Former Vice-Pres. of Rollins College Reminisces on the Animated Magazine

by Ruby Amburgy

Maybe this isn't an organized or authoritative history of the Animated Magazine but when one interviews Dr. Grover, one listens, nods, smiles, hesitates to interrupt, and leaves thinking "This is the most unforgettable character I've ever met."

All I did was mention something about 'history of the Animated Magazine'. I didn't need to ask questions, because Dr. Grover's enthusiasm and pleasant reminiscing of Rollins and President Holt started the unfolding of a small encyclopedia, the facts intermingled with beautiful personal experiences and anecdotes of the now famous Rollins ideas, many of which began with Dr. Holt—such ideas as The Walk of Fame, The Rollins Conference Plan and the Rollins College Animated Magazine.

Dr. Grover crossed his legs, leaned back in his chair and recalled a December day back in 1926 when he was walking past Carnegie Hall. President Holt sat in his office (now Dr. Hanna's), looking out the window. When he saw Dr. Grover he called to him to come in, and later confronted him with . . . "How would you like to go back usual way, tried to discourage it by explaining that there would be terrific expense such as printing, supplies, buying, etc., involved.

"No," Dr. Holt rushed on, "I mean to have the artists come here and tell us about their work—to come here in person."

"Oh,—a kind of animated magazine!"

"That's it! That's what we'll call it," said Pres. Holt.

With that, the Rollins College Animated Magazine was born. The following February of 1927 the first issue was "published." The Recreation Hall on the Shore of Lake Virginia was the first site. The weather wasn't "typical" Florida weather and the six hundred "subscribers" were cold but impressed by such speakers as: Irving Bacheller, Ed. W. Howe, Cale Young Rice, Jessie Rittenhouse, Clinton Seclard, Corra Harris, Rex Beach, Alice Hegan Rice, Dr. Albert Shaw, Henry Goddard Beach, and Opie Reed.

The 1928 issue was also held in Recreation Hall. This time stoves had been installed but to little aid for the day was rainy and the building was too small. Finally the Old Chapel was filled as well as the Congregational Church and the speakers were taxied from place to place to present their contributions to the audience.

and gained fame. For many years the New York Herald printed it in a magazine section; parts of it were broadcast by CBS from New York, and letters poured into the offices of President Holt and Dr. Grover with encouraging remarks such as:

"I've watched with admiration these many years the progress of your Living Magazine. It is one of the few really creative ideas in human interchange."—Christopher Morley.

"I am complimented indeed to be among those offering their work in such an unusual and distinguishing periodical." — Roy Crane.

Dale Carnegie wrote in praise of President Holt—"My best wishes for this year's Animated Magazine. Generations who are yet unborn will owe a great deal to him and his progressive ideas."

Contributors are too numerous to name. No contributor is paid for speaking. Each bears his own traveling expenses and gives energy as well as faith to the ideal that education comes through personal contact. In each issue, there is an Advertising Insert, when contributions may be given for the Scholarship Fund for students at Rollins.

From the first audience of six hundred, subscribers now total 10,000. Throughout the state, towns and cities, through their own arrangements, conduct bus tours to bring interested listeners to each issue. Many sit in parked cars while others crowd around the Sandspur Bowl to watch and hear each artist.

Dr. Grover was thinking . . . "Oh, Yes, I must tell you about Carl Sandburg. The day he was here it rained. We were in the Knowles Memorial Chapel and we sat very quietly looking at the inside of the building. I was sitting beside him and finally he leaned closer, took my arm and whispered,

"This Chapel sings, Dr. Grover. It Sings!"

"And President Holt had a big blue pencil," Dr. Grover went on. "A pencil with which he would jokingly admonish the speakers, before each issue, that if they ran over their allotted time, he would stand up and make an imaginary cross in the air signifying that he was crossing them off! Not once did he do it . . . he was as interested if not more so, than the rest of us were."

This idea of Hamilton Holt and the faith and cooperative work of Edwin O. Grover, at one time Vice-President, now Professor of Books Emeritus of Rollins College have made our heritage a proud one. Fostered and improved by successors, the Animated Magazine is truly a Rollins Institution. The only one of its kind in America, it has gained national reputation and offered unique educational opportunities to many, many Rollins students and distinguished visitors to Winter Park.

Dr. Edwin O. Grover and President Hamilton Holt, the founders of the Animated Magazine, talk things over at a lawn luncheon on an early presentation. The contributors are seated in the background.

"One of the contributors who has made a lasting impression is Greer Garson." Dr. Grover smiled as he went on to say—"I remember that the Philippine General Romulo was one of the other speakers. President Holt and I had always marched together in the procession but this time the General was escorted by the President and I escorted Miss Garson. I won't forget her taking my arm and my walking her through the processional up to the speakers' stand. She spoke well but informally. Then on the following Sunday morning she gave a talk in the Knowles Memorial Chapel. I also remember that there was much surprise on campus, especially among the students, that her speech should show such depth and knowledge. However, we learned that not only was she well read and an outstanding personage in the theatre but that she had also graduated from the London University with a Masters Degree in English."

"On Monday morning she was in President Holt's office when the teen-age autograph seekers swarmed around Carnegie Hall. She came outside, sat on the stone steps of the building, and spent an hour signing autographs for her admirers."

Dr. Grover describes the Animated Magazine as the only one of its kind in America which really 'comes alive.' Distinguished leaders in politics, art, writing, humor, philosophy, diplomacy, news, music, sports, and education relate to us their contacts in world progress. Effervescent thinking, ambition, and the energy and strength to always go forward on the part of the founders, contributors, and subscribers, have built a foundation which well supports its growth.

Only one issue has been cancelled in the history of the Magazine. In 1936 Mrs. Hamilton Holt died a few days before the date set for publication, twenty-four hours of her Mrs. Edwin Grover was in an automobile accident.

This issue will be the sixth one and the Table of contents may well be proud names as Cordell Hull, Koussevisky, Henry R. Ladd, Robert F. Murrin, Ogden R. Murrow, General J. M. Wainwright, Carl Sandburg, Soo Young Huang, jorie Kinnan Rawlings, Ma Leod Bethune, Basil Rathbone, V. Kaltenborn, and John.

The 1953 publication of the Animated Magazine will include from General Omar Bradley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Commander in Chief of the largest American fighting force ever assembled under one command; Admiral G. Kirk, former Ambassador to Russia and Commander of American Naval Forces during the Normandy Invasion; Gargi Mehta, Ambassador from India to the United States, former President of the Indian Chamber of Commerce, writer, and leader; Henry T. Heald of York University; Wallace E. Rison, Director of Planning for the United Nations headquarters and architect for some of the world's greatest structures, including Rockefeller Center, the Corning Glass Center; Walt cartoonist and creator of popular comic strip; John of Winter Park, consultant in international relations and one of the world's most distinguished lecturers on political science; Dr. Francis J. Thompson of Hopkins University; Harry Mer, Mutual Broadcasting Company television and sports announcer; Robert Hufstader, character of the Julliard School of Music and director of this year's Festival; and other notable

"I think not," replied Dr. Grover, "I've served my sentence of thirty years."

Otey Tells Chapel Club Why The Students Leave

Mr. F. M. Otey, Principal of the Hungerford School, met with After-Chapel Clubbers Sunday on the subject, "Why Students Leave School."

He named three things as being the outstanding reasons for students to "play hookey"; one, Environment, two Social Life and three, Equal Opportunities.

He brought out the fact that there is very little difference in the number of negro and the number of white students who miss school. The biggest percentage of "hookey players" are in the group from grade eight through ten in the Winter Park area!

He felt that the problem of missing school starts way back with the first grade and until the grammar school teachers become aware of this the situation will not be relieved.

Negro students in the South tend to go to college more often than those from the border states, Mr. Otey said.

"You must have a beginning, an incentive, to improve conditions," Mr. Otey said, "and we try to show them that is the advantage of staying in school."

Mr. Otey has studied at Indiana University, Tuskegee Institute, and also at colleges in England. He served with the U. S. Army during World War II.

Mr. Otey's visit was sponsored by the Race Relations Committee.

After-Chapel Club will not meet again until March 1 when Mr. Marshall Powers will speak on "Class In American Democracy."

JIM GRASSKAMP REEVES WINNER

Jim Grasskamp was awarded $50 Monday afternoon as the winner of the General Reeves Oratorical Contest. He spoke to an audience assembled in the Chapel on the subject, "The Importance of a Liberal Arts Education", assuming a negative attitude.

Jon Dunn-Rankin was awarded Honorable Mention for the presentation of his speech "Educational Values in Extra - Curricular Activities."

Besides Dunn-Rankin, Grasskamp was competing against George Saute, Frank Banks, Dan Pinger and Ray McMullin. The six men were winners of the General Reeves Essay Contest and were previously awarded $75.

Professor Stuart James of the Rollins English Department acted as chairman for both the Essay and the Oratorical Programs.

Grasskamp is an active member of the Debating Team and of the After-Chapel Club.

Busiest bee about the campus this past week was the flu germ running a close race with the three sororities who initiated their patient pledges.

Congratulations go to new Chi Omega actives; Dee Dee Cadle, Paula Crandall, Ginny Carroll, Ginny Harwood, Ann Neff, and Millie Thornton. The Chi O's also elected their new officers: President, Adele Cooley; Vice President, Betty Merrill; Secretary, Lettie Stouder; Treasurer, Lucia Howard. The Lambda Chis held a party Saturday night for the fraternity members and their dates in honor of the Seiberling-Sturdevant engagement. Those healthy enough to attend report that the party was fine, except they rather missed Pete and Fran!

The Kappa's celebrated initiation with a banquet at Harper's. New wearers of the Kappa Key are: Pat Schonlau, Bebe Ross, Karen Fris, Charlotte Colby, Ruth Hart, Jeanne Rogers, and Fran Seiberling. It was really a big weekend for the Kappa's, who gave the Valentine Ball with the Delta Chi's on Friday night and trekked to the Pelican on Saturday. Escaping the flu at New Smyrna were Sally Lellyett and Don Reidel, Bebe Bebout and Bruce Lee, Jackie Chiappari and Sid Katz, Connie Shields and Pete Doran, and Betty Peterman and Mario Parades.

Seen dancing at the Valentine Ball were Sally Beauchamp and Phil Schmidt, Louise Mullin and Bud Felix, Rae Willmarth and John DeCarville, and Marilyn Shinton and Web Walker before the gigantic red and white heart. We salute the King and Queen of Hearts; Libby Hooper and Luigi LaBombarda.

Nancy Auger, Leason Bovard, Barbara Cox, Jackie Kevorkian, Janie Kilbourne, Carmen Navascues, Phoebe Quaintance, Red Jackson, Louise Saute, Marilyn Schlise, Bev Seibert, and Sandra Hirt are the new proud wearers of the Gamma Phi crescent. Dee Plamondon, who was in the infirmary at the time, was announced at the initiation banquet as winner of the pledge scholarship cup.

X Clubbers and Gamma Phi's are busy with plans for their dance which will be given on the 28th of February at Dubsread. It's nice to see Frank Barker, X Club alum, on campus again. Several other former Rollinsites here recently were Sally Hopple, Ann Boyle, Fanchon Turk, and Don Matchett.

Figuratively, we offer winners wreaths to Bob Hilgendorf and Art Brophy who took first and second places, respectively on the Horace Heidt show here last week. Congratulations to you both!

Pledged in Phi Beta were Mary Marsh, Diane Herblin, and Marie Perkins. All three girls are outstanding music students.

Pledged: John Nettleton, Lee Beard, KA.
Pinned: Eleanor Signaigo, Pi Phi, to George Saute, Lambda Chi. Georgia Ewing to Buddy Reich, Phi Kappa Tau. Sally Barker to Bob Peck, Delta Chi.

STURD SLAMS "IMPORTANCE" CAST AT ART

By PETER STURDEVANT

Youth is often critical, but an occasional raised shoulder will never damage the hitherto untarnished cheek of Annie Russell's Rollins Players. An opportunity has occurred for an intelligent ballyhooist to strain his very rib ligaments in reaching with that shoulder for the sky. Any vehicle, transport or theatrical, becomes obsolete after a certain number of years. Such a vehicle is "The Importance of Being Ernest."

I once said that Tally Merrit had injected herself as the thumb in a hole in the dike of a college production. Tonight, had she flung her entire self into the gaping maw of the misinterpretation of a highly polished and mature play, she would have been swept away by the gushing flood of immature slapstick and blackfaceism.

I may say that she only added to the flood.

I will not review this play as is normally the fashion. I will merely state in a friendly way a few suggestions for the cast.

Mr. Chauncey: Butler's in 19th century England did not have mid-western twangs. They spoke, I believe, as they still do, in the tone of English butlers.

Mr. Perkins: The Importance of Being Ernest is a play; not an exercise in putting across the boyish personality.

Mr. Ingram: You have been typed, and unfortunately John Worthing did not fall in category.

Miss Merrit: This just isn't your lady.

Miss Goodrich: Hithertofore we have seen you in the country, and have been pleased to compliment your interpretations. Tonight, I need tell you that you never should have moved to London.

Miss Greene: You were a perfect 18 year old. The whole cast was at your level.

Miss Stouder: Your small part was the right size.

Mr. Kimbell: You were good. I'm sorry you were dragged down by all this.

Miss Palmisano: Your part was simple—and well done.

This play should be done on an extremely sophisticated level. This level was not achieved.

Don't miss the Bob Hill Trio in the Bamboo Room of the Eola Plaza Hotel. The combo is made up of student: Bob Hilgendorf piano; Walli Moon, bass; and Gordon Hathaway, drums. They play Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 9:30 to 12:30.

On Saturday matinees the Reich group joins forces with Blair Browder, Bruce Elwell, and Frank Ledgerwood out at the Maitland Inn for a turn at Dixieland.

Congratulations to Bob for winning first prize on the Horace Heidt program. His version of "Honeysuckle Rose" really sent'em. Kudo's, also to Art Brophy for placing second... Two terrific entertainers.

THE GREAT BIG DOORSTEP which postponed its opening last month is slated to be the season's first at the Fred Stone next Wednesday evening.

The Town Hall Series closed last Tuesday evening with what proved to be one of the top presentations of the season. It featured the Societa Corelli, famous Roman string orchestra, and Luisa Ribacchi, leading mezzo-soprano of the La Scala Opera Company in Rome.

Mrs. Florence Mulford, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company in the Caruso era, was a guest on WPRK's "Disc-Covering the Classics" on Monday. She gave interesting sidelights on the music and personalities to which the show was devoted.

Marlene Stewart Takes Title In Mixed Foursome Tournament

Plays with Hobart Manley As Partner, Downing the Riley-Brown Combination

Last Friday Marlene Stewart, recently named Canada's top woman athlete, teamed up with Hobart Manly of Savannah, Georgia, to win the Everglades Club mixed foursome golf championship. The duo took the match 1-up on the 19th hole over Polly Riley, J. Wolcott Brown.

The Stewart-Manly combination took the victory over the 1952 champs and won medalist honors with a 2-under-par 69 for the 6,129 year Everglades course.

The Riley-Brown duo blew a 1-up lead on the 18th when Polly missed an eight-foot putt. They were 2-down at the 13th hole but rallied to even the match again on the 15th. Miss Riley then put her team back in the lead on the 16th as she sank a 40-footer.

Stewart and Manly were 1-up at the turn, shooting a one over par 36 for the first nine. They almost put the match in the bag on the 13th when both Brown and Riley missed trap shots to put them 2-down.

Marlene, "the little girl with the big swing," has the enviable record of entering two tournaments, winning one, coming in second in the Tampa Women's Open while following the Florida tournament swing. She is now entered with Stanley Horn, three time Canadian P.G.A. champion, in the International Two-Ball Tournament being held at Dubsread Country Club this week.

Marlene is also Number One on the Canadian Curtis Cup Team, which is considered the highest women can go in golf. Late in May she plans to fly with the Curtis Cup team to England where they will attempt to take the Cup away from the defending English team.

X Club Still Leading Intramural League

There was no change in the intramural basketball standings last week as both the first place X Club and the contending Sigma Nu five took two games.

The Club squeaked to a two-point victory over an improving Indie team and went on Thursday to defeat K.A.'s. Sigma Nu took Delta Chi into camp Tuesday night and finished with the Indies the next night.

Lambda Chi, led by Jim Vickers, rolled up victories in the other two games of the week as the second half of play began with no likelihood of any change in the final standings.

Marathon Racing Revived By Student Holding High Hopes

The sort of marathon races has been introduced by an ambitious Rollins student who hopes to gain enough recognition to be allowed to compete in intercollegiate matches and thence to the famed Boston Marathon.

Mike Shamilzadeh began his career in his native Persia where he ran marathon races while in high school. The most gruelling of these was a 22-mile contest which he won with an average speed of 9 miles-per-hour over extremely hilly terrain.

He also gained international fame by entering races in neighboring Turkey.

Upon hearing of the AAU invitational meet which is held in Gainesville, Mike caught the racing fever and once again he decided to don racing togs. In a warm-up contest, designed to see whether or not there was any of the old get up and go left, Mike raced Abdy Taheri over an 8 mile course, winning by 30 feet with a time of 92 minutes.

The next day Mike raced the same course with a stop watch and turned in a highly creditable time of 80 minutes.

This Saturday, Mike is climaxing his training runs with a 15-mile jaunt on hi-way 17-92 from Sanford. If he can do this in good enough time to qualify according to AAU regulations, he hopes to be invited to the meet at Gainesville. Then if he wins that, he hopes to run in the Boston Marathon.

For all those interested in seeing the finish of the Sanford race, Mike hopes to cross the tape outside the Center around 11:30 a.m.

CHIP SHOTS

By Allee Chatham

The Chi Omegas upped their standing considerably in the intramural softball race this week as they added two victories to their credit.

In their first win over the Gamma Phis by a score of 9-4, they started the game off with a bang of five runs in the first inning.

Then in a marathon game with the Phi Phis, they won an 18-16 thriller. Leading by one run in the top of the 5th, DeDe Cadle got a hit to right short to bring in another run and secure the win.

The Independents racked up another victory as they stamped the Alpha Phis 22-2.

Chatham

In the runaway game, the Indies accounted for 10 runs in the 1st inning, 4 in the 2nd, 5 in the 3rd, and 3 in the 4th. Nat Rice homered for the losers.

With Chris Chardon back at her old position at 1st base, the Indies look as if they will be hard to beat from now on. They have suffered only one loss, and this was to the Kappas by a close score of 6-5.

The girls' varsity basketball team racked up their first victory of the season with a close 47-42 win over the Y.W.C.A. team of the City League. The game was close all the way, with the Rollins girls leading by 21-17 at the half.

Nancy Corse was high scorer for the Tar-Belles with 17 points. But Nat Rice, the real star of the game, dumped in 4 points in the first quarter, and in a brief appearance towards the close of the game, racked up 9 points for a total of 26.

Jerry Faulkner and Ma Shinton played their usual defensive game.

Members of the junior varsity were substituted freely because their game was cancelled.

Rec. Hall will be the scene of the next girls basketball game. Their opponents will be the varsity of Charleston. The game is scheduled for this Saturday night. Let's have a big cheer to cheer them along.

Hats off again this week Marlene Stewart, who, with Hobart Manley, Jr., as her partner won the Invitational Mixed Two-Ball Tournament at West Palm Beach. They won the match 19th hole. This little really plays when the chips are down. This victory of the Everglades Club was one of the most jewels of the Winter Golf Circuit. "The Little Bear" has a pretty good record so far in competition this year — a second place and a win.

Rollins is well represented in the International Mixed Two-Ball Tournament being held this week at Dubsread. Those girls going will be Marilyn Klumb, Barbara Bremerman, Donna McDonald, Marlene Stewart, and Mary McDonald.

The intermural tennis tournament will begin February 26th. McDougal made up the seeds. In singles Carmen Lampe, Phis is first seeded, Pat Stewart, Indies, is second. Nancy Corse, Theta, drew the third spot. Mildred Thorton, Chi Omegas, fourth.

Gold and Blue

By BRUCE LEE

The following is reprinted from the Sandspur, February 14, 1952. "A few weeks ago, it was brought up that the intramural referees were far from the desired standard."

As of this moment, however, nothing concrete has been accomplished in remedying this situation. The Intramural Board has met several times but has not been able to agree with the athletic office.

Lee

If the intramurals are to keep on without friction between the athletic groups, referees and the Intramural Board, something should be done.

So far, the best recommendation has come from Buddy High.

He suggested that in the future, boys on athletic scholarships be paid to referee intramural games.

This suggestion is a good one. It would not only provide referees who must have a good knowledge of the game, but it also provides the men on scholarships with a chance to pick up some extra money fairly easily.

A list could be posted in the athletic office where the referees could sign up a few days in advance. After having signed up for a game, and after having refereed his assigned contest, the student would report to the athletic office the next day to receive a voucher which could be cashed at the cashier's office.

There is no reason why the refereeing of athletic contests has to be of such poor caliber in the future. There is no reason why the referees can't be given financial rewards for their time and effort.

Jay-vee players could certainly be excused from one practice to referee a game."

All in all, there doesn't seem to be much change in the situation. The basketball games are still likely to turn into a wrestling match at a moments notice with accusations and hard feelings being passed around the campus the following day.

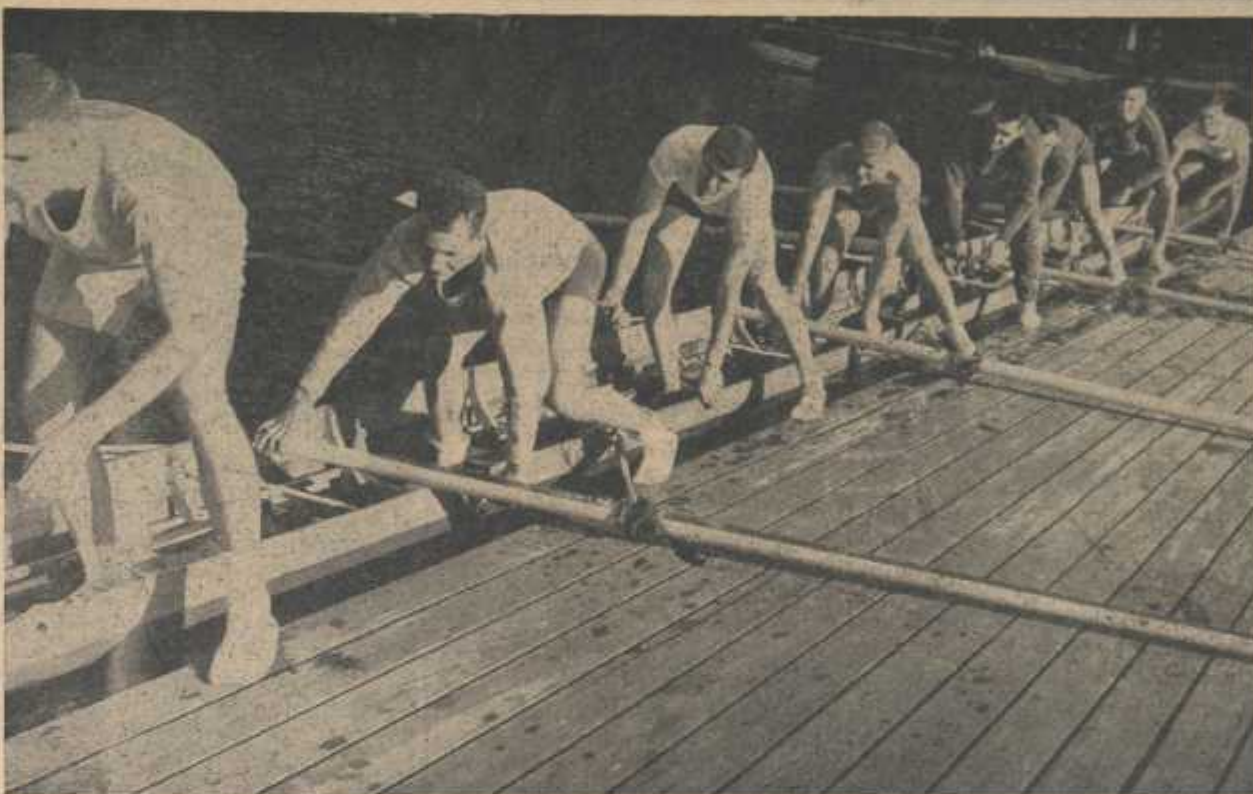

Although this problem seems to arise year after year, it presents an ugly situation that should have been cured long ago.

Upper Division students who are taking intramurals as their physical education courses and are being graded in these courses find they are participating in an activity which affects their academic average without being granted proper supervision in their sports. As it stands now, intramural basketball is frequently a matter of brawn over brains.

With the advent of marathon running on the campus, all those who are interested in learning to keep moving at a rapid rate for twenty-two miles should contact Mike Shamilzadeh.

Several fraternities are rumored to be making this a pledge duty.

The Varsity Crew shoves off from the dock for their initial practice of the coming season. This year's schedule is to be one of the toughest in years with the Florida Intercollegiate races being held at Rollins. The first race will be on March 18 against Brown University.

Sigma Nu Captures Crew Championship Swamping Delta Chis in Final Races

The Sigma Nu four came across the finish line a good 10 seconds ahead of the Delta Chi shell Monday afternoon to take the 1953 intramural crew title. Although hampered by a rough rowing surface and the fact that the shell had to be stopped completely at one point to fix a thrown seat, the Gold and Black cut the finish line with an excellent 4:22.

The winning crew is made up of Norm Gross, Bud Bilensky, Jerry Campbell, and Joe Delanegra, cox. With only four crews entering for their 50 points toward the Intramural Crown, the final standings were: Sigma Nu, Kappa Alpha second with Delta Chi and Lambda Chi bringing up the rear.

DIAMONDMEN TO START PRACTICE NEXT WEEK

The Tars' 1953 baseball season will start next Monday when pitchers and catchers report to Harper Shepherd Stadium for their initial practices. Coach Justice issued the call for all batteries plus those men who are not participating in any other sport.

Early workouts will consist of light limbering drills.

Regular practices will start in another week when the remaining players report for practice and the drawing of uniforms. Practices will be pushed hard as the initial game will be played with the baseball school in Orlando in two weeks.

The first game of the season will be played at home against Georgia Teachers on March 19.

After the opening contest, the Tars will play host at their annual tournament with North Carolina. The Rollins nine will meet the visitors in two contests and will play Georgia Tech twice.

After the race Monday the varsity season opened with the candidates for the varsity positions left open by graduation filling two eight man shells with a couple of extras on the shore but still able to hear Coach Bradley's orders echoing across Lake Maitland.

Although a large number of candidates are out at the present time all positions in the J.V. shell are open and four positions on the varsity have not yet been decided.

All men who might be interested in rowing are urged to contact Coach Bradley immediately.

Coach Bradley may be reached either in Carnegie Hall or at the crew lake.

Bob Hilgendorf Winner Of Horace Heidt Talent

Two Rollins students took top honors in the Horace Heidt Talent Show Thursday, February 12, at the Coliseum in Orlando.

The contest took place after the regular Horace Heidt talent program and is part of a plan to discover local talent. Previous to the show, three contestants from Central Florida were chosen to enter, two of them being Rollins freshmen.

By popular applause Bob Hilgendorf won a first prize of $25 offering his snappy piano rendition of "Honeysuckle Rose." Art Brophy took second prize of $15 performing his usual top-notch tap routines.

This was the first time that Bob has appeared in any contest. In Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he lives, he played at various local clubs. Recently he joined the Delta Chi "Swamp Stompers" as pianist. From that group he organized his own trio with Gordon Hathaway at the drums, Wally Moon at bass, and Bob at the piano. The Bob Hill Trio, as the boys are known, now are booked at the Bamboo Room of the Eola Plaza from 9:30 to 12:30 every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Besides studying during the days and playing in the trio at night, Bob finds time to take organ lessons every day at the Gregory Music House in Orlando.

Art Brophy has already made a name for himself at Rollins as well as in the professional dancing world. Besides entertaining students with his tricky tap dancing, he has worked at Schotchman's Beach, a night club in Orlando.

Art, who is at Rollins on a baseball scholarship, took part in several Fall Term college sponsored programs.

de Nouy Contest Is Set For May Baroness Says

Madame Leconte du Nouy announces that the subject for the Leconte du Nouy Essay Contest this year will be: "It Is The Effort That Counts and Not The Results."

This particular subject is treated in du Nouy's book, HUMAN DESTINY, particularly on pages 178-9, 187, 243-5 of the Longman Green Edition.

Essays, which should be at least ten pages in length, should be signed with a "nom de plume" and given to Baroness van Boecoup at the French House during the first part of May. An additional envelope should be handed in at the same time with the "nom de plume" on the outside and the real name sealed on the inside.

The prize is $100 and the essay may be written in either English or French.

Michele Bourgain of Paris, France won the award last year.

Library Records Offer Wide Choice

The Record Collection of Mills Memorial Library was begun April 15, 1951, with a group of twenty records from the Hamilton Holt Record Fund. The collection now offers a choice of over sixty records and albums for the music-minded with a wide variety of musical tastes.

Dance Goes Through In Spite of Flu

EVEN THOUGH FLU kept many away, a large crowd attended the gala Valentine Ball held by Kappas and Delta Chis at the Mount Plymouth Hotel last Friday evening. The ball room was cleverly decorated with red and white valentines and crepe paper. At intermission, Prof. Stu Jan announced Libby Hooper and Luigi LaBombarda as the Alpha Phi Cardiac Drive's "King and Queen of Hearts."

Council Votes Hundred To Flood Relief Fund

Acting on an appeal made by Diane Evans, President of International Relations, Student Council voted to contribute $100 to be used for the Netherlands flood relief program. This money will be turned over to one of the international relief organizations, such as the World Student Service Fund or the Foster Parents Plan, to be spent where it is most needed.

Dan Matthews proposed that the ruling that a representative from all groups which receive funds from Council be present at meetings be more rigidly enforced.

CONCERT GIVEN BY GLEE CLUB

The Rollins College Glee Club presented a concert, "In Praise of Song", Sunday evening at the Woman's Club. The event was sponsored by Theta Chapter of Phi Beta Fraternity.

Chesta Hosmer, President of Phi Beta, explained that proceeds from the concert would go towards the Phi Beta Scholarship fund.

The group opened their program with the spiritual, "We'll Gather at the River."

The first half of the concert consisted of songs in praise and the latter part was songs of comfort and happiness.

The Woman's Chorus did several of their numbers from "Operation Songlift", and "Songlift's" Kappa Quartet also performed.

The entire Glee Club sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as their final number and closed the program with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Sally Rubenstein and Ed Cushing were accompanists. Bruce Lee read a portion of the psalms at the beginning of the program.

Soloists included Betty Jean Lang, Ann Palmer, Marie Perkins and William Hardy.

PRATT TO LEAD WPRK'S STUDIO

Bob Pratt, chief control operator of station WPRK, has been most instrumental in the organization and operation of the new station. Bob, a sophomore, has been interested in radio and in everything mechanical since he was quite small.

From 1949 to 1952 he operated the Florida Wing Station, a wave governmental communications headquarters, at the Orlando Air Force Base.

Among Bob's responsibilities as chief control operator are: a working knowledge of all equipment and its operation, training and scheduling of other operators, operating nightly broadcasts, taping remote as well as local broadcasts.

In a few weeks Bob is looking for a position in the Intelligence Branch of the Signal Corps, the United States Army.
