Rollins Heading FIPA As Lambeth Is Prexy

Charles Lambeth, Rollins sophomore and Sandspur sports editor, was elected president of the Florida Intercollegiate Press Association at the group's semi-annual convention which met on the Rollins campus last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. This is the second year that a Rollins student has held the presidency.

The statewide press organization met in conjunction with the Florida Intercollegiate Student Government Association, which named Jon Dunn-Rankin, junior at Rollins and past president of the FISGA, to the post of parliamentarian for the coming year.

Students from as far away as Florida State University in Tallahassee, Barry College and the University of Miami, convened on the Rollins campus to discuss problems of student government and the student press.

Other colleges and universities attending were: Bethune-Cookman and Florida Normal Colleges, the University of Florida, Tampa and Stetson Universities, Florida Southern College, and Orlando and Jacksonville Junior Colleges.

James Luce of Southern was named president of the government group with Carver Portlock for the second consecutive year copping the vice-presidency for Bethune-Cookman.

The delegates heard addresses by Ned Brown, managing editor of the Orlando Evening Star, Edwin R. Walker, Dean of Rollins College, and Dr. Frank Johnson of the Rollins faculty.

President Hugh McKean welcomed the student representatives on Thursday. A total of fifty-four students from twelve campuses attended the convention.

MASS CONCERT WILL BE HELD MAY 12 AND 13

Eight pianos and dozens of children will join musical forces on May 12 and 13, next Tuesday and Wednesday, to bring Central Florida its first mass piano concert.

The occasion is a program entitled All-American Music given by the children of the Rollins College Community Courses program. It will be held at 8 p.m. on both evenings in the Winter Park Woman's Club.

Directed by Mrs. Mary Jarman Nelson, the program will demonstrate what the students have learned during the 1952-53 school year. Sixty-three children, from all over Central Florida, will take part.

VARSITY CREW TRAVELS NORTH FOR ANNUAL DAD VAIL REGATTA

The Rollins crew left Wednesday afternoon to compete in the annual Dad Vail Regatta to be held this year on the waters of the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia. The Tars will race in the first heat scheduled for 10:00 a.m. Saturday morning over the mile and five-sixteenth course.

The Rollins shell will compete with crews from LaSalle, Amherst and Dartmouth, with the winning and second-place crews going on to the final heat to be run off that afternoon.

In the second heat at 10:30 a.m. shells from four other colleges will compete; these being Florida Southern, whom the Tars edged out for the Florida State crown last Saturday, American International College, Brown and Marietta. The two top shells in this race will go to the finals, along with the third place crews of both heats which has the best course time.

After pulling past Florida Southern in the state regatta Saturday the Tars will be up for this competition, the winner of which holds the mythical crew championship. Rollins has beaten many of the entered crews in dual races.

FLORIDA STATE CHAMPS The Rollins Varsity Crew with Coach Bradley who left yesterday for the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia.

GO, ROLLINS! Pictured above is this year's Rollins Baseball team who will battle it out with the University of Florida Gators Friday and Saturday at Harper-Shepard Field. With a state championship in sight for either team, the series is probably the most important of the baseball season.

Rollins-Univ. Of Florida Battle For State Title This Week

The Rollins Tars and the University of Florida Gators will battle for state baseball supremacy and possible national glory here tomorrow and Saturday. Both games will begin at 3:30 p.m. at Harper-Shepard Field.

A sweep of the two game series by either team would furnish strong support for an NCAA tournament bid. Both clubs made the regional tournament last year; Florida as SEC champions and Rollins as an outstanding SIAA contender.

An even break for the Tars could guarantee a state championship. Joe Justice's nine counted a state mark of 9 wins and 3 losses in their 18-6 overall record at the end of last week's play.

STU. COUNCIL URGES ATTENDANCE AT THIS YEAR'S SENIOR DANCE

by Donna Knox

Council President Hal Broda invites the whole Rollins family—students, faculty, administration—to the year's biggest, the Senior dance. The scene will be Dubsdread, the date Saturday, May 23. There will be dancing from 9 till 1 o'clock with Paul Cram's orchestra, and 1:30 permission for girls.

The Student Association rules governing the election of the Comptroller were waived to present a slate for the Council. Don Wilson was elected the new Comptroller by vote of Council representatives.

Louis Ingram, Marcia Mattox, and Pat Nathan were appointed

Classes To End June The Second and Fifth

The Faculty met Monday afternoon to determine closing dates for the 1953 Academic year at Rollins College. Several changes had to be made due to extended vacation periods throughout the year.

The group voted to end classes for seniors on Tuesday afternoon, June 2, at the close of their class periods on Tuesday. Grades for the seniors will be due in the Registrar's office by 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, June 4.

Classes for all other students will end at the close of "C" period on Friday, June 5.

Ordinarily Commencement takes place on Wednesday or Thursday with the Senior classes ended the Saturday previous to Commencement.

as a committee to investigate possible improvements for the Flamingo under the present budget.

Next year a launch-to-shore walkie-talkie system will broadcast all Rollins home crew races to spectators on shore. Announcers will be students, and the expenses will be paid from Student Association Funds.

MARSH-LANG, GIVE RECITAL

Betty Jean Lang and Mary Marsh are presenting a joint recital this evening at the Winter Park Woman's Club.

Miss Lang will sing selections from Schubert, Mozart, songs from the Sept Chanson by Enesco.

Accompanying her will be Katherine Carlo.

Miss Marsh, at the piano, will play two groups of selections. The first will be two pieces from Brahms' Ballade, and the second will include "Pavanne" by Ravel, "The Maid With The Flaxen Hair" by Debussy, and "Valse Oubliee" by Liszt.

Both girls have presented numerous recitals in Dyer. Miss Lang has been a soloist with the Glee Club and "Operation Songlift." She also has one of the leads in the forthcoming Independent Show, "The Prince of Erata." Miss Marsh has given recitals at the Alabama Hotel and in Washington, D. C., besides performing on programs over WPRK.

Rollins is the only Florida college playing all other teams in the state, and the only Florida nine on the U. of F.'s schedule this season.

Bill Cary and Art Brophy, the Tar portside one-two punch, are expected to get the starting assignments against the Gators this weekend.

Brophy, the regular left fielder, rescued a tiring Tar pitching staff and hurled a four-hitter at Miami April 25. He followed this victory with another four-hitter over Tampa last Saturday. Cary remains in the spotlight as one of the top college hurlers in the nation. The Westbrook, Me., sophomore holds a 7-1 record and has hurled three shutouts this season.

Marshall Powers Set For Forum Questions

The inimitable Dr. Marshall Powers will be the subject of discussion on the Sandspur Forum next Wednesday night at 8:15. He will be interrogated on controversial aspects of sociology, methods of teaching it, and his opinions in general.

Jerry Faulkner, Jim Locke, and Jidge Wood will be the interrogators. Any student wishing to ask a question of Dr. Powers may submit it to one of the interrogators.

Last night His Excellency Sir Gladwyn Jebb was the main speaker on the Sandspur Forum's production which was a tape recording of Sir Gladwyn's post-convocation interview with the press and Rollins seniors.

STRAIGHT TALK

With the sweltering Florida heat hanging over the campus like a pall, the ponderous machinery of the self-study program received a welcome boost when President McKean called an all-day conference with the students on April 29.

Fifteen campus leaders gathered at his home early in the morning, hitched their chairs forward forming a semi-circle facing President McKean, Vice-President Hanna and the college's treasurer, Mr. Tiedtke, and began a frank and open discussion on the problems of the college. Mistakes made during the past year, by both the students and the administration, were aired and corrective measures were established. Over twenty-two points were completely covered between 9 a.m. and 5:45 p.m.

The benefits of the conference were four-fold:

- 1) It gave graduating seniors an opportunity to state their ideas for the improvement of the college.
- 2) It gave next year's student leaders a chance to come face to face with the problems of the college and a chance to accustom themselves to working with the administration in solving them.
- 3) It gave the administration a straight-forward look at the students' ideas on how the college could be improved.
- 4) It stimulated the self-study program.

The most important thing about the conference was that the administration established the policy of really listening to what the students say, feel, and think about the college. Also, it proved to the students that the administration was interested in them as individuals and that they would back the students working on the self-study program.

The talk was hard, straight, and constructive with facts being brought to light by the social groups, the Student Council, the Sandspur, the Chapel Staff, ODK, Libra, varsity and intramural representatives.

A great precedent has been established, encompassing the campus. It must continue.

BEANERY

In the past few months, the Beanery has shown a marked increase in quality. The food is better prepared and there is more of an assortment for the students to choose from at each meal.

Many of the visiting athletic teams stated that the Beanery's food was far better than what they received at their own colleges.

Mr. Mays should be congratulated for his cooperation with the Student Council in plans for improving daily fare; there can be no doubting the fact that he has done a magnificent job. But if the food could be improved upon even further in the future, the college would have an even happier student body.

About this time in the college year some begin to feel that college life is monotonous. The fact that things didn't come off as expected leads them to conclude the world is all wrong, people aren't friendly, college isn't worth while and so they will drop out or transfer. It never seems to cross their minds that they and not the world are out of sorts; nor do they feel responsible for how life uses them; nor do they feel under any compulsion to do anything about it.

ACADEMIC ASSISTANCE

South Bend, Ind. — (I.P.)—

More than one-third of the students entering college today are selecting the wrong course of study due to an over-estimation of their own aptitudes and abilities or because of parental influence, according to Edward R. Quinn, director of the department of testing and guidance at the University of Notre Dame.

"We find this particularly true of students planning to enter the colleges of engineering and science," Quinn explained, "since many freshmen mistake an interest in mechanical tinkering for engineering aptitude and because of the glamour presently associated with the science and engineering professions by students, parents, and high school teachers."

Notre Dame's testing department administers a battery of group tests to all incoming freshmen for purposes of placement and guidance. The results of the tests, indicating the potentialities and capacities of the student, are reported to the heads of the academic departments.

"When a student is clearly not adapted to the course he has chosen, we bring the results of the tests to his attention, but make no specific recommendation until he has tried the work for at least a semester," Quinn indicated. It is then up to the student, and his parents, to decide if he should change his course.

Individual testing and counseling in both the educational and vocational fields occupy the University's three professional counselors throughout the school year. Any student in doubt about his college course or about his field of work after graduation receives ten to twelve hours of careful counseling and selective testing designed to measure his interests, aptitudes, personality and his achievement in the field of highest interest.

The department has become an integral part of the University and has increased its services to the student each year. In addition to helping students select the right course and the right job, the department employs flash meters and reading-rate accelerators to increase the reading and studying ability of students.

THE EASY COLLEGE LIFE

IT IS PLANNED TO INTRODUCE a new disciplinary code for the study year 1953-54. Its regulations provide that the students are to rise at the lecturer's entering, that they clap their hands at the end of a lecture, and that they also rise from their seats when called upon during a seminar session. The old academic usages of knocking and feet-scraping will be strongly prohibited. Unexcused absence from a lecture or a seminar will be penalized with the partial or total withholding of the scholarship. Repeated absence will result in being sent down. (A.G.S.F., Berlin)

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We hear a lot these days about the lack of spirit on the Rollins Campus. Perhaps there is a lot of truth in this but I want to call to the attention of the College a spirit that is unexemplified.

On Wednesday, April 22, when the members of ODK were hosts to the senior men of the Winter Park and Orlando High Schools, the entertainment after dinner was furnished by students outside of ODK. It is the spirit of these students that I wish to call to the attention of the college.

This entertainment consisted of canoe tilting, swimming exhibitions, and fire diving.

You will recall that this was an unusually cold afternoon and evening and not conducive to this sort of activity for pleasure. It would have been easy for these students to stay in their warm, comfortable dormitories but instead they all appeared at the lake front after dinner and put on their show under the direction of Mr. Fleet Peeples.

I wish it were possible to mention the names of all the students participating but for fear of missing someone I will omit the names and take this opportunity to thank all of them on behalf of ODK and the College.

Yours sincerely,

Robert Tiller

'ROUND ROLLINS

by Jon Dunn-Rankin

Seems Chuck Lambeth has taken to foot-step-following.

Lambeth, a Spur staffer since coming to Rollins nearly two years ago, first earned the post of '53-'54 Spur sports editor, succeeding fellow sports writer and now Spur-in-chief Bruce Lee.

At the joint FIPA-FISGA convention on the Rolly Colly campus last Thurs-Fri-Sat, Lambeth was elected in a field of three candidates to the FIPA presidency for the '53-'54 academic year . . . succeeding Bruce Lee.

Continued: That oblique ending to last week's column referred to: "a switch," found next to Mills Library's outer lobby display case, and to "light," radiated by two amber lanterns on either side of the massive Mills entrance. We asked Mr. Chadwick, night-watchman, if permission were secured to use the lamps to light the lightless Horseshoe, would he douse them on his midnight rounds. He'll be glad to.

Because of the press-government conclave on the campus last weekend, we're going to spend some time this column in thanks: . . . to Professor Howard Bailey and the theatre arts department . . . for arranging for the visiting delegates to see the finest production, Othello, of the Annie Russell's current year, with fine performances from Buck Class, Averill Goodrich, Tally Merritt, Ron Trumbull, and that villainous Iago, Professor Charles S. Mendell.

. . . to Mrs. Flora Lindsey Magoun and her secretarial and business English classes . . . for providing the convention with expert, interested, and indispensable secretarial assistance.

. . . to Dean Edwin R. Walker . . . not only for his talk on Saturday afternoon (in the informal atmosphere of the Chapel Garden that made it seem like a Rollins seminar), but for his continual aid in the arrangements and morale of the convention.

. . . to Rollins prexy Hugh F. McKean . . . for some of his inimitable personality at the opening session.

. . . to Dr. Frank Johnson . . . who led another "seminar" on Saturday discussing student government responsibilities . . . and to Orlando Star managing editor Ned Brown . . . for his words on Journalism and the Community.

. . . to Hal Broda, present, and John de Grove, past SA presidents, Dan Pinger, Dick Lesneski, Louis Ingram, and Dean Cleveland who contributed their time and energies.

. . . to Dean-emeritus Arthur D. Enyart . . . who contributed his grill to a convention delegates' picnic Friday night.

. . . to Liz Stephens . . . who as Convention Secretary spent some sleepless nights oiling convention gear for a smooth-running result.

. . . to the Phi Mus . . . who provided three convention-sotted people with a welcome social relief with their steak broil at Sanlando Springs Saturday night. Liz Stephens, Chuck Lambeth, and ourself devoured five tender, juicy, chin-staining steaks.

Four Students Awarded Top Honor Scholarships

The Administration Building announced this week that Jerry Craddock, Joseph Muscari, Stella Lois Ward, and Sidney Kromer have been awarded Honor Scholarships worth $4000 each, to Rollins for four years.

The four high-school seniors are among the nation's most outstanding students and were selected as recipients of the Honor Scholarships on the basis of their high-school achievements.

College officials said that Miss Ward's college entrance examination grades are among the highest from applications all over the United States.

In addition to superior grades, Miss Ward has been outstanding in extracurricular activities at St. Petersburg High and at Woodrow Wilson High in Tampa. She is a native of Jacksonville.

She edited the school newspaper, belonged to the National Honor Society, was voted "most likely to succeed" and "most intelligent" in her ninth grade class, and has belonged to numerous clubs and activities. She also has won two local district prizes and one state prize in speech contests, has appeared in six Little Theater plays, and has been active in music, church work, and the Children of the Confederacy.

A senior at Pueblo, Sidney Ann Kromer has been an outstanding all round student.

Miss Kromer has been a member of the National Honor Society, vice-president of the Girls' League, president of the Girls' Letter Club, vice-president of the Tri-Y, and a member of numerous student organizations. She has also been active in school musical activities, captained the YMCA girls' swimming team, and was chosen Honored Queen of Job's daughters.

Craddock, a senior at Pueblo, Colorado's Centennial High, has been an outstanding student, but he has also been a leader in extracurricular activities. He served as president of the freshman and senior classes, was a member of the National Honor Society, won two varsity football letters, and was both vice-president and treasurer of the student body.

In addition he has participated in dramatics, and is a member of

PHI BETA PLAY RUNS 3 NIGHTS

Rehearsals have been in progress this past week for the annual Phi Beta play to be presented at the Fred Stone Theatre on the nights of May 21, 22, 23.

This year's production is a suspense-packed murder mystery by Wilfred H. Pettitt called "Nine Girls," and is under the direction of Miss Tally Merritt.

The cast, composed entirely of Phi Betas, includes Averill Goodrich, Carol McKechnie, Lettie Stouder, Lucy Curtin, Bobbie Spencer, Takayo Tsubouchi, Mary Marsh, Diane Herblin, Rosie Brodie, and Sally Beauchamp.

Admission is 35 cents for students and 50 cents for adults, the proceeds of which go toward scholarships for outstanding music and theater arts students at Rollins.

Rollins Postmaster Leads Hectic And Eventful Life

by Carol Farquharson

Did you ever wonder what would happen if the Rollins post office closed down? Prevailing gloom would penetrate the whole campus! Students and teachers alike would walk around in utter confusion. The Administration Building would shut its doors. The college would fall apart.

The one person responsible for preventing such a nightmare is Halsted Caldwell Jr., known to everyone at Rollins as "Sandy." At 7:30 every morning, Sandy unlocks his door and begins another day in the post office. There is no such thing as an average day and Sandy always comes prepared. He first tackles the large batch of campus mail which accumulates every night. Invariably, a stack of notices appear with a note attached: "Sandy, can you put these up immediately? Thanks!"

At approximately eight o'clock a postman from the downtown office shuffles in carrying a bulging mail sack over each shoulder. He shoves them onto a waist-high table, and strides out to pick up the packages. If it's Monday, the packages reach three-quarters of the way to the ceiling. Any other day, they attain only one-half that distance. The insured ones must be separated from the others, written up, and recorded. But before this is done, Sandy slings papers and letters into the proper boxes. If you are in doubt as to the number of students functioning well before 8:30, stand by the bulletin board.

"Is the mail in?" "Have you put up my section?" "Anything for me, Sandy?" "You haven't given me a letter in two days!" Sandy stacks and delivers the office mail before 9:30. He visits the Alumni House, Carnegie, the Library, and the Administration Building four times a day. At 9:30 the post office window is scheduled to open. If it does not raise on the second, hollering students pound the wall. On Thursday morning, the Sandspurs arrive. In the meantime, Sandy plays professor at the window. "Didn't my laundry come? What'll I do, I don't have any clothes?" "When will an air mail special get to England?" "Where is Dyer?"

As the chimes sound for the beginning of B period, the chaotic wranglings gradually descend to a constant lull. By this time the campus box is overflowing, the late morning air mails arrive, and a busy day is well under way. At noon, Sandy takes a deep breath, closes shop, runs by the offices, and drives the outgoing mail downtown.

After a quick lunch in the Center, Sandy is again behind bars. The afternoon mail usually arrives around two o'clock. Sandy inserts a little sign between the bars indicating whether the mail is up, but the questions decrease only 5%. A secretary flits in—"Sandy, I've got to have 100 stamped envelopes!" (He is in charge of the office supplies for the whole school.) The phone rings—"Sandy, have you put up the calendars yet?" Voice from outside—"My formal didn't come; what'll I wear tonight?" Another at the window—"You put this in the wrong box!" Another—"Will you give me a higher box; I get tired bending over." Such is the life of a Rollins postmaster.

CONOVER CALLS COLLEGE COEDS IN SUMMERTIME

With the advent of the summer months few girls are not concerned over their fair-weather appearance. . . for that which a full skirt and flowing sleeves will conceal is plainly revealed when the stately attire of winter is traded in for summer comfort.

For those girls who have secretly wondered just how their figures compare with the top New York models, Harry Conover has released a statistical report on the "Conover Girls for Spring 1953." Specifically, to be "beautiful", girls can be no shorter than 5' 3" in flats, with the following measurements:

Bust—32 A
Waist—21
Hips—32½
Dress—7
Hat—21
Hair Length—Medium

On the other hand, girls may be no taller than 5' 9" in flats with the following measurements:

Bust—36 B
Waist—25
Hips—35
Dress—12-14
Hat—22½
Hair Length—Medium

But the prize package is 5'6" or 5'7" in flats and measures up this way:

Bust—34 B
Waist—23-24
Hips—32½-34
Dress—10-12
Hat—21½
Hair Length—Medium

The Conover Agency is on the lookout right now for college girls interested in trying their hand at modeling for six or eight weeks over the summer. A personal interview in New York City, however, is necessary to obtain a job.

It is interesting to note that the Conover Agency will not permit any of its models to pose for cheese-cake shots, or in a bikini bathing suit, or "any costume of an abbreviated nature."

Neither can girls pose for any alcoholic beverages with the exception of beer! Violation of any of these standards results in immediate dismissal!

Get out your tape measures, girls! Even if you can't arrange a personal interview in the Big City, there's a certain amount of satisfaction in knowing that statistically you're enough to make the boys drool!

Many parties added color to the campus this past weekend with Phi Mu's, Pi Phi's, and Thetas as hosts.

The Phi Mu's gave a steak fry and beer party at Sanlando Springs Saturday night. Swimming was also on the agenda, and it is rumored that the water looked so inviting some couldn't even wait to get their clothes off. Among those attending were: Ellen McPhee and Bill Wright, Sheila Howard and Frank Thompson, L. Stephens and Chuck Lambeth, Ann Palmer and Jon Dunn-Rankin his uke, and Jim Locke, who warmed up the party with a roaring Adding to the enjoyment of the party were Bruce Elwell with bonfire.

The Pi Phi's and their dates spent a big Saturday evening at the Orlando Aviation Club where they were hosts at an outdoor barbeque and dance. A good time was reported by all! Among some twenty-five couples attending were seen: Eleanor Signaigo and Don Weber, Susie Le Clere and Jerry Campbell, Meredith Nail and Bill Helprin, Mary Martin and Jim Robinson, Yvonne Oliver and Dick Quillan, and Dorothy Campbell and Howard Saylor.

The Chi O's furthered friendly relations with the faculty and administration by being hosts to a Bingo Party at Strong Hall last Tuesday evening.

Rollinsites traveling away this weekend were Faith Emeny, who flew up to Princeton for a big weekend, Madge Cloney, who went up to Tallahassee, and lucky Chesta Hosmer, who spent a long weekend in New York visiting her fiancé Dick Bandfield.

Connie Shields, Jeanne Rogers, Jean Navin, and Nancy Tinder spent the weekend at Daytona Beach.

Happy Jordan had a big time at Florida Southern's Pi KA Senior Dance which was held in St. Pete.

At least one visitor was at Rollins this weekend. John Thibodeau came down from Pensacola to see his fiancée Jane Wynn. Wedding bells will ring on June 3rd for these two.

Tomorrow, Friday, May 8th, the Gamma Phi's and X-Club are sponsoring a formal dance from 9-12 in the Skyroom at the Angebilt Hotel. Paul Cram will supply "rippling" music for all the mermaids and sea horses. Not much can be learned about decorations, but they are to carry out the theme of "Underwater Fantasy."

Gamma Phi's and dates swam and sunned at the Pelican this past weekend. Some of those attending included Robin Metzgar and Jim Bocook, Jeanne Washburn and Dubac Preece, Lamar Brantley and Nan Cochran, Bob Leader and Sis Atlass, Jan Reas and Bob McCarty, Red Jackson and Bill Ross.

The Alpha Phi's entertained their alums at a picnic Monday night, and are planning a Dinner Dance this Friday for all Alpha Phi's and dates.

Rollins Receives Many Valuable Interesting. And Beautiful Gifts

by Cyrene Palmisano

When the Administration learned that over seventy years' worth of gifts were lying abandoned in many of the campus buildings, it formed a committee to establish the Rollins Museum of Living Art based mainly on treasured articles.

Some of these unique findings were the donation of Mrs. Frances Knowles Warren more usually remembered for her gifts of Knowles Chapel, the Administration Building, the Student Center, and the redecoration of Knowles and Pinehurst Halls.

Throughout the years Rollins has been the recipient of many gifts. A Grandma Moses painting lies side by side with a genuine Sully in the back room of Sullivan House waiting to be catalogued and given a home, while in the basement of the art studios a mail pouch, the first ever used in Winter Park, lies virtually unnoticed.

And who has ever noticed the Venuses scattered about the campus? A bashful beauty adorns the balcony of the Annie Russell Theatre, while another one is in an outside niche of Lucy Cross Hall facing the Phi Mu house, where still another Venus stands guarding a pool.

Each house on campus has pictures chosen from a large selection of dusty paintings stored in various basements. One of Cloverleaf's paintings has the improbable title of "Orchid and White Leopards" showing a lovely girl (presumably Orchid) leading two leopards on a leash. Another is a Defaux, painted in 1659, now with a nice hole in it made by some vandals.

The Thetas were given a collection of ceramic cats (Dr. Holt thought the K.A.T.'s were just the ones to have it) and Mayflower Hall has a bit of Plymouth Rock, a fragment of the original Mayflower, and a chest that came over on that famous boat.

Old Carnegie had a basement full of books wrapped in soiled newspapers, but these have since been moved to the new Library where several rooms were respectfully given over to the rare volumes.

The Casa Iberia is literally stuffed with objects of art. The living room has several lovely paintings in elaborately carved gift frames, several old chests, and in the guest room a bed purported to have been the one Don Juan slept in. Ancient, hand-painted Peruvian dishes adorn the mantle in one of the class rooms. The bright pink fish in the pattern have a sort of Edward Everett Horton look about them and could easily have been the forerunner for all modern abstract art.

Tar Crew Edges Florida Southern; Wins State Championship Race

The Rollins crew came from behind to take a revenge victory last Saturday afternoon over a powerful Florida Southern shell and capture the annual Florida State Regatta, in what was one of the most exciting races ever seen on Lake Maitland.

From the start, Rollins trailed Southern half a boat length, then, no more than 15 strokes from the finish, the Tars opened up with a tremendous 41 count, (bamboo), to dramatically nip the Moccasins by less than three feet.

The times were 5:55 for Rollins and 5:55.8 for the losers, in fact so close was the finish that the cheering throngs on the shore weren't exactly sure who had won until the judges proclaimed Rollins the winner.

Dr. U. T. Bradley, who has witnessed many races in his 20 years as crew coach, called it "one of the greatest races I've ever seen." Undoubtedly his opinion is influenced by the fact that Rollins suffered a one-length loss to Southern at Lakeland earlier this year.

While the Tar varsity was subduing Southern, the Jay Vee's succumbed to a stronger Moccasin shell and at the same time closed out the season with a .428 average.

BOB LEADER HURLS 2-HITTER AS TAR NINE BLASTS STETSON 11-0

Bob Leader's two-hit hurling and Nick Vancho's five hits in five trips, proved too much for the Stetson Hatters, as the Tars took an 11-0 decision. This game was the first of a two-game series played in DeLand Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The Tars slammed Stetson starter, Lyn Booth, and two relief hurlers for 11 runs on 11 hits, aided by seven Hatter errors in the field. After scoring three runs in the opening frame, Rollins put the game on ice in the third by pounding across six more tallies.

BY ALLEE CHATHAM

On Monday you could tell by the happy expressions on the faces of Sara Jane and J. P. that volleyball season was being brought to a close. The final four games were played off that afternoon.

The results of the games:

Kappa over Gamma Phi: 44-33,

Theta over Alpha Phi: 46-24,

Indies over Phi Mu: 45-25,

Chi O over Pi Phi: 43-19.

The Thetas will be awarded the trophy as a result of an undefeated season.

Chatham

complete each hole and count every stroke.

Perhaps these, and a few other things, should have been explained more fully to the girls. Nevertheless, rules are to be followed and the violation of one is as bad as another.

This is not meant as a reflection on the office or the intramural board, but rather on the groups themselves.

We suggest that in the future all groups be considered as fairly under the spirit and written rules of the game as were the two groups which were disqualified. Golf is a game of sportsmanship and honor above all else. Let's keep it that way.

NETTERS TOP PRESBYTERIAN

The Rollins Tar tennis team dropped a high-ranking Presbyterian net squad 8-1 at Clinton, S. C., April 28. This was the second loss for Presbyterian in 15 starts and brought the Tars up for their important match of the trip against North Carolina.

Rollins won all doubles matches and lost their only point as Allen Morris remained undefeated this year by dropping Alfredo Millet; 6-3, 3-6, 7-5 in the number one singles match of the afternoon.

Other results: Dickson defeated Hunt, 6-3, 6-3. Scheer topped Toole in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1. Daniel won over Montgomery, 6-4, 9-7. Garcia defeated Bradley, 8-6, 6-0. Longshore defeated Thompson, 6-1, 9-7.

Talbot Set for hot grounder; "little man" als leads Tar batters

Talbot, "Old Reliable", Sparkplugs Tar's Infield

by Chuck Hartman

There's a hot grounder down to second, Talbot's up with it, the throw to first, and the batter is out. The Tars' little second-sacker is taken so much for granted that any ground ball hit to the right of the pitcher's mound is a sure out.

The little 5'8", 160 lb. man hails from Somerville, Mass., and has been around baseball quite a bit. His first glance at stardom came during his junior year in high school when he played second and hit 350 for a state champion team. In his two years on the Somerville High baseball squad he made the all-state team and was chosen to the New England all-Stars. Freddy, along with catcher Don Finnegan, played for a Legion team that went to the finals of the New England Tourney.

Freddy came to Rollins as a freshman in the fall of '51 and was quickly recognized as a great fielder and clutch hitter. This year, although little is ever heard from him, Freddy is the spark plug on one of Coach Justice's better nines. He leads the team in fielding, and second in the hitting department. From the looks of Talbot on the diamond here and in Auburn, Maine, where he plays ball during the summer, he is destined for a fine ball career.

ROLLINS GIRLS IN SPORTS DAY "COMPETITION"

On Saturday, May 4, 45 girls from Rollins and Stetson enjoyed a day of sports events at Stetson University.

Although the purpose of the meet was not to emphasize competition, but merely for fellowship and fun, the two colleges came out even in the events, each group winning two and halving the fifth contest.

The Rollins girls were outclassed 15-1 in the softball game by some very fancy Stetson hurling.

In the archery contest, Carolyn McCue and Mary Martin, shooting for Rollins, were defeated 349 to 313. Carolyn shot a 143 and Mary a 170.

Carmen Lampe and Nancy Corse, Florida State Doubles Champs, teamed up to bring victory on the tennis courts, as they won their match 6-1. Carmen also pulled in points in her singles match to the tune of 6-2. In a spirited volleyball game the Rollins girls came out on top 37-35 as they moved into the final contest of the afternoon.

In golf match, Marlene Stewart and Allee Chatham won their team match, while Barb Bremmerman and Mary Ann McDonald lost for the afternoon's lone split decision. Marlene shot a 37 for the best score of the day, winning her match as did Mary Ann.

This Sports Day, somewhat of a substitute for the regular State Play Day which was canceled this year, will be continued in future years for the purpose of promoting sportsmanship and athletics in general.

The Scoreboard

By CHUCK LAMBETH

Rollins Coach Joe Justice figures that if the Tars break even against the Gators this weekend, they will be able to claim another state title. The Tars won this championship in 1948-49-50. This year's edition is way ahead of the 1952 nine which ended up with a 17-14 record. That squad was made up mostly of freshmen and is the nucleus of this year's winning team.

Art Brophy and Bill Cary are slated to go against Florida Friday and Saturday, with Hutsell and Leader as probable starters in the final games of the year against Stetson here on May 11 and 12.

It has not yet been decided which of the two Tar hurlers will get the assignment the day the Gators throw their portside, Harry Coe, but that game will be a tough one after Coe beat the Tars in Gainesville two weekends ago. In addition to his feats on the hill which have ranked Coe with Bill Cary as the two top college moundsmen in the South, he will make the fifth .300 or better batter in the power-packed U. of F. lineup.

With five crews going into the final race of the Dad Vail Regatta Saturday afternoon, the Tar shell is set to enter the finals and is seeded second out of eight crews.

As the men's intramural softball season moves into the second half of the schedule, three clubs have narrowed down the field and are pointing toward first-place honors. At this time the K.A.s and the Delts are tied.

Intramural Swimmers Prepare To Splash; K.A.'s And X Club Predicted To Take Lead

The Intramural Board has released the final plans for the men's swim meet to be held Sunday, May 10, at 2 p.m. All entries for all events must be posted on the bulletin board at the dock at least 15 minutes before the first race.

The order of events is as follows:

- 50-yard dash
- 100-yard freestyle
- Diving (low board)
- 50-yard backstroke
- 50-yard breaststroke
- 220-yard freestyle
- 200-yard relay

The relay will consist of four contestants from each group.

HALL CHOSEN KA'S ROSE IN FLA. PROVINCE

Judy Hall, Rollins sophomore and a Pi Beta Phi, was selected by the Crawford Province of Kappa Alpha Order to represent the four Florida KA chapters in the national Rose of Kappa Alpha competition to be culminated in Dallas, Texas, September 1-4, with the crowning of a KA Queen.

Judy has been nominated beau-

ty queen twice before in campus competition. At the close of fall term she was Lambda Chi's choice for Tomokan Queen, and last month was the KA's winning candidate for Fiesta Queen.

Howard Locke, national Kappa Alpha president, with the national secretary, several province directors, and the membership of the Crawford Province chapters, met in Orlando for their "first convivial" last weekend.

Most of those attending took the opportunity to visit the Rollins campus.

Students Are Urged To Visit Library To See 2nd Floor Rollinsiana Exhibits

The attention of all Rollins College Seniors is called to an exhibit of Rollinsiana now showing in the second floor Exhibits Hall of Mills Memorial Library. This array of items from several sources has been labeled "Campus Tour". It has been designed to give the out-going graduates, and the alumni and other visitors to the library glimpses of the campus and its personalities with the factor of time withdrawn.

For the pioneer days of 1885 and later, a drawing of Dr. Hooker, the first president at Rollins, is being shown. The early catalogs with the first buildings around the Horseshoe, the purposes of the college, the early faculty and curricula are grouped to make those days seem as one unit.

Other items are "Tomokan Dedications". Here are shown in a small group, a few of the early leaders.

Lucy Cross, for whom the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority house is named, is shown with a garden. She is credited with the desire for a college in Florida, which was the beginning of Rollins.

The Tomokan, first published in 1917, was named by the Editor-in-chief, A. J. Hanna from the old historic Indian name for the peninsula of Florida.

CAMPUS BUGLER, PHOTOGRAPHER ALSO EXCELLS IN RADIO WORK

Dan Matthews, assistant program manager at WPRK-FM, has an active interest in radio work. Since the Rollins station first went on the air back in December, sophomore Matthews has been a regular member of the staff. Before he became assistant program director, he was an announcer on the WPRK staff, and after that gave double service as an announcer and control operator.

Dan is now the assistant to Instructor Bey Aycrigg, program director, and besides arranging program schedules at WPRK, his job includes managing such things as correspondence with other radio stations. Dan was also a delegate along with Instructor Ben Aycrigg, to the National Association of Educational Broadcasters' Convention which was held for two days at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Dan has been a prominent figure on campus as the "Bugler", and as a photographer for the Sandspur; not to mention his election to the Vice-Presidency of the Rollins College Student Association this spring.
