming resorts in the State. Thousands have visited it to find health and recreation this winter, and none have gone away disappointed. Its educational advantages and its healthfulness, its location and its easy access by railroad makes it the most desirable and loveliest spot in Florida.

Our attention has been called to an error in the report of the closing exercises of Hollins College, printed in our first issue, an error which we need hardly say was unintentional, as the account was a communicated one. Our correspondent gave credit for the elocutionary exercises to Miss, instead of Mrs. Dieffenderfer. The former contributed to the pleasure of the audience in several well executed musical selections, but the instruction in elocution had been under the charge of Mrs. Dieffenderfer, to whom we are glad of the opportunity to award due credit, while not detracting at all from that due to Miss Blanche for her part in the programme.

Enjoyable Affair.

EDITOR LOCHINVAR: I see you have invited any one who is interested in Winter Park to communicate; the young people of Wilder had a most enjoyable time on the Fourth. They were invited across Lake Osceola to attend a lawn party at the home of Mr. Guild. At half-past 8 o'clock a number of boats were at the Rogers' wharf, in waiting, while the gallant young gentlemen exercised the young ladies in the boats where all embarked. When the delighted row they landed at Mr. Guild's and were welcomed by the pleasant music and cordial greetings of the charming Mrs. and Misses (Guild). All were made most welcome and a most enjoyable evening was spent in playing croquet and games of all kinds.
In 1870, Mr. John Dieffenderfer, a successful businessman, moved to Chicago from the West, where his unusual energy and good judgment had already brought him success. He was a man of many talents and had been successful in various enterprises. His next goal was to open an office in the Loop of the city to manage his extensive business affairs.

Mr. Dieffenderfer's timing was perfect. The economic boom in the city was at its peak, and his new office became a hub of activity. He quickly gathered a team of professionals and opened several new businesses, including a real estate agency, a insurance firm, and a brokerage house.

Mr. Dieffenderfer's business acumen and hard work paid off, and his fortune continued to grow. In 1872, he turned away from the large city, and in a neighboring town to the north, he found a spot on the high road to success. He purchased a tract of land, and there he built a large house, surrounded by a beautiful garden. The house was a symbol of his success and a testament to his dedication.

Mr. Dieffenderfer's new estate was a splendid example of successful living. It was furnished with the finest furniture, and the rooms were filled with art and antiques. The house was a center of social activity, and Mr. Dieffenderfer was a respected member of the community.

Mr. Dieffenderfer's estate was named his mockingbird Yarrum. He and his family spent many happy years there, and the house became a symbol of his success and a beacon of hope for others in the community.

The estate of Mr. John Dieffenderfer was a testament to the power of hard work and determination. His success was an inspiration to all who knew him, and his legacy lived on long after his death.

A SUMMER MORNING STROLL

Last Saturday morning we accepted an invitation from Prof. Barrows to see the old town, or settlement, started under the name of Lake Winter Park. We drove from the house of the Ocean Park Co., and went to the town Winter Park, where we were met by Mr. J. L. C. Ladd, the new manager of the company. He took us in his buggy to the Winter Park Co., and showed us over a portion of the grounds above described will be......

to the old homestead of Judge Mizell and just opposite to the house of Mr. R. L. Clark, who among other attractions has a fine line of white scuppernong grapes, spreading over the top of the hill a distance of thirty feet in size and hanging to the ground on three sides. Under this was a fine place to cool off, and the grapes just beginning to grow in, are agreeable and refreshing in the shade as the smile of the vine that bore them.

A DRAMATIC EVENT

Scene—Tetley Place, a charming residence in the stone of Lake Matlalc., the residence of John Carroll Snell, Esq.,

near the State of Florida at large.

Time—September in August.

Dramatis Personae—Eskimo Snell and Mrs. Eskimo Snell, a single person of a considerable family, dogs, etc.

For a long time there had been rumors about Tetley. Petty pilfering had become so commonplace as to be almost something taken for granted. Chicken and - take disappeared and the food in the grind-ner was frequently taken. The caprice of wild cats did not very often allow an individual to be noticed in the sand about the house, and on one occasion a blank cartridge was fired at a dog on the porch. Lately, the gun began to disappear so rapidly from the stein that it would no longer be ternational, in order to discover the Third Constitution in a scheme of altowship, Miss, Sow and smith.

Event.—It was the evening of August 8, clear and warm. The moon, just raising, lightly bathed the orange grove.

All was still as the breathing of the grove, and the sound of the bear and train of the bluest of days far into the night is a constant reminder that Wellness & Co.

automobile orders.

People complain of dull times, and see no prospect of bettering the latter. The plan of the day was to Christ the mission of Rollins Improvement

Association. Early in the spring we were informed of the assurance of that venement, and testing the water, and the plan was set in motion. We believe that the work would be begun on a section of the path that will be a great boon to the furniture of trees and shrubbery. June and July are the best months for this nothing done yet. Wake up, ye slumbers.

Rev. F. B. Carpenter preached at All Saints Episcopal Church last Sunday on the subject of departure for the North. The subject of his discourse and the

and the lessons drawn were practical and helpful. Rev. Mr. Rude will read Eve-seven, and this service with sermon will be

My dear Mr. Chase.

The proposition you make in your note of July 26th is quite in accord with your old-time kindness, of which we retain so grateful a remembrance. We should be very glad of your help in selling the pictures. Perhaps it would be as well not to mention our name, but state that they are for sale at the bookstore. I have no doubt that Mr. Maxson will be willing to undertake it. The notice might be something like this: "During his imprisonment (captivity) at Fort Moultrie, where he died, his portrait was painted by the celebrated artist Geo. Catlin. Some fine photo-engravings of this picture may be found" etc.

Please accept one of the pictures which I send with this note.

Col. Alex. Earl is busy with paint and brush on his home on East Park Ave.
Winter Park has the reputation of keeping its houses and buildings better and nattier, and has the freshest air in almost any town of the size.
One of the best improvements that has been made in the town is the death of the Town of Winter Park at the door. He has decided to move his building known as Esopus Block up to the Post Office building; he will consolidate this block with a new one of equal size, the building on a solid frontage of about 100 feet, with a depth of 75 feet, twenty-six rooms, which rooms he hopes to have the post office, adjoining which will be Mr. Esopus's private bank and loan office, then Messrs. Peake and Hirt, the largest and most active local market of stock which is owned and was made in our host; then the large and efficient real estate agency of Mr. Matthews, and then, having one room to be disposed of for which positive arrangements are being made. By visiting the Esopus Block will be Esopus Hall which will be improved with a variety room, and several entertainment this winter and over the other two buildings will be fitted up for similar purposes. The three are a great credit to the three Kingdoms. I expect they will all be able to give favorable answers. Shall we?!

The fact is, that so far as we are able to judge, there is practical and opposition to the real question—the incorporation of our place—but the fight—if there is to be any and we hope not—to the offices. Why not then leave that question entirely out until the main issue is settled, and then go in for a friendly contest on the question of the offices. We are sure the sentiment of nearly every one of those who are supposed to be running for office when we say that they will all bow gracefully to the decision of the majority retiring in his disposition, an energetic, intelligent worker in the interests of Winter Park. When the subject of a critical point; shall we with all the personal nature come between them to go to the meeting, see the question of each and every man to get as a result the boom, the growth and the bright future that from all the advantages we have to go and seed, and be possessed at by the finger of scorn and decision by the hundreds who pass through on the trains every day and shall we each and all put our shoulders to the wheel, take up our share of the burden and thus not make it burdensome for any one person and get as a result the boom, the growth and the bright future that from all points is our due, if we work peacefully and harmoniously together.

Mr. Stovin has a large number of oranges business which before the freeze he shipped two or three boxes of fruit a year to the Jacksonville market. This year he is shipping some fruit, both guavas and lemons, and I must have some oranges, but I am sure this year's crop will be small. The trees, however, seen now to have fully recover their strength, and ought to yield a full crop next season.

Mr. Stovin's house commands a fine view over the whole length of Lake Maitland from the windows of every room. A view that is lovely. The lake is so wide that the back rooms project each way beyond the front ones. In some respects this lake affords a more picturesque view from its shores than from any of the others, being so nearly in shape, and having its surface broken by islands and points of the main shore, heavily clothed with a dense green hammock and groves of willow, and finely with the waters about them, here dancing in the sunshine, there dark in the shadow of the trees which overhang them, and there at times swathed with the gliding shadow of a passing cloud. In many places isolated cypress trees stand out from the shore, surrounded by water, and displaced by the luxuriant forms to good advantage. Across a bay to the right we catch through the trees the red roofs of the buildings on Mr. H. F. Kurzley's place, and the bright green tree tops in his orange grove. Nearest, just across the road from Mr. Stovin's place is that of Lieut. Pier, whose name is The Anchorage. This house is nearly buried in the green orange and umbrella trees, and seems an inviting refuge for the weary mariner to take his rest in.

Before leaving Mr. Stovin he showed us a lovely piece of dry hammock grove, on the shores of the lake, which he proposes to clear of undergrowth and re-serve as a little private park. It is thickly shaded with oak, hickory, cypress, and other healthy trees, and will make a beautiful pleasure ground. The aboriginal inhabitants of the country seem to have appreciated the attractions of the situation—or the fish obtainable from the lake, we cannot say for which they have left the burnt shells of so many months on the ground near to that the line from them makes it very hard to get the soil into good condition for orange trees. The shells themselves would not have done any harm, but the burning converted them into caustic lime, which destroys the roots of the trees.

Next to Mr. Stovin's place, on the lake shore to the west is the grove of the houses of those of the late war, now owned by his son. It is a beautiful sloping ground overlooking the lake, and the trees show by their shabby growth the exorbitant quality of the soil and the bad care that is taken of them. A large house and stable, with elevated tank for water supply, makes a pleasant home in the midst of the town.
C R. Suttles has returned from a business visit to Chicago.

Col. J. E. Ingram stopped at our place on Thursday night last. Saturday morning, Will Ingram's sister returned with him and will make her home at Dr. Shelack's.

Mr. Denny has finished moving. Monday morning last, he moved his building out to the sidewalk line, the east line, and within a few days will have it and the whole East Park Ave. block out to adjacent streets.

The building across the narrow street, of Mrs. Shaddock's place is approaching completion.

A. R. G. & Co. have to build on their next lot and when completed their line will be ready to go.

We have the pleasure of presenting to our readers today, extracts from the address delivered by Mr. Burnam before the Rev. Dr. Burnam in the Congregational Church, in the life, character, and death of our much lamented citizen and friend A. P. Burnam.

The hearse and funeral processions for the funeral of Mrs. Woodruff closed last Saturday by the second attempt to incorporate our town. The service was held at the Congregational Church last evening. Incorporation has been deferred until another meeting.

Mr. W. K. Collins.

To Revs. McCorkle and Lev of Maitland, and Rev. D. H. Ford, of Winter Park, is due our very hearty thanks for the interest they have shown in the life, character and death of our much lamented citizen and friend A. P. Burnam.
poisonous snakes were killed, some foxes were chased out, and while not a job of any magnitude, it has rid our community of a bad looking place and several pests dangerous to humanity and our chicken roosts. A very pleasant picnic was indulged in by our young people one day last week in honor of Miss Hurst, of Lake Helen, who was visiting here, a tour of Lakes Minet, Virginia, Osceola, Palmer Brook and Lake Maitland, with a visit to Ockee-pia's camping ground on Mr. Kennedy's place was taken, and all unite in saying that it was a delightfully pleasant affair and enjoyed by everybody to the fullest.

we are evidently unanimous in the man for us to listen to, to work with and to aid in every possible way to work for peace, a perfect understanding, and a harmonious effort to push forward the claims of Winter Park for the boom, her beautiful situation, her splendid advantages and her prosperous and intelligent citizenship entitle her to.
We think it right in justice to Mr. Stovin to say that we have heard from other persons substantially the same account of Mr. Henderson's reply to the one of Mr. Stovin's first letter.

The "we" apparently don't know when they are bent. They have seen at work even since the election to find some technical flaw on which in time, T may succeed in doing so, but the current of public sentiment is against them, and every day carries them farther away from the position of a fair result. A fair election should be necessary. However, if they choose to part with their money to the lawyers, the possible future corruption fund will be just as much reduced. We can understand it if they can.

It is only fair to Mr. Henderson to note that his remark about the positions held by his political friends, is subject to a different construction from that put upon it by Mr. Stovin. Taken in connection with the first part of the same sentence, it seems now that it supposes that the word "position" was intended to mean official position in the Company, not political position with regard to any great party of the State. That was our reading of it, and in that sense it is not open to question or censure. In our own experience with the colored people in this part of the State, we are glad to say that while we have known many cases where, in the absence of strong opinions of their own, colored men have voted and worked with voluntary consent, we have never had the example of their employers, from personal loyalty or policy, and while there are unfortunately a considerable number whose votes are parasitically disposed of, we have generally found them disposed to resist any attempt to compel them to vote one way or another.

Mr. S. F. Paul writes the loss of a very valuable horse, which he brought from Knowles Hall last Thursday morning, and Mr. and Mrs. Capen were held at the house on Thursday afternoon. He was the remains, all his many friends in this locality.

A charming concert was given at Knowles Hall last Thursday evening. It was largely attended, and gave universal satisfaction.

Mr. C. H. Hutchins, one of the Winter Park Co.'s Directors, came last Saturday, accompanied by his sister-in-law, Miss Knowles.

Mr. B. F. McKee is back from a pleasant visit in Ohio and Illinois. He is considering several plans for the future, but has not fully decided on any of them. He has given your text to the present prospects, business in your line will be plenty and profitable.

Mr. F. B. Knowles is remaining to improve, which is good news to his many friends in this locality.

Our town is pulling on its wilder days, and run a delivery wagon.

Mrs. A. They are all looking well.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McKee are now visiting the celebrated William Spectacles, Florida Osteopaths, Dr. Ben H. S.

We are sorry that some of those mentioned in Mr. Stovin’s letter consider themselves personally wronged by our not noticing their names. But we made no personal appeal, and we directed our articles against political parties, and some of a character that might easily be misunderstood by its opponents, and it would constitute valid ground for opposition. Whether founded on ignorance of the State constitution or any other reason, the honor of party feeling was such as to gain ready evidence for them, and we considered it better that they should come out openly and be answered, than that they should continue to be buried in the dark in a way that prevented any answer being made.

Now that both sides have had their say, as well as their votes, we shall drop, especially as incorporation is now an accomplished fact, and it is desirable that all old divisions be left behind and forgotten.

AN OPEN LETTER.

WINTER PARK, FLA., Oct. 10, 87.

Editor Lockwood:—In the last issue of your paper on an article of “Incorporation,” and signed John Carrie Stovin, the writer charges by name, without any mention of facts, that Mr. White, of Orlando, was a member of the Orlando and Winter Park R. R. Co., and that he is trying to incorporate the town for his own personal benefit. The first charge is disproven by documentary evidence, and the second by what somebody else has taken the trouble to complete outside of the so-called ring say. Permit me to say at this point that the township and its affairs are made up of real freeholders. Now for proofs. Here is a statement from the Assessor, and then my name being on the Tax List:

ORLANDO, FLA., Oct. 8, 87.

H. L. Phelps’ name was not intended to be published as not appearing on Tax Book for Orlando since last year, or any time, as he gave Mr. Stovin, or intended to do so, as I found it on several occasions.

STATE OF FLORIDA,

In the County of Orange, in the City of Orlando, this 2nd day of October, A. D. 1887, I, J. T. Shaw, Clerk of the Great Court of Orange County, do hereby certify that upon examination of the records in my office concerning the sale of certain real estate in this County and State at an apparent sale with right to purchase on the second Tuesday of the month of September, 1887, this is the same.

R. T. SAY, Clerk.

R. J. MAY, R. E.

Thus the books and evidence from the highest authority prove Mr. Stovin a defender and slanderer, and I declare him as such.

Now we examine the second charge, which is, “Trying to incorporate the town with the end of using an office to carry out a project, for their individual benefit, and that benefit is concealed for the purpose of hiding the fact.” On this charge he shows his ignorance, for his name does not appear on the records of the City or County, but he has held an office and has been at all familiar with the Constitution of the State of Florida he would have to violate to carry out such a charge.

Read what the Constitution says:

The Legislature shall not authorize any County, City, Borough, Township, School, or other subdivision, to accept any stock, stockholder in any company, association, corporation, or to contain or have any power or right to receive any corporation, association, or institution, or individual.

We are very much pleased to hear of the death of Mr. Daniel W. Holdens, in fact, which occurred the 9th. Mr. Holden is seriously ill, but we hope will speedily recover.

Miss White, Ju. back, a man to whom many virile and fine qualities should be assigned, and who lived in the same house in which Mr. White, .Ir. looks calm and serene, and why shouldn’t he? The return of the Argus, He is the biggest and best friend of the newspaper business, and we fully believe he would pay.

A paper from Bloomington, Illinois, gives an account of Miss Jessie Capen, which was largely attended by Bloomington people and people from German, Ills, and we fully believe he would pay.

A letter from Richman tells of his return, after a northern visit looking well and happy and of a pair of the finest mocking birds we never heard. We are very much pleased to hear of the death of Mr. Daniel W. Holdens, in fact, which occurred the 9th. Mr. Holden is seriously ill, but we hope will speedily recover.

We have a very pleasant letter from Mrs. L. W. Capen will probably return to Orlando, having gone on a visit to 1st class family boarding house here.

The Ladies’ Library Association want to thank Mr. MacCallum for a very pleasant night, and we fully believe she still hopes to locate a first-class family boarding house here.

John Huntly returned from the Piedmont Exposition on Monday. He reported favorably.

Mr. G. D. Dillenger has bought two very fine lots near Rollins College, and will proceed to erect a pretty cottage there.

General French and son, Robert, have arrived from Georgia, and are at the lovely place, the station near which is cleared for the erection of the Winter Park R. R. Co., referred to as "Lochmire." The printer's ink tells of what is our Sean, for with our unqualified, climate and advantages all we have to do is to make friends and let the rivers and streams do the rest. We have not seen much of the "strack" that was used by the "natcha" in Hill's documentary, but we are glad to learn that it is the "wheat" of life, and the "long horn" of people, and let people know what we have got.

Mr. Woodruff tells of having more than he can do in the jewelry, requiring, and maintaining denture rooms. He wishes to receive the lease ratablewise to exhibit, which will undoubtedly attract great attention.

The point for the Seminole has arrived, and it is not long before "Jerry" will be for the people. The white men of the city that were obsequious. We barely mention the railroad, and wish to incline all who have done nothing of this nature for the good of the town.

Our new Council met for the first time on the evening of October 24th, and the meeting adjourned to Monday evening, Oct. 31st. The proceedings were made public, and the meeting adjourned to meet at the same place on the following Wednesday evening.

A Society of Christian Endeavor is organized in the Congregational Church, with a membership of about thirty. Mr. McDiarmid was elected president, Mr. Jeff Donnel president pro tem., and Mrs. Jeff Donnel secretary.

A. H. Parks has a new delivery cart for the Winter Park Jewelry Store. A fine line of jewelry, watches, clocks, the school and school supplies, Florida Curiosities, &c., are the lead other selections, and the meeting adjourned to meet at some place on Tuesday evening.

We have received letters from several parties asking about the prospects for information, are they would be able to make and maintain a home in Winter Park. We are informed that we are indebted to all of the Executive Committee at least they would secure a much larger and better garden than they would be willing to make for the white people of the town, which would be made to improve and ornament the streets and public parks, and to plant and cultivate trees, cleaning and repairing sidewalks, and designing other public improvements, and the town and streets and grounds.

Mr. W. C. Glissant received the sad news of the death of his mother at Providence, R. I., on the 7th day of June, 1900, and her last meeting was at the residence of Mrs. Paul.

In connection with town improvement we have a new agency.

The South Florida Railroad Company is now laying out their gardens at the stations along its line, and will no doubt wish to make one at Winter Park. These gardens may be laid out and everything necessary done to make them attractive, and will be for the interest of every town to have its great gardens nicely laid out and to be an attractive advertisement to the eyes of travelers. All the available land near our station is in town hands, and so the railroad company can do nothing here unless in cooperation with the town. Now we suggest that this offer in lieu of opportunity to secure a much better and more permanent life, by acquiring land near our Winter Park, by working with the company. They would thus secure a much larger and finer garden than they would be willing to make for the white people of the town.

The many friends of Mr. Knowles in this city and all of the Executive Committee, get everybody interested in its work, and do all in its power to make this town as attractive as they would be willing to make a fine garden than they would be willing to make.

We have several young ladies and gentlemen in this town who are getting ready to make a home in Winter Park, by working with the company. They would thus secure a much larger and finer garden than they would be willing to make for the white people of the town.

We are informed that a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Town Improvement Association is called for Thursday evening, Nov. 3, at 7 o'clock, at the office of the Winter Park Co., to take up the work of the winter. We hope that there will be a fine attendance, and that the executive council will be able to come to some understanding about it. What the Executive Committee should do, and what will be the work thus be made for the white people of the town, which would be made to improve and ornament the streets and public parks, and to plant and cultivate trees, cleaning and repairing sidewalks, and designing other public improvements, and the town and streets and grounds.

The Association has some money on hand, and will be glad to have the public's aid in paying the interest on it.

Mr. E. W. Lyman dropped in on us last week. He had the privilege of addressing the Lyman Bank to the First National of Sanford and held his home last Monday night. He reported all well.

We had the pleasure of a call from Jas. Oriel, Esq., a prominent railroad man from South Carolina, who everybody else does, as delighted with the weather and with the view from the top of the Semi development of Nature's noblemen, true to nature and strong in limb, as he could only be developed under the care of Nature herself, unfettered by the hand of man, and standing out in the background blocking those named, which an unnatural civilization, has put in its place. We hope for a better day, when his life is locally of much interest, and we may be able to reproduce his portrait also.

Do not let anybody get all out of you in the work of the Town Improvement Association. If you can do nothing larger than start your own improvements, you will make a difference which should be noticed. A few trees and a few loads of sawdust will generally do the business, and it will repay the small expenditure many times over it will cost us.

Let us join hands and put the Park in good shape, so that everybody who passes through on the trains will think of it as up to our full capacity, and not have to wait so long for the next visit he has noticed in passing through.
I seems now to promise the linest season beyond that date. A very complete set of about shooting and trapping in the town and most of their expectations may be more than realized. The committee of the Immigrant Association for this end of Maitland precinct assure Dr. Jones that he will get a thorough good job.

Dr. W. E. Jones has been in Orlando, has spent the last week in the town, and the Seminole. The book is closed by fine fine line of advertisements. The crops of the Mat hers and most praiseworthy by custom, and most before we know it, the Seminole will at once open the canal for steam navigation.

Dr. C. E. Johnson is having his beautiful lot, and will buy and build at once. He has a man by the Tourist travel fore and after. With our two expositions going on, there is no reason why this should not be one of the prettiest spots in Florida.

The C. L. S. C. picnic at the home of Dr. Alden on the 10th. The meeting was opened with music and a prayer by Dr. Hooker. Each member present responded to the call with a few lines from Milton, it bring's Memorial Day: Dr. Smith read his biography. Work has been begun by the Road Commissioners on the grade leading from the canal entrance. We hope it will be prosecuted to completion, for owing to the heavy rains the present road is impossible to use near a short distance from the canal. And many woodcut meetings have occurred there. Before the opening of the road will bring fully before the local residents the advantages belonging to Rollings College and Dr. Exer, and make that drive as attractive as never by considerable.

Mr. Andrew Richardson, on the 20th, reported the prospects for the season as very encouraging to the growth of the membership. He also read a letter from Mr. C. V. McKinsley from Milton reporting all right. From all the sources from which we can gather information, if Florida does not save money by a prompt beginning this winter it will be her own fault. People by the thousands are ready to stand by us, but in one way and another we are cutting the foot. The Agricultural and Mechanical College have received the sum of $1,000 in connection with the railroad. We are informed that the railroad to -town will be completed in the spring. The movement for the printing of pamphlets, maps and circulars. We need truth about our section and its prospects. We need only to tell the plain truth. No longer ago than yesterday the only grain of truth in it was that one sent him by letter by one of these calamity idiots, when we all know that the biggest is not half as good as the next.

Mr. F. L. Maxson was chosen critic for the discussion of the 19th. The ‘Question Box’ was amusing as it could possibly have been. We don’t hear much about Christmas as it approaches. Town Clerk Maxson has received a visit from the new town government, which is a very humane and good piece of work. Messrs. Eager and Maxson will remove their stores to the north room in the Home Block where they will have more room.

The C. L. S. O. Circle met at the home of Miss Marsh, of Chicago, last at the Rogers House. Mrs. Gore, of Orlando, made a speech. Mr. Chas. Lord is back for the winter, and is hard at work already. He never looks like an invalid.

We have had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. W. A. E. Church, visited the Rogers House, and Dr. Exer. Mr. E. Church, will begin the duties of his pastorate next Sunday morning. He wishes to get overheated, or to overwork or overdo in any way. He will have no time to do any of these calamity idiocy, when we all know that the work is going on. The need of this month is to show our share of that burden, that we may not only get our proportionate fast, which are, with scarcely an exception, still incomplete, and hinder them from traveling in the through train of the railroad. Through travel is what we want now, and after awhile when we get our beautiful State nicely settled and our transportation lines got on a firm foundation, put on a strong brake and hold them back till what is right and just. Well then, if a man happens to get overheated, or to overwork or overdo in any way, it is a great wrong to use anyone as we would use a cow in milk. In the same way we would use a cow in milk. In the same way we would not use a cow in milk. We have the chance of being great benefit to him.

Methodist Conference.

Rev. J. H. Walker, Presiding Elder of the East District of the St. Johns River Conference of the M. E. Church, visited Winter Haven last week. For a few days, last Sunday morning held a quarterly conference with the members of the church in this place. Encouraging report of the progress of the new movement.

The following persons were elected Sunday School superintendents: Alex. Earl, C. Smith, Miss Mary Ewell, C. L. Ladd, R. E. Thayer, District Steward: J. C. Ladd. J. D. Hinkley, Missions: J. C. Ladd, Misses S. E. Evans, D. P. Lane.

We have the pleasure of a visit from Mr. Lord, of Winter Haven. He is very cheerful and interested in our work. We are glad to learn from Mr. Forbes that he will run a course of lectures for a month, and it is expected that by the end of the first week of the month the house will have a hundred people in it. This is better than even the 9th of the month, and the unusual number of inquiries for rooms received every day indicate that the same proportion will be maintained. If so a full house is more than assured.

Christmas day was as nearly a full house of our last excitement has been. We had some days last week that were not quite up to Florida standard, and as Christmas approach, the prospect for our prosperity, so far as the special appointment the day was a perfect one throughout. A clear sky, a bright, fresh air, cool enough to admit of any kind of exercise, yet not cold enough, nor trying to the most delicate lungs, every element combined to make the whole world sing and be gay. Those who did not spend Christmas in Florida missed one of Nature’s best gift—a perfect day.

Judge Walker, of Indianapolis, Indiana, last at the Rogers House. The daughter of Mr. Walker, a very neat girl of 14 or 15, is visiting her father, and Mr. Walker is looking well and good.

Mrs. Uder, of Chicago, is here to spend the winter with her brother, Mr. E. G. E. L. o. V.

Mrs. H. H. Evans and daughter, of Winter Haven, reached us by the old friends, the Fuls, for the winter.

Our ladies will be very glad to learn that Miss Mary H. Richardson, of Keokuk, Iowa, is to begin work in this line. She is in the position of building a new building a complete stack of all the material for erection of a building of kinds of fancy work which the ladies know as well about and the money will. We shall, therefore, send another subscription of the business, but will only say that Miss E. F. A. Arnold of the S. F. is a very good woman, and no doubt the lovely properties belonging to bullies in some of the States. We have the pleasure of a visit from Mr. Lord, of Winter Haven. the writer's reputation is confined to the county. The remark he made about his writing "we are not sure why, as he has not been said to have too many persons for him to deny. Again, this version of the record says: "This can happen upon the ticket if a property owner and deeply interested in the progress of Winter Park."

This ticket is as follows:

Orlando, Fla., Oct. 3, 1887.

By urgent request of C. C. Stevens, we have examined the Tax Book for 1887, for the following names, which do not appear on the book: L. A. Donnel, H. S. Chubb, T. W. Griffiths, C. H. Ward, S. Simpson, C. H. Ward, J. E. Chubb, and Robt. White.

(Signed) W. C. Nett, J. Sessory.

I would say that we have sympathy with our opposition to this ticket nearly all the intelligent and respectable colored property holders, forming a large percentage of the sixty absentees and objectors mentioned, but not for any one thing, we have a class of the writer of this letter as a type, insurmountable, unpardonable, unrighteous, unimportant property or reputation—they are in a vastly more degraded condition than before the emigration; then they were only bodily, now they are mentally enslaved, as evidenced by this quotation from his own letter: "the colored man is free, and don't let any play our tricks on me."

I cannot however believe that our honest citizens, white and colored, will permit so gross an act of injustice to be perpetuated by being allowed to the 12th inst. prevent its being accomplished.
