Group Sets New Precedent Who's Who Nominations

Original Committee Suggests Changes;
U-I Movie Films Scheduled
Thank You Note Is Sent Stetson

by Meredith Nail

Sandspur Student Council Reporter

The Who's Who Committee, appointed by Student Council two weeks ago met last Wednesday with the two student deans and decided to change the nominating committee from three seniors and two juniors to an anonymous group of five juniors with the two student deans acting as non-voting advisors.

An anonymous committee was then appointed by Council President, Hal Broda, and met later in the week to nominate a group of nine senior to represent Rollins in "Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities." The final election will be announced sometime in December by the National Committee.

Nine student movies were announced by Dick Lesnenki, chairman of the Student Movies Committee. Dick stated, "the movies will be released by Univers International.

CHAPEL TO HOLD VESPER SERVICE OF 400 SCOUTS

"Love" will be the subject of an inspirational address Sunday afternoon at the Chapel, when some 400 Winter Park Girl Scouts, their families and friends meet at vesper services.

Mrs. Mary Murray Curlin, representing the Christian Science Society of Winter Park will be the speaker at the service which will be held at 3:30 p.m.

The vesper service is held annually by the Winter Park Girl Scout Council on the Sunday preceding the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts.

Members of the community service division of the Rollins Chapel Committee, Diane Herblin, president, will be available after the service as guide for visitors who may wish to see the Rollins Campus.

Bits 'O News

Malcolm Scott, admissions counselor, traveled to Connecticut last week to visit secondary schools.

Marcia Mattox, Editor of the Tomokan, was elected Chairman of the Publications Union last week. Ray McMullin, Sandspur Business Manager, will serve as Secretary of the group.

Choir director Hufstader was the guest speaker at the opening tea of the Orlando Music Club Wednesday, October 14.

Members of the senior class met Tuesday afternoon to elect class officers.

The officers are:

Ray McMullin, president
Don Webber, vice-president.
Marilyn Shinton, sec-treas.

of appreciation to Mr. W. C. Cowell, director of athletics at Stetson University, for giving the Rollins students the opportunity to attend the Stetson-Tampa football game in Orlando last Saturday.

Groundbreaking Takes Place For Hospital

Tuesday morning marked the day of the groundbreaking for the new 50-bed Winter Park Hospital, a project started by the community two and a half years ago.

During this time, the sum of a million and a half dollars was raised to build the hospital, so urgently needed in Winter Park.

The students of Rollins College participated in this drive last year by sponsoring projects to raise money for the building fund. The men of Sigma Nu canvassed the city, in teams of two, for donations to this project.

The canvassing, in which the whole fraternity participated, took a week and resulted in the raising of over $4,000. All proceeds from a Sandspur-sponsored basketball game and a Chapel Staff dance went towards the fund drive.

Dean Darrah pronounced the invocation and benediction at the groundbreaking ceremony.

Construction of the hospital will begin about the middle of next week.

Race Relations-IRC Hear Principal Otey List Library Needs

Race Relations Committees in conjunction with International Relations, held a joint meeting last Tuesday evening. As guest speaker, Mr. Otey, principal of the Hungerford High School, outlined his school library's particular needs in view of the forthcoming Race Relations Book Drive.

In Race Relations previous meeting committees for the drive were appointed by President Louis Fusaro. The project has been postponed until December to enable the winter tourist population to contribute. At that time all the Chapel Committees will set aside one or two nights to canvass the entire town of Winter Park, gathering books for the library of the Hungerford school.

The plan was first conceived last year when an inspection tour of the High School revealed the defi-

The Race Relations and International Relations groups are sponsored by the Chapel Staff, as is the Community Service Club, which also held its meeting Tuesday for all entering students interested in its projects.

BENEFACTOR OF COLLEGE CRITICALLY ILL

Rollins College has received word that Mrs. Frances Knowles Warren, trustee and benefactor of the College, is in critical condition at the Deaconist Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, where she was admitted last Friday after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Warren has not only been a prominent figure in the life of the community and College, but has also devoted her time and money towards the improvement of the campus.

She has given to the College the Knowles Memorial Chapel, the Student Center, the Administration Building as well as redecorating Pinehurst when it first was converted into a freshman girls dorm in 1950.

Mrs. Warren spent her early childhood in Worcester, Massachusetts, and after her marriage to George E. Warren, resided in Boston. Her father, Francis Bangs Knowles, was among the founders and original trustees of the College.

For her many years of unselfish and faithful work, she was awarded the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion in 1943. In nominating Mrs. Warren for the Medallion, Dr. Henry M. Edmonds, then dean of the Chapel, stressed that the citation was "not to emphasize mere intellectual achievement, professional ability, financial or social success, but is in recognition of the finer qualities of mind and heart."

Student Music Guild Picks Diane Herblin As 1953-1954 Prexy

Diane Herblin was named the new president of the Student Music Guild at the club's election held last Friday. Other officers include Ann Palmer, vice-president; Jeanne Newton, secretary; Dewey Anderson, treasurer; and Mary Marsh, publicity.

Plans were made for the annual Evening of Music, the date of which will be announced later. Other projects discussed were concerts for the benefit of the new conservatory building fund and a musical, produced in connection with the Theatre Arts department.

Meetings will be held in Dyer Hall every other Friday afternoon at 4:45. Dues are $1.50 a year.

All interested students are invited to attend.

New Station, WABR Planned For Winter Park

New AM Radio Station Expected By '54;
To Be Headed By Wolf and Fellows
Wolf Urges Student Participation

By the first of the year, Winter Park will have a new 1,000 watt independent radio station, WABR.

Charles Wolf, president of the Orange County Broadcasters, Inc. and manager of the station, announced that WABR would be ready for operation as soon as technical equipment can be delivered.

Richard Fellows, who previously worked with station WROD in Daytona and was television engineer with WMBR-TV in Jacksonville, has been appointed program director of WABR.

TWO EGYPTIAN TEACHERS WILL VISIT CAMPUS

Two outstanding Egyptian scholars were scheduled to visit Rollins College this week.

They are Dr. Mohamed el-Bahay, the controller general of the Islamic cultural research department of Al Azhar University, Cairo; and Prof. Mohammad Khalafallah, dean of the faculty of arts and head of Arabic and oriental languages department, of Alexandria University and member of Egypt's University Reform committee.

The visitors will confer with faculty and students on international affairs, history and political science. Dr. Rhea Smith is in charge of arrangements.

The two educators came to the United States to attend the Colloquium on Islamic culture jointly sponsored by the Library of Congress and Princeton University.

The Middle East Institute in Washington is arranging post-colloquium visits for the assemblage of Muslim personalities who attended the conference.

Ten Rollins Students Conduct Sewer Survey As Pol. Sci. Project

Ten Rollins students under the guidance of Dr. Frank Johnson, political science professor, and Ray Miller, Winter Park city manager, are conducting a sewer survey in Winter Park.

Residents of the southwest and northwest sections are being questioned by the students regarding whether or not they wish the city to lay new sewer lines and, if so, are they willing to pay for them.

Areas being studied are (1) Orlando, Harmon, Wisconsin, and Minnesota Avenues and (2) Pennsylvania, Canton, Cherokee, and Webster Avenues.

The survey will be concluded about the end of November, Dr. Johnson said.

Students are making no effort to influence property owners, Prof. Johnson pointed out. Working on the project are Don Anderson, Candidates for editor of the 1954 "R" Book must have their letters of application in to the Publications Union by noon, Monday, October 26. The necessary qualifications are listed in the 1953 edition of the freshman handbook. The election for editor will be held next week at the same time as the freshman class elections.

Frances Draffan, Don Finnigan, Louis Fusaro, William Helprin, Louis Ingram, Bruce Lee, William Pautler, Ralph Tomlin and Bud Reich.

The new radio station will have the highest fidelity sound equipment manufactured besides having one of the finest and most extensive music laboratories in the state. WABR will also have complete news coverage and other programs of interest.

Mr. Wolf, who has been in business management in Florida for 15 years, indicated that the station would be very much interested in any Rollins students who could fit in its program.

He said, "We believe this will both benefit the students and the radio station, and we would like to cooperate with them in any way."

At present, plans for the radio site are being negotiated.

WIFE OF FORMER MUSIC DIRECTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Harvey Woodruff, the wife of the former director of the Rollins Conservatory of Music, died Saturday morning, October 17, in Charlotte, North Carolina, following the birth of her second child, Deborah Lee.

Before coming to Winter Park with her husband in 1949, Mrs. Woodruff was director of the Calvary Baptist Church in Hopewell, New Jersey. Both she and her husband are graduates of the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey.

While in Winter Park Mr. Woodruff, as well as being head of the Conservatory, was the Chapel choir director and director of the Bach Festival. His wife gave private lessons in voice to pupils. Both were active in music circles in this area.

In 1952 Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff moved to Charlotte, N. C., where he is director of the choir of Myers Park Baptist Church.

Dr. E. Saffenreuther Visits From Germany

Dr. Elfriede Saffenreuther, a West German schoolteacher, visited the Rollins College Campus last week.

After being welcomed to the campus by Dean Edwin R. Walker, Dr. Saffenreuther visited Prof. Nina Dean's English class and James Russell's class in Psychology.

Informal meetings with Prof. Klaus Wolff, also a native of Germany, and Rudolph Fischer, professor of German, were arranged for the visitor.

THE OLD SQUEEZE PLAY

With the coming of a new AM radio station to Winter Park, the administration has become the unsuspecting victim of a good old-fashioned squeeze play.

Mr. Charles Wolf, manager of WARB, has stated that he hopes that his new station will begin operations by the first of the year. He then went on to say, "We would be very much interested in any students who could fit into our personnel problem."

So now the administration is faced with the following problems:

1) The Rollins radio station WPRK has not returned to the air.

2) Students who have participated in running WPRK in the past and new students, who came to Rollins with the hopes of working in Radio, are looking for openings in that field.

3) WPRK is an FM station, with no method of reaching the students who have special radios, while WARB will be AM and anyone can listen to it.

4) WPRK does not offer any compensation for a student's labors while WARB will be able to reward the students for their work.

It can be safe to assume that the students will not stick with WPRK when the station's future is unsure and when they have to work for nothing. If a student can be paid for his training while still in school, he will accept an outside job first, last and always. He would be foolish not to.

The administration now not only has to worry about reopening WPRK and about FM reception for the campus, it now has to worry about whether or not students can be found to run the students' radio station.

CONGRATULATIONS VLADI

A story about Vladimir Korol, Displaced Person, appeared in the Sandspur last week. Vladimir received word Monday that he is no longer a D. P. For the first time in his life he belongs to a country.

The staff of this newspaper, along with the student body wish to congratulate him on obtaining his citizenship. We are sure the United States will have one more citizen who stands for liberty and justice, and we are just as sure that Vladimir is very happy and proud to belong to this country.

The Chapel Tower

T. S. Darrah

Thomas Huxley wasn't much of a church-goer, but even though he had little sympathy for chronically religious people, he had even less for those whose unconventionalality was in bad taste. He was once dining at a country house as the guest of honor. His hostess made a bid for his favor by telling him that on the previous Sunday she got up and walked out of church when the creed was recited, in order to show that she did not believe it.

Darrah

"Now, Mr. Huxley, don't you think I was quite right to mark my disapproval?" "My dear lady—," he replied, "I should as soon think of rising and leaving your table because I disapproved of one of the entrees."

Dean Sperry tells this story and concludes that sometimes we confuse bad manners with freedom and poor taste with being emancipated.

The Big Squeeze

World News In Brief

Every since the super-bomb explosion in the Soviet last August, top government officials have been trying to get the lowdown so that they can explain it, not only to themselves, but also to the public.

As it stands now, A-bombs are possessed by Russia along with the ability to deliver them. It is doubted, however, whether the Soviet possesses the H-bomb, the so-called thermonuclear bomb.

The explosion in Russia last August was of the H-bomb type but it is estimated that the time from the initial explosion to actual bomb production may take three years.

Looking at the Bomb situation from the U. S. angle, the race seems to be better balanced.

We possess A-bombs in abundance and we can also plaster the Soviet with them almost at will. Our bombers are based close enough to Russia's vitals to strike devastating blows in but a few hours.

To top it off, the U. S. staged its first H-bomb explosion two years ago, leading us to the assumption that we are two years ahead of the Russians in armaments of that kind.

The conclusions that can be drawn from these facts are:

1) The United States, being heavily armed with A-bombs and the various means of employing them, will not strike unless it is attacked.

2) Russia, behind in the armament race will not dare attack first for fear of frightful retaliation which would occur almost immediately. In other words, the United States is trying to avoid another Pearl Harbor by being so strong that the enemy will be afraid to start aggressive actions.

3) Atomic wars seem to becoming more and more remote as both sides grow stronger in atomic power. There can be no denying the terrible destructive power in the A-bomb's blast and neither the U. S. nor the Soviet is willing to start such destruction.

4) This does not mean that there will not be little wars, on the contrary, they will undoubtedly crop up along with their cousin ideological warfare. The present hope of the U. S. is that the people of the world will favor freedom over slavery.

MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE

University of Oklahoma students have found an easy way to get extra football tickets—but they've also been caught using it.

They've been pairing up as "married" couples to get an extra season ticket for the "wife" or "husband". Then they've been scalping the luckless non-students. Another approach is being taken by legally married students who are both in school; they found they could get four tickets by applying separately.

Discovery of the system has started a lot of back-checking. "Some of the students who were 'married' have addresses of men's housing units or fraternity houses," said the director of registrations.

'ROUND ROLLINS

by Louis Ingram

What do you expect to have when you come out of the cocoon? Will your four years at college have yielded to you results in proportion to your tuition? Why have you entered college in the first place?

Education is a never ending process, and as long as we participate in it we may be considered alive; but as soon as we turn our back on it, then one might as well hang a wreath on our nose—for we are dead from the neck up.

The part of education we receive in college is an assembled body of knowledge together with a desire for more—we hope. But there is more to college life than just the classroom work and possible inspiration. The rest is living. Living, with all its complications, its responsibilities, its emptiness, its annoyances, and its tribulations.

The "catalogue" suggests that examinations are minimized at Rollins, but each day each student undergoes the hardest examination of all. The exam which everybody else administers on exhausting subject. The score is only relative to each person's willingness to do better, but the exam goes on in spite of the catalogue, and the tests are made on an adult level.

We are in college now, and there is no reason to do high-schoolish stunts. "Sophomoric" humor and vandalism are passe. I, for one, can see no reason for pushing a school bus into a railroad track and spilling beer in it. This couldn't have been done by college students, although culprits might be enrolled here. There is something wrong with a moral code which shrugs off this type of prank. I hope that whoever was involved in this example of childishness has the manliness and the "guts" to admit it. If they don't, they're not ready for college and they are certainly not ready to take their place among the living.

Integrity is a mark of living education. Each person here, by being fair and square with himself, can set a good example for the whole group. And the college as an institution owes it to the students to be a leading light in setting this example, for no man falls more short of the living than he who has turned his back on truth.

We were led to believe last year that all new pros would have the "conference plan" explained to them by some administrator of the college. We have it on fairly good authority that this has not been done. In the past, the students have enjoyed at least some of the benefits of the conference plan, and the college still retains this institution as lure to new students. We feel that it should either be scrapped officially or clearly reinstated.

Dr. Irvin Stock Concludes After-Chapel Club Talk

by Sidney Kromer

The fact that both the religious man and the atheist must come to a common agreement about God was one of many points discussed at the After-Chapel Club Sunday. The discussion, led by Professor Irvin Stock, was the conclusion of the topic, "The Religiousness of Literature," started by Dr. Stock last Sunday.

Dr. Stock informed the group that religion can be defined in terms of two basic things, relationship of man to man and man to God.

When asked by the atheist to translate the meaning of God, Dr. Stock stated that the religious man explains that God is the totality of the entire universe; he is reality, he is the whole. In interpreting God to the atheist, the religious man explains that "man proposes and God disposes."

In discussing the main topic, "The Religiousness of Literature," Dr. Stock posed the question, "In what sense can fiction be true?" This was answered by stating that even though the story were fictitious, given the same circumstances in real life, it might happen that way. Dr. Stock pointed out the fact that imagination perceives what is in us. When a novelist writes a story he shows the connections of life, how we are related to each other.

The group then discussed the question, "Since the novelist writes about truth, why is he concerned with morality?" The conclusion was that the novelist cannot deal with human beings without dealing with moral problems and inviting man to learn what is really good and what is bad. If the writer shows the truth he must imply moral judgment.

The reason writers often shock readers with their writings was discussed. Dr. Stock believes that novelists tend to make men face reality. What they show is painful but man must consent to learn things he didn't know before.

The After-Chapel Club will not meet next week but will resume meetings the first Sunday in November when Dean Walker will lead the discussion.

FRENCH EXCHANGE STUDENT STUDIES ENGLISH AT ROLLINS

By Skip Carpenter

Although there is no real exchange set-up, every year the Baroness van Boecup and many students studying French put on a show called "The French Festival" which takes place in March. The students make their own costumes and sets, and present it in the Annie Russell Theatre. The proceeds are then put aside until the Baroness finds a student in France whose main desire is that of education, and sends him or her to Rollins for one year. This can also work for an American student wanting to complete his education in Europe. Our French student this year is Arlette Girault.

Arlette had always dreamed of coming over to the United States. Even as late as July, she had not the faintest idea that in September she would be in an American college. In Geneva, in late July, Arlette met the Baroness through a mutual friend and shortly afterward was preparing to come to America.

Born in La Harve, Arlette traveled little until her trip to the United States. Her first introduction to English came in her junior year in high school. She went on to the British Institute of Paris where she continued her studies, and graduated with a C.P.E. (Certificate of Proficiency in English).

It was the "Ile de France" that brought her here. About the trip and Rollins she says:

"The trip was very rough due to the hurricane that passed by us. As we neared New York, we came upon a disabled cargo ship and took its crew aboard. Since my train left shortly after we docked, I could only spend an hour, 'window shopping' on Fifth Avenue. This is all I saw of New York. A day later I arrived at Rollins."

She continued, saying:

"I was a little frightened, but soon grew used to everybody and now I look forward to a wonderful year at Rollins."

ROLLINS DORM HEADS RENDER GREAT SERVICE

Here we are well along in the third week of school! It seems like ages since leaving home, sweet—Any of you homesick? Maybe just miss Mom a little? Let's face it. Everyone does, except some of the more rugged individuals of the Freshman class.

Mothers are darned nice to have around, and so are our house-mother's touch. That "touch" keeps our houses running smoothly and helps us with our little problems.

"I can't make class, Ma, cause I'm sick." (of hearing the alarm clock)

Once in a while the house-mother has to use the conference plan with some of the more "spirited" among us. We can all appreciate that. They really do a grand job in our dorms.

Many of us know very few of the resident heads outside our own dorms. Yet even the extreme introvert (and incidentally, this creature is extinct at Rollins) would have frequent occasion to visit the other dormitories.

We should all get to know the housemothers. Meet them and chat with them when the opportunity presents itself. That is one of the advantages here—the familiarity we all share.

Students of all denominations are cordially invited to the College and Career Group meeting this Sunday evening, 5:00-7:15, at the Methodist Church. Folk games will be followed by supper and a short program.

Let's take our hats off to the housemothers—show them we really do appreciate their work!

"FACE" ON BASS

by Dick McFarlain

Those of you who were fortunate enough to get up early after Saturday's dance and had the conscience that led you to Chapel were rewarded musically by the voice of Jeanne Newton. Jeannie sang "Oh Praise The Lord" by Mozart. Even the occasional harsh rasps from the men's section of the choir could not alter the beauty of Jeanne's performance.

If anyone should have happened to pass by Hooker Hall during the past week they no doubt heard a most sublime from the trumpet playing. Though it may disillusion many of you, "I think it best to inform all readers that it is not the famous "Count Crush". Unfortunately as it may seem to the lover of perfect and divine trumpet playing the "Count" has retired from his horn and has now gone into a theatrical career. The cool sound came instead from only a mundane recorder played by one of the "Count's" contemporaries, Maynard Ferguson. The record belongs to that connoisseur of fine jazz, Mr. R. Buck.

Mr. Buck incidentally, is responsible for the musical highlight of October. He had a group of fine musicians, led by the inimitable "Bird Eye" brought to Rollins at considerable expense for a brief but very warm session. With this fine aggregation was the famous "Iron Jaw", a person who has the enviable talent of being able to pick up heavy tables with his teeth, and then swing and dance around the room, twirling the table from his jaw. Most unusual! Missing from the group of performers was the famous drummer, Jessie Price, who is currently away on extended business for the state.

Another group around campus had an outstanding singer Sunday night. She was a large, rather well-built person whose voice would occasionally crack when she dwelt too long on the higher notes of her fabulous range. After she sang, her talent was further shown when she played a rather crazy xylophone for dancing pleasure.

I was told the other day that Harrison Kirk Chauncey, famed head of the Fiesta Committee would be very happy to receive advice on the selection of the band for the Fiesta. Mr. Chauncey was chosen because it was pretty certain that he would keep the Fiesta from being a Fiasco, but he isn't too positive on his taste in music. (Rumor has it that he wants to have Toscanini down).

The Student Music Guild has elected a new president in Diane Herblin. Diane took over the leadership from John Phillips who did a very capable job.

FRANCES SLATER

Biggest news on the social calendar of the past weekend was the Phi Mu-KA dance which was held in and out of the rain at Dubsdread Saturday night. K. A's, in "old southern gentlemen" regalia, made the dance stand out as something new and different. George Longshore couldn't turn his head all evening because of his stiff "dickie" and Skillman Suydam wore his tee shirt under the coat—obviously the costumes will never become the rage again.

Arthur Murray Greenfield was seen leading the students in the "hunny hop", and later cutting a wicked rug with his wife, to the enjoyment of all spectators. Once he was heard to say "I'm too old for this!"—and in the next breath—"The trouble with me is, I haven't been out of college long enough!" A sociological inconsistency!

Several parties started the weekend with a bang on Friday. The Chi O's had a "real gone picnic", with Diane Herblin's accordion playing adding to the "crazy mixed-up good time."

Unfortunately this was another "lost" Pelican weekend. The Phi Mu's had the undisputed worst luck for the week in drawing their Pelican and dance for the same weekend.

The K A's seemed to be blessed with endless energy this weekend, as they followed their dance by the annual open house. Threatening weather didn't cut the crowd, as guests danced to the music of a combo in the patio, and enjoyed punch and cookies obligingly served by Skip Voelkel and Julian Cunningham, in costume for another night. When the orchestra left, students took over with Frank Underwood, Harvey Pyllant, and Pete Adams as pianist, drummer and vocalist.

We're all seeing new faces on campus every day, even though college is well underway. "Stretch" Bartel was thoroughly embarrassed one evening because she couldn't remember a face. Don Weber introduced Ray McMullin to her as a "new student, just arrived." Stretch proceeded to play the part of a friendly Rollins student, and took Ray to the Sandspur office where she introduced him to the staff. Fifteen long minutes later someone told her that Ray happened to be a senior—Stretch!

Congratulations are in order to the newly elected Theta officers: Allee Chatham, President; Carol Farquharson, Vice President, Joan Mack, Recording Secretary; and to Sara Whitten who is leaving soon to be married.

And right on up the social ladder we find: A pledging; Abdy Taheri, Lambda Chi; a pinning; Jane Smith, Alpha Phi '54—Elwood Stanley, X Club '56; and engagement; Pat McCord, Pi Phi '55—Jerry Billings, SAE Miami U.; and a wedding; Ginny Harwood, Chi O '56—Dick Bush, NYU.

George Milan Travels to England With Experiment in International Living Team

by George Milan

Four years ago while in preparatory school, I happened to see a film distributed by the Experiment in International Living on student travel. Last summer I was eligible to go abroad. With a group of nine Americans, I sailed from Quebec, Canada, to Southampton, England, planning to spend two months with an English family. The voyage took approximately nine days, and much of the time was devoted to morning and afternoon classes introducing us to the life and culture of England.

Upon our arrival in Southampton we were met at the pier by Miss Monica Moody, the Reading representative for the Experiment in International Living, who escorted us to the London train. From London the group went to Reading, which is located thirty miles from London in Berkshire county. We were greeted at the station by a number of English families who were waiting to take home the individuals assigned to them.

During the first two weeks the Experiment group took part in the activities of the Reading International Youth Fortnight, activities which were attended by the young people of ten countries. We made trips to London, Windsor Castle, Oxford and many other places. At night, dances and other social gatherings were held in halls and public parks.

Several times we attended parties given by our Reading hosts. Our entertainment also included the traditional British sport of cricket, which the American part of the group never quite managed to grasp.

The last month was spent cycling along the south coast of England and staying in Youth Hotels at night. The group was very fortunate to have good weather, as well as new bicycles, which were given to them by the Phillips Cycle Company of England.

However, as on any long distance cycling trip, there was plenty of excitement ranging from the usual tire punctures to brakes that wouldn't function while going down steep grades. On one occasion, a few miles out from a small town, the group was coming down a steep hill in the rain when the brakes on one girl's bicycle gave way. She rang her bell frantically, shrieking to everyone in front to clear the road. In no time she had passed us weaving in and out, gathering more momentum every second. Giving up the brakes, she tried running into the embankment. This only threw her back on the road, where she side-swiped a car and passed four others on the way down. At last she was stopped in the city by a policeman—for speeding!

The cycling trip along the southern coast ended at Bigbury, where the group left by bus to attend the Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama. During our week's stay the nightly programs ranged from HAMLET, given by the Old Vic Company, to THE RAKE'S PROGRESS, a new opera. During the day, visits were made to Edinburgh Castle, St. Giles Cathedral, and other interesting historical landmarks around Edinburgh.

Over this period of time the Americans and the English had grown very fond of each other, and the departure wasn't easy. We had grown to realize that people are not much different from each other when oceans divide them.

Delta Chi Drops Independents 30 to 0 In Intramural Football Season's Opener

by Ken Meiser

Delta Chi kicked off the 1953 intramural football season by swamping the Independent Men 30 to 0 at the Sandspur Bowl this Monday, October 19. Don Anderson sparked the offense for the winners by passing for three touchdowns and scoring the other two.

The Indie team, composed entirely of entering men, were handicapped by their lack of knowledge of touch football as "played" at Rollins. During the last half they were better organized and held the Deltas to one marker.

The Deltas scored their first touchdown after four minutes of the first half, as a series of power plays ended in a ten yard pass from Anderson to Jidge Wood. The point-after-touchdown attempt by Sid Katz went wide.

Minutes later Anderson, helped by a strong Delt line, bulled his way through the center for thirty yards and another score. The extra point try was again wide.

The Indies gambled on fourth down late in the first half. Bill Fathauer, Indie captain, threw a long pass that Anderson intercepted at mid-field. After grabbing the pass, he moved down the field and crossed the final stripe, untouched. For variety, Katz tried a pass for the P.A.T. It was knocked down by the Indies' defensive backfield.

The Indies were again held on downs and the Deltas took over on their opponents' thirty yard line. Two plays later Anderson threw a long one over the goal line, where the ball was bobbled around and finally fell into the out-stretched hands of Gerry Sprayregen. The score stood at half time, Delta Chi 24, Indies 0.

In the opening minutes of the second half the Deltas, on a series of power plays, worked the ball down to the Indies' four yard line. The Indie line, led by Pete Adams and Ross Fleischman, held for three downs, but a pass from Anderson to Sipprell resulted in the final score of the game.

The Indies showed a lot of spark during the rest of the game and almost scored, but time ran out with the final tally reading 30 to 0.

The Scoreboard

By CHUCK LAMBETH

The Student Council expressed the student opinion Monday night that intercollegiate touch football is not feasible for Rollins College. While the vote was not unanimous, it should express the general opinion of the students to the Athletic Office and the Intramural Board.

Still a problem remains; what to do about the fall athletic slump. Every group decided that it didn't want touch football on that basis, but no person has solved this more basic problem.

In the past such ideas as intercollegiate soccer, intercollegiate track, and a field day have been suggested, but none has gone past the stage of an idea.

If anyone has a plan, other than the impossibility of "big time" football, they could do a great service to the student body and the administration by presenting the details to council.

Last week Frank Thompson was appointed as student representative to the Faculty Board on Intercollegiate Athletics.

Although he is an ex-officio member of the board, he has privileges of the floor, and is the man to present student opinions on such problems as scheduling of events and attempts to more thoroughly publicize these contests.

Lambeth

This column wishes to add its thanks to those of the Council in approving the gesture of W. C. Coverall, Director of Athletics at Stetson University, which allowed Rollins students to attend last Saturday's Stetson-Tampa football game.

Dan Nyimicz, new Tar coach, has been drilling the club on fundamentals, emphasizing a fast break offense; and making the boys want to enforce their training rules. In the words of some of the players, "the boys who want to play ball are taking it, the others are just dragging themselves off the court."

A new era has hit Tar basketball; and golf.

The two freshmen teams elected captains this week. Joy Herbert will pilot the "Spurs" and Sandy Taylor will lead the "Sands." Both of the girls will serve on the Intramural Board for the duration of the basketball season.

The Florida Women's State Volleyball Tournament will be held this year at St. Petersburg, November 13 and 14. Last year, our team lost out in the first two rounds of the double elimination tournament. This tournament is never held during our season while the other teams are playing regular schedules.

There will be a meeting Friday at 1:30 of all girls interested in trying out for the team and making the trip to St. Petersburg.

***

All timers and scorers for the basketball games will meet in the Phys. Ed. office on Monday at 1:30 for a very important meeting to discuss the new rules. It is imperative that all timers and scorers come.

Jo Davis In Skier's Salute

Cypress Gardens' Jo Davis Joins Tar Water Ski Team

Jo Davis, one of the most promising water skiers at Cypress Gardens, has entered Rollins this fall as a freshman. Jo, who hails from Sarasota, Florida, has been skiing for only three years, which makes her a comparative newcomer to the sport.

She first went up on skis at Cypress Gardens, where her uncle is manager. Her first instructor was Pete Fay, Rollins alumni, and one of the finest skiers in Florida. For the past two summers Jo has worked at the Gardens, where she skied in the shows and modeled pre Civil War dresses for the visitors. She also made an appearance as an extra in the movie, "Easy To Love", starring Esther Williams, which was filmed in Winter Haven.

This past summer was most rewarding for Jo as she received the "Most Progressive Water Skier" trophy, which is given every summer at the gardens. She also appeared in several movies made for television companies.

Jo finished high school at Gulf Park Junior College at Gulfport, Mississippi, where she helped teach the water-ski classes.

Right now she is working hard to make the woman's ski team here at Rollins. This team competes in various intercollegiate matches. Last year's aggregation came in second in the Florida Intercollegiate Meet. The men's team regained their title at the same meet.

INTRA-M BOARD HOLDS MEETING TO DISCUSS FOOTBALL REFEREES

A special meeting of the Intramural Board was called on Monday afternoon in the Athletic Office. The main business of the meeting was a discussion of the referee problem in intramural football, the first game of which was held that afternoon.

It was decided that each group which is scheduled to supply referees for a certain day must post the name of its official with the Athletic Office the morning of the game. It was also suggested that the Head Linesman in each contest make his calls from the north side of the field, so that the competing teams will not be confused by the crowds on the south sideline.

The Board also decided that, with the approval of the Dean of Men, the X Club will be allowed to use one of their men who is on probation.

Before adjourning, the group voted to strike from the Intramural Handbook sections six and seven on page eleven.

KA OPEN HOUSE CONTINUATION OF TRADITION

The Kappa Alphas continued the tradition of their All College Open House last Sunday evening.

Greeting guests at the door, in old south style were Julian Cunningham and Skip Voelkel dressed and blackfaced as young negro boys. The rest of the K A's were formally dressed and wore a band of gold and crimson under their white coats.

Entertainment was provided by a band, the Smoothies from Winter Park. The band leader, dressed as a woman, did a rousing take off of "A Good Man is Hard to Find."

The K A's also held a tour of their house for all those interested.

Refreshments were served by the group.

ART STUDENT EARNS PRIZE IN SCULPTURE

A Portrait sculpture created by Charlotte Colby Danly, won a second prize of $30 in the Senior Student division of the Indiana State Fair last September. The piece was judged on originality, beauty, and craftsmanship.

Charlotte's statuette, the second piece of sculpturing she had ever attempted, portrays a youthful, innocent girl. It was made in Miss Constance Ortmyer's Art Class last year where each student was required to create one portrait statue. Charlotte voluntarily created this second one in two weeks time.

She had no idea of ever entering her statuette in competition until this summer, when numerous people convinced her of its value.

The Rollins students will have a chance to see her figure in the Student Art exhibit sometime later this year.
