EDITORIALS

IT'S ANIMATED

When President, or rather, Editor McKean begins his spiel this Sunday, another edition of the Animated Magaine will have gone to press and readied for public consumption.

The Magazine will serve as the climax of Founder's Week which is the busiest time of the year. At no other time do so many organizations band together to produce the schedule of events that are presented with almost machine gun like rapidity. There is no let up, and everything sparkles with co-operation.

In fact, the entire college is animated during Founder's Week, for it is the time to take stock of what has been accomplished and what remains to be done.

But no one will be displeased by this year's inventory. Rollins has grown stronger in every respect and its healthy, animated spirit, indicates that it will grow even stronger in the future.

THE LONG HITCH

With the Marines extending the tour of duty of all men joining the Platoon Leaders Class subsequent to the first of February, 1954, Rollins students are finding themselves faced with a difficult problem.

In the past, because there was no R.O.T.C. here, a large number of men were enrolling in the Platoon Leaders to obtain their commissions, and to insure their four years of a draft-free college existence. After serving two summer vacations in boot camp, these men received their commissions and then served the usual two years of active duty.

Now the tour of duty has been extended from two years to three years of active duty after being commissioned and students are faced with the problem of choosing either a long hitch as an officer, or a shorter one in the Army as an enlisted man.

Admittedly the draft will not press college students as closely as in the past while they're in school, but there will be more pressure placed on the incoming students to pick a college which can give them R.O.T.C. training with a short service hitch as an officer after graduation, or a college that, after giving them a degree, will turn the graduate loose as either an officer with a tour of duty equal to the length of time he would spend in graduate school, or merely another "dog face".

The new policy reflects the Armed Forces trend of seeking more professional soldiers, but it catches the Rollins students on the hip. R.O.T.C. is now more of a necessity than ever before.

The Chapel Tower

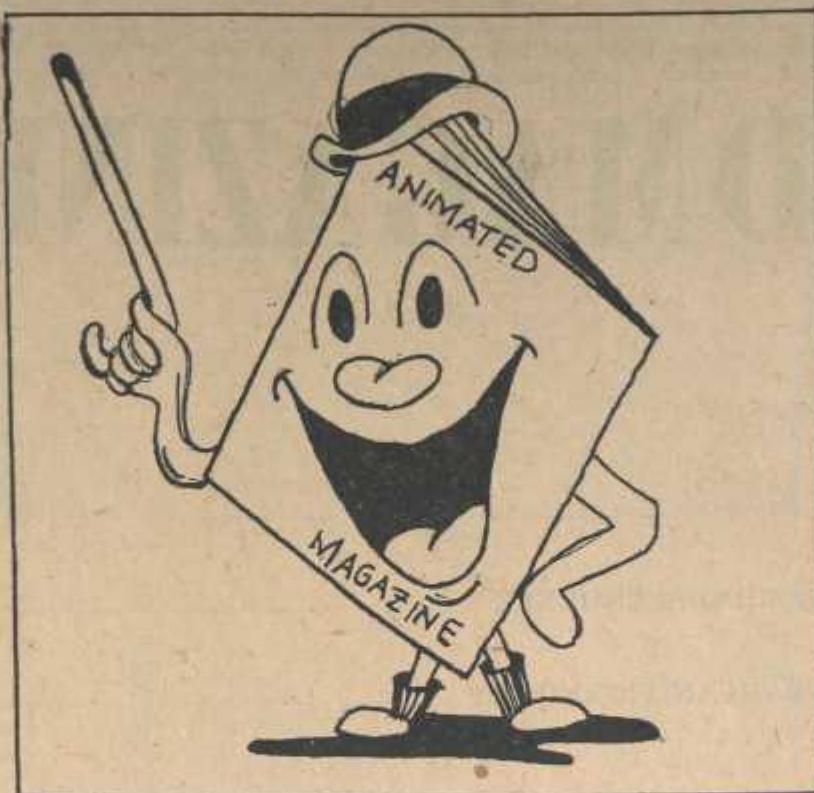

T. S. Darrah

This is an old twister, but George Stimpson puts it this way. A man had a two-dollar bill and wanted to buy a railroad ticket that cost three dollars. He took the two-dollar bill to a pawn shop and pawned it for $1.50. He met a friend at the railroad station and sold him the pawn ticket for $1.50. Then with three dollars he bought his ticket.

Obviously there is something wrong here, and we ought to figure it out. For there are too many things that look all right on the surface, but have a catch. No one ever gets anything for nothing, and some one always gets hurt in sharp deals.

(If you haven't got this one figured out by next week I'll tell.)

It Walks. It Talks

World News In Brief

One of the best things to come out of the Berlin Conference was unconsciously accomplished by the actions of Russia's Molotov. For now the Big Three are closer together than they have been at any time since the death of Stalin.

Molotov attempted to split the Big Three at the very beginning of the talks when he suggested that there be a private Russo-Franco agreement on Germany. This was a logical move as France seemed the place where he could drive a wedge between the allies. France's George Bidault, however, sarcastically suggested that the U. S. and Britain should be included and that killed the proposal.

The Big Three conferees have been working together with little or no friction. Bidault, under the Russian attack, has gained a great deal in stature and respect. It is plain that he has no desire to make any type of a deal with the Communists.

But even better, the European Defense Community looks much better and stronger to Europe with each new verbal thrust by the Russians. All in all, Europe is pulling together instead of apart.

LIFE ON OTHER CAMPUSES

Southern Methodist University
Consider the case of the decorative water fountain at Southern Methodist University.

It isn't run in the winter — because it might freeze. And it isn't run in the summer — because there's a water shortage in town that time of year.

Last week the SMU student council voted unanimously to try to get the fountain flowing.

How are they going to do it? Easy. Use anti-freeze, and let it bubble all winter.

Tau Beta Pi
"Tau Beta Pi has again prepared exam problems from previous years to help the student body get ready for the term's shakers. An important new addition will be the insertion of answers, a feature which will make the old exam copies even more popular. These review exams will go on sale for ten cents per copy."

Cambridge University
A new society has been formed at Cambridge University dedicated to the advancement and promotion of knife throwing at the institution.

Undergraduate members of the Cambridge Knife Throwing club are now in the process of hunting up targets.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

May I take this means, since I cannot see all of them personally, to thank the casts of "Trial" and "Valley" for the great pleasure I received in participating with them in those very successful productions.

Special thanks must go to Mrs. Sias, Mr. Hufstader, and Mr. Dorsett, for their painstaking and splendid direction, and to the chorus and crew, for it was they who put in the longest hours and the gruelling work so necessary to the success of the productions, while in comparison, we "leads" had an easy time of it.

It was a privilege to have work with you. Thank you all.

Sincerely yours,
ROSS ROSAZZA

'ROUND ROLLINS

Sixty-nine years ago, after many weeks of inter-town rivalry and finally a generous grant of land and money by Alfonso Rollins, the site was selected and a party of Congregationalists made their way across the Florida sands to the shores of Lake Virginia. From these modest beginnings amid sand spurs and grub palms, sprang what is today one of the country's most beautiful colleges.

Hopes were high, and some of the founders looked forward to what was to be "the Harvard of the South." Their dream grew until today Rollins holds its head high among the colleges of the South. It can't boast (nor does it want to) of being the largest, but it is proud of its part in the education of young Americans, for here students meet in a congenial atmosphere seeking the answers to life's many questions.

And here their efforts are generously rewarded, for like all fine schools Rollins believes that education is a challenge — and not an obstacle course. What we have to offer is stimulation, and not a "phony." Answers for the sake of answers is not the Rollins approach. The will, the desire to learn, that which stimulates inquisitiveness — these things are the ingredients of the Rollins curriculum.

Over a quarter of a century ago Hamilton Holt came to Winter Park, and brought with him a new stimulus. Suddenly the college sprang to new life, and the town began to grow by leaps and bounds. A famous man in his own right, "Prexy" Holt was no "educator." He was a man who had the experiences of a lifetime behind him; and he decided, with firm conviction (as was his habit), that education must be bent around life, rather than casting life in education's mold.

In an effort to humanize college work, Dr. Holt experimented with an idea which had been lurking in the back of his fertile mind for some time. The result was the conference "plan." To implement his idea, he brought to his faculty many outstanding men, and advised his students to "pick professors instead of courses, for the profs might be alive."

Today our school is being piloted through the turbulent currents of modern times by one of its graduates. President McKean is a product of the Rollins environment, and best personifies its high standards. With the sound concept, that anything but progress is regression, Rollins is moving ahead to the new and exciting horizons which are always motivating forces for education.

"Seek the truth, and ye shall find it."

Shakespeare Music, Drama Highlight Annual Program

"Shakespeareana," the eighth annual program of songs, scenes and soliloquies, will be presented by Nina Oliver Dean's Shakespeare class at Rollins College as a part of the Founders' Week celebration in Strong Hall patio today at 4 p.m. The performance, which is open to the public without charge, will be held in the Fred Stone Theatre in case of rain.

The atmosphere will suggest that of a sixteenth century innyard or the Globe Theatre, with a flag flying to show a play is in progress, trills on the trumpet to announce the opening, seats in the galleries for the occupants of "the inn." However, the "groundlings" in the patio "pit" will have chairs, and the orange girls will give away their wares for a Shakespearean quotation.

Alice Anderson, soprano, formerly of the Juilliard faculty, who has made many appearances in recital and oratorio in this country and abroad, will sing two groups of songs of Shakespeare's day assisted by her husband, Robert Hufstader, Director of the Rollins Conservatory of Music. Mr. Hufstader will also direct the Rollins Singers in Elizabethan madrigals. Sylvia Graves, accompanied by John Philips, and William Hardy, assisted by Frances Chapman, will sing songs from Shakespeare's plays.

Students in the Shakespearean scenes, directed by Howard Bailey, will be Leland Kimball, Jack Randolph, Louis Ingram, Cynthia Wellenkamp, Jon Dunn-Rankin, Arlette Girault, Connie Shields, Dick Dixon, Sunny Dorwitt and Jane Frankenberg.

The program, which developed as a class project, is an interesting example of cooperation between the English, Theatre Arts, Art Departments, and the Conservatory of Music.

Self Study Committee At Jamesto'n Reports

Copies of a 60-page condensed report of the self-study committee at Jamestown College are now available to educators. The self-study, sponsored by a $20,500 grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, has been underway since last February.

A good time was had by all at the Valentine Ball sponsored by the Kappas last Saturday night at the Orange Court Hotel. A large crowd danced till midnight amid decorations of balloons and valentines.

COMEDY GIVEN THIS WEEK AT ANNIE RUSSELL

"Years Ago" presented by the Rollins Players is being given in the Annie Russell Theatre February 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20th.

Under the direction of Howard Bailey the richly comic story includes in the cast; in the starring role Lis Otis, Ruth Gordon Jones; Clark Warren, the father; Joan Jennings, the mother; Pete Adams, Fred Whitmarsh, Ruth's beau; Delle Davies, Katharine Follett; Katherine Vockroth, Anna Witham; Harvey Pylant, Mr. Bagley; Sonia Dorwitt, Miss Galvin; Tony Haarstick, Mr. Sparrow; Punk the cat, himself. The scenery was handed by Richard Verigan with Cameron MacCardell, stage director.

The play, written by noted author-actress Ruth Gordon, is the story of the author's own youth. Miss Gordon, now the wife of a famed director-playwright, Garson Kanin, who wrote "Born Yesterday," is herself the author of a previous comedy "A Double Life."

Marine OCC Extends Active Duty Period

All newly enrolled Marine officer candidates will be required to serve an extended period of active duty after being commissioned, according to General Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Current and future officer requirements of the Marine Corps, as they are presently indicated, make desirable longer periods of active service for all newly commissioned reserve officers, General Shepherd said this week.

The Marine Corps has completed plans to make certain that a college man who enrolls in the Platoon Leaders Class after July 1, 1954 will be required to serve three years of active commissioned service, instead of the present two-year tour.

Officer Candidate Course candidates enrolled subsequent to February 1, 1954 are subject to this new policy change now. This new obligated active duty service does not apply to OCC and PLC candidates who are currently enrolled or whose applications are awaiting approval; nor does it apply to reserve officers now on active duty.

General Shepherd also declared that the new additional service requirement for reserve officers does not apply to college women who apply for the Corps' Women Officers Training Course. The next WOTC course is scheduled for June 1954 at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia.

Business Firms Send Representatives For Interviewing Seniors

It has been announced by Dr. W. D. Robbins, head of the Placement Bureau at Rollins that representatives of various business firms have been on campus interviewing seniors for jobs during the past week.

Such firms as the W. T. Grant Company, Firestone Rubber Company, Government Representative of Civil Service, Proctor and Gamble, Boy Scouts of America, and International Business Machines have interviewed seniors.

The Bureau has a master sheet with 104 companies listed. It is available in the office and all seniors are asked to come in and look it over. It gives all information necessary about the firms and their job openings.

The bulletin board in Carnegie will have a list of the firms and what day the representatives are coming. Notices will also be sent to all seniors.

Travel And Study Inc. Arrange For Tour

The seventy major airlines of IATA (International Air Transport Association) have recently agreed to extend tourist air services around the world.

Arranged through the pioneering efforts of Travel and Study Inc. of New York these tours include trips to suit all tastes and budgets.

'Years Ago' This Week At Annie Russell Theatre

by Kathey Siegler

Rollins thespians offer a delightful contribution to Founder's Week through the current Annie Russell Theatre production of Years Ago, by Ruth Gordon. Under the imaginative direction of Howard Bailey, the Rollins cast has succeeded in producing a sincere, polished and thoroughly professional performance.

The story deals with the problems of a sixteen-year-old aspiring actress, shortly after the turn of the century; when acting was regarded with awe and slightly raised eyebrows. Ruth's problem is intensified by her father's determination that she become a physical culture instructress.

Heading the cast as the over-emotional adolescent, Ruth, is Liz Otis. Miss Otis is completely amusing as the selfish little egoist, ranging from the heights of ecstasy to exaggerated despair. Beneath a surface childishness, evidenced in whining, nagging, and outrageous bursts of temper when Ruth's plans are thwarted, Miss Otis subtly transmits the underlying seriousness and single-mindedness of Ruth's ambition to the extent that, besides being annoyed at her lack of emotional control, one feels a secret admiration for her dogged determination not to let anything block her ascent to "the great white way."

Clark Warren is clever and amusing as Ruth's errand boy father who had once traded the adventurous life of a sailor for respectability, a family, and a white collar job. Entertaining in his fiery temper and demoralizing bluntness, Clinton Jones is seen as a man in whom emotional and economic insecurity is so deeply imbedded that conflicting emotions make him appear gruff and tyrannical. Mr. Warren, however, reveals Clinton's deep love for his family and his desperate desire to give them what he himself had lacked.

Ruth's mother, Annie Jones, is probably the least complicated member of the family, her principal job being to act as confidante and diplomat. Jean Jennings interpreted Ann sensitively and wisely as a simple soul, warm and intensely devoted, earnest in her attempts to satisfy all and keep peace at the same time, but never feeling quite adequate to the situation, wishing desperately that life were as simple as "mental science" would have it, and that her family were not quite so "different."

Pete Adams as Ruth's Harvard beau, is convincingly amusing and a little pathetic as the frustrated lad who tries to compete with the "theatrical" for Ruth's affections and can't get to first base.

Sonny Dorwit is satisfactory as the muscle-bound physical culture instructress, as is Harvey Pylant, her companion and Mrs. Jones' drill master. Delle Davies and Kathy Vockroth were pleasant and decorative foils for Ruth, as her classmates, while Tony Haarstick, as Mr. Sparrow, offers a couple of entertaining interludes.

ODK To Present Two Outstanding Movies Feb. 24 and March 2

Rollins' O. D. K. will present two outstanding pictures in the Annie Russell Theatre.

Wednesday, February 24 is the date set for "The Promoter" starring Alec Guinness. "The Rocking Horse Winner" starring John Mills and Valerie Hobson will be presented Tuesday, March 2.

Matinee performances are at 3:30 p.m. and evening shows at 8:30 p.m.

Prices are $1.15 to the general public and 60c to college students and faculty.

A scene from "Years Ago" shows Clark Warren, Liz Otis, and Joan Jennings in a tense family situation. This play, originally a stage production, was produced in Hollywood for motion pictures. Pete Adams now has the part, in our version, that Tony Perkins, an alum, had in the motion picture production.

CELEBRITIES VISIT CAMPUS FOR FOUNDERS WEEK FESTIVITIES

Rollins College yesterday released its Founders' Week program, which began Sunday, Feb. 14, and will come to a climax over the George Washington Birthday weekend with the annual Founders' Week dinner, Alumni Day, the Animated Magazine and Mid-Winter Convocation.

In the meantime Hugh F. McKean, president of Rollins College and editor of the Magazine, said that the list of contributors to the Magazine has been virtually completed. These speakers also will be special guests at the Founders' Week dinner on Saturday, Feb. 20, at the Country Club of Orlando.

Contributors are Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign minister; Lillian Gish, stage and screen star; Dr. Theodore P. Ferris, rector of famed Trinity Church, Boston; Lt. Commander James B. Verdin, holder of the Navy jet plane speed record; Pote Sarasin, Thailand Ambassador to the United States; Charles Edison, Chairman of the Board of Thomas A. Edison, Inc.; and Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer.

The Founders' Week celebration started Sunday, Feb. 14, at 8:30 p.m. with a 2-piano concert by students of the Rollins Conservatory of Music at the Woman's Club of Winter Park. During the week there will be an exhibition of Japanese art from the collection of Mrs. George E. Stratemeyer at Morse Gallery of Art; a reception Tuesday in honor of General and Mrs. Stratemeyer; and a 5-night performance by the Rollins Players of Ruth Gordon's "Years Ago."

The annual luncheon is scheduled at All Saints Episcopal Parish House, Saturday, Feb. 20, at 12:30 p.m. Reservations at $1.65 per plate should be made by Wednesday night, Feb. 17.

Founders' Week dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Orlando Country Club and will be over in time for guests to attend the Florida Symphony Concert and Junior League Ball later that night.

The Animated Magazine will start at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 21, and the Mid-Winter Convocation and awarding of honorary degrees is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday, February 22, in Knowles Memorial Chapel.

DU NOUY ESSAY TITLE CHOSEN

Professor van Boecop announces that the subject for this year's Lecomte du Nouy Essay Contest is, "The Place of the Individual in Evolution."

The contest is open to all students, and this year the $100 prize will be divided into a first prize of $75 and a second of $25, as suggested by Madame Lecomte de Nouy.

The essay must be typed on standard-sized paper, consist of

from 1500 to 2500 words, and may be written in either French or English.

It must be handed to Professor van Boecop, chairman of the committee, on or before April 20th. It must appear under a pseudonym, with the author's real name enclosed in a sealed envelope attached to the paper. The books by Lecomte du Nouy which are to be consulted are: "The Road to Reason" and "Human Destiny".

INDIE WOMEN SET CAST FOR "GREEN BOTTLE"

The Independent Women's Organization announces the cast of their forthcoming musical comedy, "The Little Green Bottle," which will be presented in the Winter Park High School Auditorium March 11th through the 13th.

Dick Dixon, Marie Perkins, and Sylvia Graves will be featured in the leading roles, and the supporting roles will be played by Dave Smith, Jerry O'Brien, Jack Randolph, Jerry Campbell, Mary Marsh Ken Meiser, and Brian Bird. The musical also features a sixteen member chorus and a twenty-five piece orchestra. Dick Richards, the author and composer of the show, announces that the show is making marvelous progress as it moves into rehearsals.

Camma Ward, the designer of the costumes and sets, has produced some stunning costumes and colorful, imaginative sets. The director of the musical will be Phil Schmitt, the chorus will be directed by Betty Jean Lang. Winnie Gray is doing the choreography; Bruce Elwell will be in charge of scenery construction, and Dick Richards will direct the orchestra.

The proceeds from the sale of tickets for this year's production will be used for a scholarship to Rollins College next year.

1st Near East Essay Contest Announced

The Syrian and Lebanese American Foundation of the Eastern States has announced its first annual Near East essay contest for 1954.

The subject of this contest, the winner of which will receive a one hundred dollar savings bond and a trophy, will be "What is America's Stake in the Arab World".

Winning essays will also be published in the Federation's magazine and will be distributed to colleges and universities all over the globe.

Essays to be judged in this contest must be from 2,000 to 3,000 words in length and may be submitted only by full time students of an accredited college or university in the United States; and these students must be citizens of the U.S.A.

Manuscripts must be submitted in triplicate, with the author's name on a separate sheet, to: Eastern States Federation, 420 Bond Building, 1404 New York Avenue, N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

At the beginning of the winter term, Rollins welcomed Mr. John Frazer from London, England, to its teaching staff.

Mr. Frazer was born in London, in 1928, but was soon evacuated to a village outside the city by his family because of the war. He went to a country boarding school there. After finishing this much of his education he served for two years in the Air Force before entering Oxford.

He obtained a B.A. degree in English at Oxford after three years of studying. He then traveled to Israel where he taught in a large secondary school for two years. In his work there, Mr. Frazer taught native born students of two kinds. Those with an excellent command of the language had literature, while those who had done little work in the subject learned grammar.

In the article on Professor Wolff in the January 28th issue of the Sandspur, he was mistakenly referred to as Dr. Wolff. He is not a doctor, but a professor. He is at present working on his Ph.D.

While he was there his experiences were many and varied. Of interest would be the work he did in one of the many kibbutzim. These are communal farming settlements where everything is shared, while everyone works together.

He told also of a visit he made to Jerusalem. Entering as a pilgrim on Christmas he wandered around the city and then went to Bethlehem where he was able to observe a Midnight Mass. He also visited such places as Nazareth, the Sea of Galilee, and the Mount of Olives. In all of these places, said Mr. Frazer, and especially in Jerusalem, the past is very much alive.

In the summer of 1953, Mr. Frazer came to the United States and enrolled at Columbia University in New York to study American Literature. He came because he had a number of friends here, and he wanted to find out, "what America was all about."

He said that Europeans hear many contradictory things about this country and that they tend to view it with suspicion. He finds conditions here are very different from and much better than he had expected. Life is less flamboyant, less brutal, and more serious, he said, and there is a desire to learn, and this desire is respected. He feels that in this respect, it is very important for Europeans to come to the States in order to understand what is happening; for if they don't know what is taking place here, they don't know what's going on in half the world.

Mr. Frazer was enthusiastic about Rollins. He thinks the conference plan is an admirable system and a most effective way of learning. He finds that the atmosphere in the college is very friendly, and he feels that the place it takes in the community is excellent.

After finding out the other day Rollins has a crew, he was very comforted because he said: "A college is not a real college until it has a crew!"

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

by Bob Townsend

There is a great discussion on campus now as to whether we have school spirit or not. Here are some of the answers I received when I asked, "What do you think of the school spirit here at Rollins?"

Ross Fleischmann says: "There doesn't seem to be a united spirit for Rollins. We have to develop a spirit that will make all the individual parts unite towards a stronger and better College."

Adele Cooley thinks that: "The spirit is definitely lacking. It is quite evident to any visitor on campus that we have no spirit. The only way we can obtain a united spirit is by starting with the freshman class. This is being tried but is receiving little or no cooperation from the other classes. There should also be more announcements before athletic events."

Tom LeClere has this to say: "It has shown marked improvement this year mainly through the outstanding efforts of the freshman class."

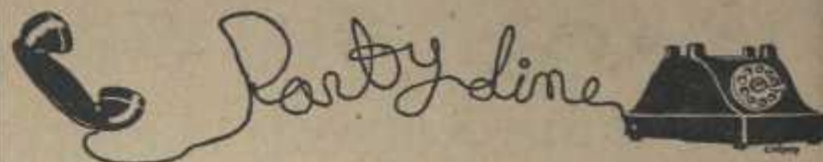

However, it can be greatly improved on by a year-round concentration of interest with emphasis placed on the fall quarter in which the lack of inter-collegiate athletics creates a lull."

Marijo Boulware, one of our freshmen, states:

"There isn't too much interest in the school activities. What little spirit there is is good, but with a united effort we can achieve a greater unity and therefore a greater school spirit."

Valentine hearts in red and white carried out the theme at the Kappa's Valentine Ball Saturday night. Buddy High, Larry Bentley, and Wayne Pontious returned in time to join in the festivities.

The Independent Women missed the dance, but spent an enjoyable weekend at the Pelican. Mr. Suter and his wife chaperoned, with Daisy Helbig, Kathy Cooper, Jerry Sprayregen, and Dave Bowen being among the guests. Only a tow truck called to extract two cars from the sand interrupted an otherwise restful weekend.

Looking back one weekend — the Delta Chi's and Sigma Nu's collaborated to throw a tremendous party on a Saturday night, while the KA's played host to visiting members from the University of Kentucky.

Libra tapped new members at 10:30 one evening, and caught four girls in varying apparel. Allee Chatham, Faith Emeny, Jane Hunsicker and Robin Metzger were caught in their dorms, while a phone call to Ponte Vedra informed Myra Brown that she had been tapped.

The Gamma Phi's planned a stag party for after their game with the Alpha Phi's, thinking it could be either a celebration or a "drown our sorrows" party. Badly beaten by the polished Alpha Phi team, they adjourned to the chosen site to party in spite of it all.

Several people spent the weekend away from campus. Kathy Vockroth, Dot Campbell, and Wanda Hogue attended the Graduation Ball at Bartow Air Force Base.

Meredith Nail and Franny Draffan almost didn't make it back to campus by closing time Sunday night. While driving back from Pompano, a flat on the fruit truck in front of them broke, losing hundreds of oranges which nearly buried the car. Anyone for orange juice?

Gay Kerston entertained several Chi O's at her home in Fort Lauderdale. Alice Kuhn, Shirley Millar, Paula Crandall and Adele Cooley all returned with sun-burned faces.

The Stray Greeks entertained their adviser, Mr. Allen, and his wife with a Monday night dinner at the Villa Nova — minestrone soup and steaks from rare to well done took precedence over all other business of the evening.

Mary Ann Norton, Stretch Bartel and Nancy MacMillan went to Gainesville for the weekend, returning Saturday at midnight with two KA's in tow!

Several social groups elected officers this week, coming up with a new President, Veep, Secretary, and Treasurer for each "outfit." For the Independent Men, Ross Fleischmann, Phil Murray, Louis Garrard, Roger Bentley, and Jay Peterson. Phi Mu: Alison Dessau, Ann Palmer, Winnie Gray and Cyndy Wellenkamp. Pi Phi: Yvonne Oliver, Barbara Neal, Alele Fort, and Sue LeClere. Chi O's President is Virginia Carroll. A toast to the new leaders!

Pledged: Marie Saute, Phi Mu, Evie Fishman, Gamma Phi.

Married: Louise Mullin, Theta '53, and Lt. Art Yergey.

"Phi Beta presents" has, as far as I'm concerned, become a very welcome title on any program. Sunday night, February 12, Phi Beta hauled out its retinue of duopianists and gave a more than impressive program. Works by Bach, Schumann, Mozart and Franck were on the program and all were done with a professional style.

Of particular excellence was Mary Francis Chapman's playing of the allegro Mozart Concerto in D Major (the Coro-McFarlain nation). It was light and airy while at the same time strong and moving. Her manner on stage was one of poise and confidence without the affected smile and grin found on the faces of some of our better-known musicians.

As the time for the Bach Festival draws near one can but breathe a sigh of relief that Rollins has the honor of having one of the top choral directors in the country guiding the affair from beginning to end. Robert Hufstader, aside from other things, is a very great musician.

It really is a shame that when there is a play in the Annie Russell Theatre piano students are asked not to practice in the conservatory practice building—the more amazing because this building is supposedly soundproof! Aside from being a firetrap and an eyesore, the thing isn't even halfway free from disturbing sounds.

Memorial Record Collection Is Widely Played By Students Of Rollins College

by Sidney Kromer

If you're tired of studying and want to relax with music, or if you're the type who likes to study with sweet music in the background, then the Rollins Library is the place for you. For here you can find a collection of records, both classical and popular, to fit your every need and mood.

The record collection at Mills Memorial Library was begun by the students on April 23, 1952 in memory of Dr. Hamilton Holt, who retired as president in 1949. At that time, students Dan Haight and Dubac Preece became the first users of the record collection.

Then there were 20 records. Now, while the original collection remains practically the same, the gifts and the loan of many popular and classical records make a collection numbering over 300.

Records have been donated by many people including, BILL FRANGUS, Rollins alumnus, MRS. RALPH LYMAN BALDWIN, formerly a member of the Rollins Conservatory of Music and now assisting at the reserve desk at the library and MR. PAUL HUDSON, president of the Davella-Mills foundation which made possible the Mills Memorial Library through its generous gift.

A very much enjoyed group is the large collection lent by Lou Gault, Rollins sophomore. Included in this collection are such works as the "Overture to Romeo and Juliet" by Tchaikowsky, and the music from "South Pacific" "Show Boat," and "American in Paris." Other works include Greig's "Concerto in A Minor," "Concerto No. 2 in C Minor" by Rachmaninoff and many popular records.

The Library budget does not provide an appropriation for records, so, at present, the collection is entirely dependent upon gifts.

That the students enjoy these records is shown by the constant use of the two listening rooms. Many students can be found listening to their favorite records every night. Sometimes demands cannot be met with the two available players.

Non-music majors use the records a great deal as well as those students with specific class assignments.

You can now go to the library and sign out such tunes as Morton Gould's "My Blue Heaven," "Twelfth Street Rag," "On the Sunny Side of the Street," "The Shiek of Araby," popular Spanish songs, and many symphonies and operas.

The records are classed under 13 headings. These include: symphonies, sonatas, concertos, operas, light operas, orchestra compositions, string groups, trios, songs, folk songs, choral works, piano solos and popular music.

The total number of records used since the collection was first played in 1952 is 4300. This seems to be an indication that the record collection is filling a large place as one of the many services which the library furnishes students.

The staff feels that the record collection is one of the most popular and beneficial facilities of the library, and has become an important part of the college life.

Five Intramural Crews Take To Water; Gold And Black Virtually Set For Title

Lake Maitland, this past week has been the scene of intensive intramural rowing activity. The defending crew champions, Sigma Nu, firmly imbedded in first place, seem virtually assured of successfully defending their crown.

Officially opening the season, the Delta Chis last Thursday, easily out-distanced an inexperienced X Club that has not boated a shell since 1950. A broken seat in the second race caused the Indies to wallow about for 15seconds allowing the KAs to stroke themselves to victory.

The following day, buffeted by wind and waves, a green X-Club stoically bested the elements, but lost to the favored Sigma Nus. In the last race of the day the Delta Chis had no trouble scuttling the Indies.

The season's apex was reached Monday when the favorites, Delta Chi and Sigma Nu squared their sights on a race that would practically concede the winners walking offwiththe championship. Before a hard driving Delta Chi shell, the Sigma Nus relinquished a length lead midway in the race. Both shells were even and frantically pulling a 29 stroke per minute when, with but a desperate fifteen feet remaining, the Delta Chi shell pulled a crab. The Black and Gold ploughed across the finish line 2.3 seconds in front of the Deltas.

Anti-climatical to the first race, the KAs beat a sporadically rowing X Club crew. Four more races have been scheduled this week with the 1954 Championship having been decided after the final race Wednesday afternoon.

CHIP SHOTS

BY ALLEE CHATHAM

When a team works as hard as the Kappas, they usually come up with something — and they really did! They beat the Thetas, 4-1, in a game they, without a doubt, deserved to win. For the Thetas it was the first loss in the two years' softball and for Kay Dunlap, her first defeat in as many years. Heads-up fielding and hustle made up the difference in the two teams. Jeannie Rogers in the field, and Betty Brook at short, were particularly outstanding for the winners.

Disaster descended on the Kappas the very next day, however, in the form of a determined Alpha Phi team who romped to a 14-7 victory. The Kappas were holding a comfortable lead of six runs, only to have things come apart in the third inning when the Alpha Phis crossed the plate with fourteen runs.

Added to their Kappa victory, the Alpha Phis put two more in the win column with their 9-4 win over Phi Mu and 11-0 defeat of the Indies

X Club Heads League As I-M Basketball Moves Toward Finals

The second half of the intramural basketball season standings find the X Club, led by Bruce Remsberg, Bill Cary and Ed Dinga leading the pack.

In other games: Sigma Nu, paced by Jerry Campbell and Dave Smith topped Kappa Alpha 46-39.

Lambda Chi ran over Sigma Nu 62-41. Ken Meiser and Jerry Gunnerson 27 and 23 respectively for the victors.

Kappa Alpha, led by Dick Quillan topped Delta Chi 44-41.

Sigma Nu walloped the Deltas 40-16 despite a strange "freezing type" Delt offense. Bud Bilensky hit 13 for the winners.

Lambda Chi beat Kappa Alpha 53-45 as Gunnerson tallied 19 for Lambda Chi. Quillan had 13 for the losers.

The standings are as follows:

	WINS	LOSSES
X Club	6	0
Lambda Chi	4	2
Sigma Nu	3	3
Kappa Alpha	2	5
Delta Chi	1	6

Sally Evinrude pitched another victory for the Chi Os, as they beat the Pi Phis 5-3. The Pi Phis had the satisfaction, however, of a triple play, something seldom seen in any game.

Rollins Students Invited To Participate In Eustis C. of C. Aquatic Festival, Monday

by Jim Locke

On February 22nd at 2:30 on Lake Eustis, Rollins College will attempt to renew what, up to ten years ago, was an annual affair, a water regatta.

Sponsored by the Eustis Chamber of Commerce and staged by Rollins students this show is expected to attract ten to fifteen thousand spectators from the surrounding locale.

Dismayed over the apparent lagging interest of students in the development of a flourishing swimming program, Fleet Peoples, enthusiastic director of the Rollins waterfront, has ingeniously devised an extensive festival of aquatics. This program will consist of water skiing, water ballet, canoe tilting demonstrations of the evolution of the swimming stroke, and mens' and womens' war-canoe racing.

Fleet hopes, by means of this program, to once again acquaint students with the now neglected lakefront.

The water pagent, opened to all Rollins mens' and womens' social groups, will feature competition for silver trophies which will be awarded to the first place winners in each event.

The Scoreboard

By CHUCK LAMBETH

The X Club and Sigma Nu are set to tangle at Rec Hall tonight in what promises to be the top game of the intramural basketball schedule.

The Club is undefeated in this year's competition and need this victory to cinch the title. Sigma Nu, although not on the top of the league this year, has been strengthened by an agreement allowing groups to use their varsity crew men during the final weeks of the basketball season.

The Gold and Black will throw up an offense built around pivot-man Bud Bilensky in an attempt to out-score the Clubber's fast break and the sharp-shooting of Bruce Remsberg and Bill Cary.

over. The Tars have a good chance to go into a tie for the Florida State title. If Rollins can take the decision over Tampa, Stetson and Miami, the Tars will end the season with a 8-2 won-loss record for state competition; and will be tied with Florida State University which has already ended its in-state schedule.

The frosh have scheduled a home-coming ceremony before the Stetson game on February 23. The campus social groups have pledged their support to the team.

But outside of all this, every student should be at these final games to support their team and to prove to the Stetson Hatters in particular that he thinks the Tars are the best in Florida.

The cheerleaders are yelling their heads off — and they are getting some help. The attendance and spirit, as expressed in organized cheering, has been nearing what is should be in the last three Tar games.

ROLLINS WINS FOUR STRAIGHT

Tars Edge Jax Navy On MacHardy Shot By 79-78 Score

Captain Bob MacHardy sank the winning shot with seconds left to play in Friday night's game as the Tars squeezed past a fighting Jacksonville Navy five, 79-78, on the Sailor's home court.

The Tars led by nine points going into the final quarter of play. Then the Navy quintet started hitting thru a weakened Tar defense. Navy's Buddy Layne picked up two points to put the Sailors in the lead 78-77 with twelve seconds left to go. Then MacHardy broke loose from the corner, putting the ball thru the cords just before the final horn.

STEWART ENTERS MIXED-TWO BALL

Next week Marlene Stewart will enter the International Mixed Two-Ball Tournament at Dubsread Country Club. Her partner in the event will be Dutch Harrison, one of the top players on the mens' tournament circuit and a leading money winner.

This team will be considered one of the top favorites for the title, although there will be other strong combinations, such as; Patty Berg and Pete Cooper, Louise Suggs and Tony Penna, and Babe Zaharias and George Bolesta.

The tournament will begin with the qualifying round on Tuesday, February 23, and will continue through the week with finals on Sunday.

Marlene left for Toronto, Tuesday, to attend the Annual Celebrities Dinner which is given this year in her honor. She will be awarded the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Award as the Outstanding Athlete of 1953.

Take Victories Over Miami, Detroit Tech And Mercer Bears To Move Into Possible Championship Tie

by DICK HALDEMAN

The Rollins Tars broke loose in the home stretch of the 1953-54 basketball campaign two weeks ago, cruising past Miami, 85-71, to remain in the state cage race, by-passing Detroit Tech, 61-48, and climaxing the three game home stand February 9, with a 79-57 win over Coach Dan Nymicz's ex-proteges, the Mercer Bears.

Leading the surge was the return to form of captain Bob MacHardy, who despite a recent illness, registered 49 points in three games, 21 of them against Mercer. Connie Mack Butler came through with an 18 point effort, his best of the year to lead the Tars against Miami. Dave Feldman and Nick Vancho each hit the double figures twice during the three-game home stand.

The victory over Miami made the Tars 5-2 in state play and preserved their chance of tying Flor-

Winter Park could be the decider.

Rollins went into an early 9-4 lead against Miami and led 16-11 after a quarter as both teams had difficulty hitting from the floor. The Hurricanes, led by a long shot artist, Bob Denton, out-scored the Tars to tie it at 35-35 at the intermission.

MacHardy, Butler, Vancho, and Feldman all hit to put the Tars out in front to stay in the third quarter, 59-50. The Tars' attempts at freezing the ball midway in the final canto were only partially effective, as the visitors sliced the margin to five points before Rollins could pull away on a series of foul shots.

MacHardy notched 15 and Vancho 14 markers for the Tars February 6, as they outscored a disappointing Detroit Tech squad, 61-48, in Orlando's Howard Jr. High gymnasium. Rollins outscored the Detroit visitors in every period, but seldom led by more than ten points. Tech scored 19 goals from the floor to 18 for the Tars, but the Tars made good on 25 foul shots to cinch the win. The losers could not control either backboard and could show only two consistent scorers, Nick Sica and Dan Perkins.

Rollins showed perhaps their best form in downing Mercer, which defeated them easily, 80-60, in Macon last month. MacHardy connected early and often; his set shot in the first canto, breaking an 11-11 tie, and putting the Tars ahead to stay. The Tars, with the addition of Frank Swanson on the boards, had too much height for the visitors. The 6'5" Navy veteran and ex Miami of Ohio player popped in ten points, mostly on tap-ins, while his tall mate, Feldman, had 16 points. After a close first quarter Rollins drew away in the second and fourth periods, while using delaying tactics to protect their lead in the third canto.

Filosof-Puddington Take Final Victory In Intra-M Doubles

Guy Filosof and Elmer Puddington teamed up to win the intramural tennis doubles trophy last Wednesday afternoon by defeating John Boyle and Don Riedel by scores of 6-2, 6-1.

This victory put the Deltas into a tie with Kappa Alpha for the tennis trophy as both squads have ended the prolonged season with 312½ points.

The Filosof-Puddington duo completely dominated the match play, winning their straight sets in less than an hour's time.

AFTER-CHAPEL HEARS MENDELL SPEAK ON "FREEDOM OF CHOICE"

"Freedom of Choice" was chosen as the topic for discussion by Professor Charles Mendell in his address to the After-Chapel club last Sunday. Dr. Mendell stated that there are many aspects of this question and featured his talk on the three alternatives by which the world might have been established.

These three he further explains: 1. arranging the world so that no evil exists, 2. forcing humans to do good, (no will power), 3. giving him the choice of good and evil. This step he maintains is an interpretation of humanism and the basis of Christianity.

Using John Milton's "Paradise Lost" throughout as proof and example of his points, Mendell says that Milton's own philosophy, so accurately shown in his work, is that of choice.

Dr. Mendell says that had the world been created with the first step as the center, there would be no merit, achievement, or patience. For without competition there can be no merit; without striving, no achievement; without irritation, no patience. He describes this as a "milk-maid" sort of goodness in which good is done only because one is not faced with evil, quoting from Milton, "I cannot praise uncloistered virtue." Here too, he brings in the responsibility of the home in that some parents fail to permit children to make their own decisions, and shoulder responsibilities. This often results in lamentable ends.

Next, the second step. Here is the idea of forced goodness. Everywhere in the world today there are children, clubs, governments which try to compel people to follow their ways. Here too, is the great danger of humanism and the failing which causes it not to work, quoting again from Milton, "God does not captivate man, but trusts him . . ."

God deliberately confronts man with choice, for better or worse, good or evil. "Evil exists so man can be good," says Mendell. A true Christian is the man who having the choice of right and wrong, chooses the right, not from ignorance or compulsion, but because of the desire. Though difficult at times to distinguish between the two, it is only by doing so that man can obtain his goal.

Noted Psychiatrists To Speak In Orlando Tonight and March 9

Dr. Spafford Ackerly, noted Psychiatrist of Louisville, Kentucky, will speak on The Last Thirty Years, the problems of the aged, at the Central Florida Mental Health Association's meeting tonight on the Angebilt Hotel roof at eight o'clock.

Dr. Karl Menninger, author of the best selling books on Psychiatry, The Human Mind, Love Against Hate, and Man Against Himself is slated for a talk called Psychiatry and You at the Memorial Junior High Auditorium on March 9th.

Menninger is Director of the famed Menninger Clinic.

Students Conduct Tours For Visitors

Visitors to Rollins College have been provided a headquarters and lounge where they can obtain information about the college and arrange to take tours of the campus.

President Hugh F. McKean said that Miss Maud Trismen, a Rollins graduate, has been placed in charge of the lounge, and that Bill Karslake is in charge of tours for the visitors.

Conducting these trips about the campus will be members of the Community Service Group, and tours will leave the lounge at 4:30 p.m. weekdays and 11 a.m. Saturdays.

Rollins Fiesta Comm. Sponsors Contest At Boone And Edgewater

Rollins College Fiesta Committee is currently sponsoring a poster contest in the art classes of Boone and Edgewater High Schools. The three-color posters are to carry out the theme of the Fiesta which will be held April 2 and 3.

Three cash prizes are being offered for the best posters. The selection of these posters is to be made by the art faculty of Rollins College. The Contest ends Feb. 28.

The winning poster will appear in store windows in downtown Orlando and Winter Park.
