ROLLINS ELECTS SIX TRUSTEES

F. Monroe Alleman

Coulter Craig

J. Roy Dickie

Dr. George Opdyke

Alleman, Craig, Mills, Dickie, Opdyke, and Wadmond Join Board

Rollins College has elected six new members to the Board of Trustees, Chairman Winthrop Bancroft, of Jacksonville, announced today.

They include F. Monroe Alleman, Orlando investment banker; William B. Mills, Jacksonville attorney; Lowell C. Wadmond, New York, president of Metropolitan Opera Association; J. Roy Dickie, Pittsburgh attorney; Dr. George H. Opdyke, Winter Park, mining engineer; and Coulter Craig, Winter Park, former duPont executive.

Alleman, who has been interested in Rollins for many years, was instrumental in putting through the college's refinancing program five years ago. He is president of Leedy, Wheeler, Alleman Inc., chairman of the board of Central Title and Trust Co., and president of F. Monroe Alleman Inc., real estate holding company of Orlando.

Wadmond, an attorney, besides being one of the most influential men in New York music circles, served as chairman of the executive committee of the National Republic Club from 1943 to 1947.

Dickie, a distinguished Pittsburgh attorney, now lives in Winter Park. Before retiring, he was a member of the law firm of Dickie, Robinson, and McCamey. He also had served as president of the Board of Education, Pittsburgh; as trustee of Carnegie Institute, and is a past president of the International Association of Insurance Counsel.

Colonel Craig, now a resident of Winter Park, has behind him a long career as a construction engineer. He also served in the Ordnance Department of the U. S. Army and in an executive capacity with the duPont Company.

Dr. Opdyke, for a number of years a resident of Winter Park, was both a mining engineer and author. For ten years prior to his retirement in 1930, he was closely interested, as a petroleum geologist, in oil development in the Southwest. He has published two books, "Worlds Best Proverbs" and "Art and Nature Appreciation."

Son Of Rollins Professor Wins Rhodes Scholarship

By Mary Ann Norton

Simpson Bobo Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Dean of Sanford, is the first central Floridian since 1932 to win one of the coveted world-wide known Rhodes Scholarships.

The twenty-one year old Yale University senior made his application from Florida as a legal resident of Sanford. The application was reviewed by the Florida committee consisting of four former Rhodes scholars under the chairmanship of Hugh McKean.

Dean appeared before the five in Winter Park on November 19. He and one other were chosen to represent Florida in the district competition which was held December 12, in Spartanburg, South Carolina. Upon learning of his success, Bobo wired his eagerly awaiting parents merely, "won".

Young Dean attended Sanford junior high schools and Phillips Exeter prep school in New England, and is finishing his final year at Yale as an American History major. Bobo, after studying in the Rollins library during vacations, commented that our collection of Floridiana is one of the best in the country.

At school, Dean is kept occupied with such duties and honors as: class orator, senior editor of the Literary Magazine, president of the Aurelian Honor Society, vice-president of the Elizabethan Club, member of the varsity debating team, and his father's social fraternity, Zeta Psi. He won the Gardner White Trophy award for the best speaker in the Speaker's Union.

Bobo after applying for entrance at Christ Church College in England, will leave in October of 1954, along with thirty-two other winners, for a two years stay.

Rolland Dean, Bobo's father and a Yale graduate, until last spring was editor and publisher of the Sanford Herald, and now is associate editor of the Orlando Sentinel. Nina Oliver Dean, his mother, is professor of English Literature at Rollins.

HOWARD CLINE VISITS ROLLINS

Dr. Howard Cline, Director of the Hispanic Foundation of the Library of Congress, will visit Rollins College on Friday and Saturday of this week. Dr. Cline has just returned from Haiti where he was a guest of the Haitian government during their 150th anniversary celebration.

Both students and professors will have an opportunity to confer with Dr. Cline during his stay at Rollins; meetings with students being scheduled for Saturday morning.

Dr. Cline, the author of the recently released book, The United States and Mexico, which will be used in conjunction with Dr. A. J. Hanna's course in Latin American history, received his Ph. D. from Harvard University and became Assistant Dean at Harvard in 1943.

Annual Costume Ball Given by Lambda Chis

The Lambda Chi Costume Ball, an annual dance featuring "dazzling" costumes, is slated for this Saturday, January 19, at Dubsdread Country Club from 9 to 12.

A top band is in the offing together with many prizes for the best costumes. The annual trophy for Miss New Year will be presented.

ROLLINS GIVEN $20,000 FROM DU PONT GIFT

Rollins College has received a gift of more than $20,000 in stocks from Mrs. Jessie Ball du Pont, Jacksonville, Fla., and Wilmington, Delaware to be used in connection with the program for improving instruction for the college.

Mrs. du Pont is the widow of the late Alfred I. du Pont who led in the rehabilitation of Florida following the collapse of the land boom in the 1920's. She also is the sister of Edward Ball, manager of the du Pont interests in Florida.

In announcing the gift, Hugh F. McKean, president of Rollins, said "It's especially reassuring to the college that Mrs. du Pont, a former school teacher who has shown in many ways she understands the problems of a small college, has given Rollins this sum."

"It also must be gratifying to the Orlando-Winter Park community that a distinguished resident of Jacksonville has given this most appreciated type of gift — one that shows her approval of our program."

Dr. Selman Waksman Visits Joint Meeting Of RSS And Sigma Xi

Dr. Selman A. Waksman who received the Nobel Prize in Physiology and Medicine in 1952 for his discovery of streptomycin, will be guest of honor at the first annual dinner of the Sigma Xi Club of Rollins College Friday, Jan. 15, at 6:30 p.m. at the University Club of Winter Park.

Following the dinner, Dr. Waksman will speak at a meeting sponsored jointly by the Rollins Scientific Society and Sigma Xi Club at 8:15. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

At present Dr. Waksman, a one-time Russian immigrant, is Director of the Rutgers Institute of Microbiology. It was his work that led to the discovery of streptomycin, the wonder drug which provided medical science with one of its most effective weapons against tuberculosis.

More recently Dr. Waksman and his associates have produced grisein, viscosin, fradecin, streptocin, neomycin and finally candidicin.

At the Sigma Xi Club dinner officers will be elected for 1954, and new members will be recognized.

PHILLIPS GIVES GIFT TO ROLLINS

A gift of $5,000 was made by Eugene R. Phillips, Winter Park, to Rollins College.

President McKean said the money would be used to help pay the expenses of students attending Rollins on scholarships this year.

In announcing the gift McKean said "It is as necessary for Rollins College to hold the interest and respect of old friends as it is to win new friends. Mr. Phillips has been a friend of the college for many years. It means a great deal to us that he thinks well enough of the college to support it so generously."

Dr. Waksman, Nobel Prize Winner

Dr. Selman A. Waksman, Nobel Prize winner in 1952 for his discovery of streptomycin, will speak at the University Club Friday.

Bits 'O News

Joy Woods attends the Stephen Foster Ball this weekend as a candidate for the Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair title which her sorority sister, Marie Perkins held last year.

This Friday evening Nobel Prize winner Dr. Selman A. Waksman will give an address sponsored by the Sigma Xi Club and the Rollins Scientific Society at the University Club — 8:15 p.m. The college is cordially invited to this meeting.

The Freshman Class met yesterday to discuss plans for the 1954 Freshman Show which will be produced March 3.

CHAPEL DRIVE

The Chapel Fund Drive, the only fund drive on the campus that is organized and run by the students, will shift into high gear next week.

The drive is sponsored by the Rollins Chapel Staff, the executive board of the Knowles Memorial Chapel. The Staff distributes the money to four competent student committees — Community Service, Race Relations, International Relations, and the Conference Fund, and also to the Dean of the Chapel as a reserve fund for emergency cases.

This community chest of the campus buys equipment for two day nurseries, provides furnishings for the infirmary, provides flowers for those who are confined to bed, aids the needy, gives assistance to the Negro County Home, supports two war orphans and lends a helping hand to people in Winter Park and Orlando.

The benefits rendered by the Chapel Drive to the community are too numerous to number. But there can be no denying that this fund drive has helped many people in times of dire need. The letters of gratitude from the recipients of aid from Rollins' students warm the hearts of everyone who reads them.

It is a fund drive for a worthy cause, asking little but giving a great deal; give as much as you can afford.

The Chapel Tower

T. S. Darrah

Bennett Cerf tells this story on Fierello LaGuardia the former mayor of New York. He was presiding at Police Court when a poor old man was brought in for stealing a loaf of bread. "I've got to punish you. The law makes no exceptions," said the Mayor. "Ten dollars." As the mayor reached into his own pocket he added, "Well, here's the ten to pay your fine. And now I remit the fine. What is more I'm going to fine everybody in this court fifty cents for living in a town where a man has to steal in order to eat." The defendant left court with forty-seven dollars and fifty cents.

Should everyone at Rollins be fined every time salt is put in the sugar bowls, or fire crackers go off at night, or some student makes a fool of himself? It costs us all enough as it is, so perhaps we had better skip it.

Where Your Dollars Go

World News In Brief

For a complete count of high Soviet Officials who have been shot as traitors since 1917, excluding Beria, London's "Sunday Times" quoted the following figures from the book, "What Happens To Communists?"

Out of 11 Cabinet members holding offices since 1936, 9 have been shot.

Five out of seven presidents of the last Central Executive Committee have suffered the same fate. Forty-three of the 53 secretaries of the Communist Party Central Organization have been shot. Fifteen out of 27 top Communists who drafted the 1936 Constitution faced a firing squad. Out of the 80 members of the Soviet War Council, 70 have been executed.

Since 1917, three of every 5 marshalls of the Soviet Army have been shot as spies or traitors. Every member of Lenin's first post-revolution Politburo, his inner cabinet of 1917, was finally shot — with the exception of Joseph Stalin.

Consequently, we predict that Mickey Spillane could write a best seller on Russian politics.

The vague draft is heading for a long overdue checkup. In the meantime, college students can be quite sure of the following trends:

Draft calls will remain quite small while the length of service, possibly before long, will be reduced to 18 months. It might even be cut more.

The professional side of military life will be increased. Professionals, not draftees, will take over more of the overseas jobs and the tasks of manning and defending bases around the world.

The officer corps, heavily reservist at this time, will also become more professional. The ROTC will decline in importance. Reserve officers are in excess of the present day needs.

The atomic defenses around the cities will fall on the shoulders of the National Guard. They will man the "Nike" battalions, relieving the professional men for other types of service.

The eventual goal is get national defense down to a basis that is politically sound and financially stable at a time when there is great tension in the world but no real shooting war.

FRATERNITY SCHOLARSHIP

Reviewing the report from the National Interfraternity Conference, Dean of Students John E. Hocutt has recommended the following suggestions for the improvement of fraternity scholarship at the University of Delaware:

1. The Interfraternity Council should institute a scholastic requirement to determine eligibility for pledging. A freshman should not be pledged by a fraternity unless he has at least a 2.0 index for the semester preceding the one in which he pledged. An upperclassman should have a cumulative index of at least 2.0.
2. The Interfraternity Council should raise the scholastic requirement for initiation. To be eligible for initiation, a student should have an index of 2.25 for the semester preceding initiation, plus a cumulative index of 2.0.
3. The fraternities should drop pledges who fail to meet initiation requirement for as many as two semesters following pledging.

by Louis Ingram

Climbing back to the dizzying heights of his post of surveillance to take a look around Rollins, your columnist is once again acclimating himself to Mrs. Magoun's famous "Columbus Method of Typing" — find a key and land on it.

With the New Year having taken a firm grip on nearly everyone, and enough time having passed to see most of the resolutions shattered, life is settling down to its usual tedium. The hopes of the New Year tarnish quickly in the onrushing tide of time, but the problems of the old year seem to keep right up with the flood.

We understand that Miss Shor's students are being treated to the most — "to say the least." Several of her classes have been required to attend a number of lectures and films sponsored by the Audubon Society (which is made up of a lot of folks with stiff necks who seem to be always looking up). Miss Shor has generously agreed not to hold her Saturday class on occasions when the lectures fall on that day. Inasmuch as three of them are on Saturday evenings, the general opinion of the students is that the whole idea is strictly for the birds.

Pink Palace officials seemed to have balked on the Fiesta Dance plans. While being on record as favoring the "big dance" idea of Fiesta Chairman Chauncey, they have been able to produce an endless number of difficulties without any solutions. In the arduous search for the answers certain questions arise. Do the majority of the students really want such a dance, and if so will they support it with their attendance? The dance could be a success without student support, but a Rollins dance without Rollins students would spell out a sad story.

IN BRIEF . . . .

..... Receipt of Johnson-McFarlain Cup decided in secret meeting. The Touchdown Club Board met yesterday, and after a heated debate chose the first winner of this coveted trophy. The award will be made on January 21st, at the Indie Talent Show finals.

..... Diamond Jubilee Room completed! This room in Carnegie Hall will probably see quite a little use in the next six years. From this central location, tours of the campus will emanate, literature will be distributed, and questions will be answered. .... Florida Symphony opens its season tonight. It's worth hearing! .... Indies and X Club had grudge game this week with surprises for all.

Students rehearse on the special platform staging for THE MASTER BUILDER, a Fred Stone production.

Special Production Of The Master Builder Given At Fred Stone

The Department of Theatre Arts is presenting a special platform style staging of THE MASTER BUILDER by Henrik Ibsen in the Fred Stone Theatre January 13, 14, 15, and 16. This experimental production will be directed by Donald S. Allen. The adaptation is by Alex Johnson of the Creative Writing Workshop, based on an idea by Howard Bailey.

The cast includes Jack Randolph, Leland Kimball, Harvey Pylant, Eugene Conley, Geraldine Pacino, Priscilla Dimock and Jane Frankenberg.

The Box Office will open evenings of the performances at 7:45 p.m. Faculty, Staff and Students admitted without charge. No reserved seats. Curtain at 8:30 p.m.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS TESTED SAT. FOR ENTRANCE TO ROLLINS

Last Saturday a new Test Center of the College Entrance Examination Board was officially opened at Rollins College. High school seniors from Winter Park, Sanford, Daytona, and New Smyrna were counted among those tested under the supervision of John O. Rich, Rollins' Director of Admission, who has been appointed Supervisor of the Rollins' Test Center by Board headquarters in New York City.

Students tested on Saturday are candidates for admission to Rollins, Duke University, M.I.T., Harvard, and a number of other membership institutions. The testing began at 9 a.m. and continued until 6 p.m., during which hours the same tests were also administered at several hundred test centers throughout all parts of the world.

"The College Entrance Examination Board is a group of 155 colleges which have one paramount interest in common, i.e. the better selection of students for college admission," Rich stated. "These so-called College Board Colleges, of which Rollins is one of the most recently elected members, share the conviction that the only students who should be admitted are those who will fit into the college community and get some genuine intellectual value from it."

The principal purpose of the College Board scores in admissions is that they can be used to sharpen the description of the candidate's mind and to increase the accuracy with which his performance in college can be predicted.

One of the basic criteria for college admission should always be whether the applicant has the sort of mind that can cope with the academic work of the college to which he is applying. As an efficient and effective aid to such a criterion, the College Entrance Examination Board enjoys more prestige than any other testing agency now in existence.

The Tests will be given at Rollins again, as elsewhere, on March 13th and May 22nd.

Day Students Offered Tuition Reduction — Scholarship Awards

Rollins College next year will reduce tuition fees for day students in the Orlando-Winter Park area from $1100 to $900.

In announcing the new schedule of fees, Hugh F. McKean, president, said that achievement scholarships which have heretofore been awarded only to boarding students would be made available to day students as well.

These scholarships will range in value from $100 to $500, and will be awarded on the basis of academic achievement, financial need, and qualities of personality and character that give promise of leadership, McKean said. Thus worthy students may attend Rollins for as little as $400.

Under the new plan, day students receiving achievement scholarships will be required to work for at least one third of the financial aid granted.

"We believe it is important," McKean said, "for capable students to have the opportunity for the best type of college education. This opportunity should not be withheld from those who are not in a financial position to pay the regular fees of the college."

"However, we believe it is easy for colleges to pauperize some of their best students and to develop unhealthy attitudes by leading them to expect special privileges without effort on their part. By requiring students to work for part of the financial aid granted, Rollins attempts to develop self-reliance and maturity in its scholarship students."

ROLLINS GRAD BRINGS HONOR THROUGH POEMS

A volume of poems by Stella Weston Tuttle, Miami, a Rollins graduate, has just been published by Kaleidograph Press, Dallas, Texas, it was announced yesterday.

The book, entitled Nor Bitter Nor Profane, contains 45 poems and is the result of Mrs. Tuttle winning the 23rd Kaleidograph book publication contest for 1953.

Mrs. Tuttle won the contest in competition with poets throughout the country.

One of Florida's best known poets, Mrs. Tuttle has had her work published in such magazines as The Saturday Review, The Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies' Home Journal, Good Housekeeping and others.

A native of Minnesota, she lives with her husband, Harry E. Tuttle, at the Gralynn Hotel. Her married daughter, Mrs. J. W. Usher, is also a Rollins graduate.

HUMOR MAGAZINE PLANNED NEXT BY FLAMINGO EDITOR AND STAFF

Ethel Deikman, Flamingo Editor, asks student opinion on the next issue being a humor magazine. The staff is now in the market for cartoons, satires, and even old jokes retold.

Even though the emphasis in this year's second issue of The Flamingo will be on humor, any work will be considered. To quote Ethel, "We are the magazine to which you should send everything short of your great American novel — poems, short stories, sketches and essays are eagerly accepted."

Besides material, the Flamingo staff is in need of cartoonists, illustrators, and proof readers. Freshmen should be especially interested since anyone interested in running for editorship of the magazine must have served for at least two years on the staff.

Contributions must be submitted to Ethel Deikman or the Flamingo by February 12.

Representative Work Of Whitman Is Shown

An exhibit of Whitmaniana is on display at the Mills Memorial Library.

The exhibit is probably both the largest and most representative of the works of Whitman ever shown in Florida. A cornerstone is a copy of the rare first issue of the first edition of "Leaves of Grass" dated 1855. The book formerly belonged to Katherine Holland Brown, Orlando novelist.

Also included are two important manuscripts in Whitman's handwriting. One deals with "Death" and "Democracy", two of the great themes of his poetry. The other relates to his service as a nurse during the Civil War.

ROLLINS PLAYERS-MUSIC GUILD TO PRODUCE TWO-IN-ONE SHOW

The Rollins Players, with the cooperation of the Student Musical Guild, will present two one-act musicals, "Trial by Jury" and "Down in the Valley," in the Annie Russell Theatre, Rollins College, on January 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 Tuesday through Saturday, at 8:30.

"Trial by Jury" is Gilbert and Sullivan's popular satire of the English law courts. It is an impossible story about a breach of promise suit in which the dilemma is solved by the Judge's decision to marry the girl himself. The principal roles are sung by Ann Palmer as the Plaintiff, Louis Ingram as the Defendant, Charles Mendell as the learned Judge, John Jpellein as the Counsel, and Kenneth Pahel as the court Usher.

"Down in the Valley," which comprises the second half of the bill, is a new folk opera by Kurt Weill with the libretto by Arnold Sundgaard. The score is based on familiar folk songs such as "Down in the Valley", "The Lonesome Dove", "Little Black Train", "Hop Up, My Ladies", and "Sourwood Mountain."

The principals in "Down in the Valley" are Marie Perkins as Jennie Parsons, William Hardy as Brack Weaver, Ross Rosazza as Leader of the Chorus, Mike Campbell as Thomas Bouche, and Carleton Clark as Jennie's Father.

The Musical direction is by Robert Hufstader with Wilbur Dorsett as the stage director. The square dance in "Down in the Valley" is directed by Barbara Zeigler.

The supporting casts and chorus for both musicals are composed of: Pete Adams, Ed Angier, James Browne, Jennie Lou Blakely, Ann Bowers, Roger Bentley, Irene Drake, Sonia Dorwitt, Bruce Elwell, Evelyn Fishman, Sylvia Graves, Frances Henry, Eddie Hotalang, Cary Lee Keen, Warren Lewis, Susan Mauk, Ken Meiser, Nancy McMillan, Jean Newton, Elizabeth Otis, Marion Polson, William Pigman, Lovina Parmenter, Arden Roth, Howard Richards, Philip Reece, Sally Rubenstein, Phil Schmitt, Dixon Thomas, Cynthia Wellenkamp and Clark Warren.

The Annie Russell Theatre box office will be open every day from 2:00 until 5:00, beginning Tuesday, January 19. In Orlando tickets can be secured from Edna Paul, Room 139, Jefferson Court Hotel, phone Orlando 2-5366.

CASA DISPLAYS TABAUD OILS

A one-man show of oil paintings by Jean Tabaud, French artist, will be on exhibition at Casa Iberia, Rollins College campus, from 2-5 p.m. daily.

Tabaud, a well known ballet dancer until he injured his spine in 1943, has exhibited his paintings in the Salon d'Hiver in Paris, and has had one-man shows in France, Casablanca and Tangier. His first one-man show in this country was in Washington.

Mr. Tabaud was present at the opening January 11 and will be on campus through this week.

INGRAM AND "THE FOUR DELTS" APPEAR IN FIRST OF TEN SHOWS

"The Four Delts" are appearing this evening at the Orange County Children's Home as the first of ten attractions to be presented there by Lou Ingram. The smooth Delta Chi band is playing a forty-five minute program which will include their own variations on "Old MacDonald Had A Farm" and a number of Stephen Foster melodies.

Bill Karslake, Bruce Elwell, Frank Ledgerwood, and Clark Warren makes up the rhythmic foursome which is making a strong bid to become the most popular campus band. "The Four Delts" will appear in the Indie Men's Talent Show finals on January 21st and at the Winter Park Rotary Club at a later date.

The series of attractions which will appear at the Home will include popular music, a string ensemble, song and dance, readings, and magic. As yet the complete list of artists has not been revealed but it is known that Dick Dixon, Art Brophy, Harvey Pylant, and the Rollins Singers will appear.

Lou Ingram got the idea for this series from Judge Mattie Farmer when he was arranging a Christmas program for the Home. "We are going to give the kids a good time by offering amusing attractions, while occasionally throwing in a feature of cultural merit," said Lou. "This is a good chance for each of us in the program to give something of ourselves to brighten the lives of these children."

Headaches, Ice and Snow Complicate Students' Return To Rollins College

by Bob Townsend

"Goodbye! Don't drive too fast! Goodbye! Are you sure you have everything? Now don't drive straight through!" I was trying to leave home to drive back to Winter Park. It was 11:00 o'clock on the day after New Year's and I had a throbbing hangover which made the prospect of driving 1200 miles back to Rollins even grimmer than usual.

My parents continued to shout last minute instructions and precautions at me as I swung out of the driveway, skidding in half circles on the icy street. Oh, what a joyous day! What, I ask you, what could be more charming than driving 1200 miles through ice, rain, and Georgia? That's right, there's nothing in this world that can quite measure up to it, thank God!

Focusing my bleary eyes on the road, I somehow got the car over to Phil's house, where I was supposed to pick up Phil and Sid for the trip back. New York City has been called one of the most unusual cities in the world and one of the most beautiful, but somehow this morning it seemed to consist mainly of traffic-filled streets and cars whose only purpose in life was to leap out of side streets as I came by, ready to crush my car to the shape of a tooth-pick. The brakes were steaming when I finally reached Phil's abode.

They greeted me with cheerful smiles (they didn't have any hangovers) and we fell to the job of stowing our gear in the trunk. At last everything was jammed in; we said thirty more goodbyes, and were off in a cloud of —

The roads which had been slightly icy in the city turned out to be better than a skating rink as we progressed southward. The approach of a car from the opposite direction seemed to be a signal for our car to give a sickening lurch and skid towards the other side of the road. At the last moment it always snapped back, but not before my stomach had crawled up into my mouth.

We pulled in for gas about half way to Baltimore, and received our first free weather information of the trip. From the prophet of the highway, the gas station attendant.

"You'll never make it!" he said. "My aunt just came back from Miami, Florida, and she said the roads were so bad even the buses weren't running! You better not try it tonight!"

Ah, those encouraging words! Filled with gas and rosy expectations we continued on our way. Those good old buses — I wish that just once they would stop running even for a few hours, but no, they continued to try to run us off the road all through the day.

I think we now hold the record for the slowest trip ever made from New York to Baltimore, but about 10:00 that night we saw through the rain that we had passed Baltimore and were on our way to Richmond.

We were almost out of gas again. This time the gas station man pleaded with us not to go on. "Don't try it tonight, boys," he cried. "Not even the buses are Quickly, I reached for it and jammed it into my mouth. Too late I remembered there was no water available with which to ease the golf ball down. It became stuck half way down. I choked at my buddies, but they were too busy rehearsing New Year's Eve to pay any attention to me. I cried out in baby language; still no answer. Little red dots began to swim before my eyes and scenes out of my childhood raced by. They never even noticed.

One last gulp and the pill was safely down. Restful oblivion came over me and the little men with their hammers took time out for chow. When I came to again, we were stopped in yet another gas station because Phil wanted to check the oil.

"Where are you boys headed," asked the asmatic attendant, peering sharply at our beady, red eyes. "If you're trying to go south, you better quit right now, why even the buses..."

"We know, we know," Phil said wearily and climbed aboard.

"Say, if you're looking for a place to rest, I got some cabins out back."

"No," we cried in unison, and started on our way once again.

At long last we reached Rocky Mount. Things were bound to get better now. With reckless abandon we pulled into one of that city's large neon-lighted service stations.

With happy smiles we piled out of the car and headed inside. But not quick enough to escape the eyes of the eagle-eyed attendant. He doubled up with laughter at the sight of us.

Our collective pride was hurt. What if we had a two-days growth of beard, what if our clothes were a little mussed and had some mustard on them, whose business was it? If we had opened our eyes all the way, we would have bled to death. WE WERE ROLLINS MEN! Could we give up now so close to our goal? Certainly not.

Heads held high, at least as high as we could force them, we stated that we were going to be in Winter Park by 6:00 p.m. Sunday. We received the same statement as before—"You'll never make it."

Once more we were on our weary way. Next stop—the PIG, an all-night eating place where we were to rendezvous with some more of the Rollins crew. As we entered the establishment we were greeted with a great ovation.

We discussed the trip and New Year's Eve with these other staunch Rollins men who had braved the highway to reach college in time for classes. Finally we managed to drag ourselves back to the four-wheeled monster and off once more. Our next stop—Rollins!

I shall spare you the rest of that sordid trip. Suffice it to say that at 6:09 p.m. a small, extremely dirty car was seen entering Winter Park at a high rate of speed. The next morning as I dozed in class, I could think of only one thing — we had made it! Not in the first night, or early the next day, but those mighty prophets of the highways had been proven conclusively wrong. We had made it!

running!" His piteous screams were still ringing in our ears as we pulled away, shaken but undaunted in our determination to reach Rollins by the time classes started Monday morning.

It was my turn to sleep in the back seat, while Phil and Sid guided the car on its way south. At long last, thought I to myself, I can get some sleep and be rid of this hangover. But no, I had forgotten about my wisdom teeth. During the vacation I had had all four of them pulled. By taking four white tablets when the dentist said to take only one, I had managed to pass the whole holiday without feeling a thing — of course I fell flat on my face and had to be roused with a slug of scotch, but at least there was no pain.

Now the drugs were starting to wear off and I became aware of several large, not to say huge, holes in the rear of my mouth. Each of them felt as if a little man with a pneumatic hammer was in the bottom of the hole drilling for oil. I was looking for a knife or gun to kill myself when I remembered that I still had one pill left in the glove compartment.

Stewart Takes 83rd Club Membership

Mrs. John Andre Stewart has become the 83rd member of the Mills Library Book-A-Year Club, James Duncan Phillips, president, announced yesterday.

Mrs. Stewart, former owner of The Chocolate Shop on Park Avenue, is now secretary at the Rollins College Commons. She took out the membership in memory of her husband.

Funds from the membership will be used to buy a book-a-year for the Mills Memorial Library.

COME ACROSS--

Students take charge of the Day Nursery in Winter Park.

by Myra Brown

Since the close of the Chapel's fund drive last year a total of $2,098 has been invested in worthy and beneficial projects for those in need in our community and abroad, and for us on the Rollins campus.

Take a quick look at what has been accomplished by the Campus Chest during the past year —

1. $734 was loaned to Rollins students through the Dean's Fund (all but $20 of that amount has been repaid by those same students).

2. The Infirmary received a $50 radio for the enjoyment of its patients.

3. Funds were provided for the support of a retired Rollins professor in a local nursing home.

4. Money was made available to one of the campus' Negro workers for his daughter's hospital bills.

5. A subscription to a local newspaper was taken care of for the Infirmary.

6. Education was provided for two Seminole youths.

The following is the first letter to the students of Rollins College from their 11 year old son in Korea, Kim Young Hwa. My dear Foster Parents,

I find good sceneries in Autumn in Korea.

Unfortunately I have a leg which I can't use, but the other day Dr. Linton got me a artificial leg. I have been taking exercises for walk every day and I can walk well now. You will probably be able to realize that how I am happy now.

Another thing I feel very happy is that there are my foster parents who will take care of me. However a disabled I may be, I am encouraged very much and I am ambitious.

I like singing from the first, and especially being happy I am singing all the time and spending days merrily with my friends.

Your son,

Kim Young Hwa

7. Over 1500 books were collected for the Hungerford High School library.

8. A substantial donation was made to World University Service to provide for the education of students in war torn countries throughout the world.

9. A cart to carry small items for sale to patients was donated to Orlando's Orange Memorial Hospital.

10. Orlando's Child Welfare group received aid from the Campus Chest.

11. A chimney and stove were installed in the Hannibal Square Library.

12. A large play truck was given to the Winter Park Day Nursery.

13. Flowers were sent to the sick.

14. A donation to buy children's books was given to the Hannibal Square Library.

15. Rollins students attended a Welfare Conference in Jacksonville, Florida.

16. Clothes were collected and shipped to Korea.

17. Food, clothing and Christmas packages were provided for Theodora Manzari, Greek war orphan and Kim Young Hwa, Korean war orphan. (Kim Young Hwa is new to the Rollins Family. He replaces Wieslaw Ostrowski who is now old enough to care for himself and is no longer under the jurisdiction of the Foster Parent's Plan.)

The above list of accomplishments, would have been impossible to undertake but for the generosity of the students, the faculty and the staff of Rollins College.

This year there is but one appeal to make and that is for your support to meet the budget for 1954 which has been calculated to amount to $2,000. This budgeted figure is all-inclusive and provides operating expenses for International Relations, Race Relations and Community Service committees, the Conference Fund and the Dean's Fund.

With your support in filling this year's Campus Chest the Chapel

Louis Fusaro presents Principal Otey 1500 books.

Committees will be able to assume their rightful function both in the life of the community and in our own lives here on the campus. The Chest must be full, however, to be worthwhile. With the impetus gained over the past two years it has been able to be of far more meaningful service than in previous years. Another successful year will mean twice as many opportunities to help.

The Chapel Staff sincerely hopes than when its members contact you next week that you will gladly come across—for them and for us.

Theodora and Kim Young Hwa are fed, clothed and cared for by International Relations contributions.

Students are able to borrow money from the Dean's Fund when they are in financial straits.

A contribution to World University Service provides the educational opportunities for students throughout the world.

This little boy is quick to care for his sister; the Chapel Staff hopes you will be as quick to care for those in need on this campus, in this community and abroad.

Softball Game Called Off; Alpha Phi, Indie Play Fri.

by Alison Desseau

The girls' intramural softball season opened on a low note last Monday when the game between the Pi Phi's and Theta's had to be cancelled because second base was submerged in Florida's liquid sunshine. The game will be played a week from Saturday and should be exciting, as Kay Dunlap pitches against Barbara Moynahan.

Kay has supported the victorious Theta team for two years and Barbi, a Pi Phi pledge is expected to do a superior job on the mound.

Tomorrow the Alpha Phi's will meet the Indies in what might be an extremely close game. The Alpha Phi's have their new pledge Bobbie Feidt pitching for them while fielding will be Nat Rice, Sandy Shephard, Sue Reed, and Sidney Kromer.

The Indie nine, which finished high in last season's standing, will be built up around four members of last year's squad. Peggy Sias is pitching, while playing in the field will be among others Barbara Hackman, Sunny Dorwitt, and June Levit.

Nyimicz Posts Ladder For Golf Prospects

Coach Dan Nyimicz has announced that a ladder has been set up for the challenge round which will aid greatly in the choice of this year's varsity golf squad.

Nyimicz, in his first year as Tar golf mentor, will have three returning veterans from last year's squad which hit its stride at the end of the schedule, topping the Stetson Hatters 10-8 in the final match of the season.

Other names which are scheduled to appear on the ladder are freshmen Ed Dinga, Ken Pahol and Stew Maples. Freshman and transfer prospects will join up with veterans Bruce Remsberg, Denny Folken and Bill Boggess to round out the 1954 Tar golfers.

OPENING RACE WITH WISCONSIN ON FEBRUARY 5

by Jim Locke

Launching the 1954 varsity crew season a bit prematurely, the ambitious Tars will play the role of hosts and perhaps giant-killers on February 5, against a mighty and awesome University of Wisconsin eight.

The Badgers of Wisconsin, famed in national racing circles and possessors of the 1951 National Rowing Championship, are carpentering down to Florida during their semester break for mid-winter frolic on Lake Maitland.

Foregoing the frigid climes of Wisconsin, the Badgers, with a complement of eleven men, have agreed to pay their individual expenses for the trip. They are combining a vacation with what should be an arduous workout against a powerful veteran Rollins shell; last year the winner of the Florida State Championship and runner-up five out of six years at the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia.

It should be stressed that the race, while of a practice nature, will be run formally, with both crews using their tentative starting varsity men. Dr. U. T. Bradley, genial Rollins crew coach, optimistically commented, "I know we are not in the same class with Wisconsin, but this one could be close." In this statement he was referring to the fact that the Badgers have not been in the water since before Christmas while the Tars are diligently practicing daily on Lake Maitland.

Upon the completion of the eagerly anticipated Wisconsin race, the Tars will revert to the tedious task of rounding into shape for the official opening of the rowing season. Dr. Bradley has compiled a tentative, but power-studded, schedule that will tax the capabilities of the Tars to the utmost, opening on March 27, against a highly regarded Boston University eight.

On either May 1 or 8 Rollins will tangle in post-season competition at Lakeland when the Tars will defend their Florida State Championship.

One week later Bradley and entourage will migrate northward to the Dad Vail Regatta at Philadelphia with fervent hopes that this year they might emerge from the festivities as bride instead of bridesmaid.

CHIP SHOTS

BY ALLEE CHATHAM

Unexpected showers prevented two anxious teams, Theta and Pi Phi, from opening the 1954 softball season with their scheduled game. Both teams, after practicing the week before, were ready to play their first game, which should be one of the best games of the season when it finally gets under way.

The Pi Phi's have the added strength of pledges, Barbi Berno, Barbi Moynahan, Sandy Taylor, and Ann Todd. They look good in Chatham practice and should, as the season progresses and teamwork improves, be one of the top threats for the title.

The Theta's, in their effort to retire the trophy, will be relying on six returning girls from last year's winning team.

The first game actually played will be between the Alpha Phi's and Indies on Friday. This should be a top-notch game with each team anxious to get off to a good start. Game time is 4:15.

The schedule for the season is as follows.

January 15

The Rollins tennis players will be journeying to St. Pete for a tournament this week.

TAR NETMEN SCHEDULED TO ENTER FLA. GOOD NEIGHOR TOURNAMENT

One of the big features of the 1954 Tar tennis season will be the opportunity given to Rollins players to play in the Good Neighbor Tournament held in Miami, March 22 thru 28.

This tournament is the major meet held in Florida and will give the Tars what will be for most of them their only chance to play against highly ranked stars from not only this country but Canada and South America as well.

Varsity aspirants are now playing the challenge matches which will decide varsity rankings for the schedule which shows Rollins opening against Presbyterian on March 16. The schedule also points to the traditional home-and-home series with Miami.

FSU's Artemier Tallies 22 Points As Seminoles Roll Over Tars 82-72

By Ken Meiser

A well-balanced Florida State caught fire in the last half to romp over Rollins 82 to 72 in the Winter Park High School Gym last Monday, January 11.

Rollins' lack of strong offensive rebounding and State's Dick Artmeier's one-hand push shots good for sixteen points in the last half were the telling blows to the Tars' chances for their ninth win of the season.

Rollins started out the first stanza like a "house afire." The starting lineup (consisting of Bob MacHardy, Hal Lawler, Dave Feldman, Connie Mack Butler, and Bill Cost) piled it on the seemingly helpless Seminoles to lead at the end of the quarter 21 to 11.

In the second quarter Florida State, led by All-State high scorer Ham Wernke and 6'6" Rick Benson, scored 25 points to the Tars' 16. Rollins still led at the half 37 to 36.

Florida State put pressure on the Tars by opening the third period with two fast buckets to take the lead. Artmeier went on a scoring spree by accounting for ten of State's twenty-four points. Rollins couldn't seem to really get going until the Seminoles' big center, Rick Benson, fouled out with four minutes remaining in the stanza. Then the Tars pulled to within three points of Florida State. Score at the end of the quarter stood State 60, Rollins 57.

In the last stanza the Tars

Basketball coach Dan Nyimicz has announced that the Tars are in need of a manager. A qualified student would receive, in addition to a managerial letter, the opportunity to travel with the team on some of its remaining trips. Any interested student should contact Coach Nyimicz as soon as possible.

could not get the ball away from State often enough. Rollins was also hampered by sloppy ball-handling. The final score read Florida State 82, Rollins 72.

Bob MacHardy ended as high scorer for the Tars with 14 points. Bob was also Rollins' only strong rebounder.

The Tars play a home game tonight with Florida Southern.

The Scoreboard

By CHUCK LAMBETH

This column's thanks to Mr. George Cartwright and the other officers of Rollins College who made the quick return to usable condition of the new tennis courts possible.

Although these courts are not yet in any condition to be used for tournament play, the fact still stands that they are being used; and for the purpose for which they were designed, i.e. to take the load of the phys. ed. classes off the upper courts.

Monday night's Rollins-FSU game gave Tar fans a chance to see the Blue and Gold five up against top flight Florida opposition. The FSU hardwood quintet boasts the leading individual scorer in Florida in the person of 5' 11" Ham Wernke who poured in 15 markers to back up veteran Dick Artmeier's 22 point total.

This loss to the Seminoles leaves the Tar record at 8 wins and 6 losses, and a state record of 3-1. FSU also has one loss, that being to Miami which now stands as the leader in the mythical State Championship race.

Just after the Christmas vacation Alfredo Millet hit the tournament trail down to Tampa for the annual Dixie Tournament. Although Alfredo lost in the quarter-finals to Tony Vincent, he was playing a veteran who was at the top of his game. Vincent later lost to Gardner Mulloy having him at set point three times in the match.

Alfredo will tangle with Alberto Danel for he number one singles position his week as the tennis varsity goes into its challenge rounds before facing a tough schedule. The season opens March 16 against Presbyterian on the Rollins courts.

A welcome interest is being shown in this year's intramural crew season as all groups have stated their intention to enter. Dr. U. T. Bradley should be much encouraged by this unusual interest in intramurals since he has virtually no replacements for his starting eight and usually picks his JV crew from the intramural fours.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL SCHEDULE OPENS AT REC HALL, 13TH

The Intramural Board has announced the intramural basketball schedule for 1954, with the first two games of the season having been played last night.

The double round-robin schedule is as follows:

January 19
Sigma Nu vs Lambda Chi
Delta Chi vs Sigma Nu
January 20
Kappa Alpha vs X Club
Independents vs Lambda Chi

The X Club, last year's basketball champions, are slated to have their hands full warding off an experienced Sigma Nu five.

The club will have three of the sparkplugs of last year's team returning with team captain and set-shot artist Bruce Remsburg leading the pack. Sigma Nu, although hurt by the ruling that varsity crewmen cannot compete; will still have a fast squad built around Dave Smith and Chuck Weisman.

Kearney Gives Talk On Film Production

The second in a series of lectures on the production of motion pictures will be held tomorrow.

The series, sponsored by the Sandspur Staff, features Colonel Robert E. Kearney, Chief of the Production Division of the Air Photographic and Charting Service at Orlando Air Force Base. The lectures will cover the many phases of motion film production and the use of motion pictures in the Armed Forces.

Colonel Kearney has been engaged in all phases of the motion picture industry in various capacities.

He was called back to the service as a reserve officer in 1940. While at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia, he planned, constructed and operated a complete motion picture studio and laboratory for the Corps of Engineers there.

He trained and commanded the 602nd Army Camouflage Battery from January 1934, until after VJ Day.

Colonel Kearney was released from active duty in 1949. He then became Vice President and General Manager of a Hollywood corporation producing motion pictures for television.

Colonel Kearney's lecture will begin at 4:30 in the Annie Russell Theatre.

FACULTY SERIES BEGINS SUNDAY

Rollins College Conservatory of Music will open its annual Faculty Recital Series when it presents The New Music Quartet, Sunday, Jan. 17 at 8:30 p.m. in the Annie Russell Theatre.

The Quartet, which made its debut in 1949, has appeared at the leading universities and under virtually every important chamber music auspices.

Members of the Quartet are Broadus Erle and Matthew Ramondi, violin, Walter Trampler, viola, and Claus Adam cello.

Trampler is well known in Central Florida having served as instructor of violin, viola, and chamber music at Rollins College from 1939-1941.
