ROLLINS LOSES CO-ED STATUS

This isn't a "trouser raid." It's just a group of ambitious Rollins coeds invading the men's dorms which they will occupy next year. The girls are planning to redecorate to their own feminine tastes.

COUNCIL ALTERS OFFICER SLATE; NEW CANAL TO BE CONSTRUCTED

BY SANDSPUR COUNCIL REPORTER

The biggest news in Student Council was the announcement that Rollins would be an all girl school. This necessitates Council's throwing out the old slate of officers and accepting new applications. Most of the boys were booed and hissed out of meeting as council secretary Barbara Mack took over the president's chair and listed qualifications for the new women candidates. Girls applying for officer positions must have had one term of archery, modern dancing, and birdwatching. Also they should have enough money to take one course in underwater basket-weaving. The new election will not be by the customary balloting, but will be held in the more feminine way—hair pulling and name calling. Girls proposing to run for office should start now to grow long fingernails and to acquire a saucy vocabulary.

At the meeting Dan Matthews announced that with his last conference with the Beanery administration the students had won their point. Starting today food will be served by the Waldorf Astoria catering under the direction of Monsieur Andre Bourbon who is leaving his position as head chef at San Souci in Paris to serve us. The evening meal will feature Canapes Royale, fresh pineapple-heart in cream sauce, a choice of pheasant under glass, Lobster Thermidor, or three-inch-thick sirloin steaks. Students are urged to take seconds.

The KA's presented a petition demanding that Marilyn Monroe be added to the Rollins faculty.

A standing and cheering vote at the last meeting announced to the college and to the world that Rollinsites will now get to attend classes for eleven months of the year with a month's vacation in any place of the student's choice to be paid by the college. Out of bounds during vacations will be Harper's, Dubsread and the Antarctic Circle.

Council is authorizing a canal to be built to the ocean in order to relieve weekend traffic congestion on highways to the beach. Since Lake Virginia is being moved to Stetson University this would still give students the opportunity to use the canoes to use.

Due to many complaints that climbing steps in buildings and forms on campus injured the health of students, a committee of fifty-six was appointed to look into this problem and to consider the possibilities of replacing stairs with escalators.

Mlle. Cherie Joins Biology Department

Mademoiselle Cherie, assistant professor of Treeology at the University of Paris, has this week been appointed to the Rollins faculty as a member of the Biology Department.

Prof. Cherie

The lovely French professor received her B.A. and M.A. from the University of Paris. She is presently working on her doctorate and expects to have completed her requirements within the next few years.

Professor Cherie is not actually a newcomer to the College. Not only did she make herself heard at the recent Animated Magazine, she has been around for quite some time examining campus trees for a more accurate approach to her thesis entitled, "Growth of Florida Trees Due To Outstanding Contributions of the Animal World."

MALENKOV TELLS CHAPEL GROUP OF JOE STALIN

Last Sunday, by special invitation of the After Chapel Club, the prominent Russian politician, Georgie Malenkov lectured on his theories of Stalin's death and what it will mean to the Russian people in the future.

"Joe and I had been close pals since our romper days," said Malenkov to his fascinated audience, "however, I'm glad the ol' boy kicked off. It will give Russia a chance to reorganize the whole country."

In conclusion Malenkov stated that if he were elected to rule the USSR, he would first inaugurate a system of hotdog stands and swimming pools throughout the nation. "It's important that the Russian people learn how to live well before we can avoid harmful antagonisms and controversies in world affairs."

College Given Chair For Basketweaving

Rollins College today received word that it is being provided with a Chair of Underwater basketweaving as of September, 1953. A philanthropic friend of the college who wishes to remain anonymous has donated the sum of one million dollars with the stipulation that it be used to "foster the love of underwater, basketweaving as a scholastic art."

The Chair will provide funds for two new instructors, experts in their field, who are being brought from deep in the Everglades to join the Rollins faculty.

Since Lake Virginia will no longer be available for study areas, Chase Hall is to be converted into a classroom building and special tanks of water will be furnished in each room.

The use of the dormitory as a classroom will present no problem next year after the College ceases to hold its co-educational status.

Fraternity Row Opened To Women; Cleveland Takes Athletics; Scholarships Available.

Due to an increasingly alarming situation found on the Rollins Campus in the past few years, the administration this week has taken a definite stand and announced that for next fall Rollins will be converted into an all-girl college.

Students are reminded that while this may seem a startling and drastic move, it will involve in its entirety the removal of only a half dozen students of the male sex, hangers-on from the glorious Rollins College of the past.

The administration, in reviewing the situation with Sandspur Reporters, stated that the step had become imperative in view of the campus sex ratio. With the women's dorms extremely overcrowded, much resentment has risen since Fraternity Row is standing empty and Lakeside Hall is making use of only six rooms. The women cannot understand why they must exist with such awful living conditions

"LAMBIE PIES" RATE HIGHEST SCHOLASTICALLY

The Lambda Kappa Pis, a local group composed of outstanding Rollins students, last week received the highest rating of any scholastic honorary society in the nation.

Dean Theodore Darrah announced the decision of the American Scholastic Research Foundation to the "Lambie Pies", as they are affectionately called by classmates, in their bi-monthly supper meeting last night in Harper's private dining room.

Dean Darrah, the inspirational "push" behind the group's accomplishments, said that the Research Foundation, after much investigation of each member's excellent mental achievements, compared records with the Phi Kappas and found that our Rollins Society far excelled that of the old established national group.

Dean Darrah also congratulated the members for their original idea of devoting each meeting to inspirational and intellectual discussions, saying that this method of sharpening the mind did much toward winning the group its scholastic rating.

In a few week's time the new national organization is expected to sweep the nation's colleges and universities and in many instances may replace Phi Beta Kappa as the criteria for scholastic achievement.

while directly across campus six dormitories remain unoccupied. The administration felt that this reflects upon its ability to logically and economically manage the affairs of the college, and are making every effort to remedy the situation.

Next year incoming Freshmen women will occupy Rollins, Gale, Hooker, and Lyman Halls while Pinehurst, Lakeside and Cloverleaf will be disposed of through the courtesy of the fire department. Scrap lumber will be sold to local building concerns and the proceeds donated to the Winter Park Hospital Fund.

Certain administrative changes will necessarily be made next fall. Dean Marian Van Buren Cleveland will replace Joe Justice in his position as Athletic Director and Dean of Men for the college. Winter and spring terms Miss Ruth Fairchild, assistant to Dean Cleveland, will handle the brunt of the administrative work while Coach Cleveland is busy with the Rollie Collie Amazons and their basketball teams. She is already contemplating great seasons for both groups.

Scholarships to the new Rollins Women's College will be awarded to outstanding athletic bench warmers, volleyball scorers, students particularly adept at handling Beanery trays, and house proctors. Applications, the admission office announces, which state the student's degree of proficiency are the only requirements. Try-outs are not necessary.

Waterfront activities on Lake Virginia have been the contributing factor towards giving Rollins the reputation of a play school. By unanimous consent, the college authorities decided to give Lake Virginia to Stetson University for recreational purposes. With true crocodile tears several Rollins students bid their lake farewell.

NORTHERN BRANCH

What should Rollins do with all its money? Ever since this school received that last gift of 50 million smackers from Mr. Gone Appey, a heavy spender wherever he goes, the financial wizards over at the Pink Palace have been worrying their hair grey over what to do with the loot.

President Mackanney has stated that he believes Rollins should build an Art Gallery at every corner in the nation where there is a traffic light. He believes this will insure young artists a better chance that their work will be exhibited.

Vice-President Handyman believes this school should buy the governments of Latin America. He thinks this will be a good investment because the 50 million monetary fifth will be spent rapidly down there when we begin trying to buy every government that gets into power each day. Handyman also thinks this will help the admissions picture, because we then could have laws passed to force South American girls to enroll in Rollins.

Treasurer Tech believes Rollins should purchase all airports from the Air Force and teach flying everywhere. Included in this buy should be Lockheed, Fairchild and other manufacturers of flying machines so we may try to corner this high-flung market.

Dean Walkingstraighter thinks Rollins should employ all the world's philosophers and in this way attempt to control this earth's future thought, while Dean Ohioicity believes this school should purchase all Paris perfume manufactures "so we may better serve our girls." Dean Crime thinks we should buy the National League and make it a farm system for the new all-girl Tar Baseball Club. Miss Westlumber, Secretary to the Dean, believes the 50 million should buy more memo-pads.

It stands to reason that these ideas are all wrong. Obviously, there is only one solution to this problem.

Rollins is an institution trying to produce well-balanced athletes. With such a purpose in mind, this paper believes that the climate limitations of Rollins must be broken by the purchase of a northern college to permit winter sports participation. While Rollins girls can play baseball, basketball, volleyball, tennis and golf in the sunny south, they need skiing, tobogganing, sledding, ice skating and ice hockey to develop their full capabilities.

Vassar College of Poughkeepsie, New York, would be the logical choice for this school's northern branch. As everyone knows, Vassar has been having trouble lately meeting its operational expenses. A Sandspur investigation has found that Vassar can be purchased cheap and the rest of the gift can endow this branch and the transportation of Rollins College to and from their winter quarters every winter term for ever and ever.

MODERN DRESS

Mary Ohioicity, Dean of Women, recently announced her plan to outfit all Rollins College students in uniforms. It stands to reason that this is a wonderful idea—it would look so good to see everyone walking around campus dressed alike.

Blue and Gold bloomers would go beautifully with black knee socks and a set of high button shoes by Eve Proctora, a middy blouse of deep purple and a wide brim sailor hat. Naturally, no make-up should be allowed for fear of spoiling this natural beauty.

If this policy is carried out, this school might get a No-belle prize.

Letters to the Editor

Big Fix

Editor, "SANDSPUR",

I am in receipt of the following letter from Mr. Francis Postello, formerly of New York and Miami Beach. The letter caused me much concern and I felt that you would find it of much interest.

"Dear Ted,

The boys up here send their best to you. . . fortunate as you are to be still "out amongst them" down there in sunny Florida. We follow the activities as closely as the papers will allow and occasionally we are able to gain more than a reading interest in the goings-on. What happened over the week-end was, naturally, quite disturbing. We aren't blaming you for the unfortunate incident but we only wish to caution you in your future.

That Women's Basketball Tournament has been a source of easy income to us for the past four years. You know that full well. It has been comparatively simple in the past to "talk" to the young ladies and work out an agreement that was advantageous to both sides. This year, while we are on our Kefauver Vacations, we had to rely upon others to take care of the messy monetary matters connected with the agreement. I talked at some length with a couple of those college girls from that little place upstate from you and they told me that this year would be easy to "doctor". Ted, we put a lot of loot on those games, as you well know, and then to have a silly sophomore ruin $150,000 worth of wagers. . . well, that damages the morale of the boys. She was offered the usual $1,500 I believe and then held us up for a car and some new tennis shoes. As far as I can determine from here all the demands were met from our side and I would like to know just what the happened to make her change her mind and scuttle us, but good. One of your friends from Philly, Shuffin' Sam O'Donnell, is personally out about 11 G's on this deal and he is hopping mad about "silly dames playing basketball". Send a guy up to Winter Green, or whatever the name of that joint is, and get that heap back, get what's left of the loot and let her keep the stupid shoes lest her brains show. We should have known that a stupid babe would throw the double switch on us after we had invested heavily. . . and a college girl too. They couldn't teach them very much at that place where she hangs out. . . probably a religious outfit anyway.

You know that should have been an easy deal. Those chicks only got 5.25 for food and they were eaters, all of them. To tell you the truth I felt sorry for them last year. I don't feel sorry for them after that dirty trick over the week-end though.

Well, Ted, other than that we're O.K. The guys are getting used to this place. We get in a few games of "gin" every day to pass the time. In about another year we'll be out of this bastille and hope to see you on the beach. Before I close I want to give you one more warning, KEEP AWAY FROM THOSE SILLY BABES.

From a distance,

Frank

Mr. Editor, I want to assure you that the young lady will not be harmed in any way. In fact, some of the boys here in Miami have chipped in a tidy little sum and made it possible for her to keep the loot, the car and the shoes. However, I fear that we will not be in a position to do business with those of her kind any longer. Mr. Postello is more than a little disturbed and could not be approached on a deal of this kind in the future.

My best regards to you and your staff.

Sincerely,

Theodore Roney.

Lonely Men

Dear Editor:

As one of the remaining six males on the Rollins Campus, I would like to make a plea on behalf of myself and the other five boys. Since we particularly do not care for the companionship of the opposite sex, the fact that there are so few of us presents a big problem. It is especially bad on weekends since there are none of our old gang left for partying. The only alternative is to date and we are tired of seeing girls all week long. We want a change.

Whata Damnfool

'ROUND ROLLINS

Scoop: This column was handed an exclusive story this week on a dope smuggling ring that has been uncovered on the Rollins campus.

According to our source, which we were requested not to disclose, the traffic is especially heavy among baseball and basketball players. Investigation reveals that one student is at the heart of it, and may be assisted by a ring of some five or six other students, as well as several faculty members. Since some members of the ring have not yet been identified, the names of known members are being withheld until they can all be cited at once.

The smugglers' contacts have been mostly with schools of the New England sector and those of the midwest where the supply seems to be plentiful.

Administration officials have called a situation that would give rise to dope smuggling one of grave concern to the College community. In the words of one official, "The situation is one of grave concern to Rollins. Something drastic has to be done. The work of these students and faculty members must not go unnoticed."

In an exclusive interview with the student named as the head of the group, and who engineered most of the contacts, this columnist was told the smuggling activity was prompted by purely patriotic motives. When asked for an enlargement upon this remark, the student explained, "A good athletic record could give the College a good inter-collegiate reputation. It really isn't smuggling, but just making a dope supply available to the College through contacts. And besides," he went on, "every college needs a couple of stupid students to balance the smart ones."

Overheard: In the Student Center, over cups 'o coffee, two students discussing spring term classes:

Hi-diddle-diddle! The cat and the fiddle!
The cow jumped over the moon;
The dog laughed to see such sport,
And the dish ran away with the spoon.

Action: We hear that the administration has finally decided to do something about the lack of lighting on the Horseshoe, scored in this column several weeks ago. McKean has ordered 1,500 glowworms for delivery April 1. . . Coach Bradley did get Lake Maitland colored with a dull-finish dye to soothe the crewmen's eyes. Our informant: one distinctly lavender coxswain. . . The long looked for and late arriving chime system has been installed. The electric chimes (London's Big Ben) are on magnetic tape. We now pass to class with a GNOB! GNOB! GNOB! (Someone got the tape in backward.)

FOOTBALL RETURNS TO ROLLINS

Joyous Fans Celebrate As Big Ten Plans To Admit Rollins; Sherry Chosen As Team Mascot; Tars To Play Notre Dame, Army

Football fans are rejoicing and kicking up mad capers at Rollins with the recent announcement by the administration that football will be resumed acting as a stimulus for their zany actions.

Orlando was the scene of a gigantic snake dance as three loyal Rollins rooters wormed their way through the evening traffic down Orange Avenue. Police were called out to quell the riot, were unable to do so and finally resorted to using fire hoses to disperse the massed crowd of students.

Bolstering the administrations announcement is the news from the latest meeting of the Big Ten which is considering whether or not Rollins should play their conference teams next year. A reliable source has been heard to say his insurance company will back the acceptance of Rollins as the eleventh team to the limit.

On the basis of this information, the Rollins Athletic Office is preparing a 19 game schedule against such teams as Notre Dame, Army, Pennsylvania, U.S.C., Southern Methodist and several between-game scrimmages with Stetson.

Wiping tears of joy from his eyes, Coach McDowell stated, "We lost a great bunch of boys in '50 but I think that the new blood will fill the breach. I don't think we'll have an undefeated season but we should win over 750% of the games."

The Alumni Association also has some plans on the fire. They have contacted several architectural firms and instructed them to prepare drawings of a huge stadium which will be able to hold a maximum crowd of 150,000 people. The only hitch is how to grow enough sandspurs to cover the field with a six-inch layer of their downy softness. This problem will probably be handed over to the grounds committee which has handled the problem so capably in the past.

It has been estimated by the administration that if enough tickets are sold at football games that there might be a $1,000 cut in tuition in the near future. Incoming students will receive lessons in the art of selling hot dogs and soft drinks to frenzied fans in the best tradition of the conference plan, offering unlimited possibilities to Rollins graduates in the selling field. Next year's catalogue should carry a complete list of these courses.

New uniforms have already put in an appearance on the campus and are reputed to be the best the Tars have ever owned.

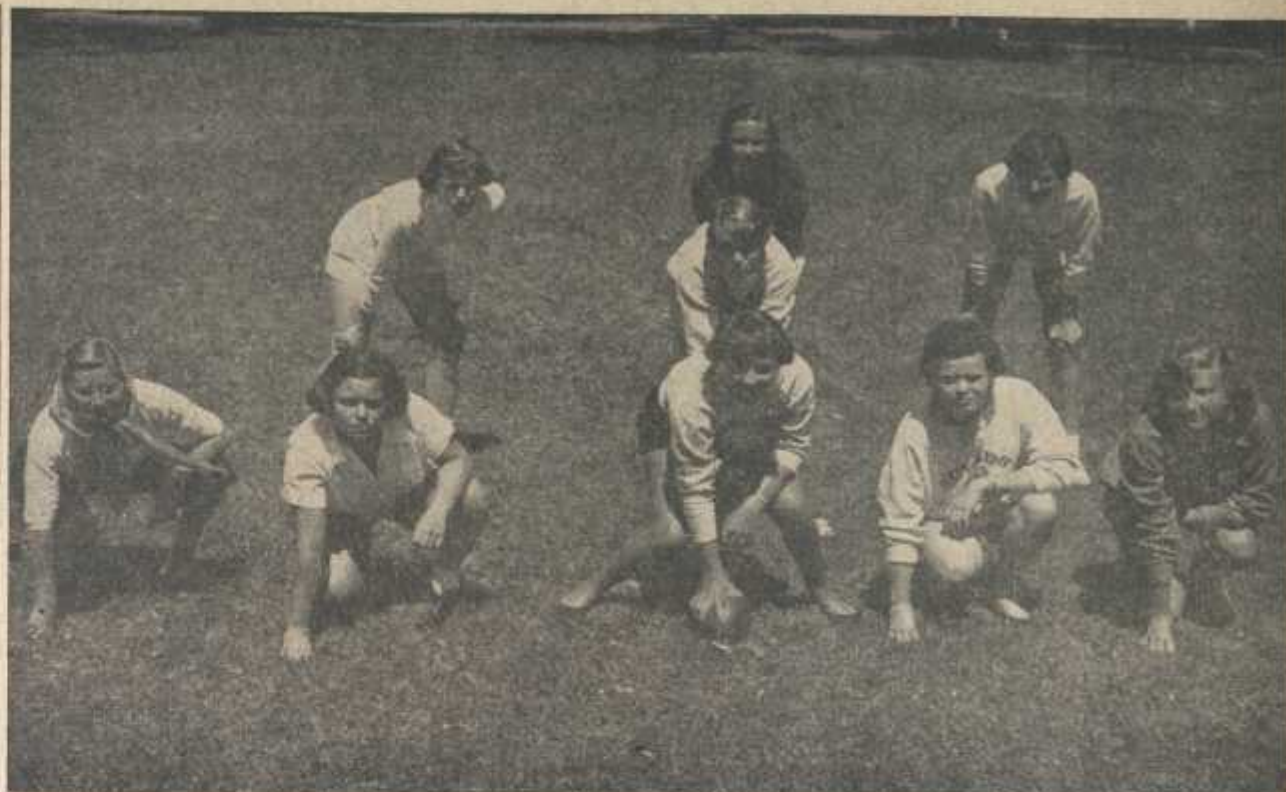

The pants are made of blue velveteen with matching socks. The jersey's will be of stunning gold lame with the numbers embroidered in blue sequins. Blue and gold hairnets will also be worn in combination with blue kid cleats with gold shoelaces. Many claim that Rollins will capture the best dressed team title if nothing else.

Spring practice will begin in two weeks and the first game will be played when the schedule has been completed.

Keeping up with the spirit, the football team announced today the choosing of a team mascot to lead the team on and off the field at game time.

Winner of the high honor was a famous Rollins figure who has been prominent on and off the campus for many years. To those who are unfamiliar with the team's choice and are unable to recognize the face, the Sandspur proudly gives the mascot's name to the public. The mascot, chosen by unanimous vote is Sherry.

During the past years, Sherry has been noted for her unfailingly pleasant disposition, her good looks and by her ability to assimilate knowledge as it is taught by the conference plan.

The Rollins Football Team Warms Up for spring practice upon hearing the announcement that the sport has been started once again. The team had better practice hard in order to be ready for the tough games ahead.

A & Z

With the dismal sound of hobnailed boots tramping off into the distance, Rollins coeds packed away their black dresses of mourning and prepared to meet the coming terms with their shoulders thrown back and their chins held high.

They have met the challenge well and fearlessly. They have stepped into the breach created by the drafting of the thirteen men and, once again, the athletic fields are ringing to the joyous cries of Rollins teams as they practice for coming contests.

As one of the girls said, "There is nothing like good healthy exercise to take you mind off your problems."

The football team should have a tremendous season next year. Although Coach McDowell was rather hesitant in prophesying exactly how many games the Tars would win, his belief in a winning average of over 750% of the coming games indicates that he really must have a powerhouse hidden away from the scouts.

It also looks as if Rollins might be the first school to crack the Big Ten's magic circle. The latest reports have indicated that the Tars might soon become a member of this elite group making it the Big Eleven. If this is true the Tars can expect to play a few teams of their own caliber in the future. Florida competition has proven to be a pushover to the Tars and now they're after bigger game.

The crew hasn't done so badly either.

With their easy victory over Navy, they should cop the coming triangular meet with Harvard and Yale tomorrow, making short work of the entire affair.

There are even distant hints of a bid to row in the coming Olympics but whether or not this will materialize is hard to say.

The girls have met the challenge. The basketball team won the state crown and the baseball team is well on its way to doing the same thing. Tar tennis is climbing to the number one spot nationally and so is the golf team.

But oh for the days when there were men at Rollins.

COXAIN IS SOLE MALE REMAINING ON TARS' CREW

A new twist has been added to crew at Rollins. As fans will remember, a few years ago there was a feminine cox of a male crew—now there is a male cox of a feminine crew.

The lucky man, termed lucky because he gets the last word in, was chosen because being one of his few remaining males, it was decided that the school should have all qualified men partaking in athletics. Another factor in his favor was that he only weighed 99 pounds.

Touche! — But it signifies the death of the last lettermen at Rollins. In an exclusive shot, the Sandspur brings you the picture before the F.B.I. gets it.

LAST LETTERMEN DIE IN DUEL OVER CONTESTED INTRAMURALS

The F.B.I. is investigating the recent deaths of two students who killed each other in a vicious duel over a charge of cheating in a game of pick-up-sticks.

The wild wailing of their sabres, imported from Georgia especially for the occasion, resulted in two bloody corpses lying on the moonlit shores of Lake Virginia. The unfortunate deaths mark the passing of Rollins' last and greatest lettermen.

Federal Bureau of Investigation officers are checking on the duel because of the smuggling of concealed arms across state borders with the intent to kill.

The cheating charge resulted from the championship intramural contest where one of the men was accused of breathing extra hard on the pile in order to make his opponent's pick-up harder. In a protest meeting, it was decided that the entire affair was a matter of honor and that it should be settled on the field of battle.

The combatants met on the shore of Lake Virginia, strapped their left wrists together and began slicing upon the first cough from the biggest alligator in the lake. Before the match could be halted, both men had killed each other.

THE GREAT REUNION scene at the end of ONCE AROUND THE SQUARE finds Chesta Overmeir about to fly into her lover's arms. Anthony the hero seems to be overwhelmed by this gesture.

Once Around The Square Is A Wow In Annie Russell Theatre Production

by Ann Onimous

The Rollins Players have unleashed a drama the likes of which we have never had the pleasure of seeing before. By golly—it's wonderful!

ONCE AROUND THE SQUARE is the story of a boy (Anthony Horowitz) and a girl (Chesta Overmeir) who fall in love at first sight. The play is a three act revelation of their passion. The plot is somewhat complicated by the appearance of the girl's father (Papa Overmeir) who shows up in Act II, scene 3 with a shot gun. (seems he was going hunting) and scares away our hero who is picking flowers in the woods. The rest of the play is spent in trying to reunite the young lovers.

The entire story, with the exception of the hunting scene, takes place in a small suburban area in New York called Brooklyn.

The part of Anthony was adequately played by Heinrich Neumann who, though talented, is handicapped by an inability to speak anything other than German; however this is not too bad since his lines aren't too spectacular anyhow.

Druscilla Hockenflopper was very good in the part of Chesta; in fact she was pretty adequate too. The rest of the cast was interesting—the only trouble was that they never stopped resting.

The good thing about this American classic is that it is tailored for an American audience like we have here in Winter Park; easy to follow and not confusing as are some plays such as HAMLET and OTHELLO.

The scenery was only adequate, being a bit too bright for elderly eyes. Also, the youth of the protagonist precluded all possibility of the reviewer's putting himself in the hero's position.

All in all, though, it was good.

DR. RHEA M. SMITH, the originator of the WROTC idea, smiles upon receiving the news of the government acceptance of his plan for Rollins women.

ROLLINS TO HAVE FIRST WROTC; WOMEN EARN WAC COMMISSIONS

"Rollins College has scored another first," said Dr. Rhea Marsh Smith, Assistant to the President, in a press conference early yesterday morning. Dr. Smith was referring to the new WROTC which is to be instituted here in the near future.

"The date of the start of operations is a military secret as yet," said Smith, "but it might not be too premature to say the program will be underway by 1963."

The WROTC is the Women's Reserve Officer Training Corps. This is the "brain child" of Dr. Rhea Smith of Rollins and is organized in much the same manner as the male counterpart in other colleges. Members of this organization are unconditionally draft exempt, and upon graduation are commissioned as Second Lieutenants in the WAC.

The plan of course calls for two class periods per week, one two hour parade drill per week, and six weeks summer camp at Almagorda, New Mexico in the scenic American Desert.

Courses planned as part of this program include: The Fine Points of the Compass, Military Mop Wringing, About Faces and other things, The Tactics of Getting Rid of Lieutenants, The Strategy of Handling Majors, The Art of Outmaneuvering Generals (the latter three are consolidated into three separate courses), Marching Made Easy, and many other such fascinating subjects.

A similar organization was founded at Johnson Junior College for Women, Johnson City, Tennessee, and became so well known that its members were recognized everywhere as the Johnson WACS. However, the well-polished unit was eventually canned by the President.

OLD TRADITIONS JUNKED BY NEW CUSTOMS RULING

Although many of the old traditions of Rollins will have to go next year, according to Dean Marian Van Buren Cleveland, all night permission for girls will be substituted to make up the deficiencies. This is part of the process of transforming the school from the bisexual to the monosexual type and will mean the replacing of new, more suitable customs, for the old coeducational ones.

Some of the traditions that will go are: Hallowe'en swims in Lake Virginia (which is being moved up to DeLand), mixed dances and Pelican weekends, the Kave, the "X" Club buses, and late permission.

"Instead," says Dean Cleveland, "we will substitute more lady-like events such as hoop races, tea dances, stag Pelicans, and all-night permissions (to make up for the rest)."

The Pan-Hellenic Council, meeting in a hurried secret session to discuss the turn of events, made this official statement: In view of the recent action by the Administration of the College of making Rollins an all-girl school and suspending all males from the school, we hereby say—HELP!

Eta Pis And Pi Gams Schedule Functions For Next Saturday

The Rollins Chapter of Pi Iota Gamma Sorority are holding their annual Spring Fun-Fest at Cheese-spread Country Club next Saturday evening, April 4, from 9:00 p.m. until 5 a.m. The PIGs announce that all girls will have late permission so long as they stay at the dance.

Also on tap for Saturday is a weiner roast sponsored by the Alpha Chapter of the Eta Apple Pi national gourmet's fraternity. The entire campus is invited to partake of a menu that includes such delicacies as Beanery style stuffed peppers, Kosher dill potato chips, and pickled hearts of celery. These and many other delectable dishes can be had for $100 a person at Starbuck Springs, Saturday at 1:00 p.m. The proceeds of this affair are to go to the establishment of a chair of Gastroenterology at Rollins. The goal is $65,000,000.

Latest Snarf Effort About Tibetan Yaks To Be Published Soon

(APE) The Shrdlu Publishing Company announced today that they are publishing a book by the imminent author, Hector Snarf. The title of the book is THE MIGRATIONS OF THE SOUTH TIBETAN YAK.

Professor Snarf is the holder of the Chair of Zoological Research at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla. He is the author of such well-known works as THE EFFECTS OF ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGE ON BULGARIAN FIELD MICE, CROSS-BREEDING AND ITS RESULTING CHANGES IN SKELETAL STRUCTURE IN WORKING WITH THE NORTH INDIAN GNU. These works are considered as classics in their respective fields.

About this book, the New York Times says: "This comprehensive study will indubitably go a long way in settling the pediculous state of circumspection on this subject and in cementing relations between this country and the Dalai Lama."

Winchell says: "I've never read anything like it."

And says Professor Snarf: "It's so good that I think I'll use it for a text in one of my courses next year. I haven't decided what course yet, but I'll get it in somewhere."

Professor Snarf, well-known for his sharp wit, stated that his next book which is now nearing completion is on the egg laying habits of the Galapagos turtles.

Snarf's work has taken him to some of the world's most remote and unexplored areas, including the Gobi Desert, the Himalayas, the mountains of north Georgia, and other equally fascinating backward places.

SHERRY CHOSEN FOR TOP HONOR BY K9 OUTFIT

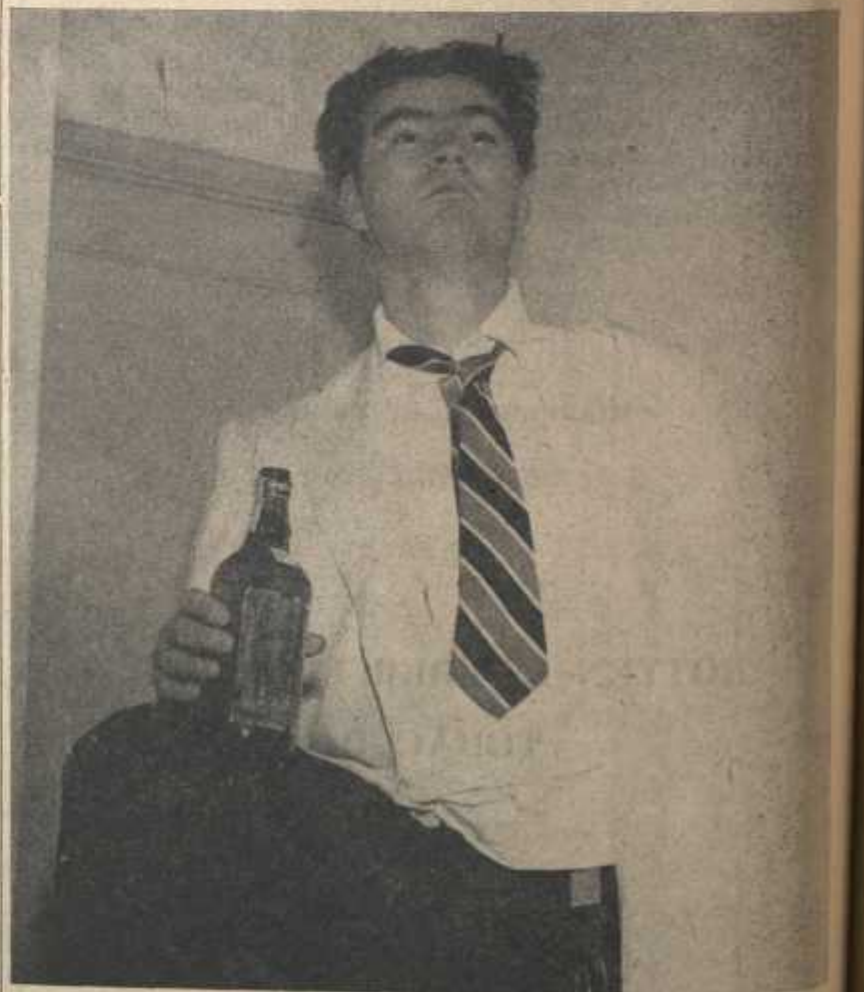

Sherry Emery, noted campus beauty, was recently selected as "The Girl We'd Most Like to Share Our Kennel With" by the boys of the 150th Regiment of the U. S. Army K-9 Corps. Sherry was chosen out of a field of twenty that included such tough competition as Cocker Spaniels, Boxers, and svelte Dachshunds.

One spokesman for the 150th, upon seeing the young miss's picture, had only one thing to say, "Wruuff!"

Sherry is probably one of the most well-known characters on the Rollins Campus among both students and faculty. Besides holding the record for being the only student to have audited every class given at Rollins, she plays a significant role in extracurricular activities. With all this Sherry still has time for the exciting social whirl of the Center, where she may be seen at most any time of day or night flitting gaily from table to table.

Sherry was so surprised and delighted by her selection that she was almost speechless. However, she did get over the reporters that, "This the most exciting thing that's happened to me, since I was squirted by a fireplug."

This is the first time since World War II that the 150th has made such a selection. The last one went to Lassie who was chosen "The Girl We'd Most Like to go to the Pound With."

Jake Phlegm, prominent Winter Park theatre critic, says "I switched to Lord Culprit because it's cheaper." Like Mr. Phlegm, we are sure that all will agree—it's cheap even if it is terrible.
