PEP RALLY TO PRECEDE TAR- MIAMI GAME

The Rollins Tars take on the University of Miami five in the Winter Park High School Gym at 8:00 p.m. this evening. The game will be the first in a three-game home stand against the toughest opposition on the Tar schedule.

Miami, at the present time, is the leading squad in the mythical Florida State Conference.

Saturday night's game, which will be played at the Howard Junior High Gym, will pit the Tars against a Detroit Tech outfit which is reputed to be one of the best teams on this year's schedule.

Monday night, the Tars will move back to WPHS to run up against the high-flying Mercer Bears. The Bears have not lost a game on their home court this year, taking the toll of Rollins at Macon on January 18.

A pep rally is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Student Center. This rally, which is sponsored by the freshman class and backed by campus social groups, is intended as a build-up for the remainder of the basketball season and especially for this home stand.

The rally is also intended to raise student interest in Tar basketball during the final games. This need for heightened interest is witnessed by the lack of attendance and quietness of the cheering sections since the beginning of the season.

Bits O' News

Next Wednesday Organ Vespers will be held in the Chapel at 5:00 p.m. Herman Siewert along with guest artists Lucia Hammond, soprano, and Marcelle Hammond, mezzo-soprano, will present the program. The Hammonds, long time residents of Winter Park, are known for their solo work in local churches and many other groups. Their singing of duets is on an artistic level, which has given great pleasure to their listeners.

Students are reminded that there will be a pep rally tonight before the Miami game in the Student Center at 7:15 p.m.

A reception in honor of Frank Flagg Taylor, whose private collection of prints is now on exhibit at the Morse Art Gallery, will be held Saturday evening from 8:30 to 10:30 in the Art Gallery.

Gish, Verdin, and Sarasin To be Animated Speakers

Two distinguished Americans and a foreign diplomat will appear on the Rollins College Animated Magazine, Sunday, February 21st, when it will be published for the twenty-seventh time.

They are Lillian Gish, renowned stage and screen star; Lieutenant Commander James B. Verdin, famed jet pilot; and Pote Sarasin, the Ambassador to the United States from Thailand.

Lieutenant Commander Verdin flew the Navy's newest carrier-based interceptor, the Douglas F4D Skyray, at an average speed of 752.9 miles an hour over the Salton Sea in Southern California last October. The Navy believes this to be the speed record, although the claim is being contested by the Air Force. However, it did wrench the jet speed record away from the British.

All contributors to the Animated Magazine will be guests of the college at the second annual Founder's Week dinner on Saturday, February 20th. One reservation to the dinner will be made for each contribution of $50. The money will be used to support Rollins' scholarship program.

Both the dinner and the Animated Magazine are highlights of an eight day celebration in honor of the founding of Rollins College 69 years ago. Activities will start on Sunday, February 14th, and will conclude with the mid-winter convocation and awarding of honorary degrees on Monday morning, February 22nd.

Graduates and former students will return to the campus Saturday, February 20th, for the annual Alumni Day activities.

President McKean said that other contributors to the "talking magazine" will be announced in the near future.

Race Relations Holds Program This Sunday

The annual National Race Relations Sunday will be celebrated here at Rollins this coming Sunday, February 7, in the Annie Russell Theatre at 2:30 p.m.

The guest speaker for the Race Relations program will be Mr. Burtram Scott. The Hungerford Choir will sing. The invocation will be given by Dr. Louis Schultz and the benediction by the Reverend Williams.

This affair is an effort on the part of all Race Relations Committees throughout the country to further relations with all minority groups.

The faculty, students, and townspeople are cordially invited.

COUNCIL VOTES LUMINOUS PAINT FOR SPRINKLERS

by Meredith Nail

After the heated debate in Council a week ago concerning the placement of tin cans over the sprinklers, it was decided Monday night to use a spot of luminous paint on each sprinkler so that they may be seen at night.

Harry Chauncey, Chairman of the Fiesta Committee, announced that there will be no dice or cards used for booths on the Midway.

"A pair of Walkie-Talkies have been secured by Mr. Cartwright for the crew races and will be put into effect within three weeks," Joe Dallanegra announced to the Council. One part of the Walkie-Talkie will be in the Crew launch, and the other part will be on shore so that the spectators will know how the race is going right from the start.

There will be a Pep Rally in the Center Thursday night before the Miami basketball game. President Hal Broda stressed the point that it is necessary for the whole college to attend, if possible.

Edwin McBrier Is Member Of Rollins Book-A-Year Club

Edwin M. McBrier, Montclair, New Jersey, who is spending the winter at Virginia Inn, has become the 84th member of the Rollins Book-A-Year Club, it was announced yesterday.

His membership will add a book each year to the Mills Memorial Library's collection of over 85,000 volumes.

McBrier was a friend of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Mills in Montclair. Mr. Mills was the founder of Davalla-Mills Foundation which gave Mills Memorial Library to Rollins College.

KICK THE CAN, ANYONE?

Two weeks ago, the Student Council was rocked by the discussion as to whether or not cans coated with luminous paint should be placed over the sprinklers and faucets in the horseshoe. The following is the story as it was reported in the last Sandspur:

"In a heated debate, Student Council discussed the placing of luminous tin cans over the sprinkler system to protect students walking across the horseshoe after dark.

After listening to the protest, President Hal Broda stated that this was not in the hands of the Council.

Dean Justice then stated, 'I talked to Mr. Cartwright some time ago. He felt that nothing much could be done to alleviate the situation.'

The Council decided that the matter should be investigated further, and Dean Justice will hold another conference with Mr. Cartwright in the immediate future."

Last Monday night, it was moved that "five gallon cans, painted with red, white and blue stripes, plus purple polka dots, be placed over the sprinklers to lessen the hazard." The motion was defeated.

Dean Justice then announced that he had spoken to Mr. Cartwright and that Mr. Cartwright had said that a dab of luminous paint could be placed on each sprinkler without damaging the mechanism. However, Dean Justice pointed out that before luminous paint could be dabbed on the sprinklers, the project must be approved by the Campus Planning Committee.

The Council then voted to send a student committee to the Campus Planning Committee to request that luminous paint be applied to the sprinklers.

This committee will report upon its meeting with Campus Planning Committee next week in Student Council when final action may be taken.

PEP RALLY

Although the Rollins Tars rolled to a 73-63 victory over a pugnacious Bartow five last Saturday night, the college lost the battle of the cheering sections. In fact, the nine-man cheering section that Bartow brought with them outyelled the Rollinsites to such a great extent that it seemed impossible that there weren't more than the fifty students who were present for the contest.

With one of the biggest games of the year coming up tonight, the Student Council has organized a pep rally to be held at seven this evening in the Student Center.

The basketball team is your team. It represents you, your college, and your benefits. The least you, as students, can do is support your team.

Nostradamus at his death made the people promise that they would never open his tomb. After sixty years they did and found upon his breast a brass plate. On the plate were these words: What a wicked and unfaithful people you are who disturb me after so many vows. What is more Nostradamus had even inscribed the date when his grave should be opened.

Strange it is but how happy the ghost of Nostradamus must have been. What more could he have expected? If we expect the worse we certainly can't complain if it comes to pass.

To Can Or Not To Can

World News In Brief

Whatever happens at the Berlin Conference this week, the world can rest assured that everyone will be putting their best foot forward. This conference represents the first time that the Big Four have met in five years — the first meeting since the invasion of South Korea.

The topflight diplomats will be on hand to conduct the proceedings; this one is not being left to the underlings. Dulles, Molotov, Eden and Bidault are going to do the talking.

Besides the leaders, hordes of lesser experts will be on hand to help them. The U. S. delegation will total around 45 officials from Washington, the French with 30, the British with around 50 and the Soviet with the same number.

The press will be represented by over 1,000 members, reflecting the world's interest in the meeting.

The past record of meetings between the East and West give a fairly accurate forecast of what the outcome of this conference will be. There have been 3,802 meetings (on major issues only). These meetings have consumed 11,400 hours of time. The negotiators of the countries involved have spoken 120,000,000 words which are enough to fill 680 volumes of 400 pages each.

After totaling up the mass of talking done between the East and West in this period and after compiling the 680 volumes, the outcome that the world has reached is that the Berlin Meeting will be mostly, "a big blow with little go." And this is a safe assumption when one realizes that no major agreements have been reached between the East and West in the last five years.

The Russians, who have been stalling the conference as long as they could are now working at top speed to get East Berlin in as good shape as possible.

They have spliced the telephone cables between the sectors — the same cables which they cut 18 months ago. In an attempt to spruce up the Soviet Embassy, they have put hundreds of Germans to work cleaning the surrounding area, covering the scars of war with sod and filling in the potholes in the streets.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Having witnessed another wonderful production at our Annie Russell Theater, which featured the intrepid Louis Ingram, we can only wonder at his faithfulness to Mr. Hufstader, his new director, and his complete devotion to that old theater adage, "The show must go on."

Though the facts are somewhat obscure, we understand that Mr. Ingram was unceremoniously rewarded for his superb performances by being slapped on Social Probation for voluntarily appearing for a rehearsal from which he could have obviously pleaded illness.

We can not condone Mr. Ingram's unseemly actions three nights prior to the opening, when he was guilty of using "the Name of the Second Person of the Holy Trinity in vain." This was certainly an unfortunate choice of words. However we strongly feel that the action taken was unwarranted and unjust, especially when it appears to us to be merely a manifestation of a personal grudge.

Perhaps it has not been taken into consideration that college students are just as human as professional actors who are paid for their footlight duty; and these students have volunteered their valuable time to make the Annie Russell a self-supporting venture.

Sincerely yours,
James Locke

'ROUND ROLLINS

by Louis Ingram

While the Social Rules Committee is rapidly throwing out our existing regulations, they might well pause a moment to decide what the basic principle behind social regulations is. It is, I expect, a matter of equitable uniformity. That is to say that all the rules should be hung on a uniform frame, should be specific while allowing for a construction which will take into account what the courts call "equity."

The Rules Committee would do Rollins a never ending service if they would adopt such a fundamental concept. The Committee will have to adopt something to show that they mean business, for the Student Deans cannot be expected, in any condition other than shell shock, to accept a weak-sister approach to discipline. Of course it will be impossible to please everyone at once even with several answers to each problem.

When will the speaker and telephone-page system be installed in the Center? The students paid for a large part of this installation and would appreciate it greatly if the job were completed.

Some time ago a special committee was formed at the request of the administration to investigate certain problems having to do with radio station WPRK — owned and sometimes operated by Rollins College. The group met with members of the Pink Palace staff and with a tentatively interested radio promoter who may soon be coming to Winter Park.

The administration outlined their policy on WPRK which was: To find a qualified (ie. must be program and station director, technician, and professor willing to accept nominal salary) man to run the plant; that the students should be able to hear the station. The committee was assured that everything was being done to sift the applicants quickly so that the station might open in the near future. That was well before Christmas.

At this time the only sure thing is that Rollins owns WPRK.

Hats Off . . . To the new Gamma Phis who wound up their pledge ordeals last Sunday; and To Founder's Week plans. So far they sound good, and everyone is looking forward with much anticipation to the announcement of the Animated Magazine participants.

After-Chapel Hears Talk By Dr. Thomas on Conflict Between Science-Religion

by Sidney Kromer

"The Scientist's Pursuit of the Whole" was the topic led by Dr. Thomas, Rollins Physics professor, in the After-Chapel Club discussion Sunday.

Dr. Thomas began by saying that there was a conflict between science and the church, otherwise, between a new idea and an old institution. He said that scientists are not separate from the church but that they are applying only one of several methods of using intellect towards solving problems of society.

Sociologists and psychologists can not be expected to have spectacular discoveries in the near future because of the complex subjects they are studying. Science is just learning to handle problems which are called "organized complexities."

The group then discussed the problems of a liberal arts education. Dr. Thomas suggested that a scientist should first major in a liberal arts education so he can relate his special science to the overall picture later.

Dean Darrah held the position that the smattering of knowledge that a liberal arts education now gives the student doesn't give him the ability to grasp real problems that exist at the frontiers of various fields.

The group agreed that if one were to pursue one field of the humanities, such as English or philosophy, he would automatically become acquainted with the other subjects.

Dr. Thomas related that when the atom bomb was invented, people blamed the scientists entirely without considering that scientists were men and all men would be responsible for governing these discoveries because all technical knowledge can be used for either good or bad.

Campus Dress Rules Topic Of Discussion By Social Rules Comm.

In the fourth meeting of the Social Rules Committee last Wednesday night, the following proposals concerning Campus dress was to be taken to the social groups for consideration:

Daytime until 6 p.m.; left to the discretion and good taste of the individual.

Nighttime after 6 p.m.; left to the individual's good taste, but no shorts, jeans, etc. should be worn.

Sunday noon dinner; girls are asked to wear heels and dressy clothes, while boys are asked to wear either a shirt and tie or a shirt and jacket.

In House Living Rooms; according to the rules of each house.

At Choir Rehearsals; according to the rules of the executive committee of the Choir.

Chairman of the committee, Bill Karlskate, is anxious to clarify some misunderstanding concerning the committee's authority. He explains that the object of the committee, which consists of two representatives from each social group, is to discuss and consider revision of all social rules and regulations. If there is any debate as to whether or not any revisions should be made the question is taken to the social groups for consideration. In the event that it is decided there should be a change, the proposal is submitted to the faculty for their vote. The only circumstances under which a rule may be revised or a new one may be added is with the full approval of the faculty.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"Yes, one other time a student complained about an exam of mine. Now what about last Friday's test?"

"FACE" ON BASS

Those of you who are interested in violin music have an opportunity of hearing the best in this vicinity tomorrow. Mr. Alfonso Carlo, a member of the Rollins Conservatory faculty will appear in a joint program with his wife. These two have appeared together frequently and always manage to give a top-notch performance.

The fact that Mr. Carlo is the finest violinist around was verified last Friday night at the Florida Symphony Concert. The guest violin soloist gave his rendition of the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto in E Minor. As a whole, it was a McFarlain rather pleasant thing to listen to with one exception—the cadenza was played slower than I thought possible. It was like hearing the Minute Waltz played at funeral dirge speed.

For the rest of the program, they played the Overture to the Barber of Seville (it was, shall I say, uncoordinated), and the Schubert Seventh Symphony in C Major. This, as it never fails to do, proved to be a crashing bore.

Well, the musicals are now over and linger only in the memories of those who enjoyed or participated in them. Special credit should go to Mrs. Sias, who, as one of the pianists, never failed to keep the show moving.

There is a certain small group on the campus that claims it is a creator of music — calls itself The Four Deltas. It seems to be a sort of poor man's string quartet. They had the fortune of winning the Talent Night trophy. This is a definite feather in their cap, but—!! It leads one to wonder just exactly where you can draw the line between what is talent and what is not. Is balancing a canoe on the end of one's nose more talented than dancing on a table top? Beats me! You will no doubt be hearing from The Four Deltas again. They're not bad.

SYMPHONY IS REVIEWED BY ROLLINS STUDENT

by Kathey Siegler

The second of this season's concerts by the Florida Symphony Orchestra was consistently light and frothy. Conspicuously absent was music of any particular depth. The program opened with the vivacious overture to the "Barber of Seville" by Rossini. This is a lighthearted work and the orchestra frisked and frolicked from beginning to end with clarity and finesse.

Appearing as violin soloist with the orchestra was Edward Preodor, professor of music and orchestration at the University of Florida. The feature work of the concert was the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto which proved an excellent vehicle for Mr. Preodor's facile technique and sharp, brilliant style. Although the violinist seemed to catapult into the first movement like a run-a-way whirlwind, he soon regained both composure and conventional tempo, and completed the movement with complete control.

The second movement with its lush, singing melodic line seemed distressingly cold and restrained. One felt a great longing for more warmth and depth of tone color and less "surface" playing. It was this listener's view that Mr. Preodor, while a competent and polished musician, is not an inspired artist!

The third movement, with its intricate and technically demanding passage work, was played with vitality and precision, and an appreciative audience indicated gratitude for Mr. Preodor's interpretation. Mr. Chardon guides his orchestra in a sensitive and restrained accompaniment.

The final official work on the program was Schubert's Symphony No. 7 in C Major. N. Y. Times critic, Olin Downes, described this work as "one of the most sublime outpourings of joy in the literature of music."

1938 PACKARD "TWELVE" JOINS RANKS OF ROLLINS' ELITE AUTOS

by Bill Fathauer

The newest addition to Rollins' array of strange and fascinating automobiles is Hal Broda's 1938 Packard "Twelve" four-door town sedan.

On a recent weekend trip to Palm Beach, Hal and Bob Finney were fortunate in obtaining it at an unusually good price from elderly Mrs. Parthenia B. Walker of New York and Palm Beach.

Displaying unusual courage, the pair set out to drive the car, which had been in storage for the past three years, back to Rollins. Several gallons of gasoline and many curious glances later, they arrived here. The classic had performed admirably throughout the trip!

In its own right, the car is a masterpiece! Designed and built by Saatchik of Paris, it originally cost $10,000.

The classic has many unusual features. With the top(s) down, it is converted into a four-door phaeton. It has an automatic greasing device which functions every one-hundred miles. The back seat is equipped with a telephone to the driver. Overall it weighs six-thousand pounds; or fifteen-hundred pounds more than a new Cadillac.

Hal plans to restore the car to "mint" condition and then drive it in the Fiesta parade. An appropriate debut for a truly distinctive classic.

The Delta Chi's played hosts last weekend, entertaining men from the General Motors Parade of Progress at their Saturday night party at Delta Chi Springs. The visitors took all talent trophies from Delta's and dates — the Rollins crowd found that others, too, know how to party.

The X Club held another of their famous shrimp and beer parties at Sanlando Springs, forty pounds of shrimp holding the spotlight. They report that the party was great, but nothing unusual happened — no one even got thrown in the lake — or is THAT unusual?

Chi O's talked Mr. and Mrs. Greenhut into chaperoning the Pelican, and spent two great days on the beach — until the weatherman brought rain late Sunday. John Allmand and John Thibodeau offered rides in their "Beach Buggies" to the brave, while the cautious — Diane Herblin, Bill Karslake, Joan Wilkinson, Dick Potter and Barb Lorbach — watched from the safety of a sand dune. Dave Dobson had a sudden spurt of energy Sunday morning, as he played chef — one order of bacon and burned toast, coming up!

Have you noticed there has been a subtle addition to the Walk of Fame — an inconspicuous cement block with imbedded pebbles, proudly proclaiming "Walt Dittmer, Frank Hutsell, Ted Dittmer — Casselberry Construction Crew — '53-'53 1/2."

The past seven days seem to have been Welcome Home Week at Rollins. Ed Stark and Don Marvin returned to party with the KA's — Wayne Pontious, Jack Large, and Dan Pinger appeared, just to check on the going-on — Don Wilson dropped in for a short visit before going back to Ft. Lauderdale where he is staying with his brother — and Jack McVey and Bill Pautler dashed down from St. Louis for a quick bit of sunshine. Everyone is glad to see them, the only regret being that we have to go to classes while they're fancy free!

The Gamma Phi's concluded a week of merry-making with initiation on Sunday night. Pat Barlowe, Marjean Booth, Dancien Clapp, Mary Ellen Corbett, Delle Davies, Lynn Hagerty, Frances Henry, Doris Hicks, Joan Morgan, Vivien Rowland and Billie Jo Whipple joined the active ranks. The banquet at the Aviation Country Club ended with Vivien receiving the Scholarship Cup, Billie Jo the Best Pledge Award, and Robin Metzger accepting a completely unexpected award presented by the alums.

Fourteen new Theta's received their kites — Arlene Agan, Ellie Bartel, Joan Becker, Joan Benson, JoAnn Davis, Jane Frankenberg, Larry Kaelher, Ann McDermaid, Nancy McMillan, Jane Moody, Mary Ann Norton, Roma Nuendorf, Sue Roth, and Sally Simeon.

Also on the initiated list — the Phi Mu's — Shirley Asher, Carol Beardsley, Marijo Boulware, Joyce Chancellor, Pris Dimock, Irene Drake, Joyanne Herbert, Sally Nye, Carlyn Rhodes, Chickie Robertson, Kathy Schwarz, and Sally Sowers. Better by the dozen!

And to wind up the weekend, an engagement: Joan Benson, Theta and Don Reidel, KA.

Pledged — George Milam, Sigma Nu.

ADVICE GIVEN TO SENIORS BY FAMOUS ORATOR

by Bob Townsend

There was once a very famous statesman who was invited to give an address to the graduating class. Being accustomed to public speaking, he didn't bother to prepare a speech beforehand confident that a suitable inspiration would dawn upon him from some local situation.

He got all the way to the door of the auditorium before he found what he wanted; something on which to base his message of hope and inspiration. On the door was a brass plate bearing the word "PUSH." Confidently he entered the hall, took his place on the podium and awaited his turn to speak.

He began: "Members of the graduating class—you are going out into the cold, hard world of reality where perseverance is necessary in order to get what you want from life. And to get ahead, you will need a certain quality which even now is engraved on the doors of this very hall."

At this everyone in the hall turned around and looked at the doors. There, engraved clearly on the brass plate was the single word "PULL."

A Place In The Sun Is The Plea Of Cloverleaf Girls

by Joan Wilkinson

There is one messy, wet and damp problem I have encountered since I have lived at Cloverleaf. What does one do with clothes after one has washed them? I'm sure everyone is thinking, "Hang them up of course." Well, that is what I've been striving to do since I arrived at Rollins, but so far no success.

First I tried the edge of the bathtub, but everytime anyone took a bath, which was about every hour, I would find my clothes on the floor, crumpled, tangled, and dirty, as if someone had used them as a bathmat.

I next proceeded to hang clothes outside the bathroom window, which was fine until complaints started arriving from the French House. It seems they had a bird's-eye view of blouses, pajamas, and other incidentals. Personally, if pupils would pay a little more attention to French and a little less time looking out the window, they would never have noticed those clothes.

Finally I decided to buy a wooden rack dryer which I promptly put to use. Little did I dream that just because it was cold and necessary to keep my windows shut, my clothes would turn green with mold, my room would smell like a damp, musty, dank tomb, and my clothes would hang limp and refuse to dry. I guess everything has its good points; people could always grow orchids, molds for penicillin, and stalactites.

By this time I was really getting desperate so I tried a fan. I put the clothes on the wooden rack, placed the fan a foot in front of the rack, and before I knew what was happening I saw my clothes get chomped, ripped, and torn to ribbons.

I know I should give in and send my clothes to a laundry, but I'm stubborn, in other words—broke. So, if anyone knows of an easy solution to my problem, please get in touch with me at Cloverleaf. Just look for the room with the Spanish Moss growing out of the ceiling.

New Year In Moscow

Seven Americans spent New Year's Eve with students of Moscow University and, according to Dean Schoelkopf, editor of the University of Minnesota Daily, welcomed 1954 in true Russian style.

"Festivities started," Schoelkopf reports, "with a musical program in the university auditorium. Following that the Americans and a group of Russian students retired to a private midnight supper and a round of toasts."

"The first toast — to world peace, incidentally — was with vodka. There is no sipping the stuff. The Russians were quite familiar with the idiom, 'down the hatch,' and were insistent that everyone comply. After that there were more vodka toasts to perfectly innocuous proposals. Then followed toasts with champagne, cognac, wine and beer, in that order. Interspersed with the toasts were rounds of caviar and other Russian dishes."

Intra-M Basketball Season Hit Stride; Lambda Chi and X Club Takes Victories

by Jim Locke

In the first half of the twin-bill at Rec Hall Tuesday night, the 26th, the Lambda Chis, paced by the potent scoring punch of Jerry Gunnerson's 23 points, defeated the KAs 43-25.

Unable to cope with the pace setting Gunnerson, and missing the scoring of their big offensive gun, Dick Quillan, the KAs trailed throughout the first half.

MARLENE STEWART IS RUNNER-UP IN HELEN LEE DOUGHTERY MEET

Marlene Stewart, British Open Amateur Champion, was runner-up in the Helen Lee Doughtery tournament played at Miami Shores Golf Club this past week. She lost one down in the final 36-hole match played Sunday.

In playing her way to the finals, Marlene beat such famous golfers as Helen McDougal of Saskatchewan and Bobbie Dawson of California in the first and second rounds.

In the semi-finals, she defeated Mary Ann Downy of Maryland 7-6 and Vonnice Colby of Hollywood, Florida, 3-2.

While Marlene was defeating Colby, Gracie DeMoss Smith was beating Mary Lena Faulk, the US National Amateur Champion.

This put Marlene in the finals against Mrs. Smith, member of the 1952 Curtis Cup team and former semi-finalist in the women's national amateur tourney.

Marlene was three down at the end of 18 holes. On the second round, she won the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth holes and was even with Mrs. Smith at the end of 27. The 36th hole was the heart-breaker as Marlene lost one up.

The second half was no more successful than the first for Kappa Alpha, as the Lambda Chis, picking up the game tempo with a fast break, monopolized both the scoring and the backboards.

The nightcap of the double-header saw the X Club coasting to an easy 60-41 win over Sigma Nu.

Carrying the scoring burden during the first half, Cary and Remsberg kept the Club out in front but with no great margin of safety.

Late in the third stanza, the Sigma Nus, led by Chuck Weissman's six point outburst, rallied in a furious up-hill struggle. Their effort was in vain as Delton Helms curled in successive lay-ups.

CHIP SHOTS

BY ALLEE CHATHAM

If you want to see a good softball game, come out to the Sandspur Bowl this afternoon at 4:15 and watch the Kappas and the Alpha Phis battle it out. This will be a game worthy of watching, for both groups have strong teams that are in the running for the top spot on the softball ladder.

The Kappas' practice sessions have been long and regular, in fact, just about every day. Jerry Faulkner, in her third appearance for the Kappas, will be trying for another victory, similar, if possible, to their 27-0 whalloping of the Chi O's. She will have a well-balanced team to back her up; and one that has lots of pep and hustle.

The Alpha Phi's will have the confidence of knowing they have a very fine pitcher in Bobby Feidt. Nat Rice, at short stop, is expected to cover her position with the greatest of ease. Pledges, Sue Reed, Sidney Kromer, and Sandy Shepperd, will be adding their efforts.

Chatham

Chatham seems to play in spurts, at times showing streaks of genius.

In the only other game played last week, the Gamma Phis beat the Chi O's 16-9 in a good game that was full of keen competition and spirit till the last girl was out. The Gamma Phis seemed to play in spurts, at times showing streaks of genius.

TARS TAKE 2ND WIN OVER NAVY BY 82-51 SCORE

The Rollins Tars took their second victory over the VJ Squadron No. 62 of the Sanford Naval Air Station by 82-51 at Sanford last Tuesday night.

The Tars took the lead in the opening minutes of the game and used their height to good advantage to grab off a 37-23 lead at half-time.

Bill Cost, Bob MacHardy and Dave Feldman led the Rollins scorers with 15, 13 and 10 points respectively. Jim Maroney led the Sailors with 25 markers, which was the high point total for the evening.

The game was played for the benefit of the March of Dimes and netted a total of $12 for the polio fund.

The Scoreboard

By CHUCK LAMBETH

The latest campus sport should be called to the attention of the Intramural Board. Since Student Council has taken the first steps toward initiation of the grand old game of "kick the luminous can," the men's social groups who wish to compete should call a special meeting of the Intramural Board and set up both the rules under which it will be played and the schedule of contests.

This game may well be the solution to the problem of combating the fall sports lag at Rollins. If it is not an adequate solution; it is certainly the only one which has been proposed and acted upon in a serious vein.

This column can visualize the excitement of the crowds at the first game of "kick the luminous can." The throngs will line the Walk of Fame while eager, heavily padded players strive to boot a glowing five-gallon can thru the goal posts.

The sprinklers as they exist seems to be placed at just the right height to be used for goal posts and the only expense incurred will be in paying referees to call these most important contests.

In their regular meeting, held Monday afternoon, the Intramural

Board took much-needed action in declaring "no contest" all basketball games in which the Independent Men took part this season.

After the Indies failed to show up for a series of scheduled contests, the board decided to rule out all Indie games and take away their entrance points for basketball.

This action also allowed the board to re-set the schedule with games being played on only two nights each week. This eliminated the problem of one team having to play three nights in succession.

Aside from the kidding rendered in the first section of this column, the Student Council has added a spectator touch to 1954 sports scene. Joe Dallanegra announced at the last meeting that "walkie-talkies" can be purchased for use during Tar crew races. These will operate from the officials' launch to the shore and give spectators a stroke-by-stroke account of home races starting on March 27.

TARS TO RACE COMPOSITE CREW AT 4:30, FRIDAY

Tomorrow afternoon the Rollins crew will take to the water for its first intercollegiate competition of the season. The Tars will row against a composite crew made up of men from the University of Wisconsin and Florida Southern College.

This will be an exhibition race and will not be counted in the records of any of the competing crews.

The starting seatings for the race, which will get under way at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon, at Lake Maitland, are as follows:

Shell No. 1	Shell No. 2
Fla. S'thern. bow Boyle
Smith, Irv (W)	2 Potter
Williams (W)	3 Gross
Trunumer (W)	4 Karslake
Fink (W)	4 Bilensky
Merow (W)	6 Thibodeau
Severence (W)	7 Thompson
Smith (W) stroke Weber
Winslow (W) cox	Dallanegra

The Tar crew will compete in the first annual Florida Southern Founders' Day Regatta, which will be held on March 5 at Lake Maitland.

Dr. U. T. Bradley, Tar coach has also announced the tentative appointment of Dave Bowen as crew manager. To quote Dr. Bradley, "Bowen will be crew manager, if he stops falling into the water."

Tars Top Bartow 73-63 Before Empty House

by Dick Haldeman

Rollins and Bartow Air Force played poorly, before a near empty house, at the Winter Park gymnasium Friday night, with the Tars depending upon a second period rally and third quarter freeze to win, 73-63.

After Bartow arrived 20 minutes late at the gymnasium, Rollins sparred to a scanty, 17-15, advantage in a rough first period thanks mostly to the work of center Dave Feldman. Feldman accounted for seven of the first nine Tar points and totalled 21 before fouling out midway in the fourth quarter.

Early in the second quarter, a new Tar unit, including Connie Mack Butler and Jim Cook; helped the Tars, jump to a comfortable, 40-23, lead at the half. An airman was ejected during the quarter for vigorously protesting a foul call. Three other visitors made exits during the tilt.

Rollins employed a semi-freeze in the second half against Bartow's tight zone. Meantime the airmen pecked at their lead with long set shots, but a fourth quarter eleven point spree by Tar Nick Vancho preserved a ten point Rollins margin, 73-63.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. says . . .

FOR more than thirty years we have used research day in and day out learning about tobaccos and cigarettes in the public's interest.

Continuously we and our consultants have analyzed, experimented with and smoked all kinds of tobaccos . . . especially Southern Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettes and competitive brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny including thousands of analyses of millions of pounds of tobaccos.

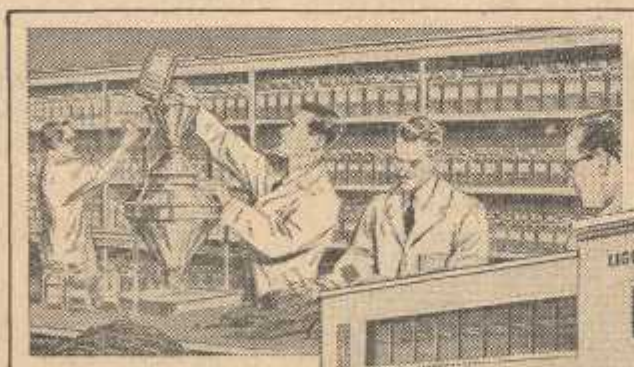

From all these thousands of analyses, and other findings reported in the leading technical journals, our Research Department has found no reason to believe that the isolation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobaccos today would improve smoking.

For four years we have maintained in the smoker's interest an intensified larger scale diversified research program. A half-million dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested tens of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given to us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

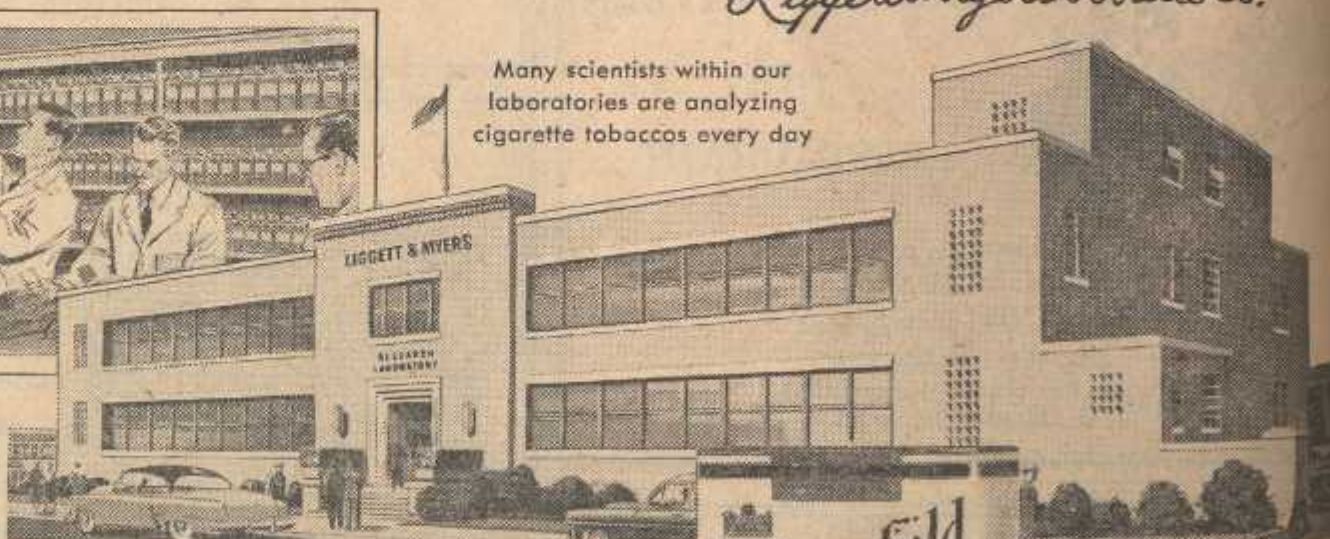

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, "one of the largest and most reputable industrial research organizations in the country" (From Business Week Magazine) and eminent scientists from leading universities.

Today the public can confidently choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.
